Alderman Benson moved that bids on Police Patrol, advertised for consideration this date be opened and read, being seconded by Lee and motion was carried. Proposals were as follows: Tunberg Motor Company, Fairlane Ford, with trade-in, $1076; Forkenbrock Motor Company, $1097; Northern Chevrolet Company, $1081. The bids were duly considered and ordered tabled to an adjourned meeting of November 23rd. Alderman Rau moved opening and consideration of bids for Sand Spreader, advertised for consideration this date. Alderman Dahlen seconded such motion which was duly adopted. Proposals were as follows: Swanstrom Equipment Company, Fargo, N.D., $1230; The Boo Company, Minneapolis, $1150 and $810 with addition for smooth roller etc.; Phillippi Equipment Company, Minneapolis, $845, optional additions $40.00, $35.00 and $40.00; Public Works Equipment Company, Clintonville, Wis., $1193.00; St. Cloud Foundry & Machine Company, St. Cloud, Minnesota, $1029.75, and the same were duly considered. Alderman Rau introduced a resolution accepting the bid of Phillippi Equipment Company at base bid of $845.00 with optional equipment of $40.00 and $35.00, total $920.00 and moved adoption of such resolution. Alderman Benson seconded such motion. The roll was called on the question and all members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared adopted.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution approving for payment to Central States Construction Company, Estimate No. 1, Storm Sewer Construction District No. 3, $10,707.84; to Infilco, Inc., Tucson, Arizona, final estimate water plant recarbonator, $910.93 and K. Russell Anderson, final, Architect's services, Comfort Station, $107.00 and moved adoption. Alderman Lee seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared duly adopted. Alderman Dahlen introduced a resolution approving payment to State of Minnesota, $220.40 final City Share of construction of traffic signals, First and Third on Main Avenue and Third and LaBree Avenue and to Dahl Construction Company, Thief River Falls, Estimate No. 1 $7,272.31, Entrance Road and Sewage Disposal at Municipal Airport and moved adoption. Alderman Lee seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted. Alderman Benson introduced a resolution directing an appropriation from Liquor Dispensary Funds in the amount of $10,000 to Pennington County Courthouse Building Fund and moved adoption, being seconded by Lee. All members voted in favor thereof and resolution was declared passed and adopted.

There was presented by D. H. Stewart & Associates, Thief River Falls, Consulting Engineers, a proposal to provide the City with engineering services in connection with a proposed improvement to Water Utility by construction of an elevated tank, ground storage reservoir and necessary mains and appurtenances and the same was read. Alderman Lee introduced a resolution accepting the same and moved adoption, being seconded by Benson. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Mayor Orion D. Reich presented the following appointments: Wm. LaFave as member of Police Civil Service Commission for a three year term expiring December 15, 1962 and Robert J. Lund as member of Board of Cemetery Commissioners for the term expiring on second Tuesday of January 1965. Alderman Benson moved confirmation of the same, being seconded by Lee. All members voted in favor thereof and said appointments were declared duly ratified.

There was presented and read a communication of Floyd S. & Lula H. Dalton owners of Lots 8 & 9, Block 12, Original Townsite, relative to assessment for Storm Sewer in Storm Sewer District No. 3, requesting that the City show cause of benefits to the above named property and the same was read and ordered referred to the City Engineer.

There was discussion in connection with Storm Sewer Assessments for Storm Sewer District No. 3 of certain assessments indicated as storm sewer assessments which were assessed at the time of Paving Improvement in the year 1922. Mrs. Jorgensen and Oliver Gullingsrud, owners of properties along Knight Avenue, First to Third Street and Main Avenue 4th to 5th Street, were present and objected to Storm Sewer District No. 3 assessment on the grounds that their properties had already been assessed for storm sewer. The matter was ordered referred to the City Attorney for clarification.

The Council then proceeded with canvass of the vote cast at the time of the General City Election held November 3, 1959, and found the results to be as follows:

Fifth Ward	244	96	None	340
Total All Wards	1558	702	None	2260

and said proposition, having received the approval of a majority of the votes cast thereon, is hereby declared to have carried.

SAMUEL A. HONEBRINK,
Vice President of the Council.

City Clerk.

I hereby approve the above resolution this 23rd day of November, 1959.

DR. ORION D. REICH,
Mayor.

The motion for the adoption of the foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Alderman Lee and upon vote being taken thereon, the following voted in favor thereof:

Benson, Lee, Dahlen, Honebrink, Rau

and the following voted against the same: None, whereupon said resolution was declared duly passed, and to be in full force and effect upon approval by the Mayor and publication in the official newspaper.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution appropriating to Chamber of Commerce of the City $300.00 as City share of the cost of 1959-1960 Holiday street decorations, the Chamber to contribute a like share or more and the City to furnish electrical power and labor and moved its adoption. Alderman Dahlen seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was duly passed and adopted.

Alderman Rau moved that bids be called for on the furnishing of a crawler type tractor, used, to be opened on December 15, 1959. Alderman Dahlen seconded such motion and the same was carried by unanimous vote. Alderman Rau moved that bids be called for on the furnishing of a 13 cubic yard or equal capacity garbage truck to be opened and considered on December 15, 1959 at eight o'clock P.M. Alderman Benson seconded the motion and the same was carried unanimously.

Alderman Dahlen introduced a resolution declaring an emergency of operation and authorizing and directing the purchase of a rotary snow plow and truck from "Thiebert" Red Lake Falls in the amount of $3000. Alderman Benson seconded such motion and the resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution approving for payment various current bills and moved adoption, being seconded by Rau. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Alderman Lee then moved adjournment to November 23, at 7:30 o'clock P.M. being seconded by Rau, carried and the meeting was declared so adjourned.

SAMUEL A. HONEBRINK,
Vice President of the Council.

Dystrophy Drive Called Success; to End Dec. 7-8

Although final results of the annual drive in Thief River Falls by the Muscular Dystrophy association have not been tabulated, local officials termed it "very successful" this week.

The drive, part of the county collection under Mrs. Agnes Israelson, will end Dec. 7 and 8 when contribution envelopes will be collected from residents of corner homes in the city. If there are those who wish to turn envelopes in early, they may do so by calling the telephone number on the envelopes in which their area's funds have been placed.

As a special effort, members of Eagles Aerie No. 2368 in Thief River Falls will contribute 25% of the proceeds from their family night Dec. 3.

Close December 17, 1959
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NOTICE TO EQUIPMENT DEALERS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, at the office of the County Auditor in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, until 4:00 o'clock P.M., December 17, 1959, for the purchase of the following equipment:

One new diesel powered heavy duty motor grader with a minimum basic weight of 23,000 lbs and a minimum of 115 horsepower motor, equipped with a mechanical motor hour meter. Nylon open center lug type tires front & rear with a minimum size of 14.00 x24 inch 10-ply, demountable rims. 50 amps minimum heavy duty generator, one piece ¾ inch thick moldboard, 12 foot minimum, hydraulic shiftable (hydraulic tiltable optional) with extensions to make a total length of 16 feet when desired; Power steering, Heavy duty V-type snow plow and wing. Hydraulic snow plow and wing controls; enclosed steel cab with safety glass, twin motor heavy duty hot water heater, electric windshield wiper and defroster. Lighting equipment including Minnesota standard snow lights. Engine hood sides, radiator shutters and rear view mirror; Torque converter optional.

Alternate No. 1: The County Board will consider as an alternate bid, one heavy duty motor grader with 6-wheel drive, 10,000 lb. minimum weight on driving wheels, fully equipped as stated above.

The successful bidder is to take in trade one 1948 Caterpillar No. 12 Grader equipped with power steer booster, snow plow and wing.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check or bidders bond made payable to the County Treasurer of Pennington County for not less than five per cent (5%) of the bid.

Each bidder is to furnish the Manufacturer's Specifications with his bid.

The vendor shall furnish the County a Service Manual and Servicemen's Reference book showing in detail step by step procedure of repair or replacement of any part of the machine.

The vendor and manufacturer shall agree to furnish at the original delivery destinations without cost to the County all parts, replacement costs, parts and assemblies which fail in normal service during the first 12 months after delivery. Replacement of defective parts and assemblies shall be made immediately and any delay shall not be considered as part of the first 12 months service.

The Board reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities.

Dated at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, November 3, 1959.

Prowler Quint Edges Red Lake Falls 61-50

A veteran Red Lake Falls team, playing aggressive basketball against their taller opponents, pushed the Prowlers to the game-ending buzzer before coach Hartley Story's blue-and-gold squad was able to pull away to a 61 to 50 win over the Eagles in a district conference game played at Red Lake Falls on Tuesday night. The game was the season-opener for the Prowlers.

On Friday night, on the high school gymnasium court, the Prowlers will play the Sacred Heart high school team of East Grand Forks with tipoff time for the varsity game being at 8:00 p.m.

Except for the opening minutes of Tuesday night's game at Red Lake Falls, when the Eagles held an 8 to 6 lead, the Prowlers held a point-margin throughout, leading by a 13 to 9 score at the end of the first period, 30 to 21 at the half, and 45 to 33 and the end of the first period, 30 to 21 at the half, and 45 to 33 at the end of the third period.

Entering the final eight minutes of play holding a 12-point lead, 45 to 33, and with Ron Solheim hitting on a jump shot to start the fourth period, giving the locals a 14-point bulge, it appeared that the rangy Prowlers would move away to a commanding lead. But the Eagles, putting on an effective pressing defense and forcing the Prowlers to commit errors, slashed the Prowler lead to five points, 51 to 46, with three minutes of play remaining. Leading this Red Lake Falls fourth period surge was six-foot five-inch Jason (Slue) Huseby, who connected for three field goals and a pair of free throws, and Darryl Hinrichs, who looped in three field goals.

In the final three minutes of play, Ron Hanson scored a pair of field goals, Ron Solheim, who was the game's high point player with nine field goals and eight free throws, added a free throw, as did Bob Pearson, and Steve Embury closed out the game's scoring by driving in for a lay-up.

Solheim, playing at left forward, scored consistently in every period, getting five points in the first period, six points in the second period, ten points in the third period, and five points in the fourth period. Ron was especially effective in the third period when he dunked four field goals into the south basket, giving the Prowlers a "comfortable" lead entering the final period.

For the never-say-die Eagles Jason Huseby was the high point player, the blond center scoring twenty-one points. Tom Byers, a sturdy-legged guard, pumped six field goals, mostly from long range, into the basket, and added a free throw for thirteen points.

Prowler 'B' Team Trips RLF 'B' 65-9

Locals Had Big Height and Weight Advantage

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team, having a tremendous height and weight advantage, made a shambles of their preliminary game against the Red Lake Falls 'B' team on Tuesday night, rolling up a 65 to 9 win.

Dick Wold, scoring all of his points in the second half, led the Prowler scoring, dropping in nine field goals for an 18-point performance. Wold scored a pair of fielders in the third period, and then finished out with seven field goals in the fourth period. Mike Aune auso tallied in double figures, getting ten points on five field goals.

State Board Turns Down Kennedy Plea for Emergency Aid

Education Group Denies Plea for $15,000 to Aid in Rebuilding School

An appeal to the state board of education in St. Paul Tuesday for emergency aid to the Kennedy school district was rejected by the board.

State Sen. Donald Sinclair, Stephen, accompanied a delegation from Kennedy seeking $15,000 because a windstorm last July toppled a school gymnasium, construction of which apparently was faulty.

G. W. Brekke, Kennedy superintendent, said the money would be used to reinforce the remainder of the five-year-old building.

The Kennedy plea was denied, however, after board members pointed out that the district is one of the state's wealthiest in property valuations. Although Kennedy school officials called a bond issue to repair the damage politically impossible, Mrs. Enok Mortensen, state board member, declared:

"If we start giving money for people who are not unable to pay but are unwilling to pay, we'll be swamped."

Fish and Fishing

More than a hundred anglers, all carrying Ontario fishing licenses, were out on the Lake of the Woods ice in the vicinity of Burton Island on Sunday. The ice was thin, the weather was fine, and the walleyes were cooperative.

Included in that congregation of ice fishermen were a couple of local anglers, Bob Mattson and Orvis Olen. They reported a successful trip, catching 11 walleyes, including a ten-pounder that was lured out of the water by Orvis. When that walleye hooked on to the "bootlegged" shiner minnow of Orvis,' she didn't know what a quick trip out of the water she was to get. So quickly did Orvis set the hook and line the walleye out of the water that the pike skidded for about 50 feet out on the ice. That's the story as we heard it.

Several of the anglers out there were using power saws to cut their ice-fishing holes. And, according to Orvis, you would think that these fishermen were going to troll on the ice, considering the long and narrow holes they made! That's a new one, ice trolling.

Not So Fierce

Several of the Prowler varsity squad members made the short trip to East Grand Forks on Friday night to witness the basketball game between the Bemidji Lumberjacks and the East Grand Forks Green Wave. The game, which was a Northwest conference tilt, found coach Clarence (Bun) Fortier's defending regional champion Lumberjacks scoring an 11-point win, 58 to 47, over coach Harold (Snooks) Sullivan's club.

And the Prowlers weren't frightened or over-awed by what they witnessed. Excepting Bob Glas, who was an all-state tournament selection last year, and who tallied 27 points against the East Siders, Bemidji didn't appear too impressive. It must be recalled, though, that the Lumberjacks have a habit of accelerating their play during the season so that they are at their best at tournament time. That's what happened last year when the Jacks lost five of their first six games, and then rebounded thru another state tournament entry.

His Best Game

In commenting last week on the Prowlers chances to score a win over Red Lake Falls in their schedule-opening game on Tuesday night, we expressed doubt that coach Hartley Story would find a player to take up the 23-point slack occasioned by Phil Hanson's graduation. Phil scored 23 points against the Eagles last year as the Prowlers scored a 62 to 46 win.

But coach Story did have a 20-point-plus scorer in the lineup on Tuesday night—referring to Rollin (Ron) Solheim's 26 points, on nine field goals and eight free throws, which led the locals to a well-deserved 61 to 50 win over Red Lake Falls.

Tuesday night's effort was by long odds the best game that Solheim has turned in as a Prowler cager. Last year, seeing part-time action in 19 games, Ron tallied a total of 22 field goals and 32 free throws, for an aggregate of 76 points. His high single game last year was against the Alvarado Indians in the district tournament, scoring three field goals and eight free throws for 14 points.

Ron, who rebounded well against the Eagles, has a soft touch when he lofts the ball towards the basket. He is, perhaps, the Prowlers' best free throw converter, having a mark of eight points in 11 tries on Tuesday. This isn't a "flash in the pan" mark either, for a study of last season's statistics reveals that Ron had 49 free throw tries, and was successful in marking up points 32 times.

Fishing Dates for '60 Announced This Week

The 1960 synopsis of Minnesota fishing laws and regulations will be available about December 15, and very few changes have been made, reports Hjalmer Swenson, state fisheries chief. The opening dates on inland waters are:

Lake trout, January 1; Trout (except lake trout), April 30; Walleyed pike, northern pike, muskellunge, May 14; Large and small-mouthed bass—All waters north and east of U.S. Highway 53 from Duluth to International Falls, May 28; All other waters, June 4; Sunfish, crappies, catfish and rough fish, no closed season.

There is no change in the daily and possession limits.

Dark house spearing is December 1 to February 15, the same as last year.

"The reason for the one week earlier opening on bass in the northeastern part of the state is that most of the lakes in that area which contain smallmouth bass have such large populations of them that they may be crowding out other species such as walleyed pike and lake trout. Saturday, May 28, is the earliest date on which the bass season may be opened under the law," said Swenson.

The opening dates on the boundary waters between Minnesota and Canada are the same as on the inland waters except for muskellunge which opens on June 20.

The bass opening date is May 28 the same as on the inland waters north and east of U.S. Highway 53 from Duluth to International Falls.

The opening dates on the Mississippi, St. Croix, and St. Louis River boundary waters between Minnesota and Wisconsin are:

Walleyed pike, saugers, northern pike, catfish, and sturgeon, April 30; Large and small-mouthed bass (The Mississippi River and that portion of the St. Croix River below the interstate bridge at Stillwater) May 14; (The St. Louis River and that portion of the St. Croix above the Stillwater bridge) June 4; Crappies, sunfish, white bass, and rough sh. No closed season.

The opening dates on the Minnesota-South Dakota boundary waters and the Minnesota-North Dakota boundary waters are:

Walleyed pike, saugers, northern pike, and large and smallmouth bass, April 30; All other species, No closed season.

The opening dates on the Minnesota-Iowa boundary waters are:

Walleyed pike, northern pike, catsh, May 14; Large and small-mouthed bass, May 28; All other species, No closed season.

"The law pertaining to window requirements in fish houses or shelters was changed by the 1959 Legislature so windows are no longer required. A new part in the law states that when angling in a darkhouse it shall be unlawful to have a spear within the interior of a darkhouse, fish house, or shelter," concluded Swenson.

No. Central Lines to Pay Dividend

Five Pct. Stock Dividend to Be Paid December 21

Stockholders of North Central Airlines, Inc., will receive a five per cent stock dividend Dec. 21, according to an announcement today by Arthur E. A. Mueller, Wausau, Wis., chairman of the airline's board of directors.

Mueller said the dividend, authorized by directors at a Nov. 20 meeting at North Central's Minneapolis-St. Paul headquarters, will mean issuance of one share of common stock for every 20 shares presently outstanding. The stock dividend will be paid to holders of record on Dec. 7.

No fractional share will be issued, Mueller said. Arrangements will be made to enable holders to sell their fractional interests or to purchase interests sufficient to increase fractions to full shares. The arrangements will be announced when the dividend is paid.

Fargo VA Manager Explains Pensions

Basic Eligibility Is Unchanged under New Law

The new pension law effective next July 1, in no way changes the basic eligibility for a veteran seeking a pension, W. W. Byrd, manager of the Fargo VA center, pointed out today.

The veteran still must be totally and permanently disabled from causes not traceable to his service, must have 90 days or more of honorable wartime service, and an income below prescribed limits.

Extending the present income limits of $1400 a year from a single veteran and $2700 a year for a veteran with wife or child to $1800 and $3000 respectively, the new pension law attempts to relate the amount of pension to need. Veterans with higher income will receive lower pension payments and those with smaller incomes will receive larger pensions when the law becomes effective.

But the basic eligibility requirements for veterans remain unchanged, Mr. Byrd reiterated, in contrast to the requirements for veterans' widows and children.

Widows of World War II and Korean conflict veterans under the new law no longer will be required to show that the deceased veteran had a service connected disability. Like widows of World War I veterans, they will have to show only that the veteran had 90 days or more honorable wartime service. Widows must also come within the income limitations.

Drive Carefully after Dark, Asks Safety Director

Sieben Asks Improvement in State's 1958 Record of 58 Deaths in December

"There'll be more 'after-dark' driving in December than in any month of the year," was the warning issued today by Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, as the winter accident prevention program entered its second month.

"This is the month of short days and long nights," he pointed out. "Most workers must use their headlights when driving in the mornings and when driving home after the day's work is done.

"Plans are in the making for many holiday parties where automobiles are the favorite means of transportation to and from such events.

"Mix these factors with quick changes in the weather, add snow and ice to make the going tough, and you can appreciate how the problems of the traffic law enforcement officers become aggravated at this time of year," Sieben declared.

"Individual citizens can help a great deal to alleviate these problems if they will accept greater personal responsibility.

"December is a month when everyone seems to get into a holiday mood," he said. "This should not, and does not, mean that laws can be violated or logical safety precautions neglected without fear of punishment. The spirit of the season calls for extending good will toward all men, and surely a good place to demonstrate such good will is on the highway. Obey the rules of courteous conduct will enable everyone to enjoy the entire holiday month."

In Minnesota, last December, 58 persons were killed in traffic. That month found 2,799 persons injured in 1,869 accidents and 5,569 property damage accidents were reported. Only six days were death free during December 1958. During the last ten years, there were 498 persons killed in December traffic accidents, of which 144 were pedestrians.

"I believe each individual is naturally entitled to do as he pleases with himself and the fruits of his labor, so far as it in no wise interferes with any other man's rights." —Abraham Lincoln

The Right To Know

The American taxpayer will know a little more about how some of his federal tax pennies are being spent, following the release Monday of complete information about Senate payrolls. Since 1948 this information has been cloaked in secrecy. Making this information public came in response to a petition presented to the senate last June by the American Society of Newspaper Editors, who argued that the people are entitled to know how public funds are disbursed.

According to an Associated Press report, the argument most frequently used by senators opposing disclosure, was that it might create dissatisfaction within an office if employees learn what their colleagues are being paid. We suspect however, that the senators were more concerned about possible dissatisfaction among their constituents back home.

And there is no good reason why complete public payroll information should not be available on public expenditures for relief in any form, most of which now is not available even to responsible public officials. The taxpayer has a right to know how, and where and why his tax dollars are being spent.

Bon Voyage Ike

A year ago the cold war became suddenly hotter when Khrushchev served notice on the western powers that they must withdraw from Berlin. Now, a year later, the western powers are still in Berlin and Comrade Nikita is urging a peaceful solution for the Berlin problem by negotiation. It appears therefore, on the surface at least, that the situation has improved considerably during the 12-month period.

Dean Acheson, secretary of state during the Truman administration, is not happy about the developments however, and is critical of the way President Eisenhower and his secretary of state, Christian A. Herter, are handling these matters. Acheson takes the position that our side is right on the Berlin question and that therefore there is nothing to discuss with the Russians. A willingness to talk when we know we are right is a sign of weakness, in his opinion.

There probably are others who would share Mr. Acheson's views, but many more, we believe, would be critical of the administration if it had been less willing to participate in a Summit conference. The administration is approaching such a meeting cautiously, its main concern apparently being the problems that divide the western powers. If harmony can be restored and maintained we have nothing to fear from such a meeting. But President Eisenhower recognizes the fact that until harmony is restored there should be no Summit meeting.

Speeches by both Acheson and Herter, discussing their conflicting views on how to deal with Khrushchev and his government, were printed verbatim in Pravda, the official newspaper of the Communist party. It is encouraging to know that the Soviet government is now willing to let its people read the arguments we are having among ourselves on how to deal with them. Pravda, editorially, was not completely satisfied with what Mr. Herter had said, but of course preferred his position to that of Mr. Acheson.

If the Summit meeting does materialize, President Eisenhower will have the advantage of being held in high regard by his opponents, trusted because of his good past record in dealing fairly with both friend and foe.

The Acheson-Herter argument is not going to embarrass Mr. Eisenhower in his meetings with the people and the officials of the countries of Europe, Africa and Asia he will visit during the next few weeks. We are sure that this journey, the kind of travel of which Mr. Acheson disapproves, will nevertheless be very much worth while and in the best interests of a peaceful solution for world problems. Bon Voyage, Ike.

Time To Conserve?

In his "Capitol Approach" column in the Minneapolis Tribune, John McDonald thinks the Republican party in the state is now moving to the right and from now on will be more conservative. That would be in the best interests of good government in Minnesota.

For too many years the party has been dominated by conservatives who have been afraid to act like conservatives. For this reason the party leadership has been weak. It has not had the confidence of the real conservatives within its ranks nor the respect of the opposition.

The two-party system is good providing the two parties are representative of basically different views on government policy and practices. In our state we have had no great issues in recent years on which there has been clear-cut division along party lines. In general the DFL party has attracted the liberals and the radicals and the Republican has appealed to the conservatives and the reactionaries.

For all practical purposes the state's two parties represent the liberals and the conservatives, and there is no good reason why a conservative should pose as a liberal or that a liberal should pose as a conservative, even though most of the time it would be difficult to draw a straight line between the two.

But liberal and conservative are both good words. We like the word conservative because we believe there is a very real need for a strengthening of the forces of those who are interested in conserving what we have. We believe that in recent years we have had too much liberalism. In some directions there have been gains, but these gains may be lost if we do not slow down and catch up on our payments.

We already are in serious trouble with our creditors because we have used our credit too freely. Too much of our liberalism has been purchased with borrowed money, and the notes are coming due. We are going to need conservative, constructive leadership at the national, the state and the local levels in order to protect our gains and maintain the higher standards of living we have bought by mortgaging the future.

So we are glad the Republican party is becoming more conservative again. That trend may not win elections immediately, but the conservative influence, at this time, is very much needed and will be wholesome. A vigorous, honest, conservative party, will serve a useful purpose in government at all levels during the critical years that are ahead of us.

Changes In The Making

A consolidation of two eastern railroads was approved by the Interstate Commerce commission recently. Soft coal provided the bulk of the tonnage for both companies. The new system will be the nation's largest coal carrier and many duplicate services and facilities will be eliminated. According to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, more than a third of the employees of the two lines will be without jobs.

That pretty well sums up the good and the bad of such consolidations. One result is a more efficient operation. The result of greater efficiency is greater per man production, which means, in this case, that the same amount of freight can be moved with less manpower. That means fewer people on these payrolls.

There was a time when the biggest competitor any railroad had was another railroad. Costs didn't matter much to any one railroad if all railroads were subjected to the same costs and all were equally efficient or inefficient.

Over a period of many years this picture has changed gradually but completely. The railroads no longer enjoy a monopoly in the transportation business. Today the railroads are competing with other forms of transportation, some of which are heavily subsidized. In authorizing the consolidation of the two eastern roads the commission commented that the position of railroads generally has "deteriorated steadily in recent years."

Most people will agree, we are sure, that railroads are essential to our economy, and will continue to be basic in the transportation system that has become increasingly complex. Most people will agree that our railroads, in order to provide a good service at competitive rates, must become more efficient. Toward that end there no doubt will be many more consolidations and reorganizations, bringing with them both good and bad effects. This trend will be justified only as the good is greater than the bad.

The railroad brotherhoods, speaking for their members, are rightfully concerned about lost jobs. They are justified in seeking to protect the interests of their members.

Fortunately, most of the changes in the reorganization of our railroads will, and should, come gradually. Reduction in the number of employees needed to move a given amount of tonnage would come gradually because increased efficiency will not be achieved suddenly.

And there is hope too, that with more efficient operations the railroads might make substantial gains in recovering lost business, possibly creating a need for more jobs.

As these changes come gradually, the adjustment to change can be quite painless. Greater efficiency is in the best interests of both the industry and its employees, as well as in the public interest, and there is no good reason why maximum efficiency cannot be secured in a way that will protect the reasonable rights of all who have a special interest in the operations.

Toying With Rockets

(San Bernardino Telegram)

The accident rate among amateur rocket enthusiasts is proportionately higher than among United States motorists. Ridiculous? Not if you face the statistics brought forth by the American Rocket Society.

The organization — which presently is calling for an end to rocket experimentation by nonprofessional rocketeers — reveals that 102 rocket-incurred injuries were inflicted to an estimated 10,000 persons engaged in amateur rocket experiments.

The society should be backed to the hilt in its plea that amateurs be restricted from experimenting with the dangerous homemade packages. It points out that novice rocketeers are not only inviting disaster in manufacturing propellants and rockets, but also by attempting to launch the vehicles.

Parents and teachers have a major responsibility to warn youngsters of the many dangers they face in toying with homemade rockets.

A Problem to Be Solved

(Wall Street Journal)

Bell Telephone Laboratories has designed a machine that when fully developed promises to read handwriting. Some day it may be useful for reading toll tickets, bill stubs and hand-written orders. Right now, though, laboratory officials say they can see no immediate commercial application for the gadget.

Maybe not for a long time to come. For we can see need for even further developments than Bell says it has in mind for the machine.

For one thing, most young people we've run across in recent years have been so busy learning life adjustment theories in school they haven't had much time to develop handwriting properly. As a lot of parents will doubtless agree, the art of handwriting has fallen on sad days.

But even if the new machine is developed so that is can read the worst sort of scribble, only part of the problem is going to be solved.

The other part of the problem is how in the world is the machine going to know what the writer meant to write? We suggest that is going to be particularly difficult to solve—considering the sad state of spelling these days.

Warn Ice Fishermen of Carbon Monoxide

The rule of carbon monoxide as a potential death-dealer was emphasized by the Minnesota Safety Council today in the wake of a rash of fatalities across the nation.

The council said hunters and ice fishermen especially should be on guard. Cars with motors hitched to radiant out there in the weather apartments often use heating equipment that can grow around the rest of the year, or use it without proper ventilation.

Carbon monoxide, the organization added, is colorless, odorless, nonirritating and almost impossible to detect. Any of two things causes carbon monoxide poisoning: improper burning of fuel and insufficient ventilation.

Ways to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning:

Have your heating equipment in safe to use. Certainly it will prevent if you aren't absolutely sure. 2. Make sure any fuel-burning heating equipment is vented directly to the outdoors. 3. Never operate a car engine in a closed garage. 4. Keep a fire extinguisher within the comfort limit of fresh air to make up for the supply exhausted by burning. 5. Never start your car with the garage doors closed. Let air into the car with the doors open when you park for storage. Then close the doors and open the car windows again. Have your muffler and tailpipe checked to be sure they don't leak.

The first signs of carbon monoxide poisoning are headache, nausea and dizziness. If you suspect poisoning:

Rush the victim to fresh air. If he isn't breathing, start artificial respiration. Then summon call a doctor and a rescue inhalation squad. 4. Keep the victim warm. But don't give him anything to drink.

Trees Along Roads Not for Stealing, Zimmerman States

Commissioner Alerts State Highway Patrol to Watch for Thieves

The state highway patrol has been alerted to be especially watchful for tree thieves who roam about rooting the beauty of the state's roadside landscapes at this time every year, the Minnesota highway department announced today.

Concerning this problem, Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman said, "While ill counseled trees, carrying axe or saw over his shoulder, usually receive strong resistance at the hands of an evergreen tree, an evergreen unseen. After he has committed his unlawful act, he hurries home with what to him is a Christmas tree but which to the average citizen is only a stolen tree that never could be a Christmas tree in the true sense of the word. Such trees usually are found to be unsightly with the 'Christmas spirit.' The picture frame window tree behind them is a grotesque one of stumps and half-trees among stands of trees that were once symmetrical and beautiful. Consequently, although these thieves constitute a very small group, the damage they do is out of proportion for these trees are difficult to replace since each one required many years to grow to maturity. Also, the damage they do to our forests by axe and saw destroys wide beauty. They serve as wind breaks and aid in keeping snow from drifting onto the highways. Their destruction is a serious matter and they should be protected as completely from molestation as possible. Violators will be prosecuted according to law."

State Legion to Receive Honor for School Patrol Aid

National Citation to Be Awarded Saturday at Conference in St. Paul

A national citation award for outstanding performance in traffic safety for 1959 will be presented to the Minnesota American Legion at the annual fall conference of the executive committee Saturday, December 5.

The award is made by the National Safety Council for the Legions nationally known "Legionville School Safety Patrol" which was held for the first time at Thomas Camp on Bass Lake in Crow Wing county given over week end of patrol-boy safety and school patrol methods for some 1,500 boys and girls each year.

As part of the fall conference of the Legion, the state's safety committee will meet on Saturday afternoon to plan for the 1960 "Legion Safety Day". Each year thousands of Legion posts and auxiliaries participate in the special day in a statewide traffic safety emphasis program as a kick-off for the vacation time "Slow Down and Live" campaign. George Kaiteraitt of the Flemington post is chairman of the committee.

Minn. Electrical Assn. Will Offer Two Scholarships

Continuing a memorial scholarship program established for 1955, the Minnesota Electrical Association announces two scholarship grants for 1960 as memorials to two outstanding industry leaders.

A new scholarship grant has been made in the North Dakota State School of Science at Wahpeton, North Dakota, covering a term course for electrical wiring. A second award has been given to the William Hood Dunwoody Industrial Institute in Minneapolis, also for a full-term course in electrical wiring.

Both awards are made in keeping with the Christmas spirit, as the picture frame window tree behind them is a grotesque one of stumps and half-trees among stands of trees that were once symmetrical and beautiful. Consequently although these thieves constitute a very small group, the damage they do is out of proportion for these trees are difficult to replace since each one required many years to grow to maturity. Also, the damage they do to our forests by axe and saw destroys wide beauty. They serve as wind breaks and aid in keeping snow from drifting onto the highways. Their destruction is a serious matter and they should be protected as completely from molestation as possible. Violators will be prosecuted according to law."

FIRST NIGHT AT REFORM SCHOOL

What do you think of that first night at Reform School?

. . . of the world outside, dark and crisp, and the guys who hang around the drug store!

. . . of kids and cops, laws and judges, courtrooms and cells . . . the morbid adventures of the last lagging month.

. . . of the home from which you came . . . and what it might have been!

And you think of God . . . of days when church bells rang . . . and other kids went to Sunday School . . . and you had to be quiet so you didn't wake your parents!

. . . of times when you might have prayed . . . but you didn't know how . . . and no one around you seemed to care!

. . . of questions you once asked about God . . . but Dad was busy, and Mom hadn't time to explain.

The first night in Reform School — what a tragic place for a boy to be confronted with those vital spiritual issues which wise parents should have faced in their children's infancy.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Meet Dec. 10 to Approve [illegible] Soil Prac[illegible]s

Final Decisi[illegible] in Hands of [illegible] and U. S. Ag[illegible]es

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington County ASC office, announced today that the 42 ASC community committeemen representing all townships in the county would meet Thursday, December 10 in T. R. Falls with the county ASC committee, county agent, county supervisor of the Farm Home Administration, soil conservation technicians and the governing body of Soil Conservation Service to select ACP practices which will be made available to all producers in Pennington county for 1960.

Practices selected by this group will require approval by the state selecting group and the Agricultural Conservation Program Services in Washington, D. C. prior to the time they can be released to the public.

Culkins stated further that under this program the federal government shares part of the cost with the farmer in carrying out conservation practices on farms in 1960. The government's share of the cost will be paid to cooperating producers shortly after they report the practice as completed and the farm is checked for compliance.

Public announcement will be made of practices available to Pennington county producers shortly after approval by the state ASC office.

$700 Damage in 3 Week-end Auto Mishaps

Two Collisions at Corner of Nora st. and Tindolph av.

Over $700 damage was reported to five automobiles involved in three collisions in the city over the weekend, one of which was a hit-run affair, police said today.

The first mishap occurred at 12:10 Thursday at the intersection of Tindolph av. and Nora st. A car driven east on Nora st. by Albert W. Johnson, city, was struck in the left side by another vehicle driven south on Tindolph by Leif E. Erickson, city, causing an estimated $225 damage to the Johnson car, $135 to Erickson's.

Erickson was taged for failure to yield the right-of-way. Johnson's daughter, Ardith, was hospitalized to determine whether she sustained serious head injuries in the crash, but was released Friday.

The second mishap occurred at the same intersection. A car driven by Thornton A. Stark, city, was going south on Tindolph when it was struck in the left front fender by another vehicle driven west on Nora st. by Melvin G. Higdem, city.

Damage to Stark's car was reported at $85, to Higdem's, $250. Higdem was tagged for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Raymond E. Lorenson, city, reported to police Friday evening that while he had his 1956 Chevrolet parked at 319 Duluth av. N., someone had apparently backed into it, causing an estimated $25 damage.

Two other minor mishaps, each involving less than $15 damage, were also reported by police.

Delmar Hagen of Gatzke Crashes in Airplane Sunday

While flying at a low level and preparing to land near the Bethesda Free church seven miles southeast of Grygla on Highway 89 Sunday at 4 p.m., a small plane piloted by Delmar Hagen of Gatzke hit an unnoticed telephone wire and crashed to the ground with the cab in a roadside ditch and the wheels in the air.

Although Hagen escaped with a severe shaking up and a bump on his head, the plane was badly damged. At the time of the mishap Hagen, an officer of the Marshall County Historical society, was inspecting the log church, which the society may decide to negotiate for as an historic shrine.

Alicia Nelson of Grygla, home economics senior at North Dakota Agricultural college in Fargo, today is starting seven weeks of duty as a practice teacher at Hughes junior high school in Bismarck. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Nelson of Grygla.

Grygla Residents Renew Request on Watershed Survey

Residents and land owners of the Mud Creek and Lost river area of eastern Marshall and Beltrami counties reaffirmed their request for a survey under the provision of the federal Small Watersheds act at a meeting held in Grygla Friday night. Following reports by soil conservation officials and a discussion of the purposes of such a survey they voted 57 to 5 in favor of such a program.

The meeting had been called by Oliver Howland, chairman of a committee that had been named nearly four years ago when the original application had been filed. He opened the meeting with a report on what had been accomplished in northwestern North Dakota by the Tongue River project, illustrated by slides of pictures he had taken.

He stated that there is a possibility that their project might be given favorable consideration by the state priority committee next year and that state officials wished to know if the residents of the area were still interested in having the survey made.

John McMartin, conservationist for the Marshall-Beltrami district, reviewed the history of drainage in that area and explained the procedure to be followed if the requested survey is now authorized.

H. G. Halverson, in charge of the soil conservation program in Northwestern Minnesota, reviewed the progress that has been made in Minnesota and neighboring states under the provisions of the Small Watersheds act, explaining the allocation of costs and the possibility of securing federal aid if a development plan is agreed upon. The survey itself would be made at no cost to the land owners, he said.

In response to questions about costs, Judge Paul A. Lundgren explained the procedure that probably would be followed if the project is adopted as a small watershed program.

Members of the steering committee, besides Mr. Howland, are Lehart Stock, Henry Holte, Sam Brattell, Sophus Bjertness, Delmar Hagen and Adolph Ericksen.

State High Court Gives F. A. Rinkel Award of $5,645

In a unanimous decision handed down last week, the Minnesota supreme court upheld a $5,645 award by Pennington county district court to Frank A. Rinkel.

The award ordered by District Judge J. H. Sylvestre was based on a civil action brought by Rinkel to recover damages to his house and its furnishing as the result of a defective plumbing installation in 1955.

Rinkel was represented by H. O. Chommie of this city.

200 Farmers Share in Discussion of Social Security, Income Tax

Two hundred farmers and homemakers heard a discussion on social security and income tax held in the courthouse last Thursday. Appearing on the program were T. R. Kistler, director of social security office at Grand Forks and Paul Hasbargen, extension farm management specialist.

Kistler pointed out that it is extremely important for part-time farm hands to report income earned in a short period of time. This income could be added together thru the year to provide a quarter or more of coverage. This in turn would mean that the worker would earn benefits which may otherwise be lost.

"All farmers, young and old would be wise to pay in the maximum they are allowed by law to get all the coverage possible," Kistler stated. He pointed out various benefits to disabled young farmers or the farmer's family in case of fatal accidents.

Paul Hasbargen discussed income tax, emphasizing management. He pointed out that through proper tax management, a one year income of $4800 dollars, after expenses, which would be taxable on $2400 in a family of four dependents. By planning ahead, and estimating income and expenses, a farmer can hold back $2400 of sales of some farm products, or purchase $2400 of items like gasoline, oil, fertilizer for the year ahead. In such an event the farmer would pay no tax this year.

In the year ahead there may be a crop failure and the farm may show no income and there would be no tax. "In this manner tax management can equalize tax payments and prevent excessive taxation." Capital gains taxes on livestock and farm machinery were discussed and ways of handling income on these items were explained.

Jaycees to Learn of Stratosphere Wednesday Night

Paul Stephenson of Bell Telephone Co. to Speak to Group at Elks Club

Guest speaker at a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening, December 9, at 6:30 in the Elks club rooms will be Paul Stephenson, executive assistant in the Minneapolis office of the N. W. Bell Telephone Co.

Bruce Hall, Jaycee president, stated that the speaker will discuss the topic, "Rendezvous in the Stratosphere", and all local young men of ages 21 to 35 are invited to attend.

In non-technical language Stephenson tells and demonstrates how research developments, designed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories for improvements in telephone service, have been applied to military uses such as the missile guidance system used successfully in recovery of nose cones 5000 miles out in the Atlantic Ocean.

The talk also demonstrates some of the recent inventions developed by telephone scientists such as the transistor and the solar battery, and discusses their application to both commercial and military communications.

Mr. Stephenson is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy. He completed twelve years of military service before joining Northwestern Bell's Engineering department. For the past year, he has been working with Western Electric company in New York on missile integration in our defense system.

Ask Yule Gifts for Retarded Persons

Collection Boxes Set up in Two Local Stores

The annual Cedric Adams Christmas gift drive for patients in the Cambridge and Faribault state schools and hospitals is now under way.

Although many of these patients receive gifts from family and friends each Christmas, there are many others who are dependent on public remembrance.

The local chapter of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children has set up collection boxes for contributions to this gift drive in the Woolworth and Ben Franklin stores. Donors are asked to check the lists posted on the boxes to aid in selection of a suitable gift.

The gift should not be gift-wrapped unless is is marked plainly for a male or female patient of a certain age group. These ages range from infants to eighty-year-old adults. Gifts will be acknowledged if they are accompanied by a card bearing the donor's name and address.

SAILOR LAVERN LARSON NOW AT BREMERTON, WASH.

Lavern W. Larson, chief aviation storekeeper, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Larson, Thief River Falls, is serving with the re-commissioning crew of the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea scheduled to be re-commissioned Jan. 25 at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, Washington.

Grygla Creamery Host to Patrons Thursday, Dec. 10

Pancakes, Coffee and Ice Cream to Be Served; Equity Payment Checks Given out

The Grygla Creamery will hold an open house Thursday, December 10, and pancakes, coffee and ice cream will be served free all day, according to Amos L. Thompson, manager. "It is our way of showing appreciation to the patrons and to all of the people of the Grygla community," he said. "The creamery is having another good year."

Mr. Thompson states that the directors have approved a payment of $7,302.49 to the patrons, this total being the last half of the 1950 equity refund and the first half of 1958 net earnings. The checks will be distributed Thursday.

This year's volume is a little ahead of last year's, Mr. Thompson reports. While the number of patrons is down, the herds are larger and there has been a steady increase in the average production per cow.

3 Lincoln Seniors Take College Board Tests Saturday

Examinations Designed to Show Aptitude of Students for College

Arlan Hjelle, Kern Olson and Mary Lee Rustad, Lincoln high school seniors, took the college entrance examination board's three-hour scholastic aptitude test Saturday morning at the University of North Dakota at Grand Froks.

The local students were among hundreds of Minnesota seniors who took the examination at 17 testing centers throughout the state.

It is a multiple-choice test which is used by over 200 colleges throughout the nation to help select which students will be admitted next year.

Included in the list of colleges requiring these tests from an admissions candidate are Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., the three major military service academies, 13 state universities, and the eastern Ivy League institutions.

The test is divided into two parts, verbal and mathematical, and is designed to gauge how quickly and accurately a student's mind is able to work.

High Mercury Reading of 35 Recorded Thursday

Temperatures which dropped during the weekend to five degrees Friday night and two degrees Saturday night staged a comeback Sunday night, when 22 was recorded.

The first four days of December, daytime readings were all at the 32-degree mark or above with the warmest day Thursday when 35 was reported. Night time temperatures during the week ranged from 15 to 21. Only a trace of snow was reported and that was on Saturday night. Generally, the skies have been clear to partly cloudy.

The KTRF forecast is for cloudy weather through tomorrow with warmer temperatures today and locally in the southern sections tonight. Readings are expected to be colder tomorrow.

High readings today are expected to be in the upper 30's and lows tonight in the low 20's.

Carol Singing to Mark Lighting of Nativity Scene Next Thursday

For the fourth successive year, an impressive Nativity scene featuring nine life-size figurines will be displayed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce adjoining the postoffice on Second st., with the official lighting ceremony scheduled for Thursday evening, December 10, at 9:15, immediately after the closing of local stores.

A short program will be held which will include carol singing by a combined chorus from the various churches of the community.

Choir members of all churches are being asked to participate in the program, and the general public is invited to attend, said Ken Onken, chairman of the religious activities committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Purchase each year of additional figurines is financed by the sale of Christmas tree bulb ornaments by the Jaycees.

L.O'L. Retiring Patrons Equities

The retirement of $1,469,953 in outstanding patrons' equities was announced last week by F. D. Stone, general manager, Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc. The board of directors in approving this action has set December 10 as the date on which payment in cash will be made to the holders of these equities. Cooperative creameries and other cooperative associations which are members and patrons of Land O'Lakes Creameries are the principal holders of the equities being retired.

Violet Roisland Is Wed To Vernon Langaas

Baskets of yellow, red and white mums and candelabra graced the altar of the Bethlehem Lutheran church at Greenbush for the wedding of Miss Violet Lavone Roisland of Thief River Falls and Vernon H. Langaas of Greenbush Saturday, Nov. 28.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Obert Roisland of Karlstad while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Langaas of Greenbush.

Officiating at the 3 p.m. double ring ceremony was Rev. John Helgeson with Annetta Pederson of Greenbush, friend of the bride, at the organ. Soloist was Stuart Folland, friend of the couple. He sang "God Gave Me You," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Song of Ruth".

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white velveteen. It featured a scoop neckline with a V in the back, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a jeweled crown and she carried a bouquet of autumn roses and carnations. Her necklace and earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Barbara Peterson of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by Delores Roisland, sister of the bride, of Eveleth, Minn., and Joyce Langaas, cousin of the bridegroom. They wore blue velveteen street length dresses with matching cummerbunds and headbands with short blue veils and carried bouquets of yellow carnations. Their crystal earrings were a gift of the bride.

Little Noreen Svegdahl of Greenbush, dressed in a gown similar to that of the bride, of white velveteen and carrying a basket of yellow roses, was flower girl. Her pearl necklace and bracelet was a gift of the bride. Allan Dvergsten of Greenbush was ringbearer.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Rodney Langaas of Minneapolis, his brother, with James and Wesley Langaas, brothers, as groomsmen. Ushers were Ethel Anderson and Danny Wagge, friends of the bridegroom. All the gentlemen of the bridal party wore black dinner suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roisland chose a navy blue dress with white accessories while Mrs. Langaas wore an aqua dress with white accessories. Their corsages were of yellow roses.

Approximately 150 relatives and friends attended the reception held following the ceremony in the church parlors. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, centered the serving table. Mrs. John Roman of Hallock, cut and served the cake while Mrs. Koop, both aunts of the bride, poured. Waitresses were Mrs. Duane Anderson and LaVonne Delage of Greenbush. At the gift table was Mrs. Kenneth Langaas and Clarice Gustafson with Mrs. Rodney Langaas of Minneapolis at the guest book.

For going away the bride chose a blue sheath dress with black accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Langaas will spend the winter months in Florida, returning to the community in the spring, as the bridegroom is engaged in farming near Greenbush.

The bride is a graduate of Karlstad high school, class of 1958 and the Area Vocational school, cosmetology department, in Thief River Falls. She has been employed at a beauty operator at Joanne's Beauty Shop in this city. Mr. Langaas is a graduate of Greenbush high school, class of 1957 and is engaged in farming near Greenbush.

Relatives and friends from Minneapolis, Hallock and Thief River Falls attended the wedding.

Henry O. Paulsons Feted On Golden Anniversary

An open house was held Sunday, Nov. 15, at the Telemarken church near Goodridge honoring Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Paulson on their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Paulson were presented with a corsage and boutonniere from their children before the program. Henry Waale served as master of ceremonies for the afternoon, interviewing the honored guests for the relatives and friends. Carl Lindblom gave the scripture reading and prayer with Mrs. Gunsten Skreland playing the appropriate music. The Paulson's grandchildren sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", accompanied by Mrs. Willie Senum. Mrs. Palmer Paulson read a short history of the couple's married life and the program closed with a hymn by the entire group.

Following the program approximately 150 relatives and friends attended the reception in the church basement. The honored guests, their children and close relatives were seated at a table centered by a gold tree on which hung fifty-one dollar bills, a gift of the Paulson children.

A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a golden anniversary ornament, was baked and decorated by Mrs. Henry Waale and Mrs. B. J. Davern of Highwood, Ill. It was cut and served by Mrs. Pearl Iverson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Melvin Paulson of Bemidji. Mrs. George Langerak of Bemidji and Mrs. Henry Limesand of Goodridge poured, with Mrs. R. Soper of Sherburne, Minn., in charge of the gifts. Mrs. Albert Johnson of Goodridge was at the guest book and Lynette Paulson and Judy Iverson served as waitresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Paulson were married March 30, 1910 at Germantown, Minn., and made their home at Highlanding where Mr. Paulson was a buttermaker. In 1918 they moved to Bemidji, where they lived until 1940 when they returned to the Highlanding community where they have since resided. They have three children, two daughters, Mrs. B. J. Davern of Highwood, Ill., and Mrs. C. R. Appelman of Goodridge and one son, Harry, also of Goodridge.

WED 50 YEARS Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Paulson were honored Sunday, Nov. 15 on their golden wedding anniversary. An open house was held at the Telemarken church near Goodridge.

LIBRARY NOTES

Planning to give a book for Christmas? To help you in your selection, visit your library where you may examine recent children and adult books.

New adult books are:

The Breaking Point, by Du Maurier: A collection of nine stories in the vein of "Rebecca" and "My Cousin Rachel."

The Many Ghosts, by Gallico: A full-length novel about ghosts and a ghost-breaker in an English castle.

90 Degrees South, by Siple: The exciting story of the building of the American base at the South Pole and of the 18 men who were the first human beings to winter at the very bottom of the world.

Short Term, by Kennedy: The world of financing today forms the intriguing background for this dynamic love story involving the conflict of human wills and values.

The Joy of Music, by Bernstein: Through the medium of TV, Mr. Bernstein, conductor, pianist and composer has become America's music teacher introducing millions to the meaning and joy of music. He has succeeded in projecting in print the same clarity and charm.

Family Gathering, by Nortis: This is an engaging informal autobiography written by an author who, like so many of her romantic novel heroines, grew up in carefree poverty in San Francisco.

With Powder on My Nose, by Burke: Busy, lively and pretty despite her 75 years, she tells us how she does it in this delightful book.

Gentlemen, Scholars and Scoundrels: A treasury of the best of Harper's Magazine from 1850 to the present.

The Queen's Grace, by Westcott: For her first novel in five years, Jan Westcott has fashioned a shimmering love story around Kathryn Parr, the Border Lord's daughter, who became the last of Henry VIII's wives.

The Desperate People, by Mowat: The author spent two years, 1947-1949, with the Ihalmuit Eskimo — 49 survivors of a tribe numbering thousands. (Experiences related in his earlier book, "People of the Deer.") He next saw them in 1958, a mere handful of confused individuals. In sadness and anger his new book describes their painful extinction.

Jarrett's Castle, by Yerby.

My Favorites in Suspense, by Hitchcock.

The Complete Greek Tragedies: Aeschylus, Euripedes and Sophocles.

For new books recently added to our non-circulating group may be enjoyed by adults in the library upon request. They are:

The Great American West, by Horan.

George Catlin: Episodes from "Life Among the Indians" and "Last Rambles," etc., edited by Ross.

The Stones of Florence, by McCarthy.

America's Wonderland — Our National Parks, by the National Geographical Society.

George Catlin and the Old Frontiers, by McCracken.

Select Animals Now for 4-H Beef Project, County Agent Urges

Select your animal without delay, urges County Agent Paul Steinmaschuk to all 4-H club beef project members.

A six-month record of ownership, feeding and management is required in this project. This means that the record should not be started later than January 1 in order for club members to exhibit at early July fairs. It's also important to get the animal on feed right away. Project requirements further say that the animal must be born between January 1 and December 31, 1959.

Other livestock projects start later in the winter. Sheep must be born after January 1 for fall, 1960 showing; swine after February 1.

Chickens should be bought in late winter, preferably by March 1. Chickens started at this time will be in better condition for county fairs and are more likely to lay in the fall when egg prices are high.

A livestock project begins with the selection of an animal, says Steinmaschuk. University of Minnesota extension animal husbandmen agree that once you decide on the breed and whether you want a grade or purebred, you should select a healthy vigorous animal that is true to type. If you raise an animal, select parents that are the best type for that breed. Generally a well developed parent produces well formed offspring.

Livestock production projects serve a valuable function. They teach 4-H'ers how to raise an animal and how to care for him properly. In addition, 4-H'ers get experience in keeping records.

There are seven projects in the livestock production area: beef, dairy, dual purpose, sheep, pigs, poultry and rabbits.

Concordia Choir Offers Concerts

Choral music and visual arts will again commemorate the birthday of Christ, as Concordia's 22nd annual Christmas concerts are presented Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Dec. 11-13, in the Concordia Memorial Auditorium at Moorhead. Over 14,000 persons are expected to witness the unfolding of the ageless Christmas story as it is presented by the Concordia choir, under the direction of Paul J. Christiansen, the chapel choir, directed by Prof. Ernest Harris, and brass ensemble under the direction of Prof. Leif Christianson.

A. Collette Rites Are Held in Oklee

Manager of Oklee Liquor Store Dies Tuesday at 73

A. D. Collette, long-time Oklee civic leader, business man and manager of the Oklee Municipal Liquor Store, died early Tuesday morning at St. Francis Hospital in Crookston where he had been a patient since Nov. 12. He was 73.

Funeral services were held Friday in Oklee, with the Petterson Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Collette, who was president of the Oklee Commercial club for ten years and active in civic and community affairs, had been in failing health for several months. Coming to Oklee in 1935, he formerly operated what is now Cyr's Cafe. He has been manager of the liquor store since 1946.

In addition to his work with the Commercial club he was a member of the Woodmen of the World, the Foresters, and was for ten years treasurer of the Oklee Community Hospital Association.

Born at Oakwood, N. D., in 1886, he moved to Argyle in 1906 where he was employed by what was then the Olson and Holen store. He later operated his own business there. He was married in Chicago in 1911 to Marie Majnon who died in 1919.

In 1935 he came to Oklee and was married the same year to Marie Hince by the Rev. Fr. Keough Patnode, former pastor of St. Francis Xavier's Catholic church.

Surviving are his widow and two sons, LeRoy and Kenneth, both of Fargo, N. D.

Charles Stepanek of Goodridge Dies

Charles Stepanek, a resident of the Goodridge community, died Saturday, Dec. 5, at Northwestern hospital in this city at the age of 68.

No funeral arrangements had been made at the time of this writing, with Green funeral home in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

Northern State to Close Santa Claus Mail Box Dec. 15th

Christmas Greetings to Bear the Postmark of Santa Claus, Indiana

Tuesday, Dec. 15, is the last day Christmas letters written and signed by Santa Claus may be mailed in the special mail box in Northern State bank lobby, George Werstlein, vice-president of the bank, announced today.

Letters mailed after that date could not be sent from Thief River Falls to Indiana to be canceled with the famous Santa Claus postmark and still reach the young admirers of the Christmas saint before Dec. 25.

The Northern State Bank is offering a special selection of enchanting Christmas letters written and signed by Santa Claus. Envelopes may be addressed to any child and mailed in the special Santa Claus mailbox in the bank lobby from which they will be collected and sent to Santa Claus, Ind., where they will be postmarked and sent directly to the children.

Fertilizer Costs Hold Steady in '60

Prices May Be Higher But So Is Effectiveness

Your fertilizer costs in 1960 won't be much different from this year — when you figure it according to the actual plant food in the bag.

Price per bag may be up because of rising production costs. But fortunately for farmers, fertilizer will be even higher in analysis. Mixtures like 5-20-20 are giving way to 6-24-24. The 10-10-10 mixtures is being replaced by 12-12-12.

More plant food per sack means savings in transportation and storage costs for each pound of actual nutrient, according to Merle Halverson, extension soils specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Halverson says that while farm numbers are dropping, fertilizer use is going up. And there's been a steady trend to higher analysis. Total fertilizer movement has increased 20 per cent per year in the last 7 years. Yet, amount of plant food jumped 29 per cent annually in the same period.

With prospects for lower farm income, many farmers will naturally sharpen their pencils before buying fertilizer for 1960. They'll do well, Halverson says, to test their soil first. Find out how much of what kind of fertilizer is needed, he advises.

The fact is, he points out, that wise fertilizer use is always a good bet. When fertilizer doesn't seem to be doing its job, something else is usually to blame. If put too close to seed, fertilizer can injure plants. Poor drainage, low plant populations, use of the wrong varieties, and poor weed, insect and disease control can all lower yields.

Usually, Halverson concludes, it pays to take a hard second look if fertilizer doesn't seem to be helping. There's usually a good explanation.

N.W. School Plans Concert Dec. 17

School Will Present Its Annual Christmas Program

A Christmas concert will be presented by vocal music groups of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on Thursday evening, December 17, at 8:00 o'clock. The concert will be given in Kiehle auditorium at the school. Mrs. Carlin Berg, music instructor, is director.

The program will be given in two parts. "Promise Fulfilled" is the sacred theme of the first section, presenting the story of Christmas in music, narration, and tableau. A group of secular numbers will be sung in the second half of the program with the theme, "Joyous Christmas". The mixed chorus as well as smaller groups, and soloists chosen from the chorus, will be assisted by the varied talents of other students.

Parents of students and the general public are invited to attend the concert.

Oliver Haugen Is Officer of 4-H Leaders Council

This is the second article in a series on 4-H leaders. This month our subject is Oliver Haugen, the vice-president of the leaders' council.

Mr. Haugen was born in 1918 at St. Hilaire and later attended rural school there. He finished his schooling and graduated from the Crookston A.C.

Oliver now lives on Route 1 at St. Hilaire and operates a 217 acre farm. He is also employed as a school bus driver for the St. Hilaire public school.

Haugen is married and has five children, four girls and one boy, four of which are enrolled in 4-H. Oliver was a former 4-H member of the River Falls 4-H club and is in his fifth year as an adult leader at the St. Hilaire 4-H club.

Haugen has served on the St. Hilaire school board and as secretary of the E.L.C. church in St. Hilaire. At present he is a member of the St. Hilaire rural fire department.

In 1957, Haugen won the alumni award for his 4-H leadership achievements. — Milton Leiran, Jr. Leadership Reporter.

Also attending from the local dealership will be M. Scholin and L. Albaugh.

The local men are attending the World Premiere as guests of the Case company, as a reward for outstanding sales achievement.

Bemidji College Choir Gives Yule Concert Dec. 13

Bemidji State college will present its a cappella choir under the direction of Carl O. Thompson in its twenty-second annual Christmas concert Sunday, December 13 at 8 p.m. at Memorial Hall in Bemidji.

The Choir has been busy rehearsing a group of selections from Russian Literature this week and it will combine this novel presentation with the popular carols of this country.

Soloists will be Don Fiskum, senior tenor from Parkers Prairie; Eunice Berglund, sophomore soprano from Fosston and Gordon Hanson, junior baritone from Warroad.

A feature of the program will be selections by the faculty string trio composed of Howard Mickens and James Berg, violins, and Dr. Ronald Gearman, piano.

Red Lake County Sells Ditch Bonds at 4.25 Per Cent

The sale of $32,500 in Red Lake county ditch bonds to the Allison-Williams Co. of Minneapolis was accomplished by the county board of commissioners who held a special meeting in Red Lake Falls November 23.

The firm was awarded the sale on the basis of its bid of 4 per cent plus 1.8 per cent per annum for the first 10 months of 1960. Net interest cost to the county will be $8,247.50 (4.2512%) on the series of 33 bonds, the last of which will mature in 1973.

GIFT DRIVE for MENTALLY RETARDED

The annual Cedric Adams' Christmas Gift Driv for patients in the Cambridge and Faribault state schools and hospitals is now under way. Although many of these patients receive gifts from family and friends each Christmas, there are many others who are dependent on public remembrance.

The local chapter of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children has set up collection boxes for contributions to this gift drive in the Woolworth and Ben Franklin stores. Donors are asked to check the lists posted on the boxes to aid in selection of a suitable gift.

The gift should not be gift-wrapped unless it is marked plainly for a male or female patient of a certain age group. These ages range from infants to eighty-year-old adults. Gifts will be acknowledged if they are accompanied by a card bearing the donor's name and address.

State GOP Plans 'Dinners with Ike'

To Note 7th Anniversary of Inauguration Jan. 27

The Minnesota Republican party will join in a vast nationwide "Dinner With Ike" program Jan. 27 to pay tribute to President Eisenhower on the seventh anniversary of his inauguration, and kick off the 1960 political fund-raising campaign.

The Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis will be the site of the Minnesota banquet, with simultaneous dinners being held in more than 60 other major cities across the country.

Featured at the Minneapolis event, for which guests will pay $100 a plate, will be the "Republican hero of the year," Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii who last summer won an upset victory to become the first governor of the new 50th state.

Sharing the program spotlight will be President Eisenhower who will deliver an address from Los Angeles which will be carried via closed circuit television to the entire 60-city network of dinners.

"We hope to make this one of the biggest and most colorful political events in Minnesota history," declared Clifford Sommer, Owatonna banker and prominent civic and sports leader, who is serving as state chairman of the program. In tribute to Gov. Quinn, a Hawaiian theme will be carried through all program arrangements and decorations.

The 40-year-old Quinn was born in Rochester, N. Y., moving to the Islands in 1947.

Frank Tunberg Is Renamed to Board of Finance Group

The annual stockholders' meeting of Western Acceptance Corporation of Moorhead was held on November 24 in Moorhead. Directors elected were Ambrose J. Frisch of Fergus Falls, LeRoy M. Hausauer of Breckenridge, R. A. Mason of Crookston, Frank E. Tunberg of Thief River Falls, Elvin Gull of Moorhead, I. A. Myhre of Moorhead and R. J. Schmallen of Fargo, North Dakota. The corporation is engaged in the business of discounting installment contracts and purchasing other types of installment receivables.

Huge Otter Tail Plant Hit by Fire

$13 Million Fergus Falls Plant Damaged Friday

A fire at the 13-million-dollar Otter Tail Power Co. plant in Fergus Falls Friday forced a shutdown of the plant which opened less than two weeks ago.

Flames broke out in the crusher house and lighted up the 12-story conveyor like a giant Roman candle. Firemen brought the flames under control in about half an hour.

Lignite coal is crushed in the crusher house and then carried to boilers by a long conveyor belt. Flames destroyed the 400-foot rubber belt and buckled the building's aluminum walls and steel supports.

Pending repair of the facility other Otter Tail plants took over the job of supplying customers.

Donald M. Olson Attends Evinrude Outboard Clinic

Donald M. Olson, owner of the local Coast to Coast store, was one of approximately 30 Evinrude outboard motor dealers who attended an Evinrude sales and service clinic at Hibbing Monday and Tuesday of last week.

Purpose of the clinic was to bring the dealers up to date on servicing of the new Evinrudes and explain warranty changes, etc.

Olson said the new 75 h.p. V-4 Evinrude will top the line in 1960, with a new 40 h.p. model next in line to help Evinrude capture its share of sales in the medium horsepower field. Speeds up to 48 m.p.h. have been clocked in time trials of the new 75 h.p. model, Olson said.

Bernard Elseth Opens Newfolden Standard Station

Bernard Elseth has opened the new Standard Oil station at Newfolden after recently returning from Bemidji with the rating of Standard Service specialist. He will be awarded a plaque from the company testifying to his qualifications to service any type or model of car, old or new.

The award is made for the completion of a two-week training clinic covering all phases of modern service station operation, and after he had successfully passed rigid tests on the course.

Elseth attended school in Thief River Falls and graduated from Newfolden high school. He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Elseth, on their farm four miles southeast of Newfolden.

Egg Prices Should Be up in '60, Says 'U' Man

Prices paid to Minnesota egg producers still aren't as high as a year ago, but they're expected to pick up in the future.

That's the outlook from W. H. Dankers, extension agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota. He says prices dropped from September to October because of the seasonal jump in egg production. In Minnesota, egg production for October was 10 per cent above the month before.

Prices paid to producers in mid-October, 1959, averaged 22 cents per dozen in Minnesota, 6 cents under a year earlier. National average was 31.6 cents this October and 29 cents in the same period of 1958.

Dankers, however, sees several reasons for a brighter future.

First, Minnesota producers had nearly a million fewer layers in October than a year ago. Rate of lay, though, was up 4 per cent.

Second, there are fewer potential layers on farms in the nation as a whole. Number of hens and pullets on November 1, 1959, was 5 per cent below a year earlier and 13 per cent under the 1954-58 average. For the West North Central region, the number was down 9 per cent from 1958.

Third, U.S. egg production in the first 10 months of 1959 was 3.1 per cent above the same period of 1958. In October of this year, though, it was 0.3 per cent under October, 1958.

Dankers says the price improvement may be delayed because of the rather heavy supply of eggs and egg products in storage. A few weeks ago, there were 3.5 million case equivalents of shell and frozen eggs. That was almost a million cases above October, 1958, but just slightly under the 5-year October average of 1954-1958.

Dankers says the continuing large supply of competing food items—especially beef, pork and mutton and poultry meats—also will influence the demand for eggs and therefore egg prices.

All factors considered, Dankers expects eggprices to be about the same in early 1960 as they were in the beginning of 1959. And they should continue to improve. The situation should be much more favorable throughout 1960 than it was during 1959.

Flying Club May Get Bigger Plane

Will Poll Membership on Four-passenger Job

A meeting of the Thief River Falls Flying Club was held at the municipal airport Thursday evening, with Robert Wurst, president, presiding.

The main topic of discussion at the meeting concerned the possibility of the club's trading its present airplane, a Piper Cruiser, for a larger, faster plane, such as a Piper Pacer or similar aircraft.

Club members will be polled by letter to see what the reaction to such a move will be. If the members are in favor, the club would purchase a 4-passenger plane with blind flight instruments and VHF radio facilities, and which would also be considerably faster than the present club plane.

Such a plane would also be made available for cross-country flights of longer overall duration, in order to encourage more flying by club members.

The meeting was adjourned following the showing of color slides of homebuilt aircraft at the annual fly-in of the Experimental Aircraft Assn., by V. M. Draper, club secretary.

William Kiewel Is Named President Crookston C of C

William Kiewel, president of Radio Station KROX, was named president of the Crookston Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting in Central High School cafeteria Wednesday evening. More than 300 C of C members, wives and friends attended.

Serving with Kiewel will be Marvin Campbell, vice president, and Morris Dickel, treasurer. Kiewel is a nephew of Ben Kiewel of Thief River Falls.

Seven new directors were elected by mail ballot prior to the meeting. They are C. Howie Schmid, Dr. Robert Siman, Boyd Holcomb, Bruce Kiefer, Bray Mercil, Elmer Bredlie and Frank Beutin.

Miss Steinhauer Wins Scholarship

Janice Steinhauer of Thief River Falls was one of five students at Northwest School in Crookston who were presented Friday, December 4, with scholarship certificates in recognition of having won places on the school honor roll for four consecutive terms. E. N. Reiersgord, principal, conferred the awards.

Open Bids Dec. 18 on New Home for Aged at Roseau

Plans for completion of a home for the aged in Roseau have been finished by Architects Wells and Denbrook and will include eight single rooms, 17 double rooms plus an infirmary and examination rooms, it was announced last week. Bids for the work are to be received December 18. The project will mean completion of the unfinished Eventide Home near Roseau golf course.

Four of the double rooms and one of the single rooms have adjoining private toilets and all others are served by patient toilets located in each wing. The building will accommodate 32 persons, the architects said.

4-H Offers Means to Develop State Youth

What can we do to help America's young people develop into responsible individuals?

Many groups are organized to tackle this problem. One of the largest of these is 4-H, two and a quarter million strong, says County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. In Minnesota alone over 50,000 young people are active 4-H members.

Four-H is centered around the belief that young men and women need training in order to enter the competition of life. Learning by doing is the 4-H way. Group experience and project work are the tools which challenge youth and serve as a means to promote individual development. The real function of the awards program is to provide the incentive needed to keep young people interested in activities that will further their own development. The awards are just the icing on the cake.

This icing is first seen in local competition. Four-H'ers strive for blue and championship ribbons, project achievement medals, the key award and special awards offered by various businesses for outstanding 4-H work.

Young people grow and mature when they can examine many ideas and actively participate with a variety of people, says Stelmaschuk. And so, the next step for these local winners in state competition. Each year more than 2,500 4-H'ers enjoy the competition of the state fair. They gather in the 4-H building to demonstrate and exhibit in hopes of becoming state champions. Only a few get the chance to win top honors; the rest go home with the valuable experience of participating. Livestock exhibitors rub elbows with hundreds of other 4-H'ers at the exciting Junior Livestock show held annually in South St. Paul.

County winners anxiously await state health and conservation camp where ideas from each of the state's 81 extension counties are pooled. Junior leaders meet, exchange views and elect the state 4-H federation leaders at the state junior leadership conference. Hundreds of 4-H'ers show their originality and ideas as they enter the state safety and radio speaking contests each year.

Intermingled with the many state activities are various trips to national conferences and camps. All of these experiences are designed to broaden the 4-H'ers scope.

Last Sunday evening visitors at the Joe Blakup home were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Blakup and Pauleen and Kathryn Lundstrom of Strandquist.

Dorothy and Arleen Prosser, Sylvia Folden, Rena Griffin and Richard Johnson, all students at the University of Grand Forks, spent the Thanksgiving holiday at their homes.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—A friend of ours, a veteran with a service-connected condition, needs treatment for it, but the nearest VA hospital is some distance away. Will the government pay his necessary travel expenses, to and from the hospital?

A—Yes, that is possible. However, travel authorization must be obtained from the admitting VA hospital beforehand. If it is a medical emergency, the private physician who telephones the hospital to request emergency admission may secure the travel authorization at the same time.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran, at school part-time under the GI Bill. What is the deadline for finishing training?

A—Your deadline is eight years from the date of your discharge. But no GI training can be taken after January 31, 1965.

Q—I am interested in mechanics and am eligible for training under the War Orphans Education act. Can I study mechanics under the War Orphans program?

A—Yes. It is possible to take any of several types of training below the college level. You could take War Orphans training in an approved school specializing in mechanics.

Q—I am moving to another state and want to be sure my benefit check keeps coming to me on time. Is it enough for me to tell the post office about my change of address, or should I tell VA also?

A—You should tell both the post office and VA immediately. Proper and prompt notification will expedite receipt of payment.

Prowlers Edge Sacred Heart Quintet 45-39

Trailing by a 28 to 25 score at the intermission, and a 34 to 31 at the end of the third period, coach Hartley Story's varsity Prowlers held the burly Eagles of East Grand Forks Sacred Heart high school to but five points in the fourth period, all free throws, while scoring fourteen points to mark up a 45 to 39 win in a basketball game played on the local court Friday night.

The Prowlers, successful in their two starts to date, will meet coach Irv St. John's Warren Pirates in a 31st district conference game here Friday night, Dec. 11.

Friday night's game found the bulky Eagles (and they exhibited a solid front line in forwards Dan and Dale Neppel and center Dave Smith) moving into the lead late in the second period when Dan Neppel scored on a rebound, and Dick Fontaine looped a long shot into the east basket, giving St. James a 28 to 25 advantage at the intermission.

In the low-scoring third period, the Prowlers, on Ron Hanson's hook shot, with 5:02 of the period remaining, knotted the score at 30-all, but Dan Neppel's field goal and Fontaine's lay-up on a drive-in shot, gave coach DeBrito's club a 34 to 31 lead entering the fourth quarter.

The hectic fourth period found the Prowlers, on Hanson's two free throws, making the game score even at 36-all with five minutes to play. Steve Embury, who handled the play-making duties for the Prowlers ably, drove into the lane and scored on a lay-up shot. Dennis Kotrba picked up a point for the Eagles on a free throw, only to have Bob Pearson left in a pair of Prowler free throws to give the locals a 40 to 37 lead with 2:58 to play. Fontaine, fouled by Eddie Lietzow, notched a pair of free throws, paring the Prowler lead to one point. Lietzow made amends for his foul by breaking into the lane and scoring on a drive-in shot. Gary Anderson added a Prowler free throw, and a moment later, breaking up a Sacred Heart play in mid-court he drove in to score a field goal and "insure" the Prowler win, 45 to 39.

Lanky Ron Hanson, on six field goals and three free throws, was the game's high scorer with 15 points. He was pressed closely for scoring honors by the Eagles' fine guard, Dick Fontaine, who tallied 14 points on five fielders and four free throws.

Prowler 'B's Whip East Side Quintet 54 to 22

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team, with a varsity reserve Don Ulferts tallying 15 points, defeated the Sacred Heart 'B' team, 54 to 22, in a preliminary game played here Friday night.

Except for the first period, when the Eagles 'B' team held the locals to a 12 to 8 score, the Prowler 'B' team controlled the play throughout. Pat King, who exhibited sharp marksmanship on his outside shooting, led the Sacred Heart 'B' team scorers with 10 points, garnered on five field goals.

Newfolden Upsets Goodridge 65-34

Nordics' Don Engelsrud Scores Total of 32 Points

With Don Engelsrud, their high-scoring forward, erupting for twenty-eight points in the second half, coach Jack Junker's Newfolden Nordics opened their 1959-60 season by scoring a 65 to 34 win over the Goodridge Huskies in a basketball game played at Goodridge on Tuesday night.

Engelsrud was held to a pair of free throws in the first period, and garnered a field goal in the second period; but in the third period he rolled 16 points into the basket, and finished up with a 12-point performance in the fourth period.

The Nordics, who hit on 26 of 70 shots from the field against Goodridge, will play at Greenbush on Friday, Dec. 8.

Timberlane Resort at RLF Soon Ready

Ski Runs Ready for Use with Arrival of Snow

With both ski tows in operation and the headquarters building nearing completion, the newly-named Timberlane ski hill northwest of Red Lake Falls needs only a little cooperation from the weatherman to enable sports enthusiasts from this area to try the several runs which have been provided.

The name, "Timberlane," was proposed in several of the 398 contest entries and Mrs. Lyle Kirschman of rural Red Lake Falls was selected as the winner.

Roads in the area were marked this week to permit skiers to find the hill more easily. Access to the hill is by the river road or across the field owned by Joseph Skala. The latter road, however, will be closed later in the season if blowing snow drifts.

The recreation development will be managed by Boyce Lee of Thief River Falls and the management plans to install lights for night skiing.

Boots and skis will be available for rent and some equipment will be on sale. The 20x40 headquarters building will serve as a warming house and will also provide lunch facilities and rest rooms.

Backers and builders of the project include Douglas Steiger, Maurice Steiger, Warren, Veryl and Donald Mosbeck and John Steiger, all of Pennington county, north of the Wylie area.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

He's a Good One

The publicity drums of the University of Minnesota athletic department, hockey division, are booming out praise for Gopher sophomore Oscar Mahle, International Falls' gift to coach John Mariucci's squad. And he merits all the praise that he has been receiving.

But we believe that the Prowlers of 1956 in general, and defenseman Duane Glass in particular, are entitled to assists in the development of Mahle's hockey talents.

We refer, of course, to the state high school hockey finals game of 1956, played on the last Saturday night of February on the spacious ice sheet of the St. Paul Auditorium. That game, which must be entered into the records as one of the most bruising final games since the tournament had its origin in 1945, was won by the Prowlers by a 3 to 2 score. And who can forget those two body checks that Glass slammed into Mahle? Especially that check in the first period when Mahle, after carrying the puck across the south blue-line and was maneuvering into position to uncork his backhand shot, was hit by Glass, being up-ended and creamed. Officials Arnie Bauer and Bill McGlone called time, giving Mahle an opportunity to regain his wind and collect his wits.

And it's fortunate that Glass did make connection with Mahle on those occasions, for in spite of taking those checks the shifty winger tallied a pair of goals for the Broncos. It's no telling how many goals he would have racked up had he not been given those bounces by Glass. He developed respect for the Prowler defense.

Mahle will be with the Gophers when they meet the North Dakota Sioux at Grand Forks on Feb. 12-13. It's not too early to make an attempt to get tickets for that series. The two teams will be playing to "standing room only".

How Long?

The Denver Mavericks closed out their hockey operations in Denver this week and transferred their franchise in the International hockey league to Minneapolis. Playing as the Millers, the club will finish out the 1959-60 schedule.

It is hoped that the erstwhile Mavericks will find a permanent home in Minneapolis, but whether or not the Minneapolis fans will support professional hockey is a question.

It is true that high school hockey in Minneapolis has been making a remarkable growth, and attracting many fans. And the University of Minnesota hockey team has been luring sports fans by the thousands to the Williams Arena. And, too, Minneapolis has a team in the Central league, playing such clubs as Green Bay, Wis., Des Moines, Iowa, and Rochester. Perhaps there aren't enough paying fans in Minneapolis to support all this hockey, and the first to feel the pinch at the box office will be the professionals.

A New Football Conference

At a meeting held in Greenbush on Wednesday evening, representatives from Argyle, Baudette, Greenbush, Hallock, Karlstad, Newfolden, Stephen and Warroad organized a new eleven-man high school football conference. The new conference will be aptly called the "Top of the State" conference.

These schools, with the exception of Baudette, were formerly members of the eight-man football Northern Lights conference, with the following schools as members—Badger, Humboldt, Lake Bronson, Kennedy, Middle River, and Williams— will continue in eight-man football competition.

Each team in the new conference will play seven league games a year, with play to begin on the second Friday after the commencement of the school year. A committee consisting of Rudy Raukar of Warroad, John Money of Hallock, and Louis Allen of Greenbush will draft a conference schedule.

They're Welcome

That was an entertaining and exciting brand of basketball that coach John DeBrito's East Grand Forks Sacred Heart high school team turned in against the Prowlers on Friday night. They are a fine group of boys, and they played well and hard. They can return here for athletic competition against the Prowlers anytime.

Several of the Sacred Heart basketball players, notably Dan and Dale Neppel and Dave Smith, were members of the Eagles football squad this past season. And judging by the physiques of these three boys, and their mobility on the court, it is not to be wondered that the Eagles football team were able to score a win over the powerful Roseau Rams this fall.

Dan Neppel, who concludes his high school athletics this season, expects to enroll at North Dakota University next fall. Dan, who is a fullback, should develop into a fine college player for the Sioux.

Minnesota 'U' Lists Approved Varieties of Crop Seeds for '60

The University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture today added five crop varieties and dropped three from its recommended list for 1960.

According to E. H. Rinke, acting head of the agronomy and plant genetics department, the newly recommended varieties are Parkland barley, Merit soybeans, Lakeland red clover and Michelite and Sanilac navy beans.

Parkland barley was developed in Canada. It is a six-rowed, smooth-awned blue aleurone variety. It is medium late in maturity, has good straw strength and medium to good yielding ability. This variety is acceptable to the American malting industry when grown in northwestern Minnesota. Because the seed has a blue aleurone color, it should be stored and shipped separately from malting barley varieties with white aleurone color.

Lakeland red clover, developed in Wisconsin, yields as well as other red clover varieties and has resistance to northern anthracnose, viruses and powdery mildew. These diseases can sometimes be devastating to the red clover crop. Seed is available only to seed growers for planting in 1960, but seed will be increased and should be available for general use in 1961.

Merit soybeans were developed in Canada from a cross of Blackhawk and Capital. This variety is recommended for the central one-third of the state. Compared to Norchief, it averages one or two days later in maturity, is two or three inches taller and has better lodging resistance. It is somewhat higher in oil content and has given higher yields than Norchief.

Michelite and Sanilac navy beans were developed in Michigan. They are the best varieties available for this area. Sanilac has a bush-type growth habit while Michelite has a viny growth habit. Both varieties have resistance to bean mosaic and bacterial wilt. In addition, Sanilac is resistant to anthracnose and sclerotina. This is the first time that the University has listed recommended navy bean varieties.

Varieties dropped from the recommended list were:

* Forrest barley because it is not acceptable to maltsters and will not perform better than those which are acceptable.

* Wegener red clover because of its disease susceptibility. Other red clover varieties not recommended because of susceptibility to disease are Commercial, Chesapeake, Kenland and Pennscott.

* Dashaway field peas because no certified seed is available and the seed from available sources varies greatly.

Recommended crop varieties for 1960 will be:

Winter Wheat — Minter; Soybeans — Acme, Capital, Chippewa, Comet, Flambeau, Grant, Harosoy, Merit, Norchief, Ottawa Mandarin; Sunflowers — Arrowhead; Barley — Kindred, Parkland, Traill; Alfalfa — Ranger, Vernal.

Medium Red Clover — Dollard, Lakeland; Biennial Sweet Clover — Evergreen, Madrid; Smooth Bromegrass — Achenbach, Fischer, Lincoln; Birdsfoot Trefoil — Empire; Sudangrass — Piper; Timothy — Itasca, Lorain; Kentucky Bluegrass — Park.

A complete list of varieties recommended, not adequately tested, and not recommended by the University will be reported in Extension Folder 22, "1960 Varieties of Farm Crops," to be published in January, 1960.

Avoid Infections During Holidays, State Medics Say

Colds and Influenza Are Common Ailments at This Time of Year

Avoid infections if you want to make the most out of the season intended to be jolly, advises the Minnesota State Medical Association.

The common cold, pneumonia, influenza, sore throat, and bronchitis are among the most common cold weather infectious diseases caused by germs.

Often these normally mild infectious diseases will be more serious in nature because proper care has been neglected. Resistance is the body's first line of defense against the growth of disease germs. These minute organisms can enter the body by hands, with food and water, as well as bodily contact or by using items which have come in contact with an infected person. When body resistance is low, the infection develops rapidly and illness results.

Fever is used by the body to combat an infection. Sometimes a physician will attempt to control rather than reduce a fever in order to allow the increased body temperature to more effectively combat the infection. Watery eyes, nasal congestion, a sore throat, persistent coughing, and a fever are among the first signs which may indicate that an infectious disease is developing.

Failure to take proper precautionary measures is the most common reason why people suffer from infectious diseases. Vaccinations will provide protection against many of these common infectious diseases. However, the practice of good daily health habits is the best method to prevent this progress.

FU Grain Terminal Association Will Meet Next Monday

Grain Marketing Agency Sets Three-day Session in St. Paul Auditorium

Citizens from hundreds of rural communities in Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota will leave this week for St. Paul to take part in the nation's biggest co-op get-together, the 22nd annual meeting of Farmers Union Grain Terminal association.

They will arrive in Minnesota's capital Saturday and Sunday, ready for their opening session on Monday, December 14. The meeting will run through Wednesday, December 16, in St. Paul's municipal Auditorium.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 delegates, elected by local cooperative elevators, are expected at this year's convention. Also attending will be managers and directors from most of the more than 600 local co-op elevators served by the big grain marketing and feed, seed and farm chemical regional in the four-state area.

Main speaker at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 15, will be Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who is author of a liberal program for farm families.

17,333 Acres of Land in Pennington County Gets Soil Tests in '59

The soil testing program in Thief River Falls in April, October, and during the year resulted in the participation of 255 area farmers who submitted 764 samples representing 22,493 acres, it was revealed in a summary recently released by Arnt Aune, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee.

Aune called the practice of soil testing "basic to increased profits from crops, pastures and haylands," and praised area farmers for their keen interest.

"Soil tests measure the amount of plant food in the soil and, since science has proved how much plant foods a certain crop needs at a particular yield, farmers can apply fertilizer at a rate which will assure the maximum yield with no waste," Aune continued.

The soil testing program was a combined effort by fertilizer dealers, who paid the testing cost and helped with registration; the Chamber of Commerce; the extension service; SCS and FHA and the banks of Thief River Falls.

According to released figures, Pennington county farmers tested 17,333 acres. With a return of two dollars per acre for every dollar spent for fertilizer, proper fertilization would net county farmers $103,998.

In Marshall, Red Lake and Roseau counties, 5,160 acres were tested which, if properly fertilized, would yield a net return of $30,960.

In The Spirit Of Horatio Alger

Now that the year is drawing to a close we are being reminded again that two American scientists won the Nobel prize in physics this year. For that recognition we are glad to add our voice of appreciation.

Their achievement has been cited by some as proof that our American system of education must be pretty good. Maybe such a conclusion is justified. We know nothing of the educational background of the two scientists and so we are not qualified to pass judgment on the reasons for their success. Possibly it was because they attended exceptionally good schools.

But it does not necessarily follow that they won the Nobel prize because they attended good schools.

We say this, not with any intention of minimizing the importance of good schools. We need better schools. But let us not forget that some of our greatest scientists had little formal schooling.

This should not detract from the glory of those who availed themselves of better educational opportunities. But we still like the old Horatio Alger success stories, and we think it is well to keep in mind that many of our greatest citizens distinguished themselves without the advantage of schooling. Somehow, in the days of their youth, they acquired an insatiable curiosity. In their search for answers they wandered far afield and discovered many strange things.
but self-educated men have made important contributions to our progress. Two of our favorites are Ben Franklin and Thomas Edison.

We have wondered at times if a struggle with adversity in the early years may not be an important factor in the achievement of later success.

Dollars Are Not Wealth

One of the things the country needs a lot more of right now is a better understanding of our currency and how it serves us. We think of wealth in terms of dollars. Most people would like to be wealthier than they are and their desire to get more dollars is understandable.

But the dollar is not a dependable measuring device for wealth. Our dollar is still worth 100 pennies, but it now has the buying power of only 48 cents. This is one of the results of inflation. Many of our good people, especially those who have retired on a fixed income, are not nearly as well off as they thought they were a few years ago.

Our government is the villain mainly responsible for this fraud. Big spending of borrowed money, and expanded credit, have resulted in cheap dollars and have encouraged continuous cycles of wage and price boosts. There now is increasing pressure to keep the dollar from losing more value but the false prophets of paper prosperity still have a hopeful following.

It is interesting to contemplate how much richer we would be if Congress should suddenly decide that the incomes of all of the people should be doubled. For each dollar that we now receive for our goods and services we would receive two dollars. There are advocates of such a procedure, although most of them would approach the objective more gradually.

We should know from our own experiences, and from our observation of what has happened in other countries, that we would not necessarily be any richer if we suddenly, or over a period of years, received twice as many dollars. We probably would discover that with equal suddenness our dollars would lose half their value. Our present 48 cent dollars would have a real buying power of only 24 cents.

Currency functions properly only to the extent that it is an honest currency. As Adam Smith points out in his Wealth of Nations, a coin has value only to the extent that it has the confidence of those who buy and sell. The government can decree that a dollar shall be worth 100 cents but the government cannot control the buying power of that dollar in terms of goods and services.

And whether we get our inflation suddenly or by gradual doses in a continuous spiral of wage and price increases, the net result will be the same — we will handle more dollars but we will not have more wealth.

Ambassador Eisenhower

President Eisenhower's 20,000 mile journey, is "more than anything else a goodwill mission" in the opinion of the New York Times. Mr. Eisenhower will be less a President than an Ambassador, thinks the Times, stating, "As he said in a press conference earlier this month, speaking of the Asiatic end of his journey, he is 'hoping to build in that region, and in many other parts, a better understanding of the United States and goodwill for us.'" The Times concludes:

"Indeed, this trip may mark the emergence of a new and more energetic and hopeful American diplomacy. The President's friendly and optimistic personality will make new friends for us wherever he goes. Just as he triumphed in Bonn, London and Paris, so we suspect he will arouse enthusiasm in Rome, in Ankara, in Karachi, in Kabul, in New Delhi, in Teheran, in Athens and in Rabat. The Eisenhower grin speaks an international

"He will not find in every place he visits the kind of government Americans most admire. His planned visit to Generalissimo Franco may have resulted from a hard choice between diplomacy and preference.

"We have given military and economic support to Franco Spain. We have bases there. These considerations have overridden the natural American dislike of an arbitrary government and the memories of those days of the second World War when this same Generalissimo Franco was playing fast and loose with the Nazis.

"Yet it may well be argued that if the President is willing to go to Moscow, he should be willing to go to Madrid. There is nothing to prevent him from speaking up for freedom in either capital.

"This journey will not of itself produce disarmament or a stable peace, but it may symbolize the birth of a new hope."

Discouraging Report

A distinguished group of American economists expressed their concern recently about the little gain our country has made in the 1950's in economic growth. During this period our rate of gain has been almost at the bottom among major nations, their report stated. The economists were agreed that:

"We face a serious challenge to our capability for future growth.

"The restored economies of western Europe have not only grown more self-sufficient but they also compete more vigorously for a larger share of world markets. Their rates of growth are significantly higher than ours in the 1950's, as are those of Russia and other major powers.

"In fact, per capita growth in the United States has shown little if any rise during the past five years, in striking contrast to the vigorous growth of the rest of the world."

Our decline was attributed to our increasing desire for leisure. The chief economist of the conference board, Martin R. Gainsbrugh, said:

"Our preference for more leisure may be among the factors contributing toward a lower rate of growth in this country than in others during the past decade.

"Certainly if we believed we were in a state of economic war at the moment, and one that was not going well for us, we as a people could do much to raise the rate of economic growth in this country. We could conceivably place a higher priority upon output than upon leisure.

"Apparently, we are still of the belief that there is no necessity for forced economic growth in this country. That may well be viewed as a serious if not fatal blind spot by some future historian."

Area and Population

(Waseca Herald)

When the United States constitution was being conceived there was much debate on the question of representation. Many wanted representation in the congress to be based upon population. Others saw the wisdom of having one house based on population, the other on area.

"Now after many years of successful operation we find no voice raised in opposition to the area basis in the United States senate and the population basis in the House of Representatives. No one seeks a change. It has safeguarded the interests of the less populous States.

Because it has operated so well and because no opposition has developed to it, many people of Minnesota hoped that when the Minnesota constitution was changed we might pattern the change after the area and population formula of the federal constitution.

While Amendment No. 2 provides a population factor for both the House and the Senate, the Senate representation is based to a degree upon area. It probably is the best we can hope for and now we must fight to get that.

The Minnesota AFL-CIO Federation of Labor executive council has voted to oppose the amendment. Earlier Governor Freeman deserted his farmer followers to cast his lot with labor in opposition to the amendment. He did this altho he had previously committed himself in favor of reapportionment on an area and population basis.

The amendment is not a party issue. It is neither liberal nor conservative. It is neither urban or rural. It involves good government alone and should be supported by those who believe that our federal representation, based on area and population, has been tried and found good.

No Wonder They Quit School

(Calgary Herald)

Much is said these days about the failure of parents to provide the necessary stimulus and encouragement from outside the school. A good deal of this criticism is justified in many cases. But the school cannot escape its responsibility as the chief factor in child education.

If a lot of high-flown pedagogical nonsense could be stripped away from the thinking of our educators and officials, if the school courses could be beefed up and a lot of modernistic fat pared away from them, if the youngsters could be taught how to work instead of how to play, the problem of school drop-outs would decline immeasurably.

Not in a Single State

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Not a single state has taken advantage of the federal inducement which Congress provided to control advertising billboards along the new interstate highways. It would be much easier for the states to regulate the unsightly signboards before the superhighways are built. It would be less expensive as well. But obviously it also is more difficult for state legislatures than for Congress to resist special interest lobbies for the public's benefit. The interstate highways may become billboard alleys unless the voters in Missouri and other states tell their legislators that they prefer nature's vistas to commercial intrusion.

Minnesota's tourist-vacation industry received a big boost this past week at the annual meeting of the Mississippi River Parkway Planning commission, which was held in New Orleans in which our Minnesota Pine to Palm participated. This group of dedicated planners, representing the 10 states through which the Mississippi flows and the two Canadian provinces of Manitoba and Quebec, has laid out a Great River Road project for a 2,000 mile parkway corridor paralleling the Mississippi from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada.

The importance of this project to Minnesota is readily apparent. When completed it will bring thousands of additional Americans from states to the South of us to enjoy our marvelous Minnesota lakes and pine forests. And it will bring our Canadian neighbors south through Minnesota in greater numbers than ever before.

Within the immediate area of the Mississippi river which the Parkway corridor will serve is an estimated population today of more than 62 million people. In addition, the Parkway—also called the Great River Road—will be the first North-South highway specifically designed to tie together the mid-continent area.

Growing Leisure for Americans

The Great River Road will be a unique attraction for Americans with an increasing amount of leisure and a growing hunger for the intangible benefits which flow from our great out of doors and which make living in Minnesota more worthwhile and meaningful.

"The American people even today take more than 231 million trips a year. Almost 90 per cent of them by car, and they last an average 5.2 days per trip. Of special importance to Minnesota is the fact that over 60 per cent of these trips originate and end in the North Central and Southern states, and three out of every four trips are for vacation and pleasure.

These figures tell us of the importance of the Great River Road not only to a public seeking worthwhile recreational opportunities, but also to our state which is better suited than most to satisfy the leisure time needs of the American people.

Parkway Recreation Corridor

The Parkway is planned to be more than just a highway; it will be a corridor of parks, playgrounds, camping facilities, scenic views and historic sites preserving the heritage of mid-America and its great river.

Minnesota this year officially designated as the Great River Road, the 623 miles of highway this route will follow in our state; and I was privileged recently to place the first of 2,000 signs of the Pilot Wheel design which marks this roadway.

Many Minnesotans share with me the belief that our efforts to create the Great River Road will demonstrate that a highway can be more than concrete, blacktop, steel and speed. This road will add a new dimension, that of enjoying the land through which it passes.

Yes, the man's name was Noe, the inventor of the first vacuum cleaner in 1905. Before that date carpets were cleaned with "beaters" like the ones shown above.

Housecleaning and housekeeping are different now, thanks to Noe and to the inventors and the progressive manufacturers who came after him.

Mrs. Peder Sabo Celebrates Anniversary

Mrs. Peder Sabo, who was 80 years old Nov. 30, was pleasantly reminded of the occasion by relatives and friends. Sunday afternoon, the Harold Sabo and Selmer Wold families came to start the celebration with two lovely birthday cakes. Monday afternoon, a group of neighbors, including Mmes. Edwin Quam, who baked the cake, Irwin Johnson, Art and Martin Swenson, J. A. Hellquist, Alfred Rafteseth, Wm. Marquis, Lloyd Anderson, Pete Mellem and Bernard Ranum spent a social time bringing gifts and serving lunch. Evening well wishers were Mr. and Mrs. Russel Nelson and Bob, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nelson and Mary Jo, Mr. and Mrs. Art Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Olson. Mrs. Ray Nelson brought a special birthday cake for her grandmother. Numerous gifts and dozens of cards made a most memorable day for the honored guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson were guests at a party given for them at the Mission Covenant church Saturday evening. Mrs. Elmer Kron, who was in charge of the program, brought a greeting; appropriate readings were given by Cleo Thode, Mrs. Victor Ranstrom and Mrs. Arthur Swenson; musical selection by Lloyd Anderson and Robert and the Copeland family; Rev. W. Blackwood gave a message; J. A. Hellquist spoke briefly and presented a going away gift to Richard and a purse of money to the young couple. Relatives from a distance attending were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Blom, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Mellem, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mellem and Cleo Thode, all of Thief River Falls; and the Walter Steinhauer family of Holt. Lunch was served at the close of the program.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA

by JIM KIMBALL, Director of Game & Fish

This morning some joker placed a nicely printed sign on my desk which said, "DO IT RIGHT AND NOBODY REMEMBERS — DO IT WRONG NOBODY FORGETS". Well, I guess we do enough things wrong so they are easy to remember, but when we do something we think is right possibly it wouldn't hurt to say, "I told you so" just a little bit.

You will recall that we predicted a relatively good waterfowl shooting season. At the same time we were saying the continental waterfowl population was seriously depleted because of poor breeding conditions. It did turn out that we had the expected heavy migration through Minnesota because of drouth to the west and for the most part Minnesota waterfowl shooting was good.

Now waterfowl specialists throughout the country are beginning to add up what may be left in the way of a continental waterfowl population and the results may be even worse than predicted. Mallards, generally known as the "bread and butter" species which contribute most to the hunter's bag, appear to be in particularly serious trouble.

The winter inventory has not yet been conducted, but duck populations look so bad that we may have a special early inventory throughout the country and my guess is that some curtailment of duck shooting at the end of the present season is a possibility. This would not affect Minnesota hunters, of course, but would be mighty unpopular in the South. Remember, I am only guessing.

The thing worrying waterfowl workers the most is the extremely low age ratio of the ducks being killed. That is, the percentage of young (ducks hatched this year) is much lower than it should be, proving that summer production was extremely poor. During normal years we should get about two young ducks for each adult in Minnesota, and the average throughout the continent should be at least 1¼. This year over 1,000 ducks were checked in Minnesota and we found not 2 but .65 young for each adult.

Similar studies to the south show an even more dismal picture. In the Illinois Valley they are finding only one young bird for each three adults, and some checks in Missouri find one young for five adults. One Illinois biologist who has been recording duck populations for many years estimates this year's mallards to be only 50 per cent of the average over the past 14 years, and the canvasback appears to be in even greater trouble now than it was a year ago.

This is a gloomy picture, but it does make us feel a little better about having done what we could to hold the kill down in Minnesota. Yes, even the three-bird limit and the Wednesday opening. I am glad Minnesotans had a reasonably good shoot this year because I would hate to predict what the regulations may be next year.

The one note of optimism in this whole duck situation is the fact that there was a wet freeze-up and early heavy snows over the prairie breeding grounds. Let's hope that we have enough breeding ducks come back to utilize these potholes.

Norden News

Mrs. Daryl Lewis, Rt. 1, City Phone MU 1-4791

There will be a worship service Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Norden church. Those who have not as yet turned in the forms mailed to them some time ago may do so at this meeting.

This date, 18 years ago, was the "day of infamy" which saw Japanese carrier planes conduct a sneak attack on the bulk of the U. S. Pacific fleet, caught with steam down at Pearl Harbor.

That marked the end of an era for the U. S. and a new way of life for several million Americans. The declaration of war which followed the sneak attack led to eventual disaster for all the Axis nations and complete and overwhelming victory for United Nations forces.

We have been busy fighting or forging the tools of war ever since. We no more than defeated Germany and Japan than an erstwhile ally showed her true colors as a totalitarian state even more deadly than the three defunct Axis powers.

Today, those who were born that Dec. 7, 1941, come under the draft. Their whole lifetimes have been spent under conditions of war or threats of war and there is little indication of let-up.

True, President Eisenhower is on a goodwill tour and Khrushchev has indicated Russia will destroy her stockpile of nuclear missile warheads under certain conditions. But, so far we have heard little but talk—and China isn't acting exactly peaceful nowadays.

Yes, we had nearly four years of war, followed by five years of uneasy peace and then a "police action," followed by another six years of armament and sentry duty throughout the world. A let-up in tension is long overdue.

Radical and speedy changes have taken place since Dec. 7, 1941. We went from the air age to the space age, from gunpowder and TNT to nuclear explosives. One supersonic bomber can, today, carry more death and destruction than all the bombs dropped on Germany in the last great war. Now we don't even need the bomber to lay the "egg".

In the last war our old Mustang and Thunderbolt fighters and our B-29 bombers were the latest thing out and we were extremely proud of these superlative machines. Yet, had Hitler allowed it, Germany might have had jet and rocket fighters in quantities. Even as it was these planes rendered our 10 years obsolete in a matter of months and whether we could have countered in time with jets of our own is problematical, had German jets appeared in large numbers.

Friday, I saw two jet fighters maneuvering in the skies over Thief River Falls and the thought occurred that these planes which had such a short time ago rendered propeller-driven planes obsolete, were themselves becoming even more out-of-date. This is the space age and our government has not a single new-type fighter plane on order and has also cancelled out an order of bombers which were to have replaced the mighty B-52.

It seems only yesterday that there was a hot row in Washington over how many B-52's the Air Force should have!

Meanwhile, our enemies of World War II aren't manufacturing arms. Instead, we find clocks, toys, tools and chinaware bearing the inscriptions, "made in Germany" and "made in Japan", on store shelves as we enter this Christmas season. The goods are inexpensive and sell very well, too. In many, if not most ways, our former enemies are better off than we are.

Ironic world we live in, isn't it!

Community Club

The following program was presented at the October meeting of the Steiner Community Club Friday evening: Community singing led by Mrs. Carl Torgerson; a reading of the "History of the Club" by Mrs. Alfred Solem; a solo "He Shall Feed His Flock" by Janet Torgerson; a reading "I Know Something Good About You" by Obe Omlid; a solo "My God And I" by Mrs. Carl Torgerson accompanied by Stanley at the piano, a skit entitled "She Didn't Feel So Well". Several song selections by Maynard Wedul; a reading "It Gets Later Than You Think" by Harold Halvorson, and a film pertaining to agriculture. Lunch was then served.

The first meeting of the club was held 25 years ago, on November 2, 1934. The purpose of the organization was to provide good entertainment and as a means of getting together for social gatherings. Plans for organizing were brought up with County Agent R. Douglass, who gave a great deal of assistance in the technical matters of organization procedure. The then vacant Steiner store building was leased for a meeting place. The first officers were President, Rene Werner; vice-president, Dan Dowacter, and secretary-treasurer, Otto Saugen. By 1941 the need for a larger and better building for social and club gatherings was realized. After much discussion the present location of our club building was agreed upon and Bernard Ranum was engaged as contractor. On November 28, 1941 a group of approximately 400 gathered at our new Steiner community hall for the dedication. From then on the club progressed rapidly financially and it was possible to celebrate the financial independence of our organization on Friday evening, Sept. 29, 1944, in a mortgage burning ceremony. Over the years the Steiner Community Club has been a very active and successful organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rausch, Robert, Joan and John, and Mrs. Anna Rausch spent Sunday afternoon visiting their daughter and sister, Sister Isidore of St. Francis Hospital at Crookston.

TRF Creamery Reports Huge Volume in '59

Local Institution Churns 1,178,132 Pounds of Butter

Nearly 300 shareholders and patrons of the Thief River Falls Coperative creamery heard reports of a successful past year's operations at their annual meeting Tuesday afternoon in the municipal Auditorium.

In their business session the shareholders also reelected Fred Koop and Carl Torgerson to the board of directors. Preceding the meeting the Chamber of Commerce served lunch to the gathering, and at the close checks were distributed in payment of patrons' equities for the third quarter of 1947 in the aggregate amount of $5,123.64.

A special guest at the meeting was Byron Allen, state commissioner of agriculture, who presented a series of slides in explanation of the work being done in the various divisions of his department, including plant industry, marketing and sales and bacteriological and chemical analysis. Mr. Allen also supplied explanatory comments.

The audit report submitted at the meeting revealed that the creamery handled a total of 953,670.4 pounds of butterfat during the year ending September 30, of which 609,222.2 pounds was in the form of milk and the remainder in cream. A total of 1,178,132 pounds of butter was accounted for.

Including patrons' refunds of 3.19 cents per pound, an average net price of 64.15 cents was paid for all butterfat in cream, and 62.33 cents per pound for all butter fat in milk. An average net price of 77.19 cents was paid for all butterfat including hauling. The total average production cost per pound of butter was reported at 6.629 cents.

Although total sales declined fractionally of $831,971 compared to $848,310 the preceding year, expenses showed a substantial reduction, with a resulting rise in net margins to $29,833.58 this year, compared to $15,113.51 in 1958.

Lincoln High Groups to Offer Christmas Program Wednesday

The Thespian troupe, the orchestra, junior high school chorus and Lincoln concert choir will be combined in the annual Christmas program to be presented in the school auditorium Wednesday, Dec. 16, at 8 p.m.

The play that the Thespians will present is based on a story, "Uncle Noah's Christmas Inspiration," by Leona Dalrymple. It has been adapated for the stage by Miss Nita J. Dziuk, Thespian coach. The drama has an orchestral accompaniment, which has been arranged by James Solsten.

It is a story of an old Negro servant, Uncle Noah, who has stayed on at the plantation of Colonel Fairfax, although the Civil War has been fought and past. It is Uncle Noah's inspiration which makes this the first joyous Christmas season for many years at the Brierwood plantation.

Bob Wood portrays the character of Uncle Noah and Joe Ose is Colonel Fairfax. Mark Larson plays the role of Dick Fairfax, the Colonel's banished son, and Gretchen Larson plays the role of Ruth Verney. Larry Rude portrays her uncle, Major Verney.

Following a short intermission, the junior high school chorus and the Lincoln concert choir will present the choral music portion of the program. The chorus will present several familiar carols and the concert choir will sing the Christmas cantata, "Childe Jesus" by Joseph Clokey. The Christmas story will be narrated while the familiar manger scene is re-enacted in a pantomime.

More Than 100 VFW Members Share in Conference Here

Noon Banquet in Eagles Hall Features Annual 9th District Fall Meeting

More than 100 delegates were attracted by the winter conference of the Ninth district Veterans of Foreign Wars in Thief River Falls Sunday, and attended a noon banquet in the Eagles auditorium, served by the Eagles auxiliary.

Commander Melvin Hoffman introduced Mayor O. D. Belch, who welcomed the visitors. Others addressing the group were Don Otte of Melrose, state VFW commander, and Mildred St. Mane of Litchfield, senior vice president of the state VFW auxiliary.

Guests at the meeting also included Claire Larson, second vice commander of the American Legion, and G. Vinall of the Fargo VA office. Mrs. Clarence Dicken, president of the VFW auxiliary unit and in charge of local arrangements, also was introduced.

Roy Rawley of Crookston, Ninth district commander, presided at an afternoon business session of the VFW in the Odd Fellows hall, while Mrs. Myrtle Lovejoy of East Grand Forks, district president of the auxiliary, conducted the meeting for the women in the city Auditorium.

Following the meetings, lunch was served in the VFW rooms by the auxiliary.

To Light Nativity Scene Tonight 9:15

Jaycees Sponsor Creche on Postoffice Property

The nativity scene was set up early this week on the postoffice property adjoining Second st., and is now ready for its formal lighting ceremony this evening, Thursday, at 9:15. It was announced by Ken Onken, chairman of the religious activities committee of the local Jaycee chapter, sponsor of the Christmas project for thefourth year.

The short program will open with welcoming remarks by Mayor O. D. Belch, followed by the singing of carols by a group of members of local church choirs. The closing prayer will be offered by the Rev. A. C. Seltz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Eldor Ornquist and Julie and Mrs. Bill Peterson and sons, Brian and Jon, spent Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Ullevig in Warren.

Covenant Church to Present Choir

The Mission Covenant church, on East Third st. parkway will present the first candle-lighting service in its new sanctuary Sunday evening at 7:45. The choir has prepared a selection of Christmas carols together with a narration, under the supervision of Rodney Brodin, choir director. Mrs. Alvin Dahlstrom is the accompanist, and Mrs. A. V. Brodin is narrator. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Zion Candlelight Rites Sunday at 8

90 Members of Combined Choirs to Participate

Ballots Should Be Returned by Dec. 15 in C. C. Election

Report on Election of Directors to Be Made at Meeting December 17

December 15 is the target date for all members of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce to vote and get their ballots returned to the Chamber office, according to Sig Quam, president. All chamber members should look to this date and make their selections for the six best men to be elected, in their opinion, for a two-year term on the Board of Directors.

Quam also announced the appointment of a tellers committee, consisting of Cliff Bjorkman, chairman; Orville Hanson and Howard Hoel, to tabulate the ballots being returned by chamber members.

This committee will meet on December 16 and in turn report to the chamber members at their annual business meeting to be held at the Elks club on Thursday, December 17, in the form of a noon luncheon.

Reinstatement of School Patrol at 1st and Main Asked

County Safety Council Makes Recommendation after Study of Traffic

Several matters involving public safety were discussed at a meeting of the Pennington county safety council Monday evening, with Sheriff Charles R. Richards, president, in charge.

Sgt. John Oven of the highway patrol reported that observations of traffic at the intersection of Main av. and First st. near Lincoln high school indicated that a need for the American Legion school patrol is quite evident in spite of the presence of the new traffic lights. The group recommended that the school patrol be restored.

Sheriff Richards reported that some "hotrodding" by young motorists is still being done on the river ice, and he urged the public to notify the authorities when they see the dangerous practice indulged in.

Game Warden Carl Sundstrom reported that a large class has just graduated from the rifle safety course. He added that Pennington county has a good percentage of its young people participating in the program. Information concerning the course is available at the local Coast-to-Coast store or at Fred's Mobil Service.

Marshall County to Sell $200,000 Drainage Bonds

A $20,000 drainage bond issue to finance improvement work on six ditches in Marshall county, will be put up for sale on December 30, as a result of action taken by the county board of commissioners in session in Warren Tuesday, according to Levi G. Johnson, county auditor.

The issue will provide funds for improvements on the following ditches: Judicial Ditch 11, $44,000; Judicial Ditch 18, $1,000; Judicial Ditch 63, $500; County Ditch 201, $106,000; County Ditch 27, $20,500 and County Ditch 32, $28,000.

Few Contests in Elections in Area Villages

Clarence Haug to Succeed A. Carlson as Newfolden Mayor

Results of the Dec. 8 elections in seven nearby villages have been reported with only a moderate number of voters turning out.

At Newfolden where a total of 86 votes were cast, Clarence Haug was elected mayor in an unopposed race. Haug will succeed Alton Carlson who did not file. Stanley Holmaas was unopposed in his bid for re-election as trustee, as was P. J. Anderson who was renamed treasurer.

Middle River voters gave Elmer Thompson 99 votes in his bid for reelection as mayor with Rodney Hallquist receiving 57 votes. John Mickelson was reelected trustee with 105 votes and Al Reisberg received 49 votes. Mrs. Bernadine Collins was unopposed in her bid for reelection as treasurer.

W. V. Seeger was reelected mayor of Oklee where a total of 78 votes were cast. Bernard Remick and Ken Rollandson were reelected trustees and Henry Salardeau was named assessor.

At Grygla where 43 votes were cast, Larry Bruneau was named mayor to succeed Oliver Byklum with only scattered opposition. Alfred Sorenson was reelected trustee, Leo Svenpladsen was named treasurer and Elmer Strom was selected as justice of the peace. There were no filings for the contests with all votes written in.

Reelected mayor of Goodridge was Carl Elg, who had no opposition. With 42 ballots cast, Albert Kassa was reelected trustee and Mrs. Allan Jones was renamed treasurer.

A total of 15 voters turned out at Holt and reelected Arvid Wickstrom as mayor and William Davis as trustee. There was no opposition in either post. Walter Moberg was elected to fill the treasurer's post which will become vacant at the end of O. H. Nohre's term.

Oscar Brown was selected as mayor of Plummer in an election which saw 115 votes cast. Brown received 80 votes to 30 write-ins cast for S. L. Gauthier. With no filings for the trustee's post, 52 voters cast their ballots for Robert Dube as trustee with the incumbent, Ed Hemly, receiving 28 write-in ballots. S. L. Gauthier

Trinity Sets Yule Concert Sunday

Senior and Chapel Choirs to Share in Presentation

The Trinity Lutheran senior and chapel choirs will present their annual Christmas concert Sunday evening, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m.

The program will be centered around the four Advent candles. Included will be anthems by the chapel choir and a cantata, "The Shepherd's Christmas," arranged by Martin Luvaas, presented by the senior choir.

Vocal and instrumental solos will also be a part of the concert. Landis Gross will be the narrator.

The combined choirs will unite in singing "The Morning Star Upon Us Gleams" and a candlelighting service will conclude the evening.

RE-ELECTED as directors of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association at the Dec. 8 annual meeting were Carl Torgerson, left, and Fred Koop. Other principal items of business included the report of the successful past year's operation of the local plant.

Telephone Co. Official Tells TRF Groups of Electronic Marvels

Public interest in the nation's space age progress was shown in Thief River Falls this week when more than 1,000 persons attended six lecture-demonstrations on "Rendezvous in the Stratosphere" presented by the executive assistant from the Minneapolis office of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company.

Paul Stephenson, a graduate of the naval academy who has been working the past year with missile integration in our national defense system, spoke Monday at a meeting of the Excel Co-op Telephone company; Tuesday at a Lincoln high school assembly, area vocational school assembly and at a BPW meeting; and Wednesday to the Lions club and at a Jaycee meeting.

Stephenson began his talks with a demonstration of how a simple "thinking machine" or computer could be used to solve an everyday problem. Everyone who uses a telephone has charge of one of the world's largest computers. Simply by dialing a number puts into action a complex system of relays, switches and other apparatus to solve such problems as routing, Stephenson said.

He went on to show a few examples of research by Bell laboratory teams which have both military and civilian applications. Among these are the transistor and the solar battery. Common applications of the transistor such as the miniature radio and a telephone equipped with a volume control for use by the hard-of-hearing were demonstrated.

From these commonly used civilian items, Stephenson went on to discuss the control of missiles which has become so precise that a 110-ton ICBM traveling at 15,000 miles an hour can hit a target thousands of miles away with pin-point accuracy. Such guidance requires the development and research of scientific teams to produce computers which can almost instantly react to a large number of factors to accurately guide a missile.

The flight of a missile from its launching pad to a point of impact was demonstrated with a model and Stephenson warned that no anti-missile has yet been developed in this country which could stop a missile launched by an enemy. A "crash program" is underway for such a weapon, he said.

Seek Volunteers for Rescue Squad for Civil Defense

An urgent appeal has been issued for volunteers to sign up for rescue squad training courses to be conducted by Quentin Jones shortly after January 1, 1960.

County and city officials have been notified that the civil defense rescue truck currently stationed here will be removed to another city unless trained crews are provided.

Persons interested in taking the short course are requested to contact Ken Gustafson, county CD director; Quentin Jones, rescue training instructor; or Fred Mittelstadt.

Propose Hike in City Water Rates in 1960

Definite Action on 35 Pct. Boost May Be Taken Tuesday

Increasing city water rates by 35%, floating two revenue bond issues and raising the tax rate by 3 mills are being considered by the city council as answers to the problem of how to raise enough money to meet the requests for city needs during 1960.

The measures were discussed Wednesday evening, Dec. 9, during the third in a series of budget meetings which began with the tentative budget $80,000 above expected income. Departmental requests, which seemed to have been pared as much as possible, were again examined and other means were then explored to balance the 1960 budget.

The council tentatively decided to provide the $27,931 requested by the power and light department through revenue bonds. The sum was put into the budget to provide needed switching gear at the power plant, to rewind a water turbine and for other work deemed necessary.

Water rates, which had been discussed previously, are due to go up 35% beginning with the bills for January if the discussion Wednesday night is put into effect and the minimum water rate will go up from the present $1.30 to $1.75. This would enable the water works to break even in its operations, the council said, and would increase city revenue from that source by an estimated $6,276 a month. Sewer charges, based on water bills, would also increase and would yield an additional $5,400 a year.

The resolution will probably be introduced at the Dec. 15 regular meeting of the council and will take effect Jan. 4.

It was pointed out that this

Rep. W. E. Day Opposes Branch of 'U' of M. at Morris in KTRF Talk

Minnesota residents are presently paying all they can afford to the University and spreading the service would tend to weaken the school, according to Walter E. Day, representative from the 65th legislative district during an interview on radio station KTRF Sunday, Dec. 6.

Day, a member of the legislative committee that approved the opening of the university branch at Duluth and a long-time member of the House appropriations committee, opposed the university expansion to Morris.

In answer to a question concerning legislative intent and desire in recent university action, the representative from Bagley stated that no money was budgeted for the Morris action and that the branch was not approved by the last session of the legislature.

"In fact," said Day, "the bills to establish branches were defeated in the Senate, lost in the House appropriations committee and were defeated when offered as amendments to other bills on the House floor."

The representative also expressed the opinion that he felt legislators would look with disfavor on the action taken by the university and that the lawmakers are appropriating all they think the taxpayers can afford. Added funds made necessary by the university action could be raised only with difficulty, he continued.

He recalled that the expansion of the university in Duluth took the institution to a large population center where the county and city citizens contributed a free campus, free buildings and well over a million dollars toward the branch opening. Such action has not been taken in the Morris region and is not possible in the future, Day said.

No TB Infection Discovered in TRF Schools This Fall

Total of 1,265 Students and School Personnel Were Tested in Program

No infection was found this fall in the tuberculosis case finding program in the Thief River Falls schools, Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, announced this week.

During the faculty workshop September 2, all adult employes were either x-rayed or Mantoux-tested before school opened. The students were tested Novmber 16 and 17 by Dr. L. H. Flancher and field nurse, Mrs. Mary Vottendahl of Sunnyrest sanatorium at Crookston.

Among school personnel and students a total of 1265 were skin-tested and 132 were x-rayed. There were 29 new reactors. Some were questionable, but as a precaution were called positive and x-rayed. There were five new reactors in the four grade schools, six in high school, nine in the area vocational school, and nine among the school personnel.

The x-rays were completed last week and the finding of no disease was just reported to the school.

Each year all adults are included in the Mantoux testing program and students in grades 12, 9, 7, 4, kindergarten and the vocational school.

County Agent at Fall Conference

County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk left Monday for St. Paul, where he is attending the annual conference of the agricultural extension staff on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota. He will return to this city Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Eckerson attended the funeral services for Lester D. Hendry, former resident of this city Friday afternoon, Dec. 4, in Minneapolis.

Shirley Hesse Is Wed To Edward Sjulestad Nov. 28

Rev. Arthur Dale officiated at the double ring ceremony Saturday, Nov. 28, at the St. Petri Lutheran church at Grygla, which united Shirley Hesse of Grygla and Edward Sjulestad of Goodridge in holy matrimony.

The bride is the great-granddaughter of George Hook of Grygla and the granddaughter of Beatrice Hook of Grygla. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sjulestad of Goodridge.

The altar of the church was graced with baskets of pink roses, evergreens and candelabra for the 2 p.m. ceremony. Mrs. Roy [illegible] was at the organ, playing the nuptial music and accompanying the soloist, Charleen [illegible], of Grygla.

Entering on the arm of her great-grandfather, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of white taffeta, lace and net. It featured a scalloped square neckline with a v-backline and had long lace sleeves, which came to a point at the hand. The bouffant skirt was accented with [illegible] of lace and a bow. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations and her necklace and earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Sheryl Hess of Grygla, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a ballerina length gown of lilac chiffon over taffeta and carrying a bouquet of yellow carnations. Her white gold earrings were a gift of the bride.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Howard Sjulestad of Goodridge, with Dale Newton of Grygla and Ronnie Trontvet of Thief River Falls as ushers.

For her granddaughter's wedding, Beatrice Hook wore a brown, orange and black print dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Sjulestad was attired in a gray suit with white accessories. Their corsages were of carnations and roses.

Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended the reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the serving table. Mrs. Lester Hook of Stephen, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake, while Mrs. Norris Trontvet of Thief River Falls, aunt of the bridegroom, poured. Sharon Ellason and Karen Elg of Goodridge, cousins of the bridegroom, were at the gift table with Mrs. Richard Tharaldson of Goodridge and Nadine Eldelbes of Goodridge at the guest book. Waitresses were Sandra Sjulestad of Goodridge and Joanne Wikstrom of Grygla.

Following a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sjulestad are making their home near Goodridge on the bridegroom's father's farm. The bride is a graduate of Goodridge high school, class of 1959.

Local Artist Sings Role in Handel Oratorio

A number of music lovers from Thief River Falls travelled to Grand Forks Tuesday evening to hear Handel's "Judas Maccabaeus" presented by the University of North Dakota music department in Central high school auditorium.

Particularly impressive, according to intermission comment and after-concert conversation, was the artistry of soprano Mrs. Lowell (Marjorie) Swenson, resident of Thief River Falls and member of the university faculty.

Nearly three hours in length, the oratorio makes great demands on soloists, orchestra and chorus alike — however, Mrs. Swenson delivered the role with aplomb, understanding and beauty, seemingly as fresh in the beautiful "So Shall the Lute . . .", the final air, as in beginning numbers in the role.

Appearing with Mrs. Swenson were soloists Charlotte Miller, mezzo-soprano; George E. Kent, tenor, and James T. Fudge, baritone. Maestro Michael Polovitz directed the choral union, University Madrigal club and orchestra.

Mrs. Mary Larson Is Feted Monday

Adrienne Johnson Russell Ellingson wed at Newfolden

Nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday, Dec. 5, at Our Saviour's Lutheran church at Thief Lake by Adrienne Helen Johnson of Middle River and Gordon Russell Ellingson of Newfolden.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson, Middle River, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ellingson of Newfolden.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Duane Thompson, with Morgan Ellingson, brother of the bridegroom, of Thief River Falls at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a light blue wool suit with white and black accessories and a corsage of white and rose carnations. Her pearl earrings were a gift of the bridegroom and the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out.

Her attendant, Sharon Ellingson, sister of the bridegroom, of Newfolden, wore a medium blue knit dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. Eldon Johnson, brother of the bride, was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson chose a teal blue dress, while Mrs. Ellingson was attired in a navy blue dress. Grandmothers Mrs. Signe Johnson, wore a blue suit and Mrs. Ole Moen, a royal blue dress. All were presented with pink corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for immediate relatives and friends. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, centered the bridal table. Mrs. Charles Ellingson, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake with Susan Johnson, sister of the bride, in charge of the gift table.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellingson left for a short honeymoon trip and will make their home in this community. Mr. Ellingson is employed on road construction.

Out of town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thrane and family, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Ellingson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellingson and Mr. and Mrs. Ole Moen, all of Thief River Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jensen of Greenbush, Mrs. Signe Johnson of Grand Forks and friends and relatives from Newfolden and Viking.

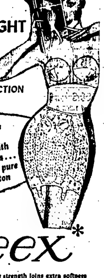
Schmidt-Schlieff Vows Exchanged At Rochester

Miss Edith Dorothea Schmidt daughter of Mrs. Caroline Schmidt of Rochester, became the bride of George Robert Schlieff of Thief River Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schlieff of Rochester, Saturday, Nov. 28, at Rochester.

The double ring ceremony took place at Trinity Lutheran church in Rochester and was officiated by Rev. Walter Elfert at 2 p.m. Frederick Nitchke of Rochester was at the organ, playing the nuptial music with Marth Stickney as soloist. A quartet sang "Beautiful Saviour", "Benediction" and "Lord Bless You and Keep You".

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Harold F. Schmidt, was attired in a floor length gown of brocade ivory satin. It featured a V neckline, long sleeves, which came to a point at the hand, and a chapel length train. Her veil of tulle was held in place by a headband of matching ivory brocade and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of ivory roses and ivy.

Marilyn Kay Schmidt of Rochester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by Cheryl Ann Schmidt of Rochester, another sister, as bridesmaid. Candyce Schlieff, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. All wore gowns identically styled of beige and rust brocade satin, accented by V necklines, three-quarter length sleeves, full skirts and cummerbunds. They carried bouquets of yellow and rust chrysanthemums.



Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Harry P. Schlieff of Rochester, with Frederick N. Schmidt, brother of the bride, as groomsman. Ushers were Joseph Harding, Harold Schmidt, Jr., John Caffes and Richard Fesberg.

Following the ceremony a bridal dinner was served in the Markay dining room by Mr. and Mrs. G. Schlieff.

The bride is a graduate of Rochester senior high school and Rochester junior college. Mr. Schlieff is a graduate of the University of Denver. He is now teaching at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

Hit-run Driver Fined in Court on 3 Counts

An observant city policeman's report to the patrol car at 1:07 a.m. Wednesday brought to light a unique hit run traffic mishap which had occurred shortly before.

The policeman had seen a car, which had obviously been in a collision, driving south on Main and shortly after he had reported the car to the patrol car driver, the driver of the smashed car was apprehended.

It was revealed that the driver was George L. Fanfulik, rt. 3, Red Lake Falls, and that shortly before his apprehension he had driven north on Davis av. to E. Eighth st. and had driven straight across Eighth st., eventually colliding with a side-tracked boxcar loaded with lumber 95 feet from the street.

Although the boxcar was blocked, the impact of the collision moved it 18 inches, while Fanfulik's car sustained an estimated $256 damages. Fanfulik was in court Wednesday on a variety of charges brought by city police and the game warden.

On a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants he pleaded guilty and was fined $100 plus $5 costs or 90 days in jail, and his drivers license was revoked.

On a plea of guilty to leaving the scene of an accident, he was fined $50 or 30 days, with $20 suspended on condition he make restitution for damages caused in the mishap.

The third charge against Fanfulik was made by Game Warden Carl Sundstrom. Fanfulik pleaded guilty to transporting an uncased gun in a motor vehicle and was fined $25 plus $4 costs.

Propose Boost in City Water Rates for Coming Year

will be the first increase in water rates in about 30 years and that the move is necessary to bring rates into line with the increased cost of service.

A second revenue bond issue was also discussed by the council to pay for the $33,000 remodeling of the liquor store.

Other items included in the discussion were wage increases for city employes, $2,000 as the city's share for the purchase of the property for a park east of the Eighth st. bridge, and $640 for the airport.

The salary increase for city employes was figured at 5% which would cost the city an additional $20,000 in 1960.

After the discussions and the re-calculation of 1960 income and expenses, the council found itself $6,997 from its balanced budget. This, it was tentatively decided, would be made up by increasing the city tax rate by 3 mills bringing the 1960 levy up to 48 mills.

A representative of the bond firm of Juran & Moody, St. Paul, was present at the adjourned meeting to discuss the possible refinancing of some bonds which will mature in the near future. He told council members that it is too late in the year to do anything about such a measure this year but that action could be taken in 1960.

All members of the council were present at the meeting with the exception of alderman E. B. Benson and council president Bob Carlson.

LIGHTING of this nativity scene located north of the post office will be done for the first time this evening, Dec. 10, after business establishments are closed. Choir members of all churches have been invited to take part in the annual event. Lester D. Hendry Succumbs; Rites Held In Mpls.

Lester David Hendry of Minneapolis, former resident of this city, died Monday, Dec. 1, in Minneapolis at the age of 67.

Funeral services were held Friday, Dec. 4, at the O. E. Larson Chapel in Minneapolis with interment made in the Hillside cemetery. Rev. Erling Tungseth, native of Thief River Falls, officiated at the rites.

Mr. Hendry was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, March 9, 1892. His father, the late John Hendry, was master mechanic on the Soo Line railroad and Lester Hendry was also employed on the Soo Line as a machinest. He lived in Thief River Falls for many years, leaving this community in 1935 for Enderlin, N. Dakota, and later moving to Minneapolis. Mr. Hendry was employed with the Soo Line until several years ago when he retired. While in Thief River Falls, he was a member of the Zion Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, Anna, and one brother, John, both of Minneapolis.

Final Rites For Charles Stepanek Set For Today

Funeral services for Charles Stepanek will be held today, Thursday, Dec. 10, at 1:30 p.m. in Green funeral chapel. Rev. A. B. Heltne will officiate at the rites with interment in Greenwood cemetery. The Green funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Stepanek, a resident of the Goodridge community for many years, died at Northwestern hospital Saturday at the age of 68.

He was born Oct. 29, 1891, in Bohemia, where he attended school and grew to manhood. In July, 1912, he came to America settling near Goodridge, and in 1917 he homesteaded near Spooner, Minn. Four years later he sold his farm and moved back to Goodridge.

Mr. Stepanek had been a resident of the Goodridge community since 1921 except for four years when he worked in a defense plant in Oregon.

Surviving are one sister and two brothers in the old country, one aunt, Mrs. Albina Krbechek; and six cousins, three of which are from the Goodridge community. He was preceded in death by one sister.

Highlanding Boy Is Mishap Victim

Donald Jenson, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Jenson of rural Highlanding was rushed to the Fosston hospital Saturday, Dec. 5, following an accident at the home farm.

The Jenson children were handling hay bales in a stack. One of the children slid from the stack and the bale hook he had been using caught Donald on the side of the eye.

Rites For Mrs. Gunhild K. Bergh Are Held At Gully

Funeral services for Mrs. Gunhild Kleven Bergh were held Wednesday, Dec. 2, at the Bethany church at Gully. Rev. Ralph Chelsen officiated at the ceremony with interment made in the Bethany cemetery, north of Trail.

Mrs. Bergh, a former resident of Johnson township, died Sunday, Nov. 29, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Benson of Kelliher at the age of 96. She was born July 26, 1863 at Tordal Telemarken, Norway. At the age of 21 she came to America and settled at Milan, Minn. She married Edward Bergh in the fall of 1888 and in 1896 they homesteaded six miles north of Trail, where they resided until 1938, when they moved to Trail. In 1947 she went to live with her daughter Thea at Kelliher, Minn., where she spent the rest of her life. She also spent two years in Yakima, Wash., with her daughter Ida.

Surviving are two daughters, Thea, Mrs. J. B. Benson, of Kelliher, Minn.; Ida, Mrs. Albert Fikkan, of Yakima, Wash.; five sons, Carl and Goodwin of Froid, Montana, Alfred and Harry of Trail and Edwin of Gully; 18 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband and two sons.

E. A. Torkelson Dies Wednesday

E. A. Torkelson, a resident of Thief River Falls for the past nine years, died Wednesday, Dec. 9, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 63.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, Dec. 13, at 2 p.m. in the Mission Covenant church with Rev. Eldor Langager officiating.

The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral Home from Friday until 11 a.m. Saturday and at the church one hour before time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

5 Youths Charged in Fracas on Local Farm

Five youths who had worked up a head of steam Monday evening lost all their pressure when they drove into the wrong farmer's yard to cause trouble.

The five, all of whom had been drinking, drove into the George Baker farmyard on rt. 4, and were maneuvering recklessly. One thing led to another, with fist-swinging following profanity, and after the youths left the incident was reported to Sheriff Charles Richards.

After investigation at the Baker farm, Richards requested city police to be on the lookout for the carload of boys, and before long they were picked up. The result of their arrests was a long session of municipal court Wednesday afternoon, with charges as follows, brought by Richards on Baker's complaint:

Robert Murline Johnson, rt. 1, disorderly conduct, plea of guilty, case continued to Dec. 28. On a plea of guilty to furnishing liquor to a minor, Johnson was fined $100 plus $7.90 or 90 days.

Darrel Wilson, city, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and his case was also continued to Dec. 28. On pleading guilty to possession of liquor by a minor he was given a fine of $10 plus $7.95 costs or 15 days.

Roger W. Johnson, rt. 1, pleaded guilty to the same charges and on the first charge the case was continued to Dec. 28. On the charge of possession of liquor he was fined $15 and $7.95 costs or 20 days in jail.

A juvenile from rt. 1, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct with his case delayed to Dec. 28 and on a charge of drinking was fined $10 and $7.95 costs or 15 days.

Another youth, whose address was listed as Newburg, Mo., and who was visiting relatives in this area, posted bond in the case but failed to appear in court, Richards said.

In addition to charges against him by Sheriff Richards, Roger W. Johnson, rt. 1, pleaded guilty to careless driving after his arrest by city police and was fined $30 or a 30-day jail term.

He also pleaded guilty to driving without a drivers license in possession and was fined $10, suspended.

was reelected Plummer treasurer.

Art Weberg was elected mayor of the village of Trail Tuesday over Arne Berg, 17 to 8, with a good turnout for the election reported.

John Evje and Walter Woods each received two votes for the post of village constable, while Arthur Benson was elected justice of the peace.

John Moy narrowly defeated Rose Aaknes, 12 to 10 for village clerk, while Hazel Moy was defeated by H. B. Grover for the treasurer's office, 10 to 6.

Dale Carlson and Vernon Hovelsrud received 23 and 20 votes respectively in the village trustee election.

Mild Weather to Continue in Area

High Mercury Reading of 35-40 Forecast Today

The mild winter weather that has prevailed in northwestern Minnesota for the past two weeks will continue today and tomorrow, according to the KTRF forecast.

Partly cloudy skies are expected today becoming mostly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. No important temperature change is predicted.

Winds today will be southerly at from 10 to 20 miles an hour. The high today will be from 35 to 40 and the low tonight from 15 to 25.

The coldest daytime reading this month was 15 on Dec. 5. The 25 on Wednesday, Dec. 9, has been the coldest daytime reading this week. Generally, daytime temperatures for the past two weeks have been in the 32 to 35 degree range with the warmest day Monday, when 37 was recorded. Night time readings have been mostly in the teens with the coldest the night of Dec. 5 when two degrees was noted.

Rush of Christmas Mail Starts Here

Postoffice to Add Eight Extra Workers This Week

Continuing the custom of recent years, patrons of the Thief River Falls postoffice are depositing their Christmas parcels and greeting cards early, Postmaster R. J. Dryden announced today.

The holiday rush is expected to get into full swing this weekend, when eight additional workers will go on duty, said Dryden.

He added that the stamp and parcels post windows at the postoffice will be closed as usual Saturday afternoon, December 12, but that they will be open the following Saturday afternoon, December 19, until 5 o'clock.

LIEBERMAN'S GOOD CLOTHES FOR MEN

$5,123.65 in patronage refund checks for the third quarter of 1947 was distributed to area dairymen at the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association Tuesday, in the city Auditorium. Vivian Keese, left, and Martha Uggerud hold a few of the 500 checks which were handed out. Dividends for 1959 which will be distributed the latter part of February, 1960, will amount to about $9,600, according to Paul Rossl, general manager.

Belgian Holiday Bread

Belgian Carmique — a traditional yuletide bread — will surely ring out holiday greetings on Christmas morning!

Decorated with confectioners' sugar icing and a star-like design of colorful candied fruit, this holiday coffee cake becomes a Merry Christmas centerpiece. No wonder Belgian Carmique is a tradition—just smell its yeasty fragrance and sample its rich, mellow goodness.

BELGIAN CARMIQUE

- 1 package yeast, compressed or dry
- 1 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cardamom
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 7 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 2 eggs
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 tablespoon water
- Confectioners' sugar icing, if desired

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt, cardamom and butter or margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups flour and beat well. Add softened yeast, raisins and 2 eggs. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). When light, punch down. Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Let rest 10 minutes. Shape each portion into round loaf. Place in greased 9-inch round pans. Let rise until doubled (about 1 hour). Mix egg and water. Brush lightly over tops of loaves. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar icing if desired. Makes 2 round loaves.

Ideas from other editors

From The Valley Farmer, Bay City, Michigan: At frequent intervals, we hear criticism of the "spread" between what the farmers gets for good crops and what the consumer pays for food at the store. In late years, this spread has been on the increase. So, many people undoubtedly reason that the retailer or someone is getting unduly rich at the public expense.

But the truth lies in a very different direction.

It has been said that "without spread, our steak would be standing in an Iowa feed lot, our cranberry sauce would be in a bog on Cape Cod, and our citrus juice would be on trees in Florida or California." The "spread" in other words, covers the cost of getting food from the farm to the stores where the housewife buys it—and presenting it to her in the form she wants.

And the form the housewife wants has changed enormously in recent times. Today foods come with what has been aptly described as "built-in maid service." That means they are in a ready-to-eat form in many cases—and, in many other cases, in a form that cuts kitchen time to a fraction of what it was in past generations. Today a modern supermarket may offer as many as 7,000 different items—and 85 per cent of these are processed and prepackaged.

A few years ago, say the experts, it took 5-½ hours of work a day to prepare meals for a family of four. Now, using the convenience foods, the job can be done in only 1-½ hours. The American housewife wants and demands this saving in time and energy. She is able and willing to pay the labor and other costs that are an inescapable part of "built-in maid service." And that is the reason for the "spread."

All the strength and force of a man comes from his faith in things unseen.—James Freeman Clarke.

5 New Rotarians Hear Talk by Dr. Jacobson Monday

Speaker Urges Members to Take a More Active Interest in Politics

Dr. A. E. Jacobson urged Rotarians, including five new members, to take more interest in the political activity of the nation in a talk to the club Monday noon, Dec. 7.

"Have you been as conscientious as you should have been in politics or have you shunned it because you feel that it is sordid?" Dr. Jacobson asked. "If there is something dirty or sordid about politics, your participation can do something about cleaning it up."

The five new members of the Rotary club to whom Dr. Jacobson was principally addressing his remarks were Dr. Stan Pollman, Ken Oaken, Dr. Ralph Holm, Lowell Swenson and Ray Henderson. During his talk, they were told something of the history of the club and what it stands for.

Dr. Jacobson stressed the international scope of Rotary and the fact that it is not only a social organization, but is also a service group. He went on to encourage every member to take an active part in whatever religious organization he belongs to.

Special guests at the meeting were Lawrence Lubitz and Albert Koop, area farm operators, Dr. Kaiser and Curtis Charlson, Junior Rotarians for December, who were introduced were Ron Solheim and Stan Wilson.

The main feature of the program was a slide-illustrated talk by Milt Qvilstad assisted by Marv Suby, both of Fargo.

Qvilstad spoke of the trip which he and five others took during August to the area in Canada north of the Arctic Circle for fishing. In the 5,800 mile trip, they visited Uranium City, Yellow Knife, and smaller communities and fished in Great Slave lake and the Copper Mine river.

I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday and I love today. — William Allen White.

Newfolden Band Plays at Karlstad

The next appearance for the Nordic band will be in the annual Christmas program at 8:00 p.m., Thursday, December 17.

Dr. D. Greene Vice President Valley Medical Society

Twin Valley Doctor Named to Head Group at Annual Meeting in Crookston

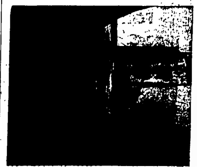
The Red River Valley Medical Society held its annual meeting at the Minakwa country club at Crookston Friday.

In the annual election of officers, Dr. Clifford J. Stadem of Twin Valley was named president; Dr. Daniel E. Green of Thief River Falls, vice president; and Dr. Russell O. Sather of Crookston, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. George Sather of Fosston was named representative to the Minnesota house of delegates of the Minnesota Medical Assn. with Dr. O. K. Behr of Crookston being named alternate. Dr. Rudolph B. Skogerboe of Karlstad was named to the board of censors of the Red River Valley Medical society.

Dr. Arnold O. Swenson of the West Duluth Clinic, Duluth, discussed "A Twenty Year Caesarian Section Study in the City of Duluth."

The women's auxiliary of the society had as their guest speaker, Mrs. Chester Dahlgren, Crookston public school nurse, who presented a discussion on "Allied Medical Careers."



Attending the meeting from Thief River Falls were Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Starekow, Dr. and Mrs. George Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Erick Reeber, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Thorsgard and Dr. and Mrs. H. N. Boreson.

LUNCH was served to area dairymen and their families Tuesday noon, Dec. 8, by members of the Chamber of Commerce at the city Auditorium preceding the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association. Here Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bakke, rt. 1, are served by Don Kuglin, left; Sig Quam, center, and Cliff Bjorkman. Following the lunch the annual business meeting was conducted.

How Well Do You Know Your America?

This is not a picture out of the past, but of the present. However, the blue-clad sentry is not real; he is a mannequin. Standing at the end of the dark tunnel into Old Fort Wayne in Detroit. This sentinel of history stands in full uniform of the period in which this great redoubt served its only function. Built to defend Detroit against Canada, Fort Wayne happily never fired a shot against an enemy of the United States, but stands instead a monument to the peace which still exists at our northern border. The fort was an embarkation point in the Civil War, but today is a military museum.

5 Persons Fined in Court Here Monday

Easy Refreshments For The Holidays

What would Christmas be like without the traditional punch and cookies to treat family and friends? You're right, not much fun.

Usually we think of eggnog as the beverage to serve at Christmas time, but there are many other milk punches that go along with festive entertaining that are fun to try. Holiday Punch is a milk-base drink that will have them coming back for more.

It's always more convenient to have a drink that can be served to the children as well as the grownups, and Holiday Punch is the answer. The peppermint stick ice cream not only adds to the creamy goodness but will increase the nutritive value so necessary for good health and growing bodies.

Holiday Punch

- 1 pint peppermint ice cream
- 1 quart milk
- 1 quart gingerale
- Few drops peppermint extract
- Red food coloring

Put semi-soft ice cream in punch bowl. Add milk, gingerale, flavoring and a few drops of coloring. Stir until ice cream floats in small pieces throughout. Makes 8-10 servings.

Christmas Butter Cookies

- 1 cup butter
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream butter; add sugar and vanilla and continue creaming until light. Beat eggs and blend into butter mixture. Blend well. Sift flour, measure; sift with salt and add to dough, using more flour if necessary to make stiff dough. Chill 20 to 30 minutes. Roll out to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with cooky cutter and bake on lightly greased cooky sheet in hot oven, 400°, about 10 minutes. Cookies may be sprinkled with colored sugar before baking. Remove from pans to wire racks to cool. Makes 5-6 dozen cookies.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
THE MOON UNMASKED

FROM a period long prior to the hour of crisis when Joshua commanded the moon to stand still over the valley of Ajalon to the present day, no man has seen the other side of the moon. And it has taken its place among the mysteries that have intrigued men. But now the Russians claim to have sent a satellite in orbit around the moon and to have received photographs on which they have written the name Moscow and other Russian names.

This inscribing of the Russian names on the other side of the moon will not make the orb Russian any more than the dream names that the communists have written on America and all lands of the world. For the Russians to dominate mankind is not written in the eternal fitness of things and the will of the Almighty who has come with stately steppings down all the pages of history. The sooner we learn this in our land the better.

And all the better should we learn this as we come into the season when we shall celebrate again the advent of the King of kings and the Lord of Lords, who has manifested his will to make his blessings flow far as the curse is found.

Three consignments average-Choice 1,045, 1,085, and 1,189 lb. steers realized $25.50, and there were a few loads usually weighing between 1,100 and 1,250 lbs. at $25.25. But Good and Choice steers moved at $23.-25.00, some low to average-Choice 1,335 lb. weights selling at $24.50. Standard steers brought $19.-22.00, and Utility $15.-18.00. There were seven loads of average-Choice heifers at $24.50, these weighing 890, 918, 915, 947, 955, 997, and 1,057 lbs. Average-Choice 950 and 975 lb. heifers cashed at $24.25, the Good and Choice $23.00-24.00. Standard heifers moved at $18.-21.50, Utility $15.-17.00.

Cows and bulls: The supply of western cows was quite meager, most of the offerings coming from nearby areas. Commercial cows cashed at $15.50-16.00, bulk Utility grade selling at $14.50-15.00. Canners and Cutters ranged from $11-14.00, those below $12.00 being usually light and quite shelly. Cutter and Utility bulls had a range of $18.50-21.00, Commercial and Good $19.-20.00, and Canners $14.-17.00.

Vealers and Calves: There was a little better demand for Prime vealers today, a few touching $30.00, with most high choice and Prime offerings at $27.00-29.00. Good and Choice went at $22-26.00, Standard $16.00-21.00, and Cull and Utility $12.-15.00. There were a few light Culls at $10.-11.00. Good and Choice slaughter calves were taken at $21.-24.00, Utility and Standard $13.-20.00, and Culls $11.00-12.00.

Stocker and Feeder Cattle and Calves: Country buyers showed broad interest in stocker and feeder classes again today and trading was fairly active at fully steady prices. Choice 888 lb. feeder steers brought $25.25. Medium and Good stockers sold at $20.-24.00. Good 400 lb. stock steer calves cashed at $28.50, other Good steer calves selling at $26.-28.00. Good heifer calves ranged from $25.-27.00, one big string of Good 380 lb. weights selling at $26.50. Medium and Good stock calves cashed at $13.00-15.50.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I have a service-connected disability for which I draw compensation from the VA, and have just learned I should go into a VA hospital for treatment. Will I receive my disability compensation check while in the hospital?

A—Yes. Your disability compensation will continue while in the hospital, and will be paid directly to you. Special rules, however, cover special cases, such as allotments to dependents, or incompetency.

Q—I lost my discharge from the Armed Forces. Can VA provide me with another?

A—No. VA cannot provide you with a replacement for your lost discharge. You should write to: Personnel Records Center of the Armed Forces, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri. Give them your service number and your branch of service. There is no charge for replacement.

Q—Under the War Orphans Education program, may special restorative training be taken by a disabled young person on a part-time basis?

A—No. Special restorative training must be full-time. However, VA will determine what constitutes full-time, taking into account the capacities of the individual.

Q—Are there any restrictions on GI insurance that would make the policy invalid if the veteran holds a hazardous occupation?

A—There are no such restrictions on GI insurance. The veteran may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, without altering the terms of his policy or the amount of his premium.

I think both labor and business have a right to get into politics. Rather than complain about the political activities of labor leaders, business men should devote the same amount of effort to politics to see that their views are also adequately represented. —Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Grand Forks Mat Men Edge Prowlers 26-25

Coach Gary Kuster's Grand Forks Redskins wrestling squad scored a one-point win, 26 to 25, over coach Charles DeCorsey's Prowlers in a well-attended team match held in the local high school gymnasium on Wednesday night.

The Prowlers will meet coach Ken Schmocker's Bemidji Lumberjack wrestling squad here on Saturday night, Dec. 12. The first match is slated to start at 7:30 p.m.

In last night's wrestling, the Prowlers won four matches on pins, with Dave Wilson, Mark Maidment, Dave Langseth, and Don Hill pinning their Redskin opponents. Grand Forks tallied three wins on falls, with Louie Liegt, Bob Hoffman, and Lyle Lunde scoring pins. The Redskins winning margin was marked up by the decision victories of Jerry Eliven and Stan Johannes.

Wilson, wrestling in the 103-lb. class, pinned his Grand Forks opponent, Tom Johnson, in eight seconds. And Mark Maidment, wrestling in the 112-lb. class, tossed his opponent in twenty-four seconds.

The summaries:
95-lb. Thief River Falls won by forfeit.
103-lb. Dave Wilson, T.R.F. defeated Tom Johnson, G.F. (pin)
112-lb. Mark Maidment, T.R.F. defeated Dick Gray, G.F. (pin)

Roseau Quint Tips Newfolden 39-33

Nordics to Journey to Greenbush Friday Night

In spite of a 17-point scoring effort by forward Don Engelsrud of the Newfolden Nordics, coach Jack Junker's defending district 32 champions dropped a 39 to 33 decision to the Roseau Rams in a basketball game played at Roseau on Saturday night.

Coach Ambrose Kramer's Roseau club piled up their winning margin in the first two periods of play, holding a 9 to 6 lead at the end of the first period, and a 25 to 11 advantage at the intermission.

Newfolden will play Greenbush at Greenbush on Friday night, Dec. 11, and the Nordics will be trying for their first conference win of the young season.

In a preliminary game played on Saturday night, the Newfolden 'B' team, with Richard Inman scoring 9 points and Ronald Shern and Jim Dahl scoring 7 points apiece, defeated the Roseau 'B' team, 25 to 20.

Sportsmen's Club to Hear Geo. Selke

State Commissioner to Speak Here January 13

George Selke, state conservation commissioner, will be the guest of the Pennington County Sportsman's club at its annual banquet at the city Auditorium Jan. 13, James Lee, club president, announced today.

Accompanying Selke here will be Jerry Leimandt, head of the youths' firearms training program in Minnesota, Lee stated. James Kimball, head of the state game and fish department has also been listed as a tentative guest of the local club.

Lee said the banquet is slated to get under way at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 13 and the program will start at 8. Details will be released at a later date.

D. Kalinowski Wins Oliver Fair Trip

Views Company's Line for 1960 at Iowa Factories

Dominic Kalinowski, owner of Kal's Automotive Service in Thief River Falls, attended the Oliver Fair in Waterloo and Charles City, Iowa, Monday and Tuesday at which the Oliver Corporation presented to its dealers new and improved farm and industrial equipment to be available for distribution in 1960.

Kalinowski was one of approximately 3000 Oliver franchise dealers and salesmen who qualified in a sales incentive program for a two-day, expense-paid visit at the fair.

Eighty units of agricultural and industrial equipment, produced in seven plants and distributed through 20 branch sales and service outlets, were assembled in Waterloo in an impressive display at the Hippodrome, home of the National Dairy Cattle congress.

Kalinowski also toured the Oliver wheel tractor factory at Charles City.

Lions Vote to Aid Salvation Army in Christmas Appeal

In a short business session at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms nearly a dozen Lions volunteered to assist Lt. Robert Burkhardt in conducting the Salvation Army's annual appeal for funds to bring Christmas cheer to needy families in this area.

Dr. O. D. Belch, chairman of the Lions Ladies Night party held December 2, reported that everyone in attendance seemed to have an enjoyable time.

George Hale, program chairman, presented Paul Stephensen of the N. W. Bell Co. Minneapolis office, whose talk and demonstration are dealt with elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

It Won't Be Easy

Not since the 1949-50 season has a Warren Ponies basketball squad succeeded in scoring a win over the Prowler cagers. Since that time the Prowlers have marked up 18 consecutive triumphs over the Ponies, and the locals will be trying to run that streak to 19 when they meet Warren on the local court Friday night, but it won't be easy.

The last time that Warren defeated the Prowlers on the basketball court was back in December of 1949, when a Pony team, co-captained by Bob Crow and Dick Palmer, scored a 40 to 34 win over the locals. That Prowler squad, coached by Bob Nick, had such players as Keith Rosengren, Wally Grovum, Don Stalum, Jerry Furuseth, Duane DuChamp, Don Green, Roger Williamson, Dick Bjorkman, Gary Anderson and Don Johnson on the roster.

That Prowler defeat wasn't so surprising because Warren had a solid ball club that season. In fact, the Ponies won the 31st district championship, and reached the finals in the Region Eight tournament, losing to Bemidji, 57 to 33. Playing center for that Bemidji team, and scoring 21 points against Warren, was Irv St. John, who is now the Warren cage coach.

St. John, who played his college basketball at Bemidji State college following his graduation from Bemidji high school, has, in his second year at Warren, developed the Ponies into an aggressive and hard-running squad. On Tuesday night, playing the Crookston Pirates at Crookston, Warren dropped a one-point decision, 53 to 52, to the defending 31st district champions.

The one problem that is difficult for coach St. John and the other Warren athletic coaches is to erase the complex that has been developed over the years, that the Prowler teams are a "jinx" for the Warren teams. The situation is somewhat similar to the Prowlers vs. Bemidji basketball rivalry. The Prowlers haven't beaten the Bemidji Lumberjacks in basketball since the 1951-52 season.

Grand Opening

Clarence Amiot of the Hockey Boosters club announces that the grand opening for the river rink and warming house north of the Third street bridge will be held Saturday afternoon.

The rink will be open every afternoon and evening, until 9:30 p.m., and the Hockey Boosters club has made arrangements for an attendant to be at the warming house every day.

For the grand opening festivities on Saturday afternoon, coffee, cocoa and hot dogs will be on sale.

Skating at the rink is free for everyone, rural or city residents.

Bowling Notes

Al Brunelle at the Family Bowl lanes is organizing a mixed junior bowling league, with a league meeting to be held at 1:00 p.m. sharp on Saturday, Dec. 12. The age limits for the league members will be from 11 to 17, and the bowlers must be attending school.

The bowlers will be given a rate of three lines for one dollar, and bowling shoes will be loaned without charge. Bowlers wishing to receive lessons will be given lessons, also without charge. Regular league bowling will start December 19, but the bowlers should be present Saturday afternoon at which time the election of officers will be held.

And who does Stan the man Cockrell think he is? Andy Farrigalli? Last week, in some free bowling in advance of his league match, Stan rolled a 278 game, missing a 300 game by just two pins! Stan opened with three strikes, then ran into a spare and finished up the game with nine strikes, for a 278 score.

Pres. G. MacNamara Reports on Soo Line Record for This Year

In view of drastically reduced earnings, the Soo Line in 1959 engaged in only a moderate program of improvement to property and equipment. Here, from President G. A. MacNamara, is a review of what was accomplished during the year.

The year 1959 has been anything but a satisfactory one for the Soo Line in terms of profit. The impact of the prolonged steel strike on our iron ore traffic together with its influence on other commodities in general and with a rather disappointing grain crop resulted in revenues being insufficient to meet increased expenses. Our costs were higher during the year due to higher material prices, higher wages, increased payroll taxes, and the resumption of necessary work we had deferred from previous years.

While the improvement program of the Soo Line system was necessarily limited, the actual dollar amount doesn't tell the whole story. We feel that we have made improvements in service, staff and managerial techniques difficult to measure in terms of dollars but which are every bit as important as the improvements we can see in our equipment and fixed facilities.

We are now asking our employees and their union leaders to join us in genuine efforts to settle the grave problems confronting the railroad industry in order that the Soo Line along with all railroads may be modern, competitive and profitable. Those who rely on us for jobs, service or financial security must be assured of the best.

We are seeking the help of our employees in modernizing working arrangements which in considerable measure no longer apply to railroading as it has evolved in an age of automatic machinery, changing transportation patterns and intense competition. The railroad industry seeks these six rules changes:

—Revision of 40-year-old pay standards for engine and train crews to reflect greatly increased train speeds;

—Elimination of rules preventing crews from operating through present terminals;

—Elimination of arbitrary barriers now drawn between the work that may be performed by road crews and yard crews;

—Establishment of the right of management to determine when firemen (helpers) should be used on diesel-electric locomotives on yard and freight service only;

—Elimination of rules which stipulate the number of crew members required on a train; and —An end to the requirement that a crew of train-service employees must stand by at full pay when other employees operate self-propelled equipment in track maintenance, repair or inspection.

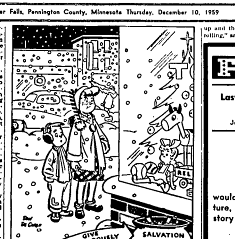
A continuing improvement in human techniques, as exemplified by these requests for changes in outmoded work rules, must go hand in hand with improving mechanical techniques, we are convinced, if our industry is to survive, let alone prosper.

This year, the general modernization of our physical structure included the following:

—Continuation for the 11th year of a program of widening cuts and reducing side slopes to remove snow blockades, improve drainage and stabilize roadbeds. Some 800,000 cubic yards of material were excavated in 1959 in continuing this project in North Dakota and Montana.

—Mercury vapor floodlights in yards at two points, bringing to eight the number of yards so equipped.



—Continued replacement of timber bridges with permanent structures, including nine steel and concrete bridges and a number of prefabricated steel arch structures combined with earth fill embankments.

—Diesel fueling stations and fuel storage facilities at two locations, and modernized car-repair facilities at Schiller Park, Illinois, our Chicago terminal.

—New heavy-duty track scales at three points, replacing scales of lighter capacity.

—Continuation of our program of eliminating fire hazards with the installation of a new pumping system, water mains and hydrants throughout the shop area at North Fond du Lac, Wis.

Our fleet of freight cars was enhanced by the acquisition of 660 cars and the modification for special purposes of 12 existing cars

Duck Stamp Sales Are Down Sharply

U. S. Official Reports Sales Decline 31 Pct.

Hard on the heels of disturbing reports of a very poor waterfowl breeding season and an abnormally heavy kill of adult ducks in the flyways comes an equally disturbing report on duck stamp sales from the Department of the Interior.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Ross Leffler today indicated that duck stamp sales for the first quarter of the fiscal year are down 31 per cent from last year. Should the initial rate of decline continue the revenue from stamps under the new $3.00 fee will total about $4,455,835, down $1,544,165 from the estimated $6,000,000 total.

This year the entire revenue from the sale of duck stamps, less handling costs, will be used for waterfowl habitat acquisition.

"This gives urgency to our efforts to promote the purchase of duck stamps by people who do not use them for hunting this year in order to keep the sales up and the acquisition program rolling," said Secretary Leffler.

"The fact is that civilization requires slaves. The Greeks were quite right there. Unless there are slaves to do the ugly, horrible, uninteresting work, culture and contemplation become almost impossible. Human slavery is wrong, insecure, and demoralizing. On mechanical slavery, on the slavery of the machine, the future of the world depends."
—Oscar Wilde

The Important Interest

On the eve of his departure to Europe last week, President Eisenhower indicated that the government will not permit a continuance of the steel strike at the end of the back-to-work period imposed under the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. That could mean the declaring of a national emergency during which the mills would be operated under government direction.

The importance of the steel industry in the economy of the nation probably would justify such drastic action. This summer's shutdown came dangerously close to being a national disaster. It already had forced involuntary unemployment upon many workers. Because of increased relief costs and losses in tax revenue, the strike had already added greatly to the financial difficulties of state and local, as well as the federal government.

As we understand it, the question of wages no longer is an important issue in the negotiations. The deadlock is due to the inability to agree on changes in the work rules. Management will grant pay increases and fringe benefits that presumably are acceptable, providing the mills can be operated efficiently, unhampered by work rules that deny to the industry the advantages of lower cost production, made possible by better machines.

And this, of course, takes us back to the old question as to whether the machine and modern methods of production, are good or evil. We will assume that there no longer are people who believe the machine is not good. Reasonable people, we are sure, will agree that our higher standard of living may be attributed largely to the machine, and that as our machinery becomes more efficient we may look forward to still higher standards of living.

Labor leaders recognize these facts. Most of them admit that they have faith in the long-run benefits of automation. Al Hartnett, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Electrical Workers, has stated:

"We recognize that progress in raising the standard of living in this country has been possible because of constantly increasing productive know-how. We've got to continue to raise the standard of living and that means more automation."

Organized labor is right in its position that management has an obligation to displaced personnel. On this point the A.F.L.-C.I.O. high command told its members in a recent report:

"Management has a positive responsibility to soften the blow of new technology on its workers . . . Measures needed to aid affected workers should be considered as properly a part of the cost of introduction of new machinery."

Toward this end the A.F.L.-C.I.O. recommended that automation's impact be eased by:

"—joint consultation between companies and unions and by management planning — to schedule the introduction of automation in periods of high employment, to permit attrition to reduce the size of the labor force, and to allow time for the retraining of employees."

Wage increases that can be met without increasing prices may be justified. Considering the steadily increasing world competition we are facing, it would be in the best interests of all of us if the advantages derived from more efficient production could be passed along to the consumers in the form of lower prices. That would increase the buying power of our dollars and raise the standard of living for all of us.

We can see no good reason for strikes and long periods of unemployment to settle problems of this kind. It should be possible to arrive at reasonable solutions by arbitration, keeping in mind that while there are some conflicting interests to be taken into consideration, the most important interest is the public interest.

Fair Exchange

Canadian packers have bought about 10,000 steers in the Chicago market during the past three months, according to the Wall Street Journal. They need extra cattle for slaughter now because U. S. farmers bought so many Canadian beef animals last year.

This exchange seems to be working out in the best interests of the producers, and the consumers, on both sides of the line. The result probably has been a more stable price level, lowering the peaks and helping to maintain a more firm bottom in crossing the depression.

We are sure the Canadian buyers will be very welcome in the American market at this time.

Trouble In Our Back Yard

Maybe we are unduly suspicious, but it does seem a little strange, now that Khrushchev is so friendly, that we are beginning to have more trouble with our neighbors here at home. Folks over in Cuba and down in Panama have suddenly decided to hate us. Castro is going to expropriate the property of the greedy American capitalists and the revolutionists in Panama are serving notice on us that the canal is rightfully theirs.

It may be just concidental, but the timing of the uprisings in these countries does serve the interests of International Communism. The charges being made against us, and tossed around so carelessly, provide effective ammunition for the propaganda needs of anyone who might still have a desire to destroy us.

Fortunately, the effectiveness of this ammunition probably will be lessened a great deal by President Eisenhower's visits in Europe, Africa and Asia. The fact that he is recognizing some of the smaller powers should be helpful to our efforts to prove that we seek peace and progress for all nations.

But, as his talks with the heads of the Italian government indicated, we are not going to let down our guard while working for peace. Disarmament will come only as we have assurance of security, and such assurance will not be based on promises alone.

Who Cares

We are told that one of every five men of the North American continent in the 20-29 are group are now 6-footers, and almost as many women in this age group are 5 feet 7 inches or more. Sixty years ago only 4 per cent of the men and women in this age bracket were that tall.

We have read no predictions as to how long this trend will continue. We may presume that by the turn of the century any fellow who measures less than 6 feet will be referred to as Shorty or Stub.

It does occur to us that the small model cars may not be here to stay, and beds and bath tubs as we know them probably will soon be obsolete. Unless the trend is checked, all of our buildings will have to be replaced during the next hundred years, and we will have to get back to the old custom of burying the dead vertically.

But, living dangerously as we are, not knowing from day to day whether we will be stricken by A bombs, H bombs or cranberries, we are not going to worry about the problems of those who may still be alive a hundred years from now. We will ignore all the other danger signals and, joining with others who tend to grow thicker but not taller, we will concentrate on our own immediate and more pressing problem of girth control.

Now you can insure your whole family with one Lutheran Brotherhood policy

Here is a new plan designed for Lutheran families who want life insurance coverage for parents and children with one small premium. Coverage includes:

$5,000 or more for the father

$2,500 for the mother

$1,000 for each child—and each child born after the policy is issued will receive its own policy automatically on the 15th day, at no extra cost. At 18 years of age, each child automatically receives a $5,000 permanent insurance policy, without a medical examination.

If the father dies or is disabled, no further premiums are required. If the mother dies, the children's policies are paid up to 18 years.

Let us give you full details on this new Lutheran Brotherhood Family Insurance Benefit Plan.

Negotiable Instrument

Vocational School Topic

Eight bank employes from Thief River Falls are participating in a class in negotiable instruments which is being conducted in vocational school in Thief River Falls.

The class is composed of 11 bankers from this area who meet weekly under the instruction of Mrs. Harvey Dahlgren, cashier of the Farmers National Bank, and author of the Uniform Bank Code. The class was organized by the Minnesota Bankers association committee under the program of the American Institute of Banking.

Attending the class are: N. H. Kortmeyer, Robert Flynn, Opli Olson, Lawrence Lee, Lloyd Lindsley and Lionel Lee, Citizens State bank, Thief River Falls; Lloyd Lindstad and Lionel Lee, Northern State bank, Thief River Falls; Ralph Tautfenberg, Farmers National bank, Newfolden; Ray Ferrao and Harriet Bruggeman, Red Lake County State bank, Red Lake Falls.

Over 110,000 Miles of Roads in State

More than 100,000 miles of all types of roads form a vast transportation network in Minnesota according to a report by the state highway department. The figure does not include 13,197 miles of municipal streets.

The system includes 10,144 miles of trunk highways; 27,062 miles of county state aid roads; 44,000 miles of county roads; 24,529 miles of township roads; and 2,178 miles of forest, game reserve and Indian reservation roads.

Of the total mileage, 17,200 miles are surfaced with bituminous, gravel and rock, and 13,762 miles are unsurfaced.

According to the first annual report made by the state highway commission in 1906, there were then 79,300 miles of roads in the state, or about 21,000 miles more than present. This included 67 miles of macadam roads, 6,191 miles of gravel, 72,042 miles of unsurfaced roads, and 72,054 miles of dirt roads.

But the report made no mention of snow moving horsedrawn sleighs, since there were only 3,710 motor vehicles registered in the state as compared to our present total of 1,583,000.

Newfolden Pupils Form Science Club

Dennis Hanson Elected President of Group

The first meeting of the Newfolden high school Science club was held recently in the science room at Newfolden. Dennis Hanson and president Dennis Hanson; vice president, Gary Hillstrom; secretary - treasurer, Gary Williamson. An executive committee consisting of Gene Moen, John Lee and Jerry Lee was also elected.

The members decided they would like to meet every second Thursday evening and that dues be collected at the beginning of each meeting. John Thaxton, science instructor, gave a demonstration on the preparation of specimens for collection.

At the second meeting, held Dec. 3, the constitution was presented and discussed. It was decided that the club would be for real science. The next business meeting, some of the members mentioned, will be collecting and receiving...

Restrict Driving in Bad Weather, Is Plea

Limit your driving to essential trips when winter storms reach blizzard proportions, is the plea of Sheriff Clarence Lee in a statement issued this morning.

"The cooperation of the motoring public will be more appreciated by law enforcement officers, snow plow operators, and highway sanding crews," Harry Lee said. "Many of the accidents that occur during a night, but their job would be made safer and what easier if motorists would think and act wisely in their own interest."

The state safety director recommends that motorists who must travel during extraordinary weather invites trouble for himself and delay for others."

Nelsen said that "highway crews do a heroic job in attempting to keep main roads open during storms, but they cannot work miracles. They are human and their job would be made safer and what easier if motorists would think and act wisely in their own interest."

The state safety director recommends that motorists who must travel during extraordinary weather invites trouble for himself and delay for others."

Nelsen said that "highway crews do a heroic job in attempting to keep main roads open during storms, but they cannot work miracles. They are human and their job would be made safer and what easier if motorists would think and act wisely in their own interest."

making sure that vital winter equipment is in good order—and there is a full tank of gasoline.

2. Be prepared to run into icy roads or a substantial snowfall, and be sure tires are alike to provide proper traction.

3. If the going gets too rough, don't force it. Pull off the road at the nearest motel or hotel. Call ahead to your original intended destination to advise you are "playing it smart" and at a garage or service station, you'll arrive—safely—tomorrow.

LIKE A MOUNTAIN NAMED FOR YOU?

Not one of these, certainly! They're here today, gone tomorrow. We'd gladly lend our names to a timeless peak like Everest — not to a heap of shifting sands rolling before the desert wind.

Of course, we have to identify ourselves with many a transitory idea and institution. We are busy most of our days just trying to keep up with this ever-changing world . . .

But our deeper self gropes for the Eternal! God understands this yearning. He breathed it into our souls.

A voice crying in the wilderness . . . across the shifting sands . . . of the TRUTH and LIFE that are ETERNAL.

And God answers it: In Christ! In Scripture! In the voice of a neighbor inviting you and your family to Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Over LAND

Who says you can't do anything about a cold? Mrs. Albert Simonson in Redwood county found that a dose of modern sanitation practices actually helped his farm overcome a dust storm. He told Redwood county agent Ernest Johnson that when he drove in to town "the air was so full of dust you could hardly see the car in front of you, but when I got home the thing was peace and quiet." Simonson's farm is one of those on which 125 is under erosion control practices, including stripways and improved pastures.

What about hogs? Due to record bushels of soybeans per acre, says a farmer near Barnum, Rod Grubb, cooperator in the Clay county soil conservation district, compared soybean yields on fields next to shelterbelts with soybeans in open, unprotected fields. Grubb's yield was 40 bushels per acre, next to the shelterbelts. Other farm crops did better with shelterbelts, too, but Grubb has four field shelterbelts, totalling over a mile, on his land. Last spring, he planted ¼ mile of new shelterbelt and says the effect of the system now recommended.

Minnesota's oil sample round up secures a lot for paying off. From mid-September through mid-November, 1,000 samples of Minnesota farm crops were sent to the testing laboratory at double the 1958 rate. Under the Thief River Falls laboratory supervision, experts test samples for moisture, oil content and germination. Samples tested to go over 30,000 samples for the first time this year.

Water Stayed on a hillside this fall on the Harold Vick farm, northeast of Danube. And it was in a corn field besides. How come? Contouring. Voris Hanson, Renville county agent, says that if every farmer would do what he could all over it is possible to prevent the loss of topsoil. Dr. Wilmer A. Rosenau, SCS worker at Olivia, backs the idea that contouring is paying off for a number of farmers in the area.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

The Chicken or the Egg

The outside pieces of antibiotics are marked by increased awareness of "boy-girl" differences. Boys and girls separate in many ways during the elementary school years and real differences in their learning processes begin to be all. Parents recently have wondering about these differences and are often interested in what psychologists have discovered about the sexes in their pre-adolescent years.

It might be helpful to look at some of the findings of differences. Apart from the obvious sex differences there are interesting separate patterns of physical growth and development. There is a period when girls are growing, and are weighty up to about age 11, but until that age boys are usually a bit taller and heavier. Boys also show greater energy output and physical strength during middle childhood. Girls show a greater strength of grip in their use of physical developments in which boys are largely superior. The problem with all of this is the old question of the chicken and the egg. Are these differences affected by different activity patterns which they produce? The argument has gone on for a long time, and we have no definitive answer at present.

The same question comes up when we look at intellectual differences. There is no evidence that either sex is superior in overall intelligence, but there is evidence that during the elementary school years we begin to see differences in the way boys and girls approach problems. Boys are generally more verbal area and are especially good with numbers. Girls show greater facility with numbers and equally remarkable skills. This is undoubtedly part of the reason why, historically the mathematical field, especially that for mathematics and science. As a matter of fact, the old notion that men are more logical and girls more intuitive is not borne out by research and even until recently which psychologists were ready to disregard, but almost ready to blend. Boys recently been afforded some scientific basis.

For many of us, the partial answer, of course, is that we are all individuals. Our experiences in various backgrounds and our own capabilities are exposed. This shows up clearly in studies of personality differences, interests and activities which we will talk about next.

Miss America Says "Bonds for Christmas!"

All honor to Mississippi, which twice in a row has given us Miss America! For 1960, she is Lynda Lee Mead, of Natchez, an undergraduate at the University of Mississippi, who intends to continue her education when her "reign" is over. The earlier years were financed, in part at least, by United States Savings Bonds accumulated for her. She says: "I know what it means to have Savings Bonds helping to finance the big things in life. They've always been a wonderful investment—and now, with their improved terms, they're even better. There's even greater satisfaction in owning the new Bonds, and the joy of giving them is greater too. It's more than ever 'the present with a future'!"

Stock in Hartz Warehouse Is Hit by Blaze

Loss Is Confined to Small Section of Huge Structure

Efficient work by the Thief River Falls fire department prevented what might have been more serious damage from a blaze that broke out shortly before noon Saturday in the L. B. Hartz warehouse, west of Arnold's Auto Sales on the north edge of town being completed.

As it was, the damage from fire, smoke and water was estimated at in the neighborhood of $4,500.

The fire started from sparks originating while steam pipes were being welded in the warehouse, it was stated. The sparks ignited a nearby tarpaulin covering the insulation, and spread to a quantity of fiber glass insulation stored thereunderneath.

When the firemen arrived, the warehouse was filled with dense smoke and extinguishers, and it was necessary to break windows to bring the stubborn blaze under control.

The blaze was confined to a small section of the huge structure, some water and smoke damage to some of the stored goods also being done to some of the electrical cables.

Mayor O. D. Belch Lights Nativity Scene Thursday

Singing of Christmas Carols Also Features Impressive Ceremony

With Mayor O. D. Belch turning the switch, the impressive Nativity scene on the grounds of the courthouse was lighted for the first time last Thursday evening, this being the fourth successive season the display has been sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Ken Oraker, Jaycee religious activities chairman, was in charge of the program with appropriate remarks, followed by the singing of Christmas carols by a group of vocalists under the direction of Bryant Ulseth, Hallock, and contrasts at Lincoln high school.

Rev. Father Ernest Ness, St. John's Lutheran church, offered the closing prayer.

Encouraged by the pleasant weather, a fair-sized gallery of spectators witnessed the ceremony.

Florence Shimpa Wed To Gayferd Gustafson

Nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday, Dec. 12, in the Bethel Lutheran church by Florence Shimpa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shimpa of Thief River Falls and Gayferd Gustafson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Gustafson of Cromwell.

The double ring ceremony took place at the altar before candles flanked by a floral arrangement of white mums. The Rev. John Helgeson and Joan Pearson was at the organ playing the nuptial music with "O Perfect Love", "Because" and "Thou Lead Me This Way".

Escorting to the arm of the bridegroom by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace over nylon tulle and white bridal satin. It featured a fitted bodice and long, pointed sleeves of lace. A chapel length veil of nylon net was worn by the bride. She carried a tiered crown of chrysanthemums and also carried a bouquet of large red roses and white carnations. Her necklace and earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Joan Johnson, friend of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a long, full length gown of nylon tulle over taffeta and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her gift was pearl earrings and gloves worn by the bride.

Ushering were Allen Olson of Thief River Falls, brother of the bridegroom and Dianne Johnson, sister of the bride. The groom's identical dresses of white chantilly lace over white nylon net with white lace bodice and long sleeves with a full skirt of nylon net over a satin slip of the bride.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Jerry Anderson, a friend. Ushering were Dennis Johnson, brother of the bride, and Wallis Anderson, friend of the bridegroom. The men of the wedding party wore white shirts, black trousers and white carnation boutonnieres.

A reception ceremony was preliminarily 150 relatives and friends attended the reception in the Bethel Parish building. Mrs. Ted Everson, wedding soloist was asked and decorated by the bride's mother. Mrs. Gust Gustafson, mother of the bride, served the cake while Mrs. Joe Shimpa and Mrs. Cronkson, aunt of the bride, poured. Waitresses were Judy Nelson, Joyce Shimpa and Lois Mae Kaml, cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Albert Shimpa, mother of the bride, was at the gift table with Mariette at the guest book. Hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. William Reed assisted by Mrs. Jed Everson and Mrs. Ted Everson, sister and sister of the bride, served the ice cream.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and has been employed at the Thief River Falls county hospital. Savings Stamps Make Useful Gift

Are Available at Local Pendelton, Says Dryden

If you are searching for that ideal last-minute Christmas gift, the local post office has the answer—an attractive gift book containing 1200 valuable trading stamps.

Thus, everyone looks to us to do his Christmas shopping, people think of us as suppliers of gifts," Postmaster Ralph Dryden stated today. "Actually, we've been in the business for many years now with savings stamps, in the form of postage."

The gift book came in two sizes. The $2.50 version contains the 25-cent-a-hunting-stamps, the $5.00 size has 50 stamps. These are the same savings stamps that many youngsters have been buying for years at the weekly School Savings Days.

"We not only sell the gift stamp book," Dryden said, "we give without charge a handy album in which to keep the stamps. When you have the album filled, you have a gift for Dad, Mom or Sis, a thoughtful present bearing United States Savings Bonds. It will be worth at the rate of 3% per cent compounded semi-annually when held for the full term of seven years and seven months."

First Savings & Loan Assn. Opens New Office

FIRST skiers to use the new warming house at the Thief river park Saturday, Dec. 12, were, from left to right: Walter Leach, Dennis Johnson, Marlow Dunham, Gerald Schuster, Stephen Eklund, Eugene and Robert Knapillo and Calvin Swan. Several hundred children and adults used the new facilities over the week-end. "We're glad to see so many people using the warming house," Park Commissioner Ralph Anderson said today. "It's something we've needed for a long time and they'll be here just as long as they are not abused by a thoughtless few."

Farm Surplus Likely to Continue 10 Years

Farm surplus problems aren't likely to disappear during the next 10 years, predicts attending the University Extension Conference in St. Paul—and you were told last Wednesday.

Joseph Ackerman, executive managing director of the Farm Foundation, said, "Our whole line of new techniques is too great, and our demand for farm products too small, to permit any substantial income growth, and not large enough to reduce surpluses.

He also saw no prospect for solution of agricultural problems through price supports or other governmental programs. The "practical solution," he said, "is that farmers will have to be transformed out of agriculture if prices are to be used in guiding production and if income per farm is to be sufficiently high." Adjustments will be mainly in labor, he said, but there will also be changes in land use.

Presently, a man now needed to adjust farms are already under way. He pointed out that U. S. farm numbers declined by 11 per cent between 1950 and '54. Number of workers in agriculture declined by 22 per cent in that same time, total output went up.

The long-term adjustment, Ackerman said, would be mainly through encouraging more farm youth to enter off-the-farm careers. "Many persons now on farms are still flexible in their ages, occupational training and skill. But—he added that "of the course we need beginners who have capital and management resources to replace retiring fat farmers.

Changes taking place in our agriculture, he said, are similar to those we've witnessed in industry in the decades ahead because they will be "a continuation of growth which will continue at the current, or even faster, pace in the future."

Agriculture in a wealthy, rapidly growing economy will generally be faced with a cost price squeeze and a relative shrinkage of income. The reason is that an economy becomes relatively fond of longer in their market requirements, Ackerman said, adding that they will certainly be some of the nation's resources to be used for nonfarm goods, and fewer for farm goods than at present. But agricultural output will continue to increase more rapidly than required to meet the needs of consumers.

Mower Co. Agent Honored for weed Control Efforts

Donald Hasbargen, Mower county agricultural agent of Austin, Wednesday night received the North Central weed control conference county extension worker award in Winnipeg for having the outstanding educational weed control program in the area.

The ski area is located 12 miles directly north of Bemidji.

The new ski area was developed by Hasbargen and a group of interests, rental department, complete ski school and other modern conveniences. The area has a staff of six all instructors three of whom are certified by the Professional Ski Instructors of America. It will be open daily and Sundays and every day during the Christmas holidays.

Clara Erickson Succumbs; Rites Set For Tuesday

Clara Erickson, a resident of this community for the past 50 years, died Saturday, Dec. 12, at Northwestern Hospital at the age of 74.

Funeral rites for Mrs. Erickson will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 15, at the Reuben Wangsness chapel. Rev. Reuben Wangsness will officiate at the rites and interment to be made in the Greenwood cemetery. Sinding Ostrander funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

The body will be at state at the Sinding Gulbrannsen mortuary Monday evening, Monday, until 11 a.m. Tuesday and at the church one hour before time of rites.

Mrs. Erickson was born Dec. 27, 1880, in Iowa. Minn., where she was baptized, confirmed, attended school and was married to manhood. She came to Thief River Falls in 1905 and has since been a resident of this community. She was a member of the Ladies Aid of the Trinity Lutheran church.

Surviving are one daughter and six sons: Lela, Mrs. Leander Wolhowe of Bagley; Glenn of Milwaukee, Wis.; Morris of Largo, Florida; Vernon of Grand Forks; Stanley, Donald and Roger, all of Thief River Falls. One brother, Ole Bendickson of Mentor, Minnesota; a sister, Mrs. Lena Arneson of Minneapolis; Mrs. Nella Farmer of Duluth; Mrs. Ollie Nordgaden of Detroit Lakes; Mrs. Ida Hanson of Thief River Falls; also 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her husband, one daughter and two brothers.

Final Rites For E. A. Torkelson Are Held Saturday

Funeral services for Elvin A. Torkelson were held Saturday, Dec. 12, at 2 p.m. in the Minnesota Conference of Seventh Day Adventist Church with Vernon Forrest' made in the Greenwood cemetery. The Green Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Torkelson died suddenly of a heart attack at the home of his son Elvin in Eureka, April 11, 1896, and moved with his parents to Bagley, where he attended school and grew to manhood. On Dec. 23, 1924, he was united in marriage to Sylvia Hanson at Thief River Falls. They continued to live in Bagley for 25 years after which they moved to Sussex and in 1951 to Thief River Falls where they have since resided.

Surviving are his wife; one daughter, Marlene and one son, Elvin of Minneapolis; three daughters and three sons of a former marriage, Charlotte of Paul Fox of Tacoma, Wash.; Robert of Minneapolis and Kenneth of Hawaii; also three sisters, Mrs. Robert Strouse of Atlantic City, N. Jersey; Emil Forrest of Puyallup, Wash., and Kenneth of Hawaii; also three sisters Mrs. C. Victor Anderson of Missouri Valley, Iowa; Mrs. Ruth Hanson, Mrs. Esther Ingram of Fergus Falls, Minn.; two brothers, Clifford of Burlington, Wash., and Marvin of Chicago; and 17 grandchildren.

Buena Vista Ski Resort Improved

Height, Length of Runs Increased Near Bemidji

The winter ski season will be on at Buena Vista, popular Northern Minnesota ski area at Bemidji. Workmen have completed the finishing touches on a project that both brightens and lengthens the runs.

For the past several weeks five giant earth scrapers and snow mover cats of the Kaehler Construction Co. of Lake Park, Minnesota, have been moving 60,000 cubic yards of earth and snow to build to the new 90 foot high mound at the top of the present hill.

The vertical height of the area's runs are now 225 feet and the slope is now 700 feet on the average. To one side of the new mound is a gentler slope and a new rope tow have been added. This brings to five the number of ski tows operating and increases considerably the steepness of the runs. Nine new slopes of varying degrees of steepness and length are now in the 2,000 feet await the skiers.

Workers In State Service Hit New Peak of 21,785

Taxpayers Assn. Says Total Has Risen 4,200 In Past Seven Years

The number of full-time state employes reached a high mark of 21,785 on June 30, 1959, according to Harold T. Miller, research director of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

"This represents an increase of over 4,200 persons in the past seven years—or a 24.2 per cent increase—when compared to the 1952 payroll of 17,548 employes," says Miller.

The largest numerical growth in any single state agency occurred in the department of highways which increased from 2,842 as of June 30, 1952 to 4,010 on June 30, 1959—an increase of 1,168 full-time employes in a period of only seven years.

"Exclusive of grants to local levels of government, state employe service constituted the largest operating cost of state government—amounting to over 36 per cent of the total in fiscal year 1959," Miller said.

"Future payrolls are bound to exceed even the 1959 high," Miller points out, "since many legislatively-approved positions were left unfilled and this saving was used to pay cost-of-living increases and salary adjustments."

"Requests for additional state personnel should be scrutinized carefully to assure the taxpayer-employer of the greatest measure of service for the tax dollars expended."

NORWAY BOUND is Andrew Grendahl, 229 Knealo av. N. after nearly 40 years in the U.S. Grendahl came to this country in June, 1920, and a visit with the home folks in Stjordahl, Trondheim, has been a personal dream for many years. This year he decided to make the trip for certain and finally took off last Wednesday. Shown here, waving goodbye to his wife, Cora, son Jimmy and other relatives, is Grendahl as he boards a North Central plane for the first leg of his long-awaited trip, which will not end until March, 1960, when he arrives home again.

Good news for 40 million Americans who now own Series E and H bonds: the interest rate has been raised one-half percent since June 1, 1959, on all bonds outstanding.

Christmas Wassail

In the 17th century an English custom arose of drinking to the health of one's guests, especially during the Christmas and New Year's festivities. Upon arrival of a guest, the host handed him a mug of spiced ale and said, "Wassail," meaning "Be healthy," from the Middle English expression waes hael. Today, wassail usually denotes a Christmas beverage.

Draw One, with Taxes

Federal and state tax collections on beer sold in Minnesota in 1958 totalled more than 36 million dollars. Nationally, the Brewing Industry is Uncle Sam's fifth largest payer of excise taxes.

Early State Brewers

Early Minnesota brewers sought to nestle their firms in picturesque valleys, close to natural caves where beer could be aged in cool, even temperatures. In Winona, at the foot of Hiawatha valley's famous Sugar Loaf mountain, Jacob Weisbrod founded his brewery in 1855. Peter Bub, brewmaster for Weisbrod, took over operation of the firm when the founder passed away in 1870. Today the original brewery operates under the name of Peter Bub Brewery, Inc. It is an economic landmark in southeastern Minnesota, and a frequent winner of national awards from the Brewers' Association of America.

LEGAL NOTICE

(Nov. 23, 30, Dec. 7, 14, 21, 28)
NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage dated the thirteenth day of February, 1959, executed by Kenneth E. Bickel, a single man, as mortgagor, to First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Thief River Falls, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the sixteenth day of February, 1959, at three o'clock p.m., and recorded in Book 105 of Mortgages, page 339; that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; that by reason of such default and in accordance with the terms and provisions of said mortgage, the mortgagee does hereby declare the total unpaid balance of said mortgage to be immediately due and payable, that there is due and claimed to be due upon said mortgage, including interest to the date hereof, the sum of forty-nine hundred twenty-five and 22-100 ($4,925.22) dollars; that the mortgagee has also paid the sum of fifty-seven and 60-100 ($57.60) dollars for insurance premiums, and that the total balance due the mortgagee is the sum of forty-nine hundred eighty-two and 82-100 ($4,982.82) dollars, and that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Three (3) of Block Eight (8) in Highland Addition to Thief River Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof, will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the eighth day of January, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., at the front door of the court house, in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and the attorney's fees, costs, and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within twelve (12) months from said date of sale.

Dated November 20, 1959.

Over the next 10 years American advertising will grow by as many dollars as it reached in all the years since Benjamin Franklin (180 years of growth in 10). Even assuming no inflation the level will be raised from today's $11 billion to $22 billion. —Marion Harper, Jr., President McCann-Erickson, Inc.

Hockey Prowlers Open Play Dec. 15

Coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers, with nine players returning from last season's fifteen-man tournament squad, will open play on their 1959-60 eighteen game schedule Tuesday night, Dec. 15, when they play coach Sergio Gambucci's Grand Forks Central squad on the Arena rink here.

From last season's Prowler squad, coached by John Matchefts and which won the consolation title in the state high school tourney, the following players are available for this season's campaign; co-captains Dale Wennberg and Arlan Hjelle, Wyne Halvorson, Jim Wegge, Archie Schneider, Wes Halvorson, Jerome Larson, Eddie Holmes, and Don Waldera. Tom Hehlhoff who was out of action the latter part of last season because of a foot injury is a member of the defensive contingent this season.

Gene Sack, who replaced John Matchefts as Prowler varsity coach when Matchefts returned to his home town of Eveleth to coach the Golden Bears, will perhaps have Wennberg centering for right wing Hjelle and left wing Holmes as his starting line against the Redskins on Tuesday night. Schneider will probably hold down one blue-line position, with Waldera, Larson, or Wes Halvorson being the other defenseman at the game-opening face-off. Wayne (Babe) Halvorson, who saw considerable action in the nets last season, will be the Prowlers' net-minder.

Other Prowlers who will undoubtedly see action in Tuesday night's opener will be Larry Poole, Tim Teal, Dennis Erickson, Lloyd Ranum, Jim Wegge, and Jon Solsten.

Prowlers Trim Warren Friday by 57-38 Tally

In a helter-skelter basketball game played here Friday night the Prowlers defeated a cold-shooting, ever-pressing Warren Pony squad, 57 to 38. It was the third straight win for coach Hartley Story's Prowler cagers, and on Friday night, Dec. 18, the locals will travel to Crookston for a Northwest conference game against the 31st district's defending champion Crookston Pirates.

In last Friday's foul-filled game (28 fouls were called on Warren, and 25 against the Prowlers), the Prowlers marked up their game-winning margin in the first half of play, outscoring coach Irv St. John's Warren team by a two-to-one margin in each of the first two periods.

The Prowlers quickly gained the lead when Steve Embury scored on the game-opening tip-off, with center Ron Hanson and forward Ron Solheim getting assists as Steve drove in for a lay-up shot into the east basket.

The Prowlers, with Embury looping in three field goals and a pair of free throws, gained a 16 to 8 lead at the end of the first eight minutes of play.

In the second period, the Prowlers outscored the Ponies from the field, seven field goals to three field goals. Embury added a pair of field goals to his collection, and Darrell Nelson pumped in a pair of two-pointers.

In the second half, Warren had numerous opportunities to add to their point total via the free-throw route, having twenty-one chances from the gift-shot line. But of these twenty-one tries, the Ponies converted but five attempts.

The pressing defensive tactics of the Ponies, and their aggressive play off the boards, caused numerous fouls to be called, and Warren lost three players — forwards Bill Gilbert and Terry Black and center Earl Rogalla — by the five fouls route. The Prowlers, too, committed fouls, with forward Bob Pearson and center Ron Hanson being forced out of the Prowler lineups on fouls.

Embury, with five field goals and three free throws, his first half production, was the game's high scorer with thirteen points. Hanson was the only other player to reach double figures, the lanky center having twelve points. Howard Steiger led the Ponies with four field goals and a free throw, for a nine-point effort.

Bonspiel Finals Set for Tonight at 8:30

Twenty rinks participated in the bonspiel held at the Thief River Curling club's new four-rink curling arena at the Fair Grounds this weekend. The finals in the three events will be curled this evening, with the matches slated to begin at 8:30 p.m.

In the first even competition, the Cliff Jorde rink — Leonard Furuseth, Mrs. Leonard (Millie) Furuseth, Math Scultz, and Jorde —will meet the Ray (Stream) Olson rink—John Jaranson, Bob DuChamp, Mrs. Ray (Beverly) Olson. The Olson rink was forced into an extra-end match late Sunday night by the Ardell Liden rink, winning by an 8 to 7 score, in order to reach the finals. The Cliff Jorde rink, in a Sunday afternoon match, edged out the Harold Halvorson rink in a semi-finals match, winning by a one-stone margin.

In the second event play, the Jerry Amundgaard rink—Everett Amundgaard, Richard Jorde, Mrs. Everett (Lois) Amundgaard — will meet the Curtis Johnson rink. The Curtis Johnson rink—Larry Johnson, Miss Holly Knutson, Clifford Nelson, and Nelson —eliminated the Lubitz rink in a semi-finals match Sunday night.

In the third event, the Leo Nelson rink — Lloyd Halvorson, Mrs. Lloyd (Carol) Halvorson, Mrs. Leo (Vernice) Nelson—will meet the winner of the Si Hanson vs. Charles Emanuel match. The Hanson vs. Emanuel match will be curled at 6:00 p.m. this evening.

CURLING has a new home in Thief River Falls this year in a new building on the Pennington county fairgrounds. This picture, looking south in the building, shows the four rinks provided and the heated area on the south which includes large window expanses for spectators, lunch area seats and other facilities. The first bonspiel of the season was held during the weekend and local curlers were loud in their praise of the new rink.

'B' Prowler Quint Nips Warren 46-33

Locals Lead 25 to 8 at Half-time Intermission

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team scored their third straight win of the season when they defeated coach Julian (Tex) Morgan's Warren 'B' team, 46 to 33, here Friday night.

The Prowler 'B' team, with Harvey Ebbighausen scoring four field goals and a free throw and Wayne Bjerken tallying three field goals and a free throw, moved away to a 25 to 8 lead at the half-time intermission. The visitors managed but two field goals in the first half of play.

Warren's Duane Yeado gained high point honors, with the chunky Pony guard looping in four field goals and six free throws for fourteen points. Ebbighausen and Bjerken shared the Prowler scoring honors with nine points apiece.

Opening Date

The hockey Prowlers, their coaches, and the local fans have been anxiously awaiting Tuesday, Dec. 15, for this is the date that brings coach Sergio Gambucci and his Grand Forks Redskins over here for the schedule-opening hockey game.

Gene Sack, the Prowler coach, stated that the Prowler lineup at the game-opening faceoff would find Dale Wennberg, Arlan Hjelle and Eddie Holmes on the front line, with Wennberg centering. The defensive positions would be manned by burly Archie Schneider and Don Waldera, with Wayne (Babe) Halvorson in the nets. These six boys are all veterans from last season's campaign, which found the Prowlers compiling a record of 14 wins, one tie, and nine losses, and capped their season's play by winning the consolation honors in the state high school hockey tournament.

The Prowler varsity coach, returning here after an absence of a couple of years, is well-supplied with reserves, and if the trend of Tuesday night's game develops in favor of the ocals, it is expected that Gene will give all of his squad members an opportunity to play. Following the Tuesday night game, the Prowlers will prepare for the ever-dangerous Crookston Blue Wave, who will be here Friday night, Dec. 18, and the International Falls Broncos who play here on Monday night, Dec 21.

In last season's encounter between the Prowlers and the Redskins, the locals scored a 7 to 2 win over coach Gambucci's squad. That win marked the tenth time, against five losses, that the Prowlers have beaten in a hockey rivalry that dates back to the 1948-49 season.

We can recall the third game of this series, back in 1951, when Al Steenerson scored six goals and had a pair of assists as the Prowlers marked up a 12 to 5 win over Grand Forks. That's the most lop-sided score of the series, for ordinarily the Redskins give the Prowlers quite a tussle on the ice.

With last year's top line of Vic Bachmeier, Gary Hillman and Warren Stokes being lost by graduation, coach Gambucci has been forced to rebuild his attacking units. The Redskins will perhaps have Pat Hogan at center and Don Nelson and Craig Simmons at the wings on Tuesday night, with Lloyd Morin and Gary Granum, a pair of veterans, at defense. Granum is a former Thief River Falls resident, being the son of Oscar (Shorty) Granum. In the Grand Forks nets will be Dave Moen (who also is a veteran.

Omission

In commenting on the formation of the "Top of the State" 11-man football conference that was recently formed, we inadvertently omitted Lancaster as one of the member teams. Lancaster joined with Newfolden, Argyle, Baudette, Greenbush, Hallock, Karlstad, Stephen, and Warroad in the formation of the new football conference.

We don't know what the athletic emblem is of the Lancaster teams, but recalling our English history, we should think that the red rose would be apt. In the War of Roses, the followers of the Duke of York wore white roses, while the followers of Lancaster wore red roses.

We wish the new conference much success.

Affinity

That football players have an affinity for ice hockey can be judged by the boys who started the game for the state champion Roseau Rams in their hockey game against International Falls on Saturday night.

End of a Streak

We were in the spacious Roseau arena Saturday night as coach Oscar Almquist's state champion Roseau Rams skated on the ice to do battle against coach Larry Ross' International Falls Broncos and try to extend their ever-winning hockey streak to 45 wins. But it wasn't to be, and as it must to all teams, the streak was ended when the Broncos scored a 3 to 1 win after 36 minutes of fast hockey.

Actually, on the play of the game, a tie score would have been a fair indication of the two teams. The Bronco's margin of victory came as a result of a pair of deflected goals.

Defensively the Falls club had the edge, and it was through the blue-line protection that the Broncos gained their win. Particularly in the latter part of the game was the defensive play in evidence as the Broncos were very alert in clearing the puck from in front of the net, turning aside the scoring thrusts of the Rams as they strove mightily to extend their win streak.

It was the season opener for Roseau, and that may have accounted for the lack of marksmanship on the part of the Rams. The Rams had numerous scoring opportunities, but too many of their shots were off the net. This loss may rebound to the Rams' benefit, with the squad realizing that they are not unbeatable.

Behind the Glass

It's worth your while to drive out to the fairgrounds and watch the local curlers in action. They have a fine four-rink arena, with excellent ice, and the competition, judging by the matches that were held Sunday, is keen. The finals of the bonspiel will be tonight, Monday, at 8:30 p.m.

It was the concensus of balcony spectators that the finest shot in Sunday's play was that last rock curled by Curtis Johnson in the fifth end of his match with Lawrence Lubitz. Lubitz had three counters as Curtis curled his last rock, but when that stone had come to rest, the Lubitz rocks had been bounced out of position and the Johnson rink tallied four.

Hockey Boosters Meet Wednesday

Club president Clarence Amiot announced that an important Hockey Boosters club meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday evening. The meeting, which will be in the basement room of the Auditorium, will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Amiot added that the first weekend of skating on the river rink was a success, with several hundred skating enthusiasts taking advantage of the facilities.

Building Fund Drive for RRV Winter Shows Opened Last Monday

The Red River Valley Winter Shows building fund campaign was launched at a meeting of area and county chairmen last Monday at the Northwest School and Experiment Station in Crookston.

Following a noon luncheon at the school, William Strickler, general chairman of the campaign, presided over the meeting attended by 40 men from thruout Northwestern Minnesota Co-chairmen for the Northern division of counties are Robert Backstrom of Warren and Delmar Hagen orf Gatzke. Co-chairmen for the Southern division are Rudy Gustafson, Fergus Falls and Melvin Ouse of Rothsay.

The men who will organize and direct the campaign in their respective counties in this area include:

Kittson county: Earl Glidden, Andrew Anderson. Roseau county: Yvonne Magnusson, Hilding Grahn. Lake of the Woods: Carlos Grove, Ellis Palm. East Marshall: Norman L. Anderson, Julian Rodahl. West Marshall: Donald Vansickle, M. R. Yutrzenka. Pennington: Edgar Naplin, Lawrence Philipp. West Polk: Walter Ross, Wayne Ewing. East Polk: Francis LaVoi, Edgar Olson. Norman: Roy Boman. Clearwater: John Hulteen; Gustave Olson.

These men will be engaged during the month of December in the completion of their organization. The campaign will start the first of January and climax the last week in February.

Minneapolis Auto Show Slated for January 9 to 17

Despite curtailed production of 1960 model automobiles resulting from the steel shortage, Minneapolis area dealers of both American and foreign cars will display more autos than any previous year wehn the 5th annual Upper Midwest Auto Show opens for a nine-day run in the Minneapolis Municipal Auditorium, January 9 through 17.

Featured among the more than 180 automobiles on display will be the compact cars of all the major American auto manufacturers, their imported counterparts and the larger luxury models of both American and foreign design.

A stage show headlining nationally famous personalities of stage, screen and television will be presented twice daily.

Explore Future Tractor Styling

You would puzzle over this Lilliputian object too, if you found it in your cornfield. Typhoon II is its name and it's a tractor—a 1/8 scale model tractor. Designed by Ford Motor Company stylists, it represents only styling exploration into the possible appearance of tractors of the future at the moment, and the company points out that it has no plans to market it. However, it does suggest some novel features, including an electrically-operated hitch, shown at the right, to which rear-mounted implements might be hooked up magnetically, and a small television screen mounted inside the all-weather cab so that the driver could check the operation of the implements.

Venezuela Youth at N. W. School

School Students and Staff Provide Funds

The arrival of Louis J. Quijada at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on December 1, culminated months of planning on the part of the staff and student body at the school. LeRoy M. Field, a member of the Northwest School staff, who studied in Europe last summer, is largely responsible for the exchange student project.

Louis Quijada is from Caracas, Venezuela, and has come to the Northwest School to study on a foreign student exchange basis. The students and staff of the Northwest School are contributing to a fund which will provide for board, room, and tuition, for Louis while he attends the Northwest School.

Louis comes from a family of nine children. His father's occupation is that of a mechanic and is presently working on the Island of Aruba, just off the coast of Venezuela, South America.

Even youth's innocence doesn't escape the Grim Reaper. Twenty-three per cent of Minnesota's 1958 traffic fatalities were under 19 years of age. And teen-agers caused 18 per cent of the fatal mishaps.

Sugar Beet Research Parley at Crookston

Research experts from four different agencies met at the Northwest Experiment Station in Crookston on December 4 for a full day's conference on sugar beet research as it concerns the Red River Valley area.

The objective of the conference was to take an over-all look at the sum total of research work that is under way and as such affects sugar beet production on Thirty-six men attended the day's conference.

Research experts from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the University of Minnesota, North Dakota Agricultural College, and the American Crystal Sugar company were present and presented papers covering the extent of the sugar beet work which is under way in their particular organizations. A few of the directors and also the research committee from the Red River Valley Beet Growers' association were present and participated in the discussions.

According to Superintendent B. E. Youngquist, the group was pleased with the large amount of research work that is under way concerning sugar beets. Further, the group expressed concern about proceeding faster on some of the emerging problems; Cerocospera leaf spot is one such problem. More work is needed on fertilizer problems.

H. P. H. Johnson, general agriculturist for the American Crystal Sugar company, Denver, Colorado; Dr. J. A. Callenbach, North Dakota Agricultural College, Fargo; and Dr. M. F. Kernkamp of the University of Minnesota, St. Paul, wound up the day's conference with "Observations and Evaluation of Sugar Beet Research".

"Two things, it seems to us, can be set down with some assurance.

"One is that if a university is to be a place of free inquiry, which is what it ought to be, then its administrators must be given room to operate free from the direction of political officers and its scholars free from political restrictions on their thought.

"The second is that if the public is to be taxed to support a university, if a university is to be a public institution and its teachers supported at public expense, then the public also has a right to lay down certain rules as the price for this support, as with any other public institution."—Wall Street Journal

Creamery Progress

The annual meeting of the creamery, held last night, marked, at least, one of the climaxes of the kind of creamery meetings that were held each year since the first big gathering of stockholders that he can remember. Interest was there and he came away with the conviction that this area is not standing its second breath and once again is making progress.

The financial condition of the creamery itself justifies a hopeful spirit. The balance sheet, published elsewhere in this issue, indicates that the organization is enjoying good health financially. During the past year the plant has been improved and, with its new equipment, should be a more efficient manufacturer. Now on, incidentally, the new equipment is paid for, at a cost of more than $20,000, and the creamery is free of debt, a condition with practically no debt. That is a record cause for the patrons to be cheerful.

Most important, however, is the fact that during the past year the operating cost was reduced about two cents a pound and the patrons received that much more for their product. It is interesting to note that Manager Ed Hagen is the author of this record. He's a good creamery man to start with and he hopes to lower it substantially. He has the ability, is employed for results, has other operation and he has an organization that is capable of getting results.

While the possibilities in bulk selling were not discussed at the meeting, Mr. Hagen said there is increasing interest among the patrons generally. A survey will be made to ascertain what method of handling milk would have enough support to make its adoption practicable. Hauling costs, a big item of expense, would be substantially reduced, and bulk hauling would result in improved quality.

All in all, the meeting was a good one. It is not lacking for delegates and it was a meeting where the same old faces were not in evidence. It can be remembered that a year ago when the area has had a critical food shortage we can not remember a year when there was a failure of the butterfat crop.

Water Rates Up?

Is its efforts to find more dollars to spend publicly currently considering a substantial increase in the charge for city water. We do not know how serious consideration the matter may have given to this approach to revenue raising. Before any action is taken a study should be made on how the proposed rate structure would compare with the rates charged in communities that might be considered competitive industrially.

We do not have the figures from Crookston or East Grand Forks the rates are considerably higher than here in Fergus Falls, but Detroit Lakes and Moorhead are among those that have succeeded in selling water at rates that these towns have sources of water that do not require treatment, according to Harold Sathaug, water department superintendent.

Water department is just about breaking even now in terms of operating costs. Our water treatment plant has been paid for by taxation and at the recent election the voters authorized a bond issue for a new water tank and other improvements to the system.

These facts indicate that increased revenue will be used for water and not for customers outside the city limits, who now pay the same rates that are charged to city residents. Whether we should expect the customers within the city limits to pay the rates, could be another question.

There are several good reasons why we think the water rates should not be increased. One is that they are already higher than in competing cities of the area. Another is that we are satisfied the city, under good management, will not need additional revenue in 1960, and after 1960 the requirements for debt service will rapidly decrease, making more money available for other purposes.

The financial setup of the city, as the annual program for the year 1960 will be prepared, is not during the next 4 years. By that time our bond maturities over a period of 20 years we could retire all of the present debt by $200,000 more than we have been retiring them during that period, and also cut taxes. With good management the city should be able to get along again, as it did until a few years ago, with practically no taxes for current purposes. That is another reason why we believe it would be a mistake to raise water rates at this time.

For the Common Good

Governor Orville Freeman's intervention in the packing house strike at Albert Lea has brought peace to the community for the time being, but it would be a mistake to think that the strike is not brought the union and management closer to agreement. Here again the differences seem to be based largely on working rules rather than on wages.

Even our sideline seats, not knowing what the arguments are about, it would seem that reasonable people should be able to settle on work rules, providing management is willing to pay a fair day's wage for a fair day's work. For a man that is fair the worker should be willing to do his part in getting maximum efficiency. Maximum efficiency and fair wages go hand in hand, in the best interests of the worker and the employer as well as the public.

Most people will agree that across-the-board wage boosts of as much as 5 cents be permitted only when they can be justified by increased efficiency, the boosts that result in higher prices or in increased taxes, are inflationary and contrary to the public interest. If we are going to hold the line against more inflation, and we believe we should, then we should hold the line against continuing wage and price and tax spirals.

This does not mean that equalizing adjustments and merit increases cannot be justified.

Getting back to Albert Lea, our farmers have a special interest in the efficiency of our food processing plants. According to a recent study by the Minnesota Farm Business Association, from 1948 to 1957 the value of food that was processed from Minnesota farms increased 1,000 million dollars, while the costs of food processing rose 1,111 million dollars.

Of that total, the study shows, labor received 8.3 billions, or nearly half, and nearly 3½ billions went for higher costs of equipment, supplies and state and local taxes. Another 3½ billions went for higher transportation costs. About four-fifths of a billion went into increased corporation profits before taxes.

In commenting on the Albert Lea strike Saturday, Senator Hubert Humphrey urged Wilson Co. to yield to the demands of the workers. The company should be more appreciative of the labor force.

For our part, the Senator Humphrey should be equally specific as to more considerate of the producers. Humphrey knows that the packers do not pay the wage increases out of their own pockets. Their cost increases are charged to either the consumers or the producers, and the record indicates that the farmers have paid most of the increased costs of food processing.

But in our approach to those problems let's keep in mind that our most urgent need is a holding the line against inflation. Inflation is a public enemy No. 1 for all of us, and to give ground in any way that will further increase prices or taxes is contrary to the public interest.

Lower prices and tax reduction would better serve the common good.

Not Irreconcilable

In its excellent "Education in Review" column the Sunday New York Times last week pointed up the conflict between two almost diametrically opposed organizations" trying to "set down guideposts toward better schools."

Each pursued the goals of quality according to its own bias," stated Columnist Fred M. Hechinger, who thinks "the simultaneous appearance of the two reports may highlight the difficulty of charting a widely accepted course." He also sees a chance for some important common ground between the "opponents" on which they might work together.

The first group offers its solution in a book setting forth the position of the organized teachers. They are concerned mainly with the interests of the teachers and their working conditions. They are overworked and underpaid. On their position Mr. Hechinger remarks:

"The book is very seriously concerned with the teachers' understandable desire for professional status. In order to attract into teaching persons who pose persons with poise in their profession, it insists it is important that teachers be permitted from 5 to make their own professional speech.

"And yet, there is something of a conflict, for the teachers are pictured as wanting to hold on to the security and the salary scales that are generally identified with civil service or trade union wages.

The merit ceiling," which has by some been suggested as a way of breaking through the barrier of the pay scale by rewarding outstanding teachers, the book reports the N.E.A. as 'unequivocally in opposition.' It charges that such rating 'destroys professional confidence and morale, creates strife and discord within staffs . . . and leads to favoritism in the quality of education of children.'

The second group presents its views in a book published by the Council for Basic Education, which Mr. Hechinger thinks "seems to go to the opposite extreme of professing love for the goals of learning and contempt for the majority of those who run our schools." It has several advantages in that:

"It is written by one literate author instead of by a committee or committee. As a result it can be enjoyed even by those who disagree with it. The same cannot be said for most 'study' reports of the year.

"It is written by a man who is not afraid to use a controversial word, such as 'anti-intellectualism' or 'life adjustment education.'

"More important, he deals directly with subject matter, not with 'methods' or teacher grammar, etc.—which interest the lay reader and parent.

"But the author is on dangerous ground when, in his discussion of the teaching of English, he says that unless parents and school board members stop them 'the barbarians are going to take over.' If the N.E.A. tried to achieve blander professional talk, the council slips into blanker professional condemnation."

Wondering if these extremes are irreconcilable, or if areas of real agreement can be found, Mr. Hechinger thinks it may still be possible that "best elements among the profession and the public may be able to root out the 'mellow-and-the-malicious.'" He concludes that:

"It is hopeful that both the N.E.A. and council agree on such questions as strong financial support, the use of enough teachers and classrooms and, most important, the need to let teachers do their most essential job—teaching."

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

As the holiday season approaches there are many occasions for joy and happiness, as well as many special reasons for care and alertness to prevent accidents. Each year we lose the lives of thousands of Minnesotans. Our concern to prevent accidents is reflected in the activities of the Safety Council and Highways as well as those in the home.

Fire Prevention in the Home

Fire prevention is another important area of safety. The holiday season adds to the hazards. Children are home on vacation from school. The excitement of Christmas presents and gifts with colorful—and inflammable—wrappings, the traditional Christmas tree, the many guests of friends all call for special precautions. The State Fire Marshal has compiled a list of safety suggestions relating to Christmas time that is worth careful consideration.

Make Your Tree Safe

In choosing your tree for Christmas, the following features of artificial and natural trees should be considered: (1) artificial trees should carry the label of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., indicating that the tree should be fire resistant; (2) natural trees should be cut as near to the time of use as possible and kept in water; (3) set the tree in a cool place as possible away from radiators, heaters, and other heat sources; (4) add water and keep the container filled; (5) use only lights that have been approved by a testing laboratory; stay away from the lights when you are near the tree; (6) do not leave the tree up after falling needles and other signs indicate it has become too dry.

Other Precautions

Other safety precautions should be observed. Check strings of Christmas lights to be sure the wire are not frayed and the lights are in proper condition. Never use lighted candles for decorating the tree.

Other Precautions

Experts suggest that a switch should be arranged some distance from the tree so that lights can be turned on and off, and that lights always be turned off before you go to bed or anytime during the night, and that lights not be left on for days on end.

It is also pointed out that the use of metallic icicles, while attractive and good, can conduct electricity and cause shocks if they do not get the proper connection with electrical outlets.

Streets and Highways

Rules for safety on city streets and highways are well known. Traffic lights are installed for the safety of pedestrians and motorists alike. Pedestrians should obey the traffic lights and rules as because they do not have the right-of-way. Motorists should give an adequate estimate of how many minutes it will take someone driving left to follow the rules of the road. Pedestrians and motorists alike should be especially careful to remember the rule during a holiday season of particularly heavy traffic.

HAZEL . . .

Worship services will be conducted at the St. Paul Lutheran church Sunday, Dec. 20, at 11:30 a. m. instead of the usual hour of 10:30 a. m. Sunday school will be held as usual.

Mrs. Oscar Schenkey and Mrs. Ole Johnson were hostesses at the Ladies Aid meeting held at the home of Mrs. Johnson on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hansen spent home a week ago Thursday.

Harold Arneson left a week ago Friday for Minneapolis to attend a five day meeting of the week visiting at the Omer Lindahl and Robert Arneson homes.

Mrs. Ole Johnson was elected as secretary of the Lutheran Brotherhood at the meeting held at the church in Red Lake Falls Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Beaudreau of Newfolden visited Friday at the Ole Johnson home.

Sunday visitors at the Ole Johnson home were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beaudreau and Mrs. Hannah Nelson, all of Thief River Falls.

Hochsprung to Hold Table Parties

The Cedar Hochsprung Parents club will hold their annual Christmas party Tuesday, Dec. 15 at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hochsprung. A film of their Each member is asked to bring a gift for the exchange. Mrs. Hallvard Aune will assist. Hot lunch will be served.

Midland Co-op Banquet

Approximately 60 persons representing Middle River at the Midland Co-op annual banquet held Monday evening at the Fosston high school building, including eight members of the FFA and their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hill have most guests in the Hill home. Mrs. Hill is a sister of Mrs. Bergh. Mrs. Hill is expecting a film of their trip and Larry Blankenhorn showed slides of his trip to Europe. Mrs. Hill is also expecting a collection on behalf of all the guests for their trip to the 31st National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, Oct. 10-17, 1960. Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Bergh, Mrs. Hill's sister, Ernest Berg and Edgar Olson attended the meeting held at the Fosston high school during the day.

E. Christoffersen Has Birthday

Eddie Christoffersen had the pleasure of having his father, Mr. Christoffersen, from Fosston, spend a few days with him during the week. Wednesday they were taken to the Veterans hospital in Fargo by Mr. Christoffersen.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Wold returned home a week ago Monday from a trip to Florida where they visited in Dallas, Texas, and other points. Miss Bertha Wold, Helmer's sister, of Minneapolis accompanied them on their trip. They also visited in Fargo with their daughter, Mrs. Rachel, who is employed there as a secretary. Mrs. Wold's mother resides there. Miss Bertha and Miss Wold and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wold and Barbara, of Lisbon, S. D. in Dallas have visited with Mrs. Wold's brother, Ole Hansen in a state of serious and Bertha. They enjoyed the week they spent in the south and the trip very much although although rain. One of the most interesting things they saw was the large Lent airport where Mr. Hansen is employed. Mr. and Mrs. Hansen also enjoyed picking paper shell pecans.

Those who brought birthday wishes to Gunnar Hovey on his ninth birthday at the Cecil Hunt home Saturday afternoon were Mrs. Hovey and children, Mrs. Ole Hovey, Mrs. Ole Hovey, Mrs. Ole Hovey, Edwin and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lindahl, Craig and Mark.

Monday visitors at the Herman Wagner home were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wagner, Mrs. Ole Hovey and Mrs. Ole Hovey.

Mrs. Oscar Schenkey and Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson were Tuesday at the Wm. Lindahl and Harry Hansen homes in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Albert Hansen met with the Ladies Aid on last Wednesday to show them the first step in making lefse.

Mrs. Cecil Hunt, Kathy and Evelyn Smith and Tommy Jenkins to Red Lake Falls on Friday morning for a visit with Mrs. Jenkins.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

(This article by Gilbert R. Carrel, chief of the Colorado state patrol, made such an impression on me that I thought there might be others who would also benefit from it. With the holiday season approaching, perhaps there is a chance that Chief Carrel's words might prevent a tragedy that could so easily be averted.)

I'M MAD, TOO

It could just be that you are the person who wrote me that letter the other day. You really told me off. You said one of my dumb highway patrolmen had given you a ticket for speeding when you had a legitimate reason for being in a hurry.

According to your letter, which you didn't sign, you think the highway patrol could make better use of its time by chasing down the real menaces to safety on the highways instead of bothering upstanding citizens like yourself.

Oh' you were quite indignant. You went on to say that you were on urgent business, that you never had been in an accident of your own making; that you are a fast driver but a safe driver and, moreover, that you are a more important man to the community than the stupid cop who gave you the ticket.

Well, now, let me tell you something. I'm mad, too. I'm mad all the time although my anger is not directed at you alone. So far as you're concerned, I'm happy that were able to catch you in time. I hope we taught you a lesson, although I'm afraid we didn't. I hope we taught you something before you have to learn it the hard way in a hospital, or you wind up on a morgue slab.

It makes me feel good that we were able to slow you down before you killed yourself—or maimed somebody else who was driving carefully to protect both himself and you, too!

What makes me mad? A lot of things. I'm burned up because people as intelligent as you sometimes behave like idiots. I've seen a lot in my service with the highway patrol. I've had to look at things that would turn your stomach. They make me sick, too, because I'm not different from you except that it's my business to keep you alive while you're driving, even if I have to stop you and haul you off to jail.

I wouldn't have to be so harsh, perhaps, if you could see at first hand the murder and savage mutilation on our highways—your highways.

I wish sometime you would have to go with me to the scene of an accident. I would like to make you stand, as I've had to do, and watch the pitiful flopping of a man dying in a barrow pit, or help scrape the bits of bone and mangled flesh of a whole family into baskets at a grade crossing.

You'd vomit as I have done. But you'd think different the next time you got behind the wheel of an automobile.

If some foreign power killed and wounded as many of our citizens as our motorists do each year—you would be ready to take up arms and fight to stop it.

And yet a great many who are responsible for this terrible loss of life and limb and lifelong suffering are individuals like yourself—"fast" but "safe" drivers and "important" people in a big hurry.

You said the officer who gave you the ticket didn't argue with you but that his manner was insolent.

The trouble with you is that you don't recognize sincerity when you see it. Our men are under orders not to argue, but to be firm, fair and impartial. I doubt that he was insolent—especially since he didn't argue with you. He was merely concerned — concerned with your safety and the safety of the hundreds of others on the highway.

You say you were driving safely? That's what the woman thought a few short months ago when she overturned on an icy strip on the highway not more than 500 yards from the point at which you said the patrolman stopped you.

If that patrolman had been there and cautioned that woman before she hit that ice patch at 75 miles per hour, she would still be here; her children would have the affection of their mother and a husband would have been spared unnecessary grief and cost.

Maybe she would have written a letter of complaint, too. But I wouldn't have cared. It's only the dead ones who don't complain.

Mad again? So was the youngster down on highway 160. He had some personal reason for being mad. "I'll show you how mad I can get," he told his companions. His broken body was picked up near the end of a 500-foot skid mark. They found his head on the prairie a hundred feet away.

It's better to be alive and mad, or alive and late than dead and still in a hurry. That was the case when the salesman a few months ago rounded a curve on highway 87-85. He was on an important call, but he never kept his appointment. We picked his head off the paving and scraped his body together from beneath his automobile. Are sales that important? You'll never collect the commission that way. Neither will your widow.

The trouble with so many drivers is that they have dual personalities. Too often, a highly respected businessman, a gentleman in his profession and a social leader in the community, becomes a dangerous egotist behind the wheel. The respect he normally displays for his fellow citizens becomes submerged in a conviction of superiority arising from his control of two tons of steel and 150 or 200 horsepower. He blows his horn at pedestrians or drivers who threaten to interfere with his lordly progress.

Whatever lane he chooses is his exclusive property, and sometimes he takes part of two lanes. He picks any speed that suits his fancy.

He is too big to be anything but contemptuous of the traffic officer who questions his driving ability. His favorite retort is "I'll have your job for this, copper!"

Maybe you're one of these big shots and that's what's bothering you.

Or maybe you're one of the Milquetoasts — the meek little guy who spends his life taking orders from the boss but who becomes a tyrant when he's driving. All he has to do to get even with the world is step on the gas. He has as much right as anyone else and he will assert it even if it means killing himself or the other fellow.

Do you wonder that I'm mad all the time? So many of the people I do business with are downright stupid for no good reason. Yet anywhere but behind the wheel of a high-powered machine they're normal, intelligent, thinking, considerate humans.

Then there are kids who shouldn't be allowed the use of the family car until they learn common sense.

I went home the other night saddened. I had listened to a father blubber like a baby. The last time I talked to him before that, he was lecturing me. His son was a good driver, he said. Sure, weaving in and out of traffic, digging out on the green.

Well, we had picked up the boy on two occasions and were ready to ground him for keeps. Then before we could do it, the serious smashup that we had anticipated happened. The boy's body was being wheeled out of the operating room to the morgue when the father broke down and cried: "I killed my son trying to prove that I was right. I hate myself."

Let me ask you: Do you believe we should allow some idiot to risk your life and the lives of your family members just because he wants to be there in time for the kickoff? Would we be doing our duty in letting him off with just a few words of warning?

What do you expect a cop to be anyhow? Do you want your highway patrolmen to be a bunch of weak kneed, jelly spined apologists who smile at a speeder knowing that sooner or later he will cause an accident?

Suppose we allowed everybody else to drive the way you were driving when the patrolman stopped you. It wouldn't be long until you and one of those others met — met head on. And that would be that.

Look in the truck cab at the roasted body of a driver who overturned while trying to let a hurry boy pass without crashing into the oncoming automobile. Smell his hair burning, experience that nausea that comes from smelling burned flesh, and then tell me to let a reckless driver off easy. You tell the widow of the truck driver that. Go to her house as I have had to do, and tell her that her man has been killed because a light-hearted bunch of fun seekers were in a hurry. Look the driver's kids in the eye and try to explain why their dad won't be home.

You tell 'em, Buster. I'm too mad and too busy!

A traffic accident occurred every nine minutes in Minnesota last year, involving 103,285 licensed drivers, according to the Minnesota Highway Department.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Living in town needn't keep a 4-H youth off the land, if that's where he wants to be. Minnesota's top 4-H crops project winner this year is Bruce Larson, 17, who has lived in the town of New London all his life. Yet he has raised 12½ acres of corn, potatoes and garden crops on rented land and has become a 4-H leader since joining 4-H in 1953. His crop and farm labor profits have earned him enough to buy a tractor and a small line of farm machinery. He has salted away enough cropping experience to start out on a life-time of farming—if that's what he decides to do.

Contouring the hillsides often means better moisture control for soil down in the valley. Kenneth Sprau, Elkton, this year installed a mile of terraces on a 2½ per cent slope. "With higher than average rainfall this past season, there was no soil damage," he says. Terraces controlled erosion on the land above and made drainage below less of a problem. Larry Streif, SCS technician for the Mower soil conservation district, helped install the terrace.

Fertilizer does pay in dry years. Robert Olson, Cottonwood, applied 5 lbs. nitrogen, 40 pounds phosphate, and 10 pounds potash as a starter and side-dressed with 40 pounds of nitrogen last summer. Just to check, he left an unfertilized strip through the field. Sure enough, the unfertilized corn yielded only 30 bushels per acre, compared to 55 bushels where the fertilizer went on. And this was a dry year in his area, according to George Holcomb, assistant Lyon county agent.

Water Pits in Polk county are getting use from a different kind of "livestock"—ducks, deer and other wildlife. So says Warner Christenson, technician in the county soil conservation district. He says more than half of the pits constructed by farmers and cost-shared by ACP in the past two years show signs of wildlife use. In fact, several flocks of ducks were raised on some of the pits.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Christmas Is Coming Again

The coming holiday season is looked forward to by almost all children with real enthusiasm. Most of us agree with the old saying "Christmas is for children". It is a time usually linked in our minds with singing, parties, baking, lights, games, friends, visits, toys, fruit cake, stories and all kinds of family fun. For parents and children alike, the holidays are bound to have their hectic moments, but just the same we wouldn't miss them.

For the next few times let's talk about some of the matters which confront us as families in the holiday season. First, because many of us have shopping to do we'll talk about toys and books for children. Then as the holidays approach, it may be a good idea to talk about having fun together as a family.

Toys are to play with and fortunately, today's parents know more about the importance of play in the life of a child than did parents many years ago. Play is no longer looked upon as a sinful waste of time, but rather as an activity which is important to the child's growth and development. Play has been called the child's world. This seems to say that it fulfills some very real needs for the youngster. Play provides opportunity for manipulation, experimentation, practice and learning. It stimulates curiosity and questioning and encourages problem solving and creativity. And in addition to this (and even in spite of all these big words) it is fun!

Because we believe that play is a constructive use of children's time we should give careful thought to our buying of play things. Today's parents need some guide posts to help them select from the tremendous number of toys and other play things available. Here are just a few.

Will the toy enable the child to do things, or will it do things for the child? In general, the first kind is to be preferred

Can the toy be used in more than one way? Adapted to various kinds of play settings? If so, we would vote in its favor.

Is the toy sturdy or likely to hold up well with repeated use? Some toys quickly become favorites and we ought to give some thought to the ease with which they can be repaired. Toys made of materials which are difficult to mend, or made in a very complicated way with many parts easily lost are less desirable.

PUBLIC OPINION

St. Paul 1, Minn
December 3, 1959

Editor the Times:

The recent article by Stan Peterson titled "Useless Degrees" in Over the Back Fence column of Monday Nov 30 requires some comment of a constructive nature to dispel some probable misconceptions in regard to higher education.

To his question posed repeatedly "Is a college education worth the time and money?" I am at a complete loss to account for his assumption that the answer is negative. Studies by national firms have conclusively proved a strong relationship exists between education and income. Their studies indicate a college grad can expect lifetime earnings in excess of $100,000 over that of a high school grad. There can be no doubt that a college degree in most any field qualifies that individual for a greater earning capacity than the non college graduate.

I am also unaware that a large segment of business and industrial leaders disparage a college education. On the contrary, dozens of articles have been written by leading businessmen stating that this education is becoming an essential requirement for advancement in an age of specialization and competition in industry.

Mr Peterson's example of the cost of a college education was singularly unfortunate and could conceivably dishearten parents and children of would-be college attendance.

To cite the case of an individual making $5000 a year before college and then costing him $3000 a year to attend is, to put it mildly, unique beyond my experience with hundreds of U. of M. students. In fact, not one of them had hopes of making $5000 a year for several years after college. Also, I can safely add, if it did cost $3000 a year there would be no problem today of where or what to expand but rather how to best dispose of present land, buildings and equipment.

No one can seriously believe a statement "That everyone should go to college." This can be discarded for obvious reasons immediately. However, there should be support for "college for everyone"—everyone capable and desirous of further education without regard for ability to pay. This area continues to be the nation's greatest waste of "natural resources."

Mr. Peterson is to be commended for writing on a subject of vast importance to the people of Minnesota.

I also have a sneaking suspicion that if he were to be queried by an earnest young student, "Should I go to college?" Mr Peterson's answer would be (in the vernacular) "Go Man, Go!"

PEEKIN' into the PAST

TWO-WAY PLOW

From Vermont in 1850 came the "two way plow." Designed for steep hillsides, this plow could be flopped over when it came to the end of the field and it was ready to go the opposite way in the same furrow.

This was a heavy plow but the wheel just back of the doubletree hitch was an improvement over earlier models.

New Taxes on House Trailers Take Effect on January 1st, 1960

Residents of mobile homes (house trailers) were reminded today by Joseph L. Donovan, secretary of state, of the requirements of a new law Chapter 562, passed by the 1959 legislature, which takes effect January 1, 1960.

All mobile homes must be registered on or before January 11, 1960, with the secretary of state. The registration fee is $3.25 plus a property tax based on a percentage of the factory retail list price and the average mill rate of taxes of all counties throughout the state levied for all purposes and paid during the preceding year. A registration plate and certificate will be issued for each registration.

This law applies to all mobile homes even though not moved during the year. An important feature of the new law provides for the apportionment of the property tax to divisions of local goverment. 50 per cent will be returned to the school district in which the home is parked, 30 per cent to the municipality and 10 per cent to the county. Ten per cent is retained by the state. The apportionment will be made twice each year.

Deputy registrars of motor vehicles (where automobile plates are issued) are equipped to handle the registrations and have plates on hand. Applications may also be made at the central office in the new Highway building in St. Paul.

"Because of the many factors involved, it would be wise for mobile home owners to seek the help of deputy registrars or apply in person at the central office rather than attempt to register by mail," Mr. Donovan said.

Application can be made now. By doing so, owners will avoid the last-minute crowds applying for motor vehicle plates. If application is delayed beyond January 11, a penalty of 8 per cent of the property tax must be paid.

Examinations Open for Highway Patrol

Civil service examinations for Minnesota highway patrol officers have been opened and applications will be received by the state examining agency until December 31, it was announced today by Paul R. Martz, chief of the patrol.

Applicants to qualify for the examination must be between 21 to 35 years of age, have a high school education or equivalent, be a citizen of the United States and a resident of Minnesota, and be between 5 feet 10 inches and not more than 6 feet 4 inches tall, with weight in proportion to height.

Highway patrol officers are furnished uniforms and all necessary equipment by the state. The officers' pay begins at $385 per month with periodic increases until a maximum of $506 is reached.

The officers serve a probationary period of six months following appointment, and upon completion of that period they become subject to the Minnesota highway patrol tenure act which is similar to civil service. There are two vacancies in the patrol at present."

Martz announced that written examinations will be given on January 16, 1960, at various locations throughout the state. Those who attain satisfactory scores will be given an oral interview. Following this, a thorough character investigation is conducted and a rigid physical examination is given. Applicants must have normal hearng uncorrected, at least 20/40 vision corrected to 20/20, the use of all limbs, and be free from disabling or crippling handicaps.

The applicants who are rated highest following these examining procedures will be eligible to attend the highway patrol recruit training school which will be held later in the spring. The number of candidates attending will be announced later.

During the period of the school the applicants will be furnished room and board and be paid at the rate of $200 per month for the ten weeks of schooling.

Further information and application blanks can be secured from state employment offices, the Minnesota Civil Service Department in St. Paul, or from the highway patrol.

Otter Tail Power Co. Builds New Line

To Serve Growing Demand from Plummer and Oklee

Completion of a new Otter Tail Power Co. transmission between Oklee and Plummer is expected to be accomplished in about three weeks, W. C. Naylor of Bemidji, district manager for the company, announced last week.

The new line is being constructed to keep pace with increased demands of customers resulting in heavier loads, Mr. Naylor pointed out.

The new line begins at Oklee and follows a shorter route to Plummer where it will join the present line south to the company's main source line at Winger. The Plummer to Winger line has undergone extensive rebuilding also.

Last year the company built a new line from Gully to Oklee along Highway 92. All the new lines are of heavier wire intended to carry more power.

Twelve men are working in the area at the present time under Foreman Ralph Waite of Fergus Falls.

Don't clutter your windshield with knicknacks. They clutter the picture of the road . . . and they are against Minnesota law.

Bond Refinancing Is Argued by City Council

FUNDS donated by residents in the Muscular Dystrophy drive recently completed were counted Monday, Dec. 14, by Mrs. Elmer Zachar, left, co-chairman of the drive, and Mrs. Agnes Israelson, right, drive chairman. A total of $1,025 was received from the collections, with over $800 of that amount contributed in the residential area. Mrs. Israelson and Mrs. Zachar expressed the gratitude of the local chapter to everyone with special thanks going to all householders for their cooperation and the work of the Eagles Auxiliary for distributing and collecting canisters and envelopes.

Amendment Raising City Water Rates Gets First Reading

At a special meeting of the city council this morning, Thursday, an examination of city finances resulted in setting a tax levy for 1960 at an anticipated rate of 45 mills, the same as for 1959. Although there was some discussion of the budget, action will not be taken until later. No decision was made at the meeting as to the method of financing the budget.

At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, Dec. 15, bids for a new garbage truck and a used tractor were opened, bids were asked on rewinding a hydroelectric generator, fire protection assistance for five townships was discussed and the problem of how the 1960 budget was to be financed was again discussed.

The matter of financing increased city costs arose when Morris Owen, chief engineer of the municipal power plant asked that bids be called for work on the generator. The move was approved with bids to be opened at the Jan. 19 meeting. Owen was also authorized to prepare plans and specifications for adding switching gear at the plant with presentation of this data to the council at the Jan. 19 meeting.

Alderman A. J. Rau and E. R. Benson expressed opposition to issuing additional revenue bonds against earnings of the electrical department which, they stated, already has four issues against it now. They also opposed revenue bonds against liquor store earnings.

The councilmen came out in favor of refinancing general obligation bonds totaling [illegible] which come due in 1960.

Alderman Roy Lee opposed refinancing the bonds, which, he declared, would call for higher interest. He pointed out that city costs were going up fast and that more services are being added every year. "You can't keep on increasing services without increasing the mill rate," Lee said.

Alderman Lee and Rau joined in opposing any mill rate rise declaring such a move is unnecessary when refinancing bonds would provide additional services without the increase.

At this point, Robert Wurst, city attorney, expressed the opinion that refinancing would make a city vote necessary but that opinion was challenged by Rau who said that it had not been necessary for a previous refinancing. Wurst said that he would look into the matter.

Alderman Rau concluded by saying, "Put me down for this. I won't vote for any more revenue bonds."

School Bo[illegible] Meets Mon[illegible], Also Tonig[illegible]

To Remove Row Seats in Auditori[illegible] for Orchestra

Following a lengthy December session Monday evening, the Thief River Falls board of education laid several matters over until an adjourned meeting this evening.

The January session was advanced to Monday, Jan. 4, to avoid conflict with the annual convention of the Minnesota School Board association January 11-13, which will be attended by several members of the local board. At the same time the February session was moved ahead to Monday, Feb. 1.

At its session Monday, the board voted to remove the first row of seats from the Lincoln high school auditorium to provide space in front of the stage for the school orchestra.

It was reported that a recent inspection by the board of the Washington school had revealed a deterioration in the mortar in a limited portion of the brick work, and that Prichard Bros. Co., in behalf of the Mandel contracting firm of Minneapolis, which executed the general contract, had agreed to make the necessary corrections.

A request submitted last spring by the Carnegie library board for an increase in the payment to the institution for its services to the local schools was considered further at the meeting, and definite action again was deferred.

Supt. Irwin Mickelson, reported that at a recent conference, also attended by R. G. Mabey, president of the library board, and County Commissioner Don L. Olson, Miss Frances Shanahan had submitted a report listing the average number of patrons per day in various categories.

Included, he said, were 78 high school students, 53 elementary pupils and 45 city adults and 15 rural adults. Studying at the tables was an average of 26 senior high school students, six junior high, two elementary pupils and three adults.

The various school administrators were asked to report on their departments at the January meeting of the board.

The board Monday also agreed to publish its official proceedings in greater detail than has been its custom in the past.

Mercury Readings Stay High in Area

The weatherman should have his mouth washed out with soap. After being on his good behavior for the month so far, he used a couple of dirty words—snow flurries—in the forcast today.

Temperatures since Monday held at about the same levels as previously in the month with a high of 36 Tuesday and Monday's 13 for low. There was no precipitation.

The forecast, as reported by KTRF: occasional cloudiness and a little colder through Friday, with a few snow flurries in the northern counties.

A high of 28-38 is predicted today with tonight's lows expected to fall between 10 and 20.

Coming 4-H Projects Discussed Monday by Co. Leaders' Council

The 4-H leaders council, at the monthly meeting held Monday set the date of the radio speaking contest at Saturday, Jan. 30. Entries in the contest are due by Friday, Jan. 15. All 4-H'ers planning to participate can secure reference materials at the extension office according to council president Paul Furuseth. The topic of the contest is, "Why I am Concerned With the World Refugee Problem" and all 4-H'ers in the ages 14 to 21 are urged to participate. Speeches must be five to seven minutes in length.

4-H'ers enrolled in dairy, food preparation, home assistance, bread, or health will be encouraged to prepare a dairy demonstration for the winter shows. The individual demonstrations are to be 10 to 20 minutes, the team demonstration 15 to 30 minutes in length.

Futurity livestock entries for the Winter Shows are due January 15 at the extension office. All 4-H'ers who have purebred dairy, beef, sheep or swine projects are invited to send in entries.

An electrical project training session will be held Saturday, Jan. 9. Les Kelfenheim of Red Lake Electric will present the materials and all 4-H'ers in electrification, and others who may be interested, are urged to attend this meeting at 2:30 p.m. in the courthouse.

Mary Ann Lendobeja of the Kratka 4-H club was presented a check and a certificate of merit from the Minnesota Horticulture society for her outstanding work in horticulture.

Richard Parnow, Kratka club, and Nelda Lea Nelson of the Smiley club, presented talk on their experiences at Chicago. Nelda Lea was state champion in frozen foods and attended the 4-H club Congress. Richard Parnow was Junior Chamber of Commerce trip winner to the Chicago International Livestock exposition. Both expressed much appreciation for their trips.

A judging schedule was set up for dairy teams and the general livestock teams in preparation for the Winter Shows.

The meeting was concluded by the singing of carols led by Mrs. Rolland Sande of City View club, followed by recreation led by the Silverton and Mavie clubs.

Salvation Army Asks Canned Goods

Food Items to Be Donatd with Christmas Baskets

Lieut. Robert Burkhardt, in charge of the local unit of the Salvation Army, announced today that baskets have been placed in six local stores to receive contributions of canned goods, which will be given with Christmas baskets to needy families in this community.

He added that the baskets are located in Bjorkman's, Woolworth's Paint & Glass Supply, Parkins Corner Drug and in the Hartz, Piggly Wiggly and Red Owl supermarkets.

Lieut. Burkhardt stated that four local groups are assisting in collecting funds to finance the Salvation Army's Christmas activities. The Jaycees worked last Friday, Rotarians this afternoon, the American Legion tonight and the Lions Friday.

Chamber Warns of Transient Sales Crews in Region

Local Group Advised of Operations by National Better Business Bureau

The Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce today received word from the National Better Business Bureau that transient sales crews are moving into this area. The reputable sales crews from magazine companies, etc., register with Chambers of Commerce and complete forms which are in turn returned to the National Better Business Bureau.

According to the information received, one of the techniques used by sales crews is to install "boiler room" operations, which consists of a battery of telephones.

These telephones are then used constantly during the day and evening calling families, business places, etc., offering magazines or some other promotional item at a fantastically reduced price.

The public is urged to make sure that they know what they are buying and with whom they are dealing. It is always easier to obtain satisfaction from a local person selling merchandise rather than from persons who are constantly on the move without any permanent address.

One of the protection services that the Chamber of Commerce offers is to serve as a clearing house. If you should be contacted by one of these sales persons, it is always best to call the Chamber of Commerce and determine if they have registered before you either sign a contract or pay any money. The telephone number to call is MU 1-3720.

Social Security Tax to Be Increased Jan. 1

Starting January 1, 1960, the social security tax rate will be increased from the present 2¼ per cent of wages, paid by employees and employers to 3 per cent by employees and a like amount by employers.

The present rate of 3¾ per cent of net earnings paid by the self-employed will be increased to 4½ per cent of net earnings.

Since its inception in 1935 the social security program has grown phenomenally, both in coverage, beneficiary categories, and the amount of benefit payments. Starting as a retirement program for the protection of the aged wage earner, it has now become a family insurance program protecting not only the wage earner, but the self-employed as well, in old-age, in total disability, and the family in case of the worker's death.

In 1937 the social security tax rate was 1 per cent by employees and 1 per cent by employers. This low tax rate was adequate under the restricted retirement provisions on the original act and sufficient to maintain a self-supporting program.

The self-supporting principle in social security program financing has been sustained through the years by periodically increasing social security tax rates to take care of higher benefit payment, extended coverage, and other program improvements.

The new increased social security contribution rates maintain the self-supporting feature of the program and by its actuarial soundness assures future payments to all eligible beneficiaries.

Pastors Asked to Give Yule Church Notices Saturday

To make certain that notices of Christmas services in local churches reach Times readers in ample time before the holiday, the publishers request the cooperation of pastors in supplying the Times with their church notices by Saturday of this week, whenever possible, so that they can be published in Monday's edition.

TRF Bank Debits Rise 16 Per Cent During November

Bank debits in Thief River Falls in November totaled $8,336,000, an increase of 16 per cent over the $7,189,000 for the corresponding month of 1958, the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis reported this week. Crookston showed a gain of three per cent to $10,474,000, Bemidji gained 21 per cent to $7,864,000, and Detroit Lakes debits rose 19 per cent to $7,794,000. For the 11 months thru November, 1959, Thief River Falls bank debits aggregated $79,835,000, a gain of eight per cent compared to the same period in 1958.

Announce Names of 6 Men Elected to Chamber Board

Six new directors of the Chamber of Commerce were introduced today at the noon meeting of the Chamber in the Elks club rooms.

Bob Baker, Phil Hess, Morris Howick, Arnold Kelly, Dr. George Martin and Otto Stenberg were selected by Chamber members by mail ballots bearing the pictures and biographical sketches of each of the 12 candidates.

Others whose names were included on the ballots were Ole Ekeren, James Geisen, Joe Holter, Reuben Lockrem, Norm Peterson and Jarvis Prichard.

President Sig Quam pointed out to the defeated candidates the need of having capable men to compete for the board positions which have ever increasing responsibility and that the fact that they were nominated in itself was an indication of the confidence the membership had in them.

A special organizational meeting will be attended by new and old board members Monday evening, Dec. 28, at 6:30 in the Rex cafe. Officers for next year will be elected at that time.

Legion Post Sets Christmas Party for Kiddies Dec. 20

Eklund-Holmstrom post of the American Legion will stage its annual Christmas party for children of members in the club rooms next Sunday afternoon, December 20, from 3 to 5 p.m. Movies will be shown, and Santa Claus will be present to visit with his little friends and distribute candy. Coffee will be served to the parents.

Final Report Reveals Chest Fund at $9,231

1959 Collections Slightly over 20 Pct. Short of Goal

The Pennington County Community Chest campaign, which opened late in October, has ended with contributions of $9,231.79, slightly more than 20 per cent short of its assigned objective of $11,700, according to a final report today by George Hale, president of the Community Chest board.

Bulk of the funds, $7,602.95, came from the business district solicitation in Thief River Falls, while $1,115.84 was supplied by the city residential district drive. A total of $483 was contributed by the rural areas of the county, with only 13 out of 23 subdivisions reporting.

Hale stated that a total of $9,611.34 was collected in the 1958 campaign, including $7,818.09 from the business district in the city, $972.05 by the city residential areas and $821.20 by the rural areas.

Hale announced that the available funds will be allocated to the various participating agencies at a meeting of the board to be held early in January.

Annual Meeting of Local Breeders Association Held

70 Attend Meeting of Consolidated Breeders Unit at Court House

The Thief River Falls and Middle River unit of Consolidated Breeders Cooperative with headquarters at Anoka, held its annual meeting December 15 at the courthouse in this city with over 70 in attendance.

William Rupprecht, local unit president, was in charge of the meeting. Four members were elected to the board: Melvin Mellin, St. Hilaire; Harry Solberg, Goodridge; Marian Augustine, rt. 2, Thief River Falls and Alvin Grandstrand, Viking.

R. W. Seath, manager of the co-op, was present from the central office and gave the annual report of the association for the past year. He stated that a total of 201,835 cows were bred, a gain over the previous year. The report also showed the association was now free of any mortgage indebtedness, with assets of over $609,000. Member equities now total over $536,000, he said.

Technicians who serve the local unit are Clifton Johnson and Gene Halverson.

Attendance prizes were awarded and lunch was served after the meeting.

'Thou Shalt Not Kill.' Is Plea to Motorists During the Holidays

The National Safety Council announced today a Christmas holiday safety campaign that will stress moral responsibility and appeal to every American to observe the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill."

"By moral responsibility," said Arthur B. Langlie, chairman of the Council's national committee of religious leaders for safety, "we mean simply this:

"Motorists—and people in their homes, too—violate one of the Ten Commandments when, thru disregard for safety, they cause others to suffer or lose their lives.

"This," said Langlie, former governor of Washington and now president of the McCall Corp., New York City, "is the season for sober worship and family joy. It is also a time for honest thinking.

"It's a time for honest thinking about living a sound, full life and helping others to do so. This must surely include thoughts about driving your car—carefully and soberly.

"We must have regard for our own lives and well-being, and patient consideration for the welfare of those who ride with us or who ride in other cars.

"Thoughtful, careful habits are wrapped up in the meaning of the Christmas season."

The Council's Christmas safety campaign will continue through

Yule Programs in Schools Enjoyed by Large Numbers

Enjoyable Concert and Play Given Wednesday Night by Lincoln Groups

A large and responsive audience enjoyed the annual Christmas program presented Wednesday evening by Lincoln high school groups in the school auditorium.

Participating were the Thespians, who opened the program with the presentation of the playlet, "Uncle Noah's Christmas Inspiration," with musical accompaniment by the school orchestra; while the latter portion of the program was supplied by the Lincoln senior high school concert choir and the junior high school chorus.

The Thespians also have presented their playlet at programs in the grade schools this week, concluding this afternoon with a songfest and the play at the Knox school. Also set for today is an open house for parents at 4 p.m.

Christmas parties will be held in the various grades, and classes will be dismissed at 4 p.m. for the Christmas recess. School offices will be open as usual during the holiday vacation period, and maintenance crews will be on duty, it was announced.

Request Members for Rescue Squad

Mittelstadt Tells Lions of Urgent Need for Men

Speaking at the Lions club meeting Wednesday noon, Fred Mittelstadt, associated with the local civil defense organization for more than ten years, made an urgent appeal for volunteers to the civil defense rescue squad.

He said at least 20 men are needed to serve in time of emergency, and to man the rescue truck given to the city several years ago by the federal civil defense agency. He added that the truck will be removed from the city if the necessary crew cannot be arranged.

Those willing to volunteer their service may call Kendall Gustafson, county CD director, or Mittelstadt at Fred's Mobil Service.

Late Parcels May Go by Plane, Says R. J. Dryden, P.M.

Rush of Mailing Here is above Expectations for Christmas Season

Christmas parcels on which regular parcels post charges have been paid, together with special handling or special delivery fees will be transported by plane on a space available basis, it was announced today by Postmaster R. J. Dryden, who added that he had been advised that adequate space is available out of Thief River Falls.

In order to secure this service, Dryden said, packages should be mailed before 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The volume of mail being handled here is above expectations, he said, although the peak mailing is not expected to equal that of some former years, due to the fact that Christmas mailing is being spread over a longer period each year.

Local patrons were reminded that a minimum postage rate of four cents applies to all greeting cards destined for Canada.

Celestine Votava Is Wed To R. E. O' Connell

White pompoms and sprays of green fern graced the altar of the Church of Annunciation of Minneapolis for the wedding of Celestine Ellen Votava of Thief River Falls and Robert E. O'Connell of Minneapolis, Saturday, Nov. 28.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward J. Votava of this city.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony which took place at 10 a.m. was Father DeSutler with Rosemary Votava, sister of the bride, of Thief River Falls, at the organ.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The bodice of the gown was of lace, which featured a sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The bouffant velvet skirt was accented by panels of lace down the front. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a jeweled hat and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations. Her pearl drop necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Valda V. Votava of Minneapolis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by Mrs. [illegible] McAdams of Minneapolis, another sister, as bridesmaid. They wore identically styled dresses of emerald green [illegible] sheer, featuring full skirts, ballerina length. Their bouquets were of bronze and yellow pompoms and their pearl drop necklaces were a gift of the bride.

Little Lorel Ann Gilling of Minneapolis, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl, wearing a ballerina length dress of white nylon and lace, similar to that of the other attendants, and carried a bouquet of bronze pompoms and yellow carnations.

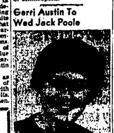
Attending the bridegroom as best man was James Daly of Minneapolis, a friend, with [illegible] Staber of Minneapolis, another friend, as groomsmen.

Joe Ellis of Minneapolis was usher. All gentlemen were dressed in tuxedoes and wore white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Votava chose a navy blue wool dress with navy accessories while the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Roven, was attired in a sky blue two-piece dress with dark accessories. Their corsages were yellow and white pompoms.

A wedding reception and buffet luncheon was held at the home of the newlyweds, given by the bride's parents, following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the serving table. The luncheon was served by the wives of Richfield Post 435 drill squad. Mrs. Louis Schultz, aunt of the bride, poured with Rosemary Votava, sister of the bride, and Sharon Anderson, a friend of the bride, at the gift table. Sandra Arnold was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. O'Connell is a graduate of Lincoln high school, class of 1956, and also the Thief River Falls Vocation school, school of cosmetology, in 1958. She is now employed at Joseph's Hair Fashions in Minneapolis. The bridegroom graduated from Vocational high school in Minneapolis, class of 1957, and is presently employed with Custom Plastics, Inc. They are now making their home at 5704 Pillsbury Ave. So. in Minneapolis.



IN MINNEAPOLIS Robert E. O'Connell and his bride, the former Celestine Votava, are making their home in Minneapolis, following their marriage Saturday, Nov. 28 in the Annunciation church of Minneapolis. Father DeSutler officiated at the ceremony.

Kathleen Olberg, M. Christofferson Vows Exchanged

Nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday, Dec. 12, at the Zion Lutheran parsonage by Miss Kathleen Gail Olberg, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Anderson of Middle River, and Marvin Leo Christofferson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Christofferson of Thief River Falls. Dr. Walter M. Pedersen officiated at the ceremony at 1 p.m.

For her wedding the bride chose a waltz length gown of white illusion lace tiers over taffeta. It featured a Sabrina neckline with three-quarter length sleeves. Her chapel length veil was held in place by a pearl and sequin crown and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Sharon Olberg of Middle River, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a street length gown of azure blue chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Larry Schenkey of Hibbing, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a bridal dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother for approximately 20 relatives and friends. The wedding cake, made in the form of a ring, was topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and was baked and decorated by Mrs. Hilda Orpen. Mrs. Henry Schenkey of Hibbing, aunt of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Christofferson will make their home in Middle River until spring, when the bridegroom will again be employed on road construction in Minneapolis.

Jeanine Gorman To Wed Bruce Williamson

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gorman of Grand Forks announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanine Carol to Lt. Bruce Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Williamson of this city.

Miss Gorman is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and is a member of Alpha Phi sorority. She served as parish worker at Trinity Lutheran church in this city for a year.

Lt. Williamson is a graduate of St. Olaf college. He is now stationed at Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

Public Is Urged to Be Alert to Danger of Holiday Blazes

National Board of Fire Underwriters Reports 93 Deaths Last Christmas

Americans across the nation are being asked this week to make this year's Christmas fire-safe.

Last year, in the four days beginning at noon the day before Christmas, fire took 93 lives in the United States.

This was the largest fire toll for any four day Christmas holiday period since 1951, when fire deaths totaled 111.

Last year's figure was sharply above the 27 deaths in the 1957 Christmas holiday period, and the 53 for 1956.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates that three-fourths of all fires are caused by human carelessness or forgetfulness.

"Ordinary care can go a long way towards reducing loss of life by fire," the National Board said. "Care during the Christmas holidays can keep Christmas merry, but care with fire can and should begin now, even before the holiday arrives."

The National Board pointed out that fires in the full year 1958 took 11,500 lives and caused property damage totaling $1,056,266,- (xx)

Leonard Hagenson Visits Here until December 27

LEONARD K. HAGENSON

R. H. Wetenkamp, presiding minister of the Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced the semi-annual visit of circuit supervisor Leonard K. Hagenson through December 27.

"The congregation anticipates a week of increased activity and spiritual benefit from Mr. Hagenson's visit," Mr. Wetenkamp stated. The visit is described as part of an advanced training program for Jehovah's Witnesses. The activity scheduled is also designed to encourage more Bible discussion by people of all faiths in the community.

The Saturday evening program begins at 8 o'clock with a Bible question period, "New Things Learned," which includes audience participation. A 30-minute discourse by Mr. Hagenson dealing with counsel for improving one's personal ministry concludes the session.

Highlight of the week comes Sunday at 2 p.m., when Mr. Hagenson gives the sermon entitled "Walking Wisely in a Wicked World." A congregational Bible study and final remarks by Mr. Hagenson bring the week's activity to a close. All the meetings will be at the Kingdom Hall, 523 N. Knight, Thief River Falls.

39 Are Initiated Into Knights of Columbus Sunday

A class of 39 candidates was initiated into the first three degrees of the Knights of Columbus in a ceremony Sunday by Our Lady of Lourdes council at St. Bernard's Hall, following which the 175 members present enjoyed a smorgasbord.

Speakers at the regular December meeting of the council last Thursday evening were Medard Yutrzenka, district deputy, and Father Rousseau, former state chaplain, both of Argyle; and Father Regnier of Brooks, who showed colored slides of his recent trip to Europe.

Next Meeting of Jaycees Jan. 7th

Due to the many holiday activities currently under way in this community, no further meetings of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in December, the next meeting being scheduled for Thursday evening, January 7, it was announced today by Bruce Hall, Jaycee president.

Rep. Langen Closes Crookston Office

86th Congress Session to Resume January 6th

U.S. Rep. Odin Langen announced today that his between-session office in the Crookston postoffice building will close on Friday, Dec. 18.

He said that all files and correspondence will be transferred back to his Washington office after that time, and asked that all subsequent communications be directed to him in Room 1120 of the new House office building.

Langen expressed pleasure in his between session activity, stating that "the service which we have attempted to provide, both in the Crookston office and in the two day offices which we held in several Ninth district communities, has met with a hearty response."

The 86th Congress reconvenes on January 6.

Luth. Brethren to Use New Building Tuesday Evening

The Lutheran Brethren church of which Rev. N. A. Langness is pastor, located on Sixth and Dewey av., will hold its first service in the new church Tuesday evening, Dec. 22. The Sunday school will have its Christmas program at 8 p.m.

A prayer service and Bible study will be held at the church this Thursday evening at 8 p.m. also. The Christmas message will be Christmas Day at 11 a.m., with services on the following Sunday at the same hour.

Work has progressed well since the cornerstone laying ceremony Oct. 18. The congregation plans dedication of the new church in the spring. Services will no longer be held northeast of Long's Bridge, but all services hereafter will be at the church.

Fines Are Imposed in City Court on Monday

Numerous cases were heard in Monday's municipal court session, to end several weeks of comparative calm. Judge H. O. Chommie presided and all cases were brought in by the city police and the sheriff's office.

Five persons appeared and one forfeited bond as the result of arrests by the sheriff. Edwin O. Senum of rural TRF, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $10 plus $6 costs, and after pleading guilty to speeding was fined $15 plus $6 costs.

James L. Reser, city, pleaded guilty to careless driving and paid a total of $25 in fine and costs.

Galen A. Opdahl and Jerry W. Bendickson, both of Trail, each pleaded guilty to fighting and each paid a $10 fine and $5.50 costs.

Helmer Hinden, rt. 5, was found guilty of driving without a drivers license on a citizen's complaint, and was fined $25 plus $8.54 costs.

Donald L. Strawhun, Newburg, Mo., forfeited $15 bond on a disorderly conduct charge, for non-appearance.

All other cases were brought by city police. Gordon H. Cormier, Newfolden, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way and was fined $10, suspended, $4 costs paid.

Romal E. Burtness, city, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge and was fined $25.

Melvin G. Higdem, city, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Calvin W. Steindl, rt. 3, Bagley, forfeited $10 bond on an illegal muffler charge.

Refinancing City Bonds Debated by Council Tuesday

also gave the council an unofficial report on his meeting with officials of the bureau of reclamation in regard to changes in furnishing power for city use. Three propositions have been made and official word on the matter will come from Billings, Montana.

The first reading of the amendment to the ordinance which will raise water rates in January was heard. The move will increase the minimum charge from $1.25 to $1.75 and will also change consumption charges. Water will cost 68c per 1,000 gallons for the first 10,000 gallons, 54c per thousand for the next 10,000 gallons, 41c per 1,000 gallons for the next 50,000 gallons, 27c per 1,000 gallons for the next 80,000 gallons and 25c per 1,000 for anything over 150,000 gallons.

An ordinance providing for the payment of fines, forfeitures and penalties of city ordinances to the city treasurer had its first reading, and a second reading of the ordinance changing the number of volunteer firemen from 10 to 12 was also heard.

The resignation of Richard O'Hara as a regular fireman effective Dec. 31 was accepted and Lawrence Hemmesch was hired effective Jan. 1 on the recommendation of the firemen's board.

The bid of C. Gustafson & Son, Inc., to furnish a two-ton, six-cylinder International truck with a 13-yard Gar Wood garbage collection unit placed on it was accepted by the council. Including $50 for an extra side door and $44 for nylon tires, the total bid was $8,004.

Other bids ranged from $7,115 by Gustafson for the same truck with a different collection unit mounted on it to a top bid of $8,965.

Bids for a used crawler-type tractor were opened and ranged from a low of $2,800 by Ole Fladeland of Thief River Falls to $15,000. All ten bids received were tabled to give the council an opportunity to examine the units offered.

A resolution was passed approving payment of $2,000 to the Thief River Falls Foundation as part of the purchase price of land east of the Eighth st. bridge to be used as a wayside park.

An invitation was extended to the council to have a dinner meeting with the Pennington County Agricultural society board to discuss mutual problems in connection with the fairgrounds but no date was set and the matter will be considered later.

Representatives of the state highway department appeared for a hearing on the state's assessment for work in storm sewer district three and reported that the amount of $3,930 was fair and equitable.

A building permit for a 32x48 storage building by the Kiewel products company to cost $3,500 was approved.

The matter of oil in the airport well was discussed briefly and Alderman Sam Honebrink reported that it had been caused by runoff from the surface. Nothing further was done but Alderman A. J. Rau voiced opposition to drilling a new well before attempting to clean the present one.

Representatives from Agder, Excel, Norden, Silverton and Smiley townships again attended the council meeting to ask that the city provide 27% of the funds for the purchase of a fire truck to be used jointly by the townships and the city. The request was again denied when council members declared that the expenditure of funds would not be in the best interest of city taxpayers. It was suggested that the townships purchase the truck themselves and the city would equip it and house, maintain and man the unit.

A resolution was adopted designating the east side of Duluth av. N. between First and Second sts. as a no parking zone during school hours. The action was taken at the request of St. Bernard's school.

Three appointments by the mayor were approved. The terms of Anton Hall, who has served on the library board 26 years, and Mrs. Norman Holen, who has served 19 years on the board, expire Dec. 31 and they had asked to be relieved of their duties. Mrs. J. B. Holter and R. J. Ulferts were appointed for the three-year terms. The council adopted a resolution expressing the city's thanks for the services of Mr. Hall and Mrs. Holen.

Carl B. Larson was reappointed to another five-year term as a member of the board of cemetery commissioners.

Discussions were held on calling for bids for gasoline to be used by city equipment and on increasing insurance coverage of the city Auditorium but no action was taken.

Resolutions were adopted for six contract and service payments including: Central States Construction company, $54,053.69, estimate number 2 on storm sewer district three construction; K. R. Anderson, $734.45 for architect's fees on the liquor store remodeling; Bridgeman Creameries, $3,648 for equipment for the liquor store; Fargo Food and Equipment, $1,688 for equipment for the liquor store; Philippi Equipment company, $925 for a street sander; and D. H. Stewart and Associates, $793.95 for services on the airport entrance road construction.

All members of the council were present at the meeting which was adjourned to Dec. 22.

Funeral services for Mrs. Thore Byklum were held Wednesday, Dec. 16 at 2 p.m. in Our Savior's Lutheran church at Grygla. The Sinding-Gulbranson funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Byklum died Sunday, Dec. 13, at Thief River Falls at the age of 79. She was born in Bykle Satesdal, Norway, Sept. 12, 1880 and came to Grand Forks, N. Dakota, in 1900. She was united in marriage to Ole Byklum on March 15, 1903, and was a charter member of Our Savior's Lutheran church and its ladies aid.

Surviving are her husband, three daughters and one son; Ole Byklum, Jr., of Grygla; Mrs. Gladys Kolshus of International Falls; Mrs. Anna Doeling of Edina, Minn.; Tilda Byklum of Grygla; three sisters and two brothers; Knute and Dreng Nesland of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Tillie Sabo of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Julia Dvergsten of Greenbush and Gunhild Byklum of Grygla; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Martin Grondahl Dies In Calif.

Martin Grondahl, a former resident of the Holt community, died suddenly at his home in San Diego, Calif., recently at the age of 71. Mr. Grondahl is a brother of Oliver Grondahl of this city.

No definite funeral arrangements have been made at this date, with Sinding Gulbranson funeral home in charge. The body will lie in state at the mortuary from Saturday afternoon. A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

Final Rites For Oline Bendickson To Be Held Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Oline Bendickson will be held today, Thursday, Dec. 17, at 2 p.m. at the Clearwater Lutheran church, north of Oklee. Officiating at the rites will be Rev. O. M. Simundson and Mrs. Wilhelm Peterson. Interment will be made in the church cemetery. The Green Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Bendickson died Sunday, Dec. 13, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 90. She was born Nov. 8, 1869 in Goodhue county, Minnesota. She came with her parents to Grafton, N. Dakota, when a young girl, where she was baptized, confirmed and grew to womanhood.

In 1898 she was united in marriage to Ole Bendickson at Grafton and following their marriage they moved to McIntosh where they lived a short time. Then they settled on a farm in Equality township, Red Lake county, where they lived many years. Since 1945 she has made her home with her sons and daughters except for the last years when she has been at the Hanson Rest Home in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Bendickson was a member of the Clearwater Lutheran church.

Surviving are one daughter; Mrs. Casper Hartman of Crookston; four sons, William of Minneapolis, Benjamin of Thief River Falls, Conrad of Trail, and Selmer of Oklee; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Birk of Grafton, Mrs. Anna Hemmingson of California and Mrs. Mathilda Williams of Grand Forks; three brothers, Levin of Bemidji, Henry of Grafton and Louis of McIntosh; 16 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband and two daughters.

Mack's CANDID COMMENT

BY V. M. DRAPER

Fifty six years ago today two brothers wheeled a flimsy machine out of a shed onto a monorail catapult built on the sands at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

Despite high winds that raw chilly day, after some preliminary testing of the engine one of the brothers laid across the bottom wing of the affair, opened the throttle of the engine, signaled for the catapult release and soared off on a flight of some 120 feet before alighting.

Regardless of what the Russians say, this short hop across the sands at Kitty Hawk is accepted as man's first flight in a powered airplane. Needless to say the flight, even though of only a few seconds duration, was a world's record.

The Wright brothers' feat fired the imagination of people in every country but our own and it wasn't until after other countries were far ahead of the U.S. in aviation development that Washington officialdom took note and finally purchased a plane—five years later!

With the exception of commercial air transport we have been behind in aviation many times since. We had no air force worth mentioning at the onset of World War I and even those planes we did have were unfit for combat. There was not one U.S.-built fighter or bomber at the front at any time during the war and the planes flown by our aces in those years were French or British designs. Capt. Eddy Rickenbacker flew a Spad 8 making his 26 kills.

The same thing held true at the beginning of the 1939-45 fracas, only this time we came up with some excellent planes and got them into production — all our aces in the last war flew ships made in the U.S. The F-51 "Mustang," P-47 "Thunderbolt," P-38 "Lightning," and the Navy F-4U "Corsair" were all better than the vaunted Spitfire of Battle of Britain fame, in most respects.

The sad part of this story is that we didn't have them until the late years of the war — had they been on hand in quantity in 1940 Hitler might possibly have been stopped cold. But, we had only the handful of early P-38 models while the others were not off the drawing boards! Britain found herself in nearly the same shape with only a handful of the new Spitfires to pit against the new at-that-time Luftwaffe. This was the only plane that could effectively wage war against the Germans.

Sadder still, is the fact it took a war to get our government off dead-center and contract for quality planes in any quantity.

In 1960 we find ourselves in the vanguard again, with the Russkys leading in rocket quality and quantity. We still have the top air transport equipment and networks—we have had this lead since Don Douglas came out with the DC-2 and DC-3 in the Thirties.

Our government is still in a muddle however. The bureaucrats have insisted on lumping all civilian flying into the same category so that it takes a millionaire, literally speaking, to own even the small Piper plane.

The fact of the matter is that private aviation should not have to live by the same standards as commercial aviation nor should private aviation be discriminated against in use of government financed aviation facilities.

Unfortunately, such is the case, especially so in the busier areas of our country. We, the pilots who fly the "light planes," have all manner of sins laid at our doorstep in the interests of "aviation safety" when actually those pointing the finger of accusation are doing so much as a means of covering their own shortcomings.

It wasn't a light plane and an airliner that collided over the Grand Canyon — it was two airliners. Yet the aviation administrators in Washington seem to think there is great danger of some small airplane getting up to the efficient operating altitude of the Boeing 707 and causing a collision.

It wasn't a light plane that skidded into several houses in Chicago last month, killing 11—but most of the safety regulations concerning safe flight altitudes over congested areas pertain only to light planes. A week or so after the Chicago crash a light plane crashed into a home in California. The pilot and passenger of the light plane died in the crash and ensuing fire, but the occupants of the house escaped injury and the fire was extinguished before the house was destroyed.

Yes, 56 years after Kitty Hawk the government still has its head in the sand as far as intelligent regulation of aviation is concerned. Probably, so long as the federal government has a hand in the regulation of general aviation (as set apart from commercial and military aviation) things will always be thus.

Had the same situation held true of the automobile, Henry Ford and some other car manufacturing notables might be lying in obscure cemeteries somewhere, unknown, unsung.

C'est la bureaucracy!

Former Trainman Here Serving on Convention Group

C. G. Buoen, a Soo Line employee and former resident of Thief River Falls, is serving on the national constitution committee for the 1960 convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

He has been a continuous member of the A. M. Senstad Lodge of BRT of this city since 1912, and served as local chairman from 1946 until he was elected general chairman in 1954.

A native son of this city, he served on the library board from 1918 to 1954. Mr. and Mrs. Buoen and their four daughters now reside at Robbinsdale.

Dairy Heifers

The most profitable dairy heifers are the ones that go to work early. If they've been fed properly, they should be ready to breed at 15 months.

A good deal of research and observation shows that to be true. Caring for unproducing heifers an extra six months can cut a dairyman's income, he says.

For example, a Wisconsin study shows that even by seven years of age, late-freshening heifers hadn't caught up in production with those freshened at 26 months. Cornell University research showed that heifers freshening at 23 to 25 months produced more in the first lactation than heifers freshing at 32 months of age. The young-freshening group averaged 38,107 pounds of milk at 57.5 months of age. The late-freshening heifers were 67.5 months old before they reached the same level of production.

In other words, the late-freshened animals had to be fed and cared for 10 months longer to get the same amount of milk from them.

Early calving calls for well-grown heifers. This in turn means good feeding and management. Heifers beyond the milk feeding stage don't need pampering, only good nutrition. Don't feed them heavily on grain. Fat heifers make poor milk cows.

Good roughage is the key to good heifers. After 6-9 months, they'll do all right on high quality roughage alone. Alfalfa or clover hay and corn silage is enough. But if the hay is less than top quality (and it usually is), give the heifers a simple grain mixture—but no more than 2-4 pounds per day. The mixture can be corn and oats, with a little bran and oil meal if the hay is poor. If the hay is quite good, corn and oats alone will do.

Heifers also need good management in the summer. With high quality pastures, they need little roughage or grain—if they are over a year old. Younger ones need some grain, though, to make normal gains.

They need shelter, but a shed is often better than the barn. Loose housing for yearling heifers is fine, but they need access to all the good hay and silage they'll eat.

Well-grown heifers are ready to breed at 15 months. Make it later only if they're under size or are being held to freshen at another season.

Artificial Breeding for Hogs

The day may not be far away when every topnotch boar will sire 20 times as many little pigs as he does now.

That should be possible thru artificial breeding—definitely in the future for the hog business.

This statement comes from researchers at the University of Minnesota.

They have found that Japanese semen collection methods are good enough for widespread use in swine. Still to be worked out are semen storage, processing and freezing methods.

Once it's here, artificial breeding will have many advantages to the swine industry. As with dairy bulls, semen from good boars will go farther. They can be used 12 months per year instead of six. Each one could sire some 8,000 pigs annually.

By comparison, one boar under average conditions can sire only 320 pigs for maket in a single year.

Also, good boars would be more readily available to smaller heards. Swine testing stations would become more important. Farmers would get more information on breeding. A larger percentage of the boars used could be "progeny-tested." And semen from one really good boar could be used for several years, even after his life is over.

Interest in artificial breeding is high. In a recent Midwest survey, 74 per cent of the farmers said they would use it in swine if service were available.

There are still some problems, though. Although scientists know how to efficiently collect semen, storage procedures and materials for extending and prolonging its life need to be refined. Methods used for cattle semen don't necessarily work with hogs. These problems, though, should be worked out in time.

It's not just dairy herd size that puts money in your pocket. What really counts is production per cow. A cow producing less than 200 pounds butterfat annually is just a barn warmer. It takes that much just to cover expenses—with no labor return. A cow producing 315 pounds on a grade A market returns you $100 for your labor. And a 450-pound producer returns twice as much.

Turkeys can stand cold weather, but not cold winds. So make sure your open yard has some wind protection. A board fence is fine. And a small, well-bedded yard is better than a large one poorly-bedded.

Ormond Johnson Is renamed Band Head

Alvin Anderson Director of Legion Municipal Band

Following the regular rehearsal of the Legion-municipal band Monday evening, the group held its annual meeting with election of officers as the main item of business.

Ormond Johnson was reelected president for a second term. Curtis Harris was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Laverda Peters. Band director Alvin Anderson was unanimously re-appointed as director by a voice vote of the members.

President Johnson commended Anderson for his hard work toward keeping the band as a functioning group. After the meeting, lunch was served by the American Legion. Charles Rodekuhr, Legion commander, was present as a special guest.

the New Year's holiday. It will reach its peak, the organization said, from Dec. 21-25.

Theme of the month-long effort, which will emphasize the need for safety on the nation's streets and highways, is: "For a Merry Christmas—make it safe!"

"One sure and simple way to help make your holiday safe," Langlie pointed out, "is to do away with the office which relies on the bottle for its fun.

"Take care of yourself and your family this Christmas," Langlie urged. "Above all, remember the Golden Rule. It will help you have a safe and merry holiday."

Six Cars Damaged to Extent of $875 in Crashes in TRF

Hendrum Man Tagged for Careless Driving after Running into Parked Car

An estimated $875 damages was caused to the six cars involved in three traffic mishaps in the city since Monday, police reported today. Fortunately, there were no personal injuries.

Monday at 11:57 a.m. Carl M. Sheffer, city, made a left turn off E. Third st. onto LaBree av. and stopped just across the crosswalk to discharge a passenger. His car was struck by another car driven in the same direction by Fred C. Wilde, rt. 3, causing an estimated $70 damages to the Wilde car, $5 to Sheffer's.

The case is still under investigation.

An accident at 8:10 p.m. Monday was reported to police. A car driven by Mrs. Donna Hunt, city, who was making a left turn off W. Seventh st. onto Main av. was hit in the right-rear fender and door by a truck driven north on Main by Johnny T. Nelson, Holt, causing $300 damage to the Hunt car, $25 damage to the truck.

No tags were issued as both vehicles had been moved before police arrived at the scene, police said.

At 10:47 Tuesday a car driven by James H. Canning, Jr., Hendrum, who was going south on Tindolph av. N., skidded and hit a parked car belonging to Charles W. Ellingson, rt. 1, which was at 319 Tindolph av. N. Damage to Canning's car was $300, to Ellingson's, $175. Canning was tagged for driving too fast for conditions.

Sam Hauge named to Milk Council

Sam Hauge of East Grand Forks, proprietor of the Valley Dairy store in Thief River Falls, recently was elected a member of the board of directors of the Minnesota State Milk Council at its state convention in Minneapolis. He succeeds Earl Glidden of Hallock.

Reinforced polyester facings which provide a smooth, tile-like surface have made possible the wide use of cement and cinder blocks for interior surfaces of playrooms and laundryrooms.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

(December 17)

Pursuant to adjournment the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on November 23, 1959, at eight o'clock P.M. All members were present.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution authorizing and directing prepayment before December 1, 1959 of Storm Sewer Improvement Bonds of 1959, maturing in the years 1978 and 1979 aggregating $25,000 in accordance stipulation in bid of Juran & Moody, Inc., St. Paul, Minnesota, accepted on October 15, 1959 and moved its adoption. Alderman Lee seconded such motion. The roll was called on the question and all members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was thereupon declared passed and adopted.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution accepting the bid of Tunberg Motor Company, Thief River Falls, for Police Patrol Motor Car, with trade in of present equipment at a net bid of $1,523.50 and moved adoption. Alderman Lee seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution establishing as of November 1, 1959, the salary of Margaret Kellburg, in the office of the Clerk, at $210.00 per month and moved its adoption, being seconded by Dahlen. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Bill Ekstrand and Calvin Ripley of Ace Hardware and Ripley Plumbing and Heating Company appeared before the Board with respect to statements which they had received for repair of streets subsequent to such firms making water and sewer connections. Their complaint was ordered referred to a committee of Aldermen Lee and Rau for recommendation prior to the next Council meeting.

There was read a letter of City Attorney Wurst relative to adjustments of Special Assessments for Storm Sewer Construction and the same was filed.

Alderman Dahlen moved that the Clerk be directed to advise Commissioner of Highways and Commissioner of Administration of the State of Minnesota, that the Council would hold a Hearing in said City on the 15th of December, 1959, at eight o'clock P.M. to pass upon the proposed assessment for Storm Sewer Construction in the amount of $3330.74 against the State of Minnesota, property involved being approximately 2.87 acres in NE¼ SW¼, Section 34, Twp. 154, N. Range 43 of the Fifth Principal Meridian, being seconded by Honebrink and motion was carried.

Alderman Benson then moved adjournment to November 25th at eight o'clock P.M., being seconded by Rau and meeting was declared so adjourned.

Thurs., Dec. 17

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Pursuant to adjournment the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on November 30, 1959 at eight o'clock P.M. with all members present.

Homer Matheson of Homer Matheson & Company, Certified Public Accountants, Grand Forks, N. D. was present and presented a proposal to conduct an audit of the records and affairs of the City for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1959 and the matter was discussed at length. Alderman Benson introduced a resolution accepting said proposal in accordance with the terms and conditions specified and moved adoption. Alderman Rau seconded adoption. The roll was called on the question and all members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was then declared passed and adopted.

Alderman Honebrink moved that the action of the Council of November 17, 1959, which authorized the purchase of a rotary snow plow from Thibert Chevrolet Company, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, for the sum of $3,000, be rescinded due to the fact that a trial of said equipment had indicated that the same was unsatisfactory. Alderman Dahlen seconded such motion which was adopted by unanimous vote.

Alderman Honebrink then introduced a resolution that a rotary plow be purchased from Amundgaard Implement Company, Thief River Falls, for the sum of $570.00 and that a White Truck, 5-ton, be purchased from Farm Equipment Company, Grand Forks, N. D. for the sum of $750.00 and moved its adoption. Alderman Dahlen seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Representatives of Junior Civic & Commerce were present and requested that the Council take action in condemnation of the property directly east of the Eight Street Bridge which had been under consideration for purchase to provide a way-side parking area, total cost of which was stated to be $4500, with County donation of $1500; Junior Chamber of Commerce $600 and City the balance. The matter was ordered laid over to December 15, 1959.

The Council then proceeded with further consideration of the tax levy for the year 1960 expenditures, after which the meeting was declared adjourned.

Grand Forks Sextet Edges Prowlers 3 to 2

A big and strong-skating Grand Forks Canadian Soo Junior hockey team defeated the Thief River Falls Prowlers 3 to 2 on the schedule-opening hockey game played on the ice here on Tuesday night, scoring a 3 to 2 win over the locals.

The Prowlers will meet coach Bill Sullivan's Crookston Cathedrals next here Friday night, and will then journey to Grand Forks the night after Thanksgiving. Thief River Falls Broncos will play the Crookston five there, also.

A preliminary game, between the Pioneers of Grand Forks and the Crookston Cathedrals, will get underway at 7:30 p.m. with the main event billed for 8:30 p.m.

In Tuesday night's game, played here on heavy ice, Grand Forks moved into a 2 to 0 lead at the 4:36 mark of the first period when Craig Simmons, the Pioneer center, scored on a pass from Wayne Hamilton with a 25-foot shot that picked the long corner of the net for a goal. The Pioneers, at the 6:46 mark, eventually ran the count to 3-0 when Dale Wannberg, picking up the puck after Fred Howell had taken the puck off from the boards, whipped a quick shot past goalie Dave Moen.

After a merciless second period, coach Sergio Gambucci's Redskins moved into a 3 to 1 lead at the 8:32 mark of the third period when Wayne Hamilton got his second goal of the game, from outside the goal crease. The Prowlers rallied down the game's final tally when Ron Wells, with Eddie Holmes and Wannberg assisting, flipped a backhand shot past the goalie and into the north cage at the 14:30 mark.

The summaries:

Thief River Falls (2, 0, 0)
Goal—Wells, Holmes, Wannberg. Assists—Wells, Holmes, Wannberg. Penalties—Wannberg, Holmes, Howell, Boehm, Hamilton, Wells, Moen.

Goal—Simmons, Hamilton, Moen. Assists—Hamilton, Simmons, Moen. Penalties—Howell, Boehm, Hamilton, Moen, Wilson, Wolf, Mayasich, Wilson, Wolf.

An Early Test

Coach Hartley Nay's basketball Prowlers, winners of their first three games, will get another test on Friday when they travel to Crookston for a date against coach Al Drawe's defending district champs from Crookston, suffering grievous injury to their pride in the 1958 season opener here.

Coach Harley Nay's Prowlers, Roger McWaters, Ken Deboer, Dick Dixon, and Ron Hamelin, has been experiencing a season of season, having won 2 pair of games and lost a couple. The Prowlers defeated Bemidji 57 to 52, by nine points, and East Grand Forks, by six points.

Coach Drawe's Cathedrals have a four-game winning streak going against the Prowlers. Early in the 1957-58 season the Prowlers journeyed to the Crookston city and to his everlasting sorrow, coach Drawe's Cathedrals won the game. The Prowlers rallied down the game's final tally when Dahle, with Hamelin assisting, and Wennberg assisting, flipped a backhand shot past the goalie and into the north cage at the 14:30 mark.

Big Year Ahead

Coach Drawe's Cathedrals have a big year ahead of them, with the Warroad Lakers, undoubtedly the strongest team in the district hockey team in Minnesota, and the winners of the last district Minnesota hockey league championship the past two seasons, will again be the class of the district and will open their season here on Friday night, December 4, at 8:00 p.m. when they meet the East Grand Forks Canadians.

With such players as Roger and Billy Christian, Gord Pettinelli, Chuck Lysenko, Gerry Saraiya, and Ed Krynanowski on the squad, the Lakers will be well-equipped to take the annual hockey title in Minnesota and the state championship.

Jay Armstrong's Denver University squad.

On Sunday, Jan. 31, the U. S. Olympic team will meet the Warroad Lakers at Warroad, and on Tuesday, Feb. 4, the Czecho-Slovak Olympic team will meet the Lakers at Warroad. The U. S. Olympic team at Warroad will be of particular interest as a counter of the Russian Olympic squad.

Coach Bill Christian will bring members of coach Jack Riley's Minnesota State squad.

Skeslicki's Be Disappointed

Coach Hartley Nay's Prowlers, naturally, were disappointed in losing their season-opening game to the Grand Forks Redskins Tuesday night, and for a time, the coach's wife feared that the Prowlers wouldn't feel too disappointed at losing to coach Sergio Gambucci's squad.

Grand Forks will give five hockey program, bringing the boys up from Minnesota's intra-state competition hockey set-up, and when the Prowlers meet the Pioneers here on Friday they are ready to try out coach Gambucci's defense of things. For instance, on Tuesday night the Redskins had, as their second line, a trio composed of center Ken Skeslicki, flanked by Ron Wells and Ron Howell. This line played with Manny Bertsch's Grand Forks Pee-Wees in last season's national Pee-Wee hockey tournament, and it's a couple seasons ago they will be around to teeter the pair over Sweden.

Gambucci was a gracious winner in defeat, and when explaining that the heavy ice that prevailed favored his team. And that may have been true as the Redskins, bigger and stronger than the Prowlers, had top advantage in skating and checking, but Gambucci didn't intend to let defeat be a glum goalie Dave Moen plenty of protection in front of the Grand Forks cage.

"I was encouraging to see the spirit and aggressiveness that it was exhibited by the Prowlers," second line of Larry Foote, Tom Teal, and Dennis Erickson. This line was especially impressive in that they used straight skating style of hockey, and showed favorable comments to be noted. And that was a fine crowd that was in attend.

Grand Forks will play Warroad Lakers, state high school hockey champions, and the Redskins are hoping for some ice.

Jorde Rink Defeated Roy Olson Rink in 1st Event Finals Monday

The Clifford Jorde, Jerry Amundgaard, and Lee Nelson rinks won their respective event finals matches in the bonspiel that was completed at the Fair Grounds curling rink on Monday night.

The Jorde rink, with Mr. Leonard (Skillet) Furseth at lead, Hank Schulte at second, Cliff Jorde at third, and Leonard Furseth at skip, defeated the Roy (Ursan) Olson rink in the finals by a score of 14 to 8 in seven ends. The Olson foursome made opportunity to force the match into an extra end, netting by an 8 to 7 score with skip Roy Olson's last rock. Olson's rink made a total of things for runners-up through the house.

The Jerry Amundgaard rink defeated the Curt Johnson rink, 15 to 7 in seven ends, in the consolation finals. Amundgaard, having lost rock, scoring a count-four, and also defeated the Curt (Spanky) Sullivan's St. Bernard rink, 4 to 3, in another extended hockey league game played on the couple nights previous.

In the other league gamb-lings played on Saturday, the North-ern Indians defeated the Knut Tigers, 3 to 0.

Conservation of Wild Life Is Parley Topic

Wildlife conservation authorities bring back-to their homes in the U. S. and Canada after attending the 21st Midwest Wild life Conference in Minneapolis Dec. 7-9 were more impressive after hearing some plain talk about their responsibilities.

Over 500 men in attendance at the conference which, this year is scheduled to be held in Toronto, Canada.

"Laws, both state and federal, are not keeping pace with the knowledge being gained about wildlife. The very resource upon which the whole conservation effort is being legally desired, filled, dredged, polluted and otherwise destroyed," said Raymond Hoke, Minneapolis attorney, in talking to the general session.

Hoke, a recent Rhodes scholar charged it was high time that the true facts about the economic value of wildlife and the revenues it attracted be publicized to the Congress, legislature and the people. "We have to have a plan in the future."

"Frightening" was the word some of the speakers used in referring to the tremendous use being made of pesticides and herbicides. Over 1 billion pounds of these chemicals are being used on farms each year in the U. S. "We may be creating an ecological monster in the near future," was the speaker referred to the future use of pesticides and herbicides.

"Brink" summed up the water level situation on the underground water, federal, provincial and state agencies carried out into the plight and problems of the underground water.

An encouraging note was sounded for the future of forest game which is expected to be the last to feel the full effects of the vast changes to be wrought during the last half of this Century.

Positive report presented by the Minnesota Department of Conservation on Minnesota's deer herd.

A possible merger of the two ecological professional societies representing fish and wildlife management men in the offing according to word coming out of the meeting. Both groups have been meeting jointly for several years. Should such a merger come about, a meeting of the two groups would be called into a joint meeting of these groups is scheduled in the near future.

M.W. Thurber Reports
Earnings over $4,000,000

Farmers Union Grain Terminal Assn. (GTA) handled 27 per cent more grain this fiscal year than in the previous year, M. W. Thurber, president and general manager, told grow-former patrons the best year in the grain business in the organization's history.

Thurber's report was presented Monday to the more than 4,000 patrons attending the annual meeting of the Farmers Union locals in North and Minnesota for the GTA's seventh annual business session.

General Manager M. W. Thurber reported on the year's business at the annual meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Assn. (GTA) held in the Minneapolis Auditorium. Thurber said that the 27 per cent more grain this fiscal year than in the previous year is the result of the confidence farmers have in the GTA and its performance record.

Net earnings for the year were $4,000,000, Thurber said, and the organization's net worth now stands at $17,000,000.

Thurber said that the GTA has been able to pay patronage refunds on all grain delivered to the association during the year.

Editorials . . .

"I believe that a free society will survive only on ideals that are always beyond human attainment—ideals which bear only an imperfect relation to the world in which we live or to the world we may ever expect to know. It is the function of liberal education to introduce the student to himself and to this kind of world, for liberal education is concerned with man's chief purpose, which is the creation and preservation of values. This is what gives meaning to our civilization and ultimate significance to the individual human life. This means that education must be both moral and intellectual; it means that the educated person cannot live detached from the moral issues being decided in his day. It is not easy to teach moral values in the society where the highest value is not honesty but success; yet this is the task that confronts us."

—Laurence M. Gould

Want To Argue?

Ralph Keyes, executive secretary of the Minnesota County Commissioners Association, has declared himself in favor of the appointment of county treasurers by the commissioners. The idea has considerable merit, but, in our opinion, the present treasurers have no reason for being alarmed about the prospect. The change is not likely to be made soon.

Students of government are generally agreed that county government needs to be reorganized. There are too many elective officials, each maintaining a small independent kingdom of his own, with a lack of centralized authority and control that makes for inefficiency. There is need for an administrative head, elected or selected, responsible mainly to the county commissioners.

The need for reorganization is most urgent in the smaller counties such as ours, where several (how many is several?) of the elected officials do not have enough to do to justify their salaries.

In a county such as ours consideration should be given to possible economies that might be effected by a reorganization of both city and county government. In our county, for all practical purposes, the city limits might well be extended out to the county limits and the area reorganized as a city-county. Overlapping of several costly services could be eliminated under such an arrangement.

Anybody want to argue about it?

3-M Headquarters To Remain

The Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Company has announced plans to build a $10 million, 14 story headquarters building at its suburban plant east of St. Paul, and that is good news for all of us. The 3-M organization, a native of our state, is one of the nation's great industries. Since its organization on a small scale 57 years ago it has doubled and redoubled in size many times.

Its growth has been due largely to the development of new products. In this process of growth most of the company's production facilities have been developed in other states and there has been speculation as to whether the home office would eventually be moved. That is why the announcement that the headquarters will remain here is so encouraging.

The growth of the company and its development of many new products is atributed to the fact that over a period of many years from four to four and one-half per cent of its profits have been plowed back into research. The new development envisions laboratories, pilot plants, service and office buildings spaced over a tract of 265 acres of land.

Proper Criticism

Byron Allen, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food, has questioned the manner in which federal agencies are conducting their activities in the enforcement of health regulations. He issued a statement Friday criticising Secretary of Welfare Flemming's method of performing his regulatory duties by means of press conferences.

"It has been only since the passage of the so-called Delaney amendment to the food and drug act that the press conference and fear technique adopted by Secretary Flemming has been used to replace sound testing and administrative procedures for guarding the public health," Allen stated.

His criticism was prompted by Flemming's public announcement that the sale of a specialized type of roasting chicken known as a "caponette" has been discontinued because it has been treated with a drug that experts think can induce cancer.

In spite of government food and drug administration assurances that there is no cause for alarm, the sale of poultry, including turkeys, has dropped noticeably, and Mr. Allen is properly concerned about the interests of poultry producers. If there is no cause for alarm why sound the alarm?

"The first such press conference was so timed as to practically wreck the cranberry industry," Allen said. "This latest event is so timed as to throw fear into the hearts of American housewives just as they are about to purchase poultry for the holiday table."

Byron Allen's criticism is justified. He understandably wonders if ham is going to be condemned just before Easter and if fruit and vegetable farmers can expect their produce to be condemned on the eve of the canning season.

No one will object to strict enforcement of regulations that are proven to be in the interests of public health and safety, regardless of cost. Warnings are proper when there are reasonable doubts. But the manner in which the welfare authorities have handled these matters in recent weeks raises a very reasonable doubt as to the capacity of Mr. Flemming to administer properly an office that gives him so much power to destroy as well as to protect.

They Have Asked For It

Senator Estes Kefauver and his investigating subcommittee have revealed enough information about pricing practices in the drug industry to justify a more thorough inquiry into the operations. The subcommittee disclosures probably should not be accepted as conclusive. We may assume that the disclosures have stressed the sensational. But there are enough admitted facts to indicate that the public has been duped, and a more thorough study certainly is justified.

The drug industry is especially vulnerable because a large portion of its products are sold to the recipients of public assistance and paid for by the taxpayers. The medical profession has a special interest in this problem and a special responsibility. The steadily increasing cost of public assistance can be attributed in large measure to increased cost of medical care and medicine. For all practical purposes the medical profession has been given a free hand in this field and a blank check to draw on public funds. The disclosures therefore have strengthened the position of those who advocate socialized medicine.

Under the circumstances the public has a right to expect the cooperation of the medical profession in correcting the abuses that apparently have been common practice in the drug industry. Socialized medicine does not appeal to us, but we are getting dangerously close to it. If it comes it will be because the drug industry and the medical profession have asked for it.

School in Summer

(San Bernardino Daily Sun)

Here's a surprising trend in California education: Summer school is attracting more high school students each year. The State Dept. of Education reports one out of every four public high school students was enrolled in classes during the 1959 summer. Educators pointed out there were 157 school districts offering summer classes in 1959, as compared to 116 last year.

Perhaps young persons are realizing the folly of wasting precious time in an age unparalleled in scientific discovery. It seems reasonable to conclude that many youngsters do not desire a three-month break in the continuity of their study patterns. Other boys and girls are not content to accept the vacation bonus time, especially when part-time jobs are difficult to find.

One would prefer to believe that the United States possibly is entering a renaissance of learning. Statistics in California's 1959 summer school enrollment favorably indicate this possibility. Mathematics was the most popular subject on the curriculum, while English, social studies, science and foreign languages classes attracted well over one-half the total class enrollment.

San Bernardino County's summer school classes in 1959 drew 5,950 students. This outstanding enrollment gave the county fourth place in the Golden State.

School districts which take the time to prepare attractive summer class course offerings and which budget the necessary funds to carry on such worthwhile endeavors are to be commended

No Fun Raising Funds

(Ferndale (Calif.) Farmer

We want to warn the fund raisers—Mama is getting mad. This past year she has been asked to tramp around the neighborhood to collect money to help research more disease than either of us ever knew existed.

It's getting so the neighbors hate to answer the door. And for all the buckets of cash going out we personally would like to know what results are being obtained. It would be excellent public relations if once in a while we would receive some word that due to our generosity a big breakthrough had been obtained. For example . . . that Francis K. Ottoman, the eminent psycho analyst, had finally straightened out the confused flour beetle, thanks to the funds you donated to the Confused Flour Beetle Non Profit Corporation.

But seriously, Mama says she is not going to hustle the neighbors anymore. As Shakespeare said, "A loan oft loses both itself and friend" and many of Mama's friends are telling her to get lost when she shows up with her never-ending stories of dire need.

Once upon a time we lumped our needs into one super drive called the United Crusade. But a few prominent diseases with prominent high pressure P.R. men decided they could do better doing their own begging and they did so well that a whole host of diseases followed their lead and broke away from the Crusade.

We are just warning the disease merchants. They are about to kill off the goose. Mama is about killed off, and our neighborhood is getting to be pretty poor pickin's.

Drivers Urged to Act to Insure Visibility

Be sure you can see and be seen, was the winter safety driving plea issued today by Mark Blackmun, chief of the highway department's safety promotion section.

"Motorists will have more years of driving in darkness during the next several weeks than during any other season of the year," Blackmun pointed out. "Therefore it is imperative that everything that can be done to enable the driver to see hazards ahead, and for other drivers approaching to be warned of approaching cars, be done. Sometimes a person can't see with front car lamps with improper adjustments, with less than minimum strength, or with which makes the fish available next year.

The greatest need for more and better knowledge. The major goal of research is to develop methods of producing ever greater yields of fish and game without reducing the total game fish population each year. Biggest bargain in Thief River Falls: A year's subscription to the Times, only $4.00 a year in Northwestern Minnesota; $5.50 a year elsewhere.

Canada has 241 all other countries in the production of nickel since 1905.

dangerous to everyone on the highway. Just as dangerous is the driver who can't see and be seen because of poor vision. Therefore it is imperative that everything that can be done to enable the driver to see hazards ahead, and for other drivers approaching to be warned of approaching cars. but make a simple inspection of his own vehicle on a regular basis.

The state safety promotion chief explained that the highway department has been busy throughout the state at regular intervals to remove the dangerous vehicles from the highways in addition the drivers service stations are urged to inspect their vehicles to safe operating condition at all times.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota by Jim Kjelgaard

Today's readers, listeners and lookers are extremely being concerned with the conservation of our human population as it will not have enough land evidence to the mass of data which proves we are going to have more and more people each year. This, in turn, means that we must increase the management of the great fish and wildlife resource which is of such tremendous importance to the people of Minnesota and their guests. Approximately 80 percent of our 10,000 lakes are suitable for fishing, and this portion as a source of livelihood, outdoor recreation—the one commodity of which there is the least short supply and great demand.

In planning resource usage, we must realize that we have only a limited amount of land that will have a shorter or work week and more leisure time. Each year, we will increase the need for catching, shooting and other forms of harvesting the crop. Along with this demand for more, we have forces at work which are depleting the environment so necessary to produce fish and game.

Intensified agriculture, drainage, pollution, and the ever increasing take of game and fish are taking their toll which must be offset by habitat. Our ponds and lakes are being invaded not only by the natural enemy of fish, but pollution and siltation and these are destroying the natural habitat and its produce water for cities and factories power, navigation, and to control floods by utilizing and producing fish and ducks.

Thus, with the prevailing demand for fish and wildlife, plus the ever increasing threat to their continued existence, we must produce them, the future of hunting and fishing in Minnesota could be a sad one to be doomed. If not doomed, it certainly will be greatly restricted in quantity and quality of the sport we enjoy today. It is at this point that our conservation agencies take place without forthright action on our part.

The situation does appear hopeless, but formulating research and modern technology are providing the answers to many situations. At the present time, we are maintaining relatively good hunting and fishing with a very meager investment in the research, management and production of these resources. With a minimum investment in research, we are seeking nature in maintaining her bountiful production.

These management techniques need nature in providing more game and fish and more recreation for you. We have the knowledge enough to predict the crop of future needs. For example, at the present time we are spending about $1.00 per acre per year in the management of our forests and about $.25 cents an acre per year in managing our game.

We know that game and fish production could, at the present time, be increased two or three fold if we were to go into an intensive management plan. We would be willing to put 15 times as much as the present cost. For example, we are spending about $50 per acre per year in managing our deer population on trust lakes, but this intensive management could produce a very high yields per acre.

Our present management is comparable in both costs and results to the management of our forests. If we are to have the most substantially more game and fish in the future, we must have more management must be shown as that of farming than forestry. At the present time for forestry we spends about $2.00 for each fish and hunters, but only $.25 of this $2.00 goes into the management

THE BEST CHRISTMAS OF ALL

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Isaiah	4	2
Monday	Luke	2	7-11
Tuesday	Luke	2	12-16
Wednesday	Luke	2	17-21
Thursday	Matthew	2	1-6
Friday	Matthew	2	10-12
Saturday	Luke	1	46-55

Mommy said that this year I could help trim the tree, if I'd be very careful. The ornaments are so shiny and bright, and it's such fun to decide where to put them.

Mommy let me help fix our little crèche, too. I put in the figure of the Christ Child and He looked so pretty . . . all sort of pink and gold.

We fixed the creche first because Mommy said that we must always remember that Christmas is, first of all, the Christ Child's birthday. When we finish trimming the tree, Mommy is going to read us the story about the first Christmas . . . about the shepherds and the angels . . . about the Wise Men and their star . . . about the little Jesus, born in Bethlehem, in a manger.

Mommy's told me the story before but she says that this year I'm big enough to stay up with the rest and hear her read it. And, of course, we'll go to Church, and Mommy says I can carry my fur muff.

I think this is going to be the best Christmas I've ever had!

"Days Gone By"

Erick Renstrom brought some old pictures downtown Monday and one of them was of Wm. Hanson's store taken 50 years ago. In those days there was more business in small towns than there is now as they could not rush to Thief River Falls for groceries. The store was packed full of clothing and groceries. A pile of coats was in the foreground, an old fashioned hand-operated washing machine, handkerchiefs and stockings hung on strings from light fixtures or ceiling. A collar for horse or oxen hung on a hook. The store had been built in 1907 by a Mr. Addy and the lighting was gas. Mr. Addy was in the picture with some other gentleman I don't remember. Christine Tell was a clerk there and Miss Anderson, the first teacher in Strandquist who taught in the mission church.

City Election

The results of the village election held Tuesday, Dec. 8, were as follows: Clarence Borsvold, mayor; Ted Kimbrough, trustee; Ed Carlson, treasurer; Otto Paulson, clerk; Philip Boen, justice of the peace; Donald Bernhardson, constable. Thirty-seven votes were cast. No candidate had filed. The judges were Wm. Wikstrom, Erhard Bjorkman and Andrew Lagerquist.

New School Opened

There were a lot of happy youngsters last Thursday when school was dismissed at noon so equipment could be moved into the new building. Friday afternoon the high school students were moved in from the village hall, churches and implement building. The young people should really appreciate the efforts their parents are making to provide them with a good education after their experience of running from one building to another for classes. A good many citizens were willing workers helping to get organized. We have a beautiful building approved by the state board of education. The hot lunch program won't start before the middle of January as all the kitchen appliances haven't come yet. I understand there will be a lot of visitors from other states as well as Minnesota that are interested in a building project for other schools.

4-H Christmas Party

The Smiley 4-H held its regular meeting as a Christmas party Dec. 8. During the business meeting, it was decided to give a $1 donation to CARE. Club members will go caroling Dec. 19.

The program presented by Orrin Helgeland included community singing; a demonstration by Nancy Newton on making a Christmas centerpiece; a project talk by Sharon Knutson on Safe Use of Electricity; and a talk by Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, explaining how to make a variety of Christmas decorations.

Nelda Lea Nelson reported on her trip to the Chicago Congress. While there she, together with 31 other Minnesota 4-H'ers, stayed at the Conrad Hilton Hotel and visited parts of Chicago including Henrici's, the famous restaurant; the Prudential building, which has the fastest elevators in the world and many other places of interest. They were guests of different sponsors at special banquets of breakfast, lunch and dinner in the Grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton and at the Palmer House. The meals were delicious and the entertainment at each banquet was excellent.

Following the program, the members enjoyed a gift exchange. Each member also received a gift from the club besides a bag of Christmas treats. Nelda Lea Nelson was in charge of recreation. Lunch was served by the club members. The next meeting will be January 12.

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hammer and Mr. and Mrs. Gunsten Skreland of Goodridge went to Moorhead where they attended the Concordia choir Christmas concert. Later that evening, they were coffee guests at the C. H. Berg home in Moorhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson enjoyed a lutefisk supper at the church supper in St. Hilaire Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wold of Sanders and Mrs. Woodrow Craig and children of Thief River Falls visited at the B. B. Hammer home Sunday. Evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Nelson of Thief River Falls.

Bruno Belswenger, Adam Lendobeja, Lawrence Philipp, all of Smiley, and Bernard Myers of Silverton, left Sunday for Minneapolis where they attended the GTA convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Nelson and Kurt were Sunday visitors at the Ed VanderStreek home at St. Hilaire. Others there were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morehouse of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Edward VanderStreek and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Cameron, Wis., returned home Tuesday after being employed the past two weeks at the Otis Miller home.

Thursday shoppers in Grand Forks were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lendobeja of Kratka and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja.

Good Hope F. U. To Meet

The Good Hope Farmers Union will meet at the Smiley hall Saturday, Dec. 19. A good program has been planned.

Mrs. Maurice Newton and Marcia returned home Saturday after spending a few days in St. Paul where little Marcia received medical aid. They also visited with Andine Newton and Ida Bjorge.

Callers at the Norton Nelson home Saturday were Mrs. K. S. Knutson and Gayle who brought birthday greetings to Lois Nelson who celebrated her birthday Sunday.

Bethany Christmas Program

The Bethany Sunday school will give its annual Christmas program Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 8 p.m. at the church.

Leaders Council Has Party

Those from Smiley attending the annual Christmas party of 4-H leaders council held at the meeting room of the court house were Orrin Helgeland, Bobby McCrum, Sharon Knutson, Nancy Newton, Nelda Lea Nelson, Mrs. Maurice Newton, Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and Mrs. Norton Nelson. The Silverton and Mavie clubs were in charge of recreation and refreshments. Richard Parnow of the Kratka club reported on his trip to Chicago and Nelda Lea Nelson gave a report of her attendance at the Chicago Congress. Mrs. George Breznay showed slides taken in Chicago by Ernest and Marie Breznay.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Cameron, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Miller were Monday evening dinner guests at the McCrum home.

Sunday guests at the J. W. Lendobeja home were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Skjerven and Lisa of Michigan, N. D., and Mrs. Alton Jorde and Lori of Drayton, N. D.

Mrs. Walter Lendobeja and Mrs. Florian Szymanski left for Fargo Saturday where they spent the weekend visiting with relatives. They returned to their homes Monday with Mrs. Harold Hoff, who spent a few days visiting at the Lendobeja homes.

MAVIE . . .

Mrs. Emil Sanders attended the meeting and Christmas party at the court house Tuesday afternoon. This party was for the Pennington County Homemakers and councelors.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bendickson and family visited at the Henry Panek home on Friday evening.

TRAGEDY STRUCK the Paul Engquist family of Grygla last Thursday when Mrs. Ellen Englund, wife and mother, was killed, and a son, Jerry, critically injured in a car-train crash about six miles southwest of Thief River Falls.

Shown here are the remains of the 1952 Chevrolet Engquist was driving when it was struck by a Soo Line freight train about 3 p.m. last Thursday, approximately two miles west of the Sinclair cardlot. Most damage was done to the right side of the car, which was virtually skewed away.

In the upper right corner of the photo is the railroad crossing where the accident occurred. Looking down the distance Mrs. Englund was carried some 200 feet before coming to rest in the ditch near her husband's feet in Mrs. Englund's body, which has been removed at the time the picture was taken.

Grygla Woman Killed in Crash

A grade crossing crash Thursday between a car and a Soo Line freight train claimed the life of a Grygla woman and injured a son, both in critical injuries at the Sinclair cardlot, two miles west of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Ellen Englund, 45, wife of Emil Englund, Grygla, was killed outright when the Engquist family car was struck by a Soo Line freight at 3 p.m. Thursday. Approximately two miles west of the Sinclair cardlot on the Viking road.

Her son, Jerry, was taken to Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls with serious head injuries and internal injuries. He was transferred late Thursday afternoon in the family's hospital in Fargo for further observation and treatment.

Sheriff Oscar Erickson of Warren, the investigating officer, said the Englunds overlooked the left front of the locomotive and the train struck the center of the car, demolishing the rear end and sideswiping it.

Mrs. Englund's body was thrown some distance from the car while Jerry was closer. Sheriff states indicated the crash occurred desperately to save the child. The car, according to the coroner, dragging it sideways with it on the side of the road from which the train was approaching so that the occupants of a westbound car would not be struck by the train when a train could be seen.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Englund will be held today, Dec. 21, at 2 p.m. at Our Saviour's Lutheran church at Grygla. Rev. Arthur Dale officiated at the last rites. Interment will be in the Sinclair cemetery. The Sinclair-Gulbranson funeral home was in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Englund was born Nov. 30, 1913, at Grygla, where she at once moved until 1918 when she moved with her parents to South Dakota. In 1935 she returned to Grygla and March 16, 1935 she was united in marriage with Emil Englund. They made their home on a farm near there.

She was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith at Our Saviour's Lutheran church and in the same faith.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters and four sons: Shirley, Betty, Galen, Jerry and Kenneth, all of Grygla; and a brother, Ingvald Ness of Fort Dodge. Mrs. Louie Woods of Montana, one sister, Lillian of Montana, four brothers, Emil Ness of Wood and Evan, all of Montana and Arthur Ness of Chicago, Ill.

Street Dept. Operation Is Council Topic

Budget-balancing Effort Continued at Session Dec. 17

Discussion of street department operations in 1959 occupied much of the city council's time during a special session Thursday evening, Dec. 17.

While arriving at an authorized tax levy of 45.32 mills for 1960, the subject of budget items again came up and, following discussion by Bob Crichton, council member, a motion by the group was authorized with the budget as it is, Alderman Sam Holbrook voted against the motion and Alderman Ed Lee abstained. The motion was passed by the remaining four members present.

This again set off a discussion between Alderman A. J. Sorby and Roy Lee on the operation and purchasing of the street department. Included were the subjects of the purchase of an 8-ton truck and other equipment purchased, and various figures; pro-rated statements of expenditures and estimates and assessed valuations were offered by the auditor to assist for the board's consideration.

It was erroneously reported in the story of the Dec. 10 meeting that the council had approved the budget and levied the tax. Actually no levy will rate the." It was the budget was approved and levied with Alderman Sam in the negative and Alderman Holbrook with three opposition at the public hearing on the budget. Alderman Holbrook explained that the obligation bonds coming due in 1960 would increase the city's financial troubles.

Also discussed by department heads was the increase in the number of non-resident pupils in the various departments to operate efficiently. Alderman Sam Holbrook then suggested that the mill rate be raised to 50 mills and that the non-resident tuition be increased accordingly.

Following council approval of the anticipated mill levy at 45.32 mills, the observation was made that the new council would probably have to raise the mill rate in the budget year.

The council will meet again Tuesday night, Dec. 22, for the second reading of the amendment to the sewer ordinance, the liquor ordinance and to transact other business.

3 Tracts Sold at Annual Forfeited Tax Sale Friday

Betty Forhart Wed To D. Molskness Friday

Nuptial vows were exchanged Friday afternoon, Dec. 18, at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist church parsonage by Miss Betty Forhart and Donald Molskness, both of Thief River Falls.

The bride is a daughter of Hasson Forhart and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Molskness, all of this city.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Donald Dalzell with Mrs. Dalzell at the piano. Rev. and Mrs. Dalzell also sang a duet.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, featuring a squared neckline with a v-back. Her long sleeves came to a point at the hand and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her fingertip veil fell from a jeweled crown, and her pearl earrings and necklace were a gift of the bridegroom.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Art Dobias of [illegible], her cousin, wearing a red floor length dress with matching accessories and carrying a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Lyle [illegible] of Thief River Falls.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Molskness for approximately 25 guests. A three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with red roses centered the serving table. Mrs. Clarence Molskness, aunt of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake, with Mrs. Victor Ranstrom pouring the coffee.

For their wedding trip the bride chose a beige suit with matching accessories and a corsage from her bouquet. After their return from their honeymoon they will make their home at Northwestern Trailer Court.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school class of 1959 and is employed at Northwestern hospital. The bridegroom graduated from Lincoln high school and is now employed with Walt [illegible]man, bricklayer, at Warren.

Duane Rafteseth Takes Bride In Moorhead

The Rev. Walter Hannemann performed the double ring ceremony, Saturday, Dec. 12, in Our Redeemer Lutheran church in Moorhead which united Miss Maxine Yaeger of Felton, Minn., and Duane Rafteseth of Fargo in holy matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Yaeger of Felton and the bridegroom is the son of H. B. Rafteseth of this city.

The altar of the church was graced with candelabra and baskets of ferns for the evening ceremony. Miss Luverne Krabbenhoft served at the organ and also accompanied the bridegroom as he sang. Other soloist was Glen Turcotte of Perham.

The bride was attired in a floor length gown of brocaded satin, featuring a V neckline, short sleeves and elbow length gloves. The bouffant skirt fell from a fitted V waistline in soft flowing pleats and into a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a jeweled crown and she carried a white Testament topped with American Beauty roses and pompoms.

Mrs. James Kurplus of Aurora, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, followed by Violet Kolle and Mrs. LeRoy Yeager, both of Felton, as bridesmaids. They wore street length dresses of deep rose colored velveteen with full skirts and carried white fur muffs with holly with a matching fur headband.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Kenneth Rafteseth of Minneapolis, his brother, with Walter Rafteseth of Fargo and Irvin Yeager of Felton, brother of the bride, as groomsmen.

Michelle Schable of Minot N. Dakota, and Erlys Moore of Perley, Minn., were flower girls with Donald Smith of Borup, Minn. serving as ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. James Schable of Minot, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Erling Moore, Perley, aunt of the bride, Misses Arlene Hilde, Carol Oren, Wanda Kolle, all of Moorhead, and Rhoda Messner of Georgetown, Minn., all assisted with the lunch.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lincoln high school. He attended the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks for two years and graduated from Moorhead State college. Mrs. Rafteseth is a graduate of Felton high school and was employed as a dental assistant in Fargo. Following the holidays Mr. and Mrs. Rafteseth will make their home in Oslo, where Mr. Rafteseth is teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dyrud of Newfolden visited briefly Friday morning with relatives and friends in the city. They will be leaving soon to spend Christmas with relatives in Minneapolis and then on to Texas to spend the winter months.

Oklee to Observe 50th Anniversary

Jubilee Celebration Is Set for July 2, 3, 4, 1960

Oklee will stage a three-day Golden Jubilee celebration July 2-3-4, according to a decision reached last week by the Community club, says the Oklee Herald.

Marking "50 Years of Progress," it will be the biggest celebration ever attempted by the community and will involve an Oklee high school alumni reunion, a huge anniversary parade, a whisker club and many other features.

A new sedan will be given away with tickets to go on sale in January as a fund-raising activity.

A kick-off banquet is being planned for late January or early February at which time whisker club hopefuls will be "sworn in" and other activities will be planned.

The event will have an historical theme throughout with emphasis on Oklee's progress since it was started in 1910 with the building of the Soo Line railroad spur from Plummer to Superior, Wisconsin.

Hearing of 6,000,000 Americans Impaired

Hearing impairment affects an estimated six million Americans. Of this number, nearly 110,000 have been estimated to be totally deaf and more men than women are affected, the Minnesota State Medical association reports.

According to National Health Survey, the rate of hearing impairment is 40 out of every 1,000 males or 33⅓ per cent higher than for females.

Factors which may influence the higher incidence of hearing impairment among men include a greater degree of involvement in accidents as well as more frequent prolonged exposure to industrial noises.

Various forms of injuries account for nearly 20 per cent of the hearing impairments among men but account for only four per cent among women.

There is a rapid rise in the rate of hearing impairment with advance in age. From an estimated eight cases of hearing impairment per 1,000 for persons under the age of 25, the rate rises more than 500 per cent to nearly 130 cases per 1,000 persons between the ages of 65 and 74. The rate for persons over the age of 75 is almost twice as great as that of the 65-74 age group.

It is important to note that hearing impairment also is a health problem to at least a half-million young persons under the age of 25 and another estimated one million young adults in the 25-44 age group.

Early protection of hearing difficulties can often do much to correct or prevent progress of this condition. When the condition is permanent or progressive, early detection will make more effective rehabilitation possible.

Hearing impairment tests are recommended by the Minnesota State Medical association for persons of all ages as a part of the periodical physical examination. This is particularly important in the pre-school age group where hearing impairment is frequently overlooked. Detection of this condition at this age level is essential to insure proper speech training.

Development of medical and surgical procedures for the treatment of hearing impairments as well as the perfection of modern hearing aids have helped many of the six million Americans affected by hearing impairments to lead normal lives.

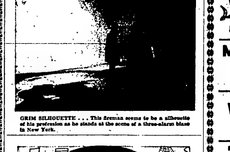
DICK SJOBERG NOTICES ROBIN IN YARD SUNDAY

Young Dick Sjoberg Sunday afternoon reported to the Times that he had seen a belated robin eating cranberries in the back yard of the Gene Sjoberg home that afternoon. He didn't report what effect the berries had on the bird.



MEMBERS of the Catholic Youth Organization completed this Nativity scene Friday, Dec. 18, after more than a month of work drawing and cutting out the figures and painting them. The scene, located east of St. Bernard's school and church, is lighted during evening hours. Inspecting the finished job are Mike Norman, left, and Father Piet Aarden.

CHRISTMAS SEALS GO TO DENMARK as two-year-old Jeanette Paradise of Duluth makes a sale to Captain Otto Kruger of the Danish Tanker Asia. Docked at the Great Lakes seaport, Kruger's ship was one of the last of the season to load grain for Europe.

Christmas Seals in various designs are now being sold in most countries of the world to help fight tuberculosis, Captain Kruger said. In Denmark, where the idea of selling Christmas Seals to fight TB originated, the seals are sold in all Danish Post Offices. Denmark, he said, has recently outfitted a ship with x-ray and other equipment to help locate and treat TB in the small coastal villages of Greenland.

Middle River Man Is Elected Group Health Chairman

Group Health Mutual and association members in this area met at the Sportsmen's club in Middle River Dec. 16, to elect officers and delegates to represent them at their annual district meeting in February and company-wide meeting March 12 in Minneapolis, and to discuss and hear reports on the progress of their organization. Attending from this area were members of the groups in Kittson, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Elected chairman was Vernon Stardig of Middle River with Chester Larson as secretary. The following delegates were elected to represent the 1565 members in this area at the district and annual meetings of Group Health: Amos Thompson, Grygla; Clifford Skime, Roseau; Vernon Stardig, Middle River; Olger Rokke, Newfolden; Floyd Godel, Warren; Merton Roley, Warren; Frank Bracier, Greenbush; Mrs. Albin Miller, Roseau; and Mrs. Ingvald Anderson, Gatzke.

St. John's to Hear Missionary Dec. 25

Rev. Paul Volz to Speak Christmas Day at 10:30

REV. PAUL M. VOLZ

The Rev. Paul M. Volz, Lutheran missionary in Nigeria, Africa, at present on furlough and doing post-graduate work at Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., will be the speaker Christmas Day, Dec. 25, at 10:30 a.m. at St. John's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. He will also speak in Redeemer church in Plummer at 9 a.m. and in Zion English Lutheran church in Mavie at 2 p.m. on Christmas Day.

The Rev. Volz, a native of Willmar, Minn., graduated at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis in 1956 with a B.D. degree. From September, 1956, to September, 1959, he worked in Nigeria.

He plans to return to Nigeria with his family in June. Mrs. Volz is the former Judith June Seltz, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred C. Seltz of Thief River Falls. They have two children.

W. Powell Writes Times from Calif.

Willis W. Powell, long-time field representative for the Standard Oil Co. with headquarters in Thief River Falls, writes the Times from his new home in San Fernando, Calif., as follows: "We enjoy very much living out here in Southern California, but after nearly 25 years residence in Thief River Falls, one does not forget the many friends and pleasant associations of that community. Thus it is with real interest that we look forward to delivery of the Times twice each week."

Green Bugs Cause Big Loss in State

Heaviest Loss Suffered by Minnesota Oats Chop

Green bugs cost Minnesota farmers an estimated $3.1 million in 1959, according to John Lofgren, extension entomologist at the University of Minnesota.

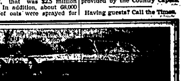
Heaviest loss was in oats, where total damage and expenses were estimated at $2.7 million. Cost in wheat was about $260,000 and the loss was $194,000 in barley.

Lofgren bases these figures on a survey by Minnesota county agents.

Green bugs infested about 410,000 acres of oats, 10 per cent of the state acreage. Lofgren estimated the average loss to equal 30 per cent of the infested oats acreage, for a total loss of 5 million bushels. Figuring 50 cents a bushel, that was $2.5 million alone. In addition, about 68,000 acres of oats were sprayed for green bug control, costing another $200,000.

The aphids damaged grain through direct feeding and by transmitting a virus disease—red leaf in oats and yellow dwarf in barley. Added together, the combined effects were serious, particularly in southwestern counties.

Most of the aphids blew in from southwestern states between May 3 and 5. Entomologists figure it happened because of a stationary air front stretching like a wall from Oklahoma, where the bugs were numerous, to Minnesota. A combination of high and low pressure areas scooted the bugs up to high altitudes and strong winds carried them to this state.



For a week or more after they got here, the bugs were favored by Minnesota weather. And the same weather held back development of the aphids' natural enemies, which might otherwise have helped keep the pests in check.

Green bugs don't overwinter in this state. So whether they show up again in 1960 will depend on meteorological conditions, as it did last spring.

Pennington Co. Wins Award for Electrical Education for 1959

Pennington county extension service won top honors in the field of electrical education for the year 1959. The award is a plaque sponsored by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. The extension service won the award for its success in program study of electrical projects and topics.

The 4-H council cooperated in various electrical education activities during council meetings and 4-H club meetings.

One of the county activities was to conduct an electrical survey of farm homes in the county. This survey was published in the Times in the June 11, 1959 issue. The study revealed high usage of electrical power in the homes and on farms. The large number of home appliances and the modern electrical farm equipment on farms makes the electrical project highly important as 4-H members. Training in the project is useful to boys and girls regardless of the work they do later in life.

Leaders from Red Lake Electric and REM were used to inform 4-Hers on proper wiring techniques, repair of electrical appliances, and proper electrical safety.

The leaders council used films, speakers, and demonstrations to help 4-H members learn. Safety was also stressed again this year with tours to club meetings encouraging 4-H'ers to participate in the electrical project.

The electrical project emphasis for 1960 will continue much as it has been. This type of approach is being continued in the present club year. It is expected to further stimulate activity in this project.

In addition to the county electrical project, Pennington county 4-H council, of which Pennington 4-H club, has been named winner of the North Central Electrical League award. A two-year club campaign, activities have been emphasized in the electrical field. The club has been active for two years at the state fair. The electric drill award is based on the county and state fair participation as well as projects recorded entered with the state extension service.

Commercial supplies will be kept separately from school supplies. Commercial supplies will be employed for commercial use only. Funds for the project were gained from the work performed toward completion of the course. A statement of receipts and expenditures will be submitted to the school board in June, 1960.

Rules governing vacations of school personnel were also adopted at the Jan. 17 meeting. Starting their five years of service in Thief River Falls, they will receive two week vacations; from five to 10 years, vacation will be three weeks; 10 to 20 years, four weeks of vacation will be granted.

Mr. Matzke was born in Benton, Poland, in 1877 and came to the United States in 1901 and to Thief River Falls in 1902. On Thursday, Jan. 31, 1957 he came to Thief River Falls and worked as a butcher in the Rolland and Lysne meat markets. In 1908 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Kaczor. Housewives usually talk more about good public relations than do tax men about their own agency or other group in the nation.

Imbued with the ancient idea that only they have any business in the education of pupils and students, our teachers and administrators have been slow to serve as much as possible until the time comes when they need something from the general public. At that time, both the public and the educators feel abused and cannot understand the misunderstanding.

Misunderstanding is abundant in dealings between citizens, and especially in matters of money, are largely unnecessary. It can be avoided by the continuing use of public relations.

An example of what can be done by public relations is the school of 1950 in California. On the ballot was proposition 3, a spending submitted to the voters of the state on whether a two-million-dollar bond issue should be issued for the building expansion of the state colleges.

These colleges were badly crowded, needed equipment and funds for expansion. Those facts, however, were not dropped on the heads of the voters at the last moment but were part of a continuing program of education.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Mavie 4-H

The December meeting of the Mavie 4-H club was held at the Emil Sanders home, Rodney Wayne presiding.

A motion was made by Margaret Wayne that the club should donate $5.00 to the polio fund, seconded by Dennis Kainz and carried.

Lon Szymanski made a motion for the club to make cookies and candy and give to two 4-H families who now have illness in their family at Christmas.

The following demonstrations were given.

Shirley Skibicki on "Making Christmas Decorations for Door", Cathy Oski on "Making Christmas Decorations", Christine Szymanski on "How to Make Popcorn."

The Christmas program consisted of: Christmas story by Robert Bendickson, poems and recitations by the following: Gary Aandol, Nancy Bornholdt, Bonnie Hamre, Bruce Hanson, Barbara Benson, Leighton Lindwick, Jimmy Nelson, Keith Nelson, Roger Pittman, and Margaret Wayne.

Songs by Judy and Cathy Oski, Bruce Nelson, Sandra Sanders, Ben, Mary and Paul Szymanski, Ellen Fulton, Shirley, Wesley and Gary Skibicki.

Christmas questions were asked by Rosemary Leidberg and riddles by Kathy Svendsgaard.

After the program, there was an exchange of gifts and a delicious pot luck lunch was served. A good time was had by all.

New Solum 4-H

The December meeting of the New Solum 4-H club was held at the Emil Hellquist home Friday evening, December 11.

The business for the evening was the discussion of a family Christmas party. It was decided to have a hayride on January 3 at the Victor Ranstrom home. Each family was asked to bring 50c for the treats.

The following pogrram was arranged by John and Elaine Hellquist: Demonstrations were given by Sharon Holmstrom, "Child's Party Favor" and by Janet Hestekind, "Orange Juice Float"; a project talk, "Ideas for Christmas Decorations" was given by Carolyn Copeland, reading by Judy Releraon; reading by Keith Kron, and a group sang, "Away in a Manger."

Slides of Hawaii and Disneyland were shown by Mrs. Elmer Kron.

Refreshments were served by Emil Hellquist.

Silverton 4-H

The Silverton 4-H club held its monthly meeting and Christmas party December 10 at the Silverton town hall.

The meeting was called to order by President Milton Leiran. Earl Leiran was chosen to be our new song leader. The meeting was adjourned.

The following program was given: Christmas songs were sung by the group led by Earl Leiran; demonstration by Carol Peterson on making a Christmas centerpiece; project report by Kenneth Leiran on conservation; reading by Deanna Burtness; and a skit by Joan and Judy Rupprecht. The table grace was sung and lunch was served. Games were played during the evening.

The junior leaders met together with the adult leaders at the William Rupprecht home to make out the program books.

Those who attended were: Duane Iverson, Jeanette Jones, Leslie Nelson, Sharon Rupprecht, Deanna Burtness, Sharon Anderson, Milton, Kenneth, and Earl Leiran, Annette and Allen Harder and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson.

These junior leaders met at the Edry Leiran home to plan the program for the December Leaders' Council meeting. Sahron Anderson, Deanna Burtness, Jeanotte Jones and Milton Leiran.

The executive board consisting of Milton Leiran; Sharon Anderson, Leslie Nelson and Annette Harder were also there to plan the radio program to be given on December 12 over KTRF.

Deer Park 4-H

The Deer Park 4-H club at the Malcolm Stucy home November 19. The meeting was opened by the president Carole Mandt. The members voted to send the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce a "thank you" letter for the achievement banquet. They also decided to sell Christmas wreaths to make some money for the club. Names were drawn for the Christmas party. Mrs. Roman Radniecki presented Kory Don and Romona Chervestad and Mary Ann Radniecki their award pins.

Roman Radniecki gave a talk on sanitation problems in Thule, Greenland and Mr. and Mrs. Engvald Christoferson showed movies Mr. Radniecki has taken while there.

A project talk "How to Have Fewer Colds" was given by Gregory Radniecki and demonstrations "How to Whip a Rope" by Timmy Radniecki and "A Healthy Breakfast" by Roxanne Radniecki. Faye Stucy led recreation and lunch was served by Mrs. Stucy. Twelve guests were present.

Smiley 4-H

The Smiley 4-H club held its regular meeting in the form of a Christmas party at the Smiley hall on December 8. Topics for discussion were sending money to CARE, going Christmas caroling, and making a shuffleboard.

For the program, there was community singing, a reading by Nelda Nelson; project talk by Sharon Knutson; project talk by Orin Helgeland, and Nelda Nelson gave a report on her trip to Chicago. Nancy Newton also gave a demonstration.

Gifts were exchanged and the Christmas bags were passed out and enjoyed by all.

St. Hilaire 4-H

The December meeting was held in the council rooms with Gloria Haugen, president, presiding. Each member present responded by saying what they wanted most for Christmas.

Committee for the January meeting were announced by the president. The business meeting was adjourned and the following program was given: An accordion solo "Silent Night," by Gary Haugen, Glen Anderson and John Vik sang a duet, followed by a demonstration, "An Outdoor Decoration," given by Kurt Gigstad.

A humorous recitation was given by John Vik.

Sally Conely showed how to make a simple but effective centerpiece for the holiday season.

Janice Maxson rendered a piano solo. Marlene Rolland demonstrated how to make a Christmas tree out of toothpicks. Judy Kurowski gave a piano solo and Sharon Yonke gave a project talk on "Safety".

A movie was also shown on fire prevention. Games were played and lunch was served by Ed Wi, Art Vik and N. Drees families.—Sandy Wig, Reporter.

Black River 4-H

The Black River 4-H club meeting was called to order by Beverly Naplin, president. All were present except Dennis Anderson.

The project reports were given by Kenny Witt on home furnishings and Wayne Naplin on sheep. There was a demonstration by Beverly and Connie Naplin on first aid.

The recreation was playing games and they were very much enjoyed, Kathy Hawkinson, Linda Kopecky, Louann and Judy Johnson and Barbara and Sylvia Olson sang Christmas carols.

A motion was made and carried that the money taken in was to be given to underprivileged children. Gifts were given to parents and children.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ray Olson and Mrs. Herman Witt.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

Greetings to you at this heartwarming time of the year and may the coming of this new year bring to you and yours much joy and peace.

The birthday of the most wonderful child ever to be born is so near again and I wonder how many people are caught in a web of tinsel frustration, hearing the constant jingle of lucre needed for material preparation of extra shopping, extra baking, etc., etc.; inwardly wishing to truly feel the real spirit of this great Feast Day.

After seeing the Lincoln high school program last week I must add my thanks for such inspiring music and talent. One impression lingers deeply in my mind because it coincides with my idea—that gift giving should be either pushed ahead to the Day of Epiphany, like the Wise Men who brought theirs to Bethlehem, or if parents prefer, on the Feast Day of St. Nicholas, as is the custom in some foreign countries. Having six children of my own and with memories of my own childhood Christmas associations, it seems the presents and anticipation of them flooded out the true meaning of the Nativity and why we celebrate Christmas.

The idea could be worked out so simply in each home starting at the beginning of the year by kiddies sacrificing a few pennies weekly, saving them all year as an offering to the baby Jesus to help feed the poor of the world. A short daily prayer something like this . . . "O, God, please give us all the true spirit of the Nativity."

Maybe I am building on an inspiration and a prayer, but our family is really going to try to build for a happier Christmas in 1960 and if any of the readers catch the contagion of this idea into their hearts and homes, I shall be deeply grateful.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marie Sherack

IN MINNESOTA THEY STAY ON THE JOB

After 40 years failing health prompts William Harris to retire, at Willmar, from the Kandiyohi county highway department. Harry Washburn winds up 40 years in the Spring Valley postoffice. Railroaders have remarkable endurance, too: Harold M. Hansen, Willmar, 42 years GN; William C. Nelson, Hibbing, 43 years DM&IR; Ray Schwartz, Sleepy Eye, 43 years depot agent and telegrapher; E. F. Peterson, Red Wing, 46 years Great Western maintenance; Frank Finnegan, Mankato, 49 years trainman and conductor Great Western; Henry Butler, Mankato, 50 years C&NW yards and office; Lloyd Odney, Morris, 51 years Great Northern conductor; Melvin L. Johnson, 55 years GN telegrapher.

Oscar S. Glover retires at Winona after 47 years in public education. At Parkers Prairie Tony Sigfrid spanned the 47-year era from horse-drawn carts to fast and comfortable automobiles over his rural mail route. Otto Kohn spent half a century in the service of the Ostrander cooperative elevator. More than half a century is credited to Otto A. Olson, retiring from the mechanical department, Fergus Falls Daily Journal. Joseph Schafer expects to rest after 50 years and 500,000 miles carrying mail in and around Shakopee. On her 80th birthday Mrs. Peter Fjestad was honored for more than 50 years of piano teaching in Fergus Falls.

Scout Handbook Is Published Dec. 15

Boy Scouts Arrange to Print 1,050,000 Copies

On the eve of its fiftieth anniversary to be observed in 1960, the Boy Scouts of America published on December 15 the sixth edition of its Boy Scout Handbook. Its initial print order — 1,050,00 copies — makes it one of the largest book orders in printing history.

With this latest printing, the Boy Scout Handbook, previously known as the Handbook for Boys, attains a total printing of 17,600,000 copies since 1910. It is reputedly outsold only by the Holy Bible. It is this volume that introduced millions of boys to their first knowledge of nature lore, first aid, proper honors for the flag of the United States, and a wide range of "know how" supplementing school courses.

The first copy off the press has been especially bound for presentation to President Eisenhower at the White House on February 8, the 50th birthday anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Completely reorganized, redesigned and rewritten, the Boy Scout Handbook is a modernized, dramatic presentation of Scouting. Its appeal to boys was scientifically calculated. It is in easy-to-read narrative style. Topics are well labeled with numerous headings. Readability has been tested to suit eleven-year-old boys.

Former Grygla Man Held in Car Theft

Douglas Benson Charged with Stealing Cadillac

Through the alertness of an off-duty city policeman, a stolen car was recovered Friday evening and a former Grygla man is being held for Minneapolis for alleged car theft.

Donald Olson, the policeman, was uptown while off duty Friday evening and spoted a 1954 Cadillac convertible which had been reported stolen in a highway patrol radio bulletin earlier.

Olson reported seeing the car parked in front of a local drug store to on-duty policemen and shortly afterwards a man named by police as Douglas Benson, Minneapolis, formerly of Grygla, was arrested, and the car recovered.

Minneapolis police are expected to come for Benson today.

Pennington in Top Ten in Bond Buying

County Acvhieves 102.3 Per Cent of 1959 Quota

Purchases of Series E and H savings bonds in November, 1959, in Pennington county totaled $49,306, bringing the year to date purchases to $213,744 or 102.3% of the county goal for 1959, J. M. Roche, county chairman, announced today.

The attractiveness of the new 3¾% rate on Series E and H savings bonds was again shown in November by a statewide increase of 12% in purchases over the same month of last year.

A further indication of the popularity of the new rates comes from the fact that the nationwide redemptions of Series E and H bonds in November were the smallest in 12 months.

Savings bonds purchases in Minnesota for the first 11 months of 1959 total $63,919,863 and represent 80.3% of the 1959 quota.

The ten counties leading in quota attainment are: Red Lake, 138.7; Traverse, 135.7; Isanti, 134.5; Marshall, 132.1; Lake of the Woods, 120.1; Roseau, 119.2; Lincoln, 117.1; Dakota, 112.5; Pennington, 102.3; Watonwan, 102.2.

Aluminum, one of the metals most abundant in the earth's crust, is found in most common rocks except limestone and sandstone.

YULE LOG, MODERN VERSION

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—Is every service-disabled Korea veteran entitled to special vocational rehabilitation training?

A—No. A veteran must need the training to help him overcome the handicap of his disability. However, a disabled veteran who does not meet this qualification still may be eligible for training under the Korean GI Bill.

Q—Is the War Orphans Education training program only a college program?

A—No. The War Orphans Education program, besides providing college and university training, offers opportunities in a wide variety of schools below the college level as well. Training is permitted in technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering courses in medical and related fields, and in junior colleges.

Q—I am planning to convert my World War II GI term insurance to a permanent plan. Do I have to convert the entire amount of my insurance, or can I convert just a part of it?

A—You may convert a part of your GI term insurance if you wish. The amount converted must be in multiples of $500 but not less than $1,000.

Q—I understand that a World War II veteran must file his application for a GI loan by July 25, 1960. Just what steps have to taken by that date?

A—By that date, a lender must at least have agreed to make the loan and must have requested VA's approval. The law allows up to an additional year after that deadline, to complete the deal.

DANNY'S FIGHT NIGHT

By James J. Bradley

DANNY O'TOOLE sat in his corner and looked at his feet, oblivious to the activity around him. It meant nothing to him that the huge amphitheater was packed with a boisterous Friday night crowd intoxicated by the prospect of physical combat and anxious to see the champ defend his title.

Sports editors predicted the champ would win by an early knockout, however, as is the usual case where the human element is concerned, the possibility of an upset existed. It wouldn't be the first time an underdog went home, wearing the mythical crown in a brief taste of immortality. But Danny didn't really care who won. Victor or vanquished were meaningless words to him.

Following the National Anthem, the announcer stepped to the center of the ring and reached for the overhead mike.

"Ladies and gentleman," he drawled. "In this corner wearing purple trunks weighing one-hundred-ninety-six and one-half pounds victorious in the Olympics undefeated in forty-nine professional pugilistic encounters the heavyweight champion of the world Ing——"

No one could hear the introduction of the challenger and his share of applause was a matter of courtesy rather than honor.

Both fighters were brought to the center of the ring and briefed by the referee with the deadpan, formal monotone only an exboxer in rented tux is able to achieve.

The bell sounded for round one. The champ settled into his classic style; aggressively stalking his prey . . . forcing the fight . . . scoring points . . . wearing down his opponent.

A furious exchange of blows in the closing seconds of the round brought the crowd to their feet. Neither man was hurt by the barrage of leather and the International Press sportscaster informed his listeners: "It may go the distance."

There was a shadow of a pout on the clean features of Danny O'Toole as he sat in his corner. Everyone was ignoring him.

Round two exploded with solid punches. The champ was connecting with increasing regularity. You could see his body blows hurt the challenger. It was a good, clean fight. The champ connected with a solid right to the jaw; a left to the body and another hard right to the jaw. He had his man on the ropes at the bell.

A trickle of saliva ran down the corner of Danny O'Toole's mouth. He tried to stand, but his unsteady legs wouldn't hold his body up. He sat down, hard.

The handlers went to work, and as the third round started off it was difficult to see the damage inflicted by the champ.

It was soon evident that the champ had his man and was going to finish him. He rocked the challenger, his powerful fists pumping with the methodic drive of pistons. The challenger bicycled backwards, trying to stay on his feet.

With a minute and a half remaining in the round, the champ caught his victim with the best blow of the fight. A straight right to the jaw that didn't travel over nine inches and the thud of dead weight on the canvas was utterly final as the champ went to a neutral corner.

"And still heavyweight champion of the world," the referee announced, but Danny O'Toole didn't hear him. His eyes were closed in sleep when his father turned off the television set for the night and his mother tenderly kissed her eleven-month-old son as he slept, curled like a kitten, in the corner of his crib.

N. W. National Farm Loan Association Will Get New Name

To Be Known January 1 as Federal Land Bank Association of Warren

The Northwest National Farm Loan association owned by 775 farmers in Marshall, Kittson, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties will be renamed the Federal Land Bank association of Warren under provisions of the Farm Credit Act of 1959, according to Harold Sorenson of Warren, secretary-treasurer of the organization. The bill, signed by the President Aug. 18, 1959, becomes effective Jan. 1, 1960.

"The name, Federal Land Bank association more clearly reflects the functions of the association which are to initiate and service Federal Land Bank loans for the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul," Sorenson commented.

The Federal Land Bank, thru the association, has been making long-term real estate loans to farmers for more than 42 years, he added.

The association initiates land bank loans for purchase of land, farm and home improvements, buildings, livestock, equipment and other needs of the owner of the farm to be mortgaged.

During the past six months, over $576,000 in new Land Bank loans have been made in the territory, served by the Northwest National Farm Loan association and the volume of loans outstanding in the association's territory now exceeds $2¾ million.

Crookston Quint Loses to Prowlers Fri. 68-56

Coach Hartley Story's Prowlers made hard work of defeating the Crookston Pirates, 68 to 56, at Crookston on Friday night and ran their early-season win streak to four games. The Prowlers will travel to Roseau Tuesday night for an inter-district game against coach Ambrose Kramer's burly Roseau Rams.

In Friday night's tilt at Crookston against coach Al Droen's defending district champion Pirates, the Prowlers committed numerous mechanical errors and were sluggish in clearing the defensive backboard and the result was that the locals were hard-pressed to mark up a win.

Crookston jumped into a 10 to 4 lead in the first period, but the Prowlers brought the game into a 10 to 10 tie with 3:21 of the period remaining, and then, with Ron Hanson being very effective on tipping in rebounds, went on to lead by a 19 to 13 margin at the end of the period.

The Prowlers appeared to have control of the game when, midway in the second period, they held a 30 to 19 lead; but the Pirates, with Curt Hannah hitting from the outside, and Dale Johnson and Alden Hermodson adding field goals, pared the Prowler lead to 32 to 27 at the intermission.

In the first half of play, Hanson notched nine field goals and four free throws.

The Pirates opened the second half of play with a pair of field goals by Hannah, and Crookston trailed by one point, 32 to 31. The game moved along at that pace until the fourth period when the Prowlers, with Don Ulferts exploding for a 14-point performance, tallied twenty-six points to outpoint the Pirates by ten points.

Ulferts, playing a right forward, was very impressive during the fourth period, moving smoothly into position and driving in for a lay-up shots.

Hanson, who tallied 22 points in the first half, added three free throws and a field goal in the second half to take the high point honors with 27 points. Crookston's Curt Hannah, exhibiting some fine outside shooting, led the Crookston scorers with 16 points.

The Broncos

With the possible exception of the Roseau Rams game here on Jan. 16, or the St. Paul Johnson game here on Jan. 29, the hockey tilt slated for the Arena ice sheet tonight could develop into the season's best. It's the Broncos of International Falls against the Prowlers, with the face-off time at 8 p.m.

In spite of having the advantage of home ice and playing before the home fans, and after showing a capable brand of hockey in defeating Crookston Cathedral on Friday night, the Prowlers will be short-enders when they take the ice against the Broncos. The Falls squad, whose style of play, and appearance, is reminiscent of the Eveleth Golden Bears, defeated the state champion Roseau Rams, 3 to 1, last week, bringing to an end the Roseau winning streak that had reached a total of 44 games.

And the fans should witness an interesting center-ice duel between the Bronco's Joe Bolzan, wearing jersey number 6, and Dale Wennberg of the Prowlers. Bolzan, who received much of his hockey training and hockey experience on the Fort Frances rinks, is the key player in coach Larry Ross' scheme of play. While Bolzan does not posses blazing breakaway speed, he is an elusive skater and an expert stickhandler, and is willing to take a turn or two on defense. In the Broncos' 6 to 3 conquest of the St. Paul Harding Knights a week or so ago, Bolzan scored five goals, and proved to be the standout player of the game.

Well, we'll make a modest wager that he will have to share starring honors tonight with Wennberg and several other Prowlers.

Calling the International Falls high school athletic teams, the Broncos is as fitting and proper nickname as we have heard. This nickname is, of course, in honor of the famed and legendary Bronko Nagurski, one of the nation's all-time football greats. Nagurski is an International Falls resident. It's an oddity, though, that Bronko graduated from Bemidji high school, and from there went on to fame as a Minnesota Gopher and a Chicago Bear.

The Arena Skating Schedule

Dr. W. P. Kaisler of the city recreation board announces that the skating schedule for the Arena rink will be released on a weekly basis. In this manner, and this schedule will be published in the Monday edition of the Times, the skaters will be given a more accurate time schedule of the availability of the ice sheet in the Arena.

Charles (Chuck) Dostal, the custodian of the Arena, said that public skating will be held on Christmas Day, from 1 to 5 p.m. the original schedule was to have the Arena closed all day on Friday, but Chuck, feeling that a number of the youngsters, and particularly those who received skates as Christmas presents, would like a turn or two on the ice, agreed to open the rink on Friday afternoon.

River Fishing

That select and exclusive club, dedicated to the purpose of keeping the walleyed pike census in the pool below the dam at a low number, have been having numerous meetings of late.

Last week, Bob Baker, who claims to be secretary of the club, with Phil Beadle, president, and George Schlieff, vice president, and Frank Harger, treasurer in charge of providing the live minnow bait, made a limit catch of walleyes. And these pike were of fine size, too.

These boys watch the water levels very closely, and whenever the gates are opened allowing a torrent of water to come downstream, they hurry to their vantage points below the dam. The release of the water raises the water level below the dam and gives the downstream fish an opportunity to move upstream. And gives these pike the opportunity, too, to nibble on the minnows presented so attractively by Bob, Phil, George and Frank.

Schedule, Jan. 6
Knox at Washington, 4:15 P.M.

Coach Phil Beadle's grade school champion Northrop Indians opened the 1959-60 basketball season on Friday afternoon by scoring a decisive 47 to 7 win over the Knox Tigers.

After a low-scoring first period, which found the Indians gaining a 5 to 0 lead, Northrop erupted for fourteen points in the second period to hold a 19 to 3 lead at the intermission.

In the fourth period, Dennis Hanson scored three consecutive tip-ins, and diminutive guard Gary Hanway drove in for a pair of lay-ups as the Indians rolled up their point total.

Hanson, Bill Weigelt, and Hanway led the Northrop scoring. Wayne Pound's three points was high for the Knox Tigers.

Blue Cross Parts from Blue Shield

Will Appraise Damages and Benefits of Project

Minnesota Blue Cross and Blue Shield on Nov. 30 terminated the contract under which they had operated together for a number of years, Don J. Condon, executive vice president of Blue Cross, announced last week in St. Paul.

Blue Cross, owned by participating hospitals, is a pre-payment hospital services plan. Blue Shield, which provides for medical-surgical and obstetrical care on the same basis, is owned by Minnesota doctors. Blue Cross has more than a million subscribers, Blue Shield nearly 800,000.

Condon said the two organizations split over administrative procedures but added: "We have no reason to believe this is an irreconcilable rupture."

He also disclosed that Blue Cross would offer contracts in the future for medical-surgical-obstetrical services thru a subsidiary set up in 1954 but which has been inactive. The subsidiary is called Minnesota Indemnity, Inc. It will offer contracts in competition with Blue Shield.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield still are cooperating under a temporary arrangement thru which Blue Cross is handling internal operations, except sales and advertising, for Blue Shield.

'B' Prowler Quint Whips Crookston

Locals Win Friday Night by Score of 51 to 22

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team, with the Prowler reserves playing the first period and moving into a 21 to 6 lead, defeated coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston 'B' team, 51 to 22, in a preliminary game played at Crookston on Friday night.

Wayne Bjerken, with six field goals and a free throw, and Don Ulferts, with five field goals, led the Prowler 'B' team scoring with 13 and 10 points, respectively. Ronald Carpenter tallied seven points for the Pirate 'B' squad.

July 1 Is Target Date to Complete Baudette Bridge

Contractors in charge of construction of the million-dollar Baudette-Rainy River bridge recently informed Ted Rowell, Sr., of Baudette that it is hoped to have the span finished by July 1, 1960, although this date could be set back if the steel strike is resumed following the current cooling-off period, the Baudette Region reports.

Prowlers Blank Cathedral Six

Coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers, showing a marked improvement over the brand of play they exhibited in their losing effort against Grand Forks Central on Tuesday night, defeated coach Bill Sullivan's Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave, 7 to 0, here Friday night.

The Prowlers will meet one of the state's top-ranked prep hockey squads on Monday night when, on the Arena ice, they play the International Falls Broncos. That coach Larry Ross has a strong club is indicated by the fact that the Broncos scored a 3 to 1 win over the state champion Roseau Rams in a game played at Roseau last week.

Following the game here on Monday night, the Prowlers will, on Wednesday, travel to Crookston for a return game against the Blue Wave. On Monday and Tuesday of next week, Dec. 28 and 29, the Prowlers will participate in an invitational tournament at International Falls, meeting Duluth East in a first round game at 7:30 P.M. Monday.

In Friday night's win over the Blue Wave, the Prowlers were sparked in their attack by the five-goal performance of their veteran line of Dale Wennberg, Arlan Hjelle, and Eddie Holmes. Wennberg, an all-state tournament choice last season, scored three goals and had a pair of assists; Hjelle, a wing, scored twice and had one assist; while Holmes, the other wing, had three assists.

The remaining two goals in Friday's 7 to 0 win were scored by Jim Wegge and Wes Halvorson, with sophomore Larry Poole assisting.

In a 'B' squad game played on Friday night, following the varsity tilt, George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' team, on a goal by Rick Thompson, defeated the Blue Wave 'B' squad, 1 to 0.

Yule Tree Industry Expanding in State

Minnesotans buying Christmas trees can be more and more choosy nowadays. Two reasons are improved quality and greater variety of trees for sale from Minnesota woodlands.

A recent University of Minnesota survey gives some indication of the rapid expansion in state tree plantations — where growers have set out their own trees and then, often, prune or bud them later on to improve their appearance.

E. T. Sullivan, former University forester, surveyed 76 members of the state Christmas Tree Producers' association. Sixty one of them had planted an average of 42 acres of trees since 1947. Their plantings averaged 1,700 trees per acre.

These growers reported a spurt in planting in recent years. Number of trees planted per grower had increased steadily from 5,000 in 1947 to 25,000 ten years later. Nine of the growers reporting had planted 32,000 or more in 1957 alone.

During the past 10 years, trees planted by these growers were 44 per cent red pine and 14 per cent other pines. Other popular trees were Norway and white spruce, together making up a third of all trees planted.

There was also indication that these will be shapely, attractive trees when they hit the market at 7 or 8 years of age. More than half of the growers are reported shearing the trees during the growing period.

For 1959, the 76 growers estimated they would sell a total of 37,900 trees, and they expected to put 128,600 trees on the market next year, as more of their trees reach maturity.

Christmas tree production is about a $6 million annual business in Minnesota. About 4 million trees are harvested, more than half of which go out of the state. Plantation growers now produce less than an eighth of the trees now marketed, but their share of the market will definitely rise in future years, foresters say.

Crookston Jaycee Chapter Sponsors 2d Talent Contest

To Hold Festival Feb. 23 as Feature of Red River Valley Winter Shows

The Crookston Junior Chamber of Commerce, together with the Red River Valley Winter Shows board of managers, is sponsoring the second annual "talent festival" contest to be held in Crookston Tuesday, Feb. 23. Anyone in the age group of 12 to 21 is eligible to compete for the cash prizes.

Entries must be returned no later than February 11, so that contestants may be notified as to the time they are to appear for auditions. Auditions will be held all day Tuesday, Feb. 23, with 15 or 20 acts picked to compete in the evening program to be held in the new Central high school auditorium.

STAR DANCES . . . Mexican actress-ballerina Gloria Mestre is prima ballerina of the San Carlo Opera Company's production of "Thais" opening in Naples.

The board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows are offering the following cash awards to the winners: First prize, $150; second prize, $75; third, $25, with all evening contestants receiving $10 for appearing on the program. Any ties for first, second or third place will split the prize money. The prize money will be the same whether an individual or a group number.

Ken Kennedy of TV and radio station WDAY, Fargo, will hold the auditions and be one of the judges for the evening program.

$5000 in prizes in behalf of "A Hole in the Head," production starring Frank Sinatra, Edward G. Robinson and Eleanor Parker, is being offered by United Artists and the Beneficial Finance System in a nationwide contest.

"A Hole in the Head" will be shown at the Falls theatre Wednesday thru Saturday, Dec. 23-26.

The most original letters of 25 words or less starting with "I must have had a hole in the head because . . ." will win a foreign car, Bermuda trips, tape recorders, $100 treasury bonds and 250 additional prizes. Letters should be mailed to Contest Editor, United Artists, 729 Seventh Ave., New York 19, N. Y.

State Department of Health Warns of Holiday Dangers

Beware of Fires in Christmas Trees and Decorations, Is Warning

A reminder that gaily decorated trees and children's toys can be sources of tragedy as well as joy during the Christmas season was issued today by the Minnesota department of health.

Fires and other tragic accidents due to faulty wiring short circuits and open light sockets can be avoided by following a few simple safety precautions while decorating the home according to Dr. A. B. Rosenfield, director of the division of special services.

A dry evergreen filled with highly flammable pitch and resin may burst violently into flame at the slightest spark. Trees should be kept inside for as short a time as possible, and should be kept in a stand filled with water. They should be placed away from registers, radiators or open fireplaces.

Electrical decorations cause the most fire accidents during the holidays. Decorative lights should never be left on while the family is out or sleeping. Extension cords should be placed where they will not be pulled by children or tripped over by adults.

"Money spent to replace worn insulation and tangled cords is one of the best holiday investments a family can make," Dr. Rosenfield said. He also warned against the use of electric lights on the new metal trees.

Christmas tree bubbling fluid, salts which produce varicolored flames in a fireplace, and snow sprays are toxic hazards, according to the department of health's Poison Information center. Precautions should be taken to prevent children from eating or inhaling these substances.

Burglars Invade Williams School, Escape with $600

Burglars entered the Williams school sometime during the night Tuesday and made off with approximately $600 from the safe in the office of Supt. George Olson.

A crowbar was used to gain entry to the building through a ground floor window near the stage, where a screen was ripped off and the window forced open. The crowbar was put to use to open the office door and finally to gain acess to the fireproof safe.

The unusual amount of cash in the safe represented the individual payments of seniors for class pictures which came during the weekend.

"Where there is much desire to learn, there of necessity will be much arguing, much writing, many opinions; for opinion in good men is but knowledge in the making." —John Milton

Wilson Being Recognized

The papers and correspondence of President Woodrow Wilson are going to be published, and that probably will lead to a revival of interest in the achievements and the failures of a great American who for several decades has been a forgotten man. His greatest failure probably was the League of Nations, which he authored.

The League failed largely because our country refused to support it, and the war that was fought to end all wars was renewed as World War II. But the failure of the League made possible the formation of a stronger organization when World War II ended, and our United Nations organization of today measures up closely to the plan Wilson had visualized.

Herbert Hoover has recognized the importance of the Wilson contribution. According to Hoover, Wilson was "more than just an idealist." Hoover has referred to him as "the personification of the heritage of idealism of the American people."

The New York Times places Wilson as one of "perhaps five or six in the nearly two hundred years of our country's history who can be, by anyone's reckoning, classified as truly great." Says the Times: "Perceptive educator, courageous reformer, international leader, Wilson in his time was the spokesman of the future."

Crop Controls Approved

Cotton, rice and peanut growers voted overwhelmingly last week to accept acreage controls in exchange for price supports of not less than 75 per cent of parity. The vote does not necessarily mean that the growers were happy with the program they approved. It indicated that they preferred that to the alternative. We are sure that wherever the problems were discussed Ezra Benson took a terrific beating.

But it was not Ezra Benson who set up the rules. He was merely enforcing the laws as they had been written by Congress. Members of Congress and their friends were of course happy to shift the responsibility to him, and Ezra continued to be the whipping boy.

Actually it probably is not fair to blame either Congress or Ezra Benson for the failure to enact laws that would solve the surplus problems. It is rather difficult to enact legislation favorable to an industry when the various segments of the industry and the organizations that speak for their members cannot agree among themselves as to what should be done. That is expecting the impossible.

We have come to the conclusion that the right solution, and the only solution that will work, is to turn the management of each segment back to its own members, and let each segment do or die, and succeed according to its ability to manage its own affairs. There are only a few crops that are problem crops politically, and they are problem crops largely because of political tinkering.

Shifting the responsibility of self-government back to the producers themselves probably would have to be a gradual process. For those who have forgotten how to stand and move on their own feet, the crutches should not be taken away suddenly. And there no doubt are special problems that justify continued government assistance and guidance.

But in the best interests of a sound national economy, and a sound agriculture, functioning properly in an economy that is organized on the principles of the free enterprise system, the objective of farm legislation at this time should be greater freedom and a gradual loosening of government responsibility and control.

It Is True Virginia

Another interesting letter to Virginia explaining that there really is a Santa Claus was published several years ago in the Arizona Progress, the monthly report of the Valley National Bank of Phoenix, Arizona. Here it is:

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. But there seems to be some confusion as to who he is—and where he lives. With Christmas approaching it has started us to wondering.

"Maybe you can help us, Virginia, since you are living pretty high on the hog. Would you mind explaining how you got that mink coat? Those sparkling diamonds? That racy convertible?

"We are not trying to embarrass you, Virginia. The rest of us are doing quite well, thank you, and we are simply using you as Exhibit A in our search for Santa Claus.

"So let us proceed with the inquiry.

"Who builds the beautiful homes that dot the landscape and then fills them with luxurious furnishings, push button gadgets and television sets?

"Who do we have to thank for the fine food and entertainment that we enjoy? The swimming pools, country clubs and plush resorts? Las Vegas?

"Who provides the new highways, the new schools, the new hospitals, the new parks?

"Who pays the freight, Virginia? Who pays the taxes? Who goes deep into debt to make all this possible? Who is the real Santa Claus?

"It is obvious that government does not give us these things. Neither does business nor labor. They are all on the receiving end. Who does this leave, Virginia? By now you must have guessed.

"Santa Claus is you, Virginia, you and your family and all the other warm hearted, well heeled Americans who have decided that living it up pays bigger dividends than giving it up.

"You are the one who makes our merchants happy and prosperous. You are the one who makes our workers happy and prosperous. You are the one who makes our banks happy and prosperous.

"So we wish you a Merry Christmas, Virginia, and hope that you will continue to play the rollicking role of Santa Claus every day in the year."

It is a good letter, not entirely right perhaps, but certainly thought provoking. The government gives us nothing. The Virginias are all of us in the capacity of consumers. We owe our abundance to the producers — especially to those who produce efficiently, making goods available to us at prices we can afford to pay.

A hundred years ago almost all of the energy of the nation was required just to produce the essentials of life, food and clothing and shelter. Now only a small portion of the population is able to provide the essentials for all of us and most of the workers are engaged in operations that make our lives more pleasant, more healthy and more interesting.

The real Santa Claus, Virginia, is the person who, by his effort, makes it possible for others as well as himself, to have more of the good things of life.

Stevenson On Strikes

Adlai Stevenson has stated clearly that he favors presidential authority to forbid and to stop strikes in basic industries. Referring to the shut down of the steel industry, he said:

"The steel strike has dramatized the fact that we are at the end of an era. Everybody is agreed that this cannot happen again, that the public interest is the paramount interest and that irresponsible private power is an intolerable danger to our beleaguered society.

"And if there are more stoppages, Congress may be expected to reflect the public temper in legislation, which would not only stop strikes but might stop or seriously cripple collective bargaining, too.

"The right to bargain collectively does not include a right to stop the national economy."

In taking this position Stevenson probably reflects the thinking of most of the people. He had made substantially the same statement as a candidate for President in 1952.

President Eisenhower has indicated that he will ask for such power if the steel strike is not settled and Stevenson's support will be helpful in securing favorable action from Congress.

Plain Talk

(Business Week)

The Nationall Assn. of Manufacturers perhaps got more than it had bargained for when it asked Thomas J. Watson, Jr., president of International Business Machines Corp., to address its convention.

The nation in general, and the NAM in particular, Watson suggested, are refusing to face reality: "We want to spend everything that is necessary for all of the programs to strengthen America. . . . We want a balanced budget . . . and we want the same or lowered taxes." These three desires, said Watson, are incompatible. One of the first sacrifices, he thought, must be a willingness to accept even higher taxes, if necessary, to keep America out front.

The choice of our American goals, Watson told the NAM, isn't up to the government, the President, or the military leaders: "It's squarely up to us—for in the end, we are the policy makers."

Whether or not one agrees completely with Watson, one must applaud his honesty and courage in laying his thoughts on the line before the NAM. Watson also deserves high marks for his common sense: It's time someone scotched the nonsensical current notion that you can accomplish more and more by doing less and less.

Revolutionary changes have taken place since the observance of Christmas began centuries ago. It now seems clear that these changes are only a foretaste of more revolutionary changes to come. We read forecasts for the future that seem fantastic, yet we know that today's realities seemed even more fantastic only a few years ago.

Amid all these changes the spirit of Christmas remains constant throughout the centuries. The ideals of peace and goodwill continue to express the highest aspirations and hopes of men throughout the world.

At the same time, the implications of these ideals have expanded. When the Christmas message of "Peace on Earth" was pronounced nearly 20 centuries ago, the earth was measured in terms of thousands of people and a relatively small geographical area. Today earth counts its people in terms of billions and measures space in terms that to most of us seem like infinity.

I believe that the changes that characterize the world of today give a new importance to the meaning of Christmas. They present us with a tremendously difficult challenge in striving for the goals of Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men. There is a new urgency in the imperative need to put into practice the ideals that make up the true spirit of Christmas — in our personal lives each day — in our public lives and actions — and in our relations with distant peoples.

For distant peoples are very close to us today. What happens to our neighbors, near and far, of every color and creed, is certain to affect our lives and our future. Our own freedom to continue to observe Christmas may depend upon the extent to which we can share with all men the blessings that we have.

There are millions of people throughout the world for whom Christmas does not have the same meaning it has for those of the Christian faith. But there is no great religion that does not value the spirit of love and brotherhood and the ideals of peace and goodwill that are inherent in the Christmas spirit.

Inseparable from the spirit of Christmas is the ideal of the supreme worth of every human being. In that principle of individual worth lie the standards of equality and brotherhood, justice and mercy, freedom and peace, which are the hope of the world today.

Here in the United States these serious aspects of the meaning of Christmas are often overshadowed by merriment and celebration. Christmas should be a time for happiness, a time for renewing contacts with friends, for sharing in the joy of children and the love and good cheer that lies within the family circle. But there should also be time, even in the rush of the holiday season and amid the work and the pressure of modern life, to remember that Christmas means more than all of these things.

Above all, Christmas is an occasion of deep religious significance. It emphasizes the inspiration and the hope that was the great gift to mankind from Him whose birth we commemorate on that day. It is an occasion on which we recognize our own responsibility to be worthy of that gift by making it a reality in every aspect of our lives.

It is my sincere wish that we may all find peace, good will, and happiness on Christmas Day and throughout the coming years.

1959 TRF Levy 252.5 Mills

Thief River Falls property owners will pay taxes in 1960 on the basis of a record non-homestead rate of 252.52 mills, up 12.15 mills from the previous high of 240.37 mills for 1958.

County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr in announcing the figures, stated that the rate on homestead exempt property will be 6.22 mills less.

Tax levies on property in the city of Thief River Falls for 1958 and 1959 are shown in the following table:

	1959	1958
State	14.32	12.42
County	75.52	75.27
School Dist.	117.36	107.36
City	45.32	45.32
	252.52	240.37

The figures reveal that ten mills of the total increase in the rate is attributed to the local school district.

Rodekuhr pointed out that 72.31 mills of the current levy, or 28 per cent, represents the levies made for bond retirement and interest, this total being comparable to that of recent previous years. The county levied 4.35 mills for this purpose, the city 37.76 mills and the school district 30.20 mills.

1 Minor Collision Here Since Monday

Police Report Thefts During the Past Week

Very little activity has been reported by police since Monday, with only one minor traffic mishap and some petty thefts on the log.

At 7:03 Tuesday, a collision occurred at Third st. and Atlantic av. between cars driven by David Bjorkman, city, and LeRoy D. Knutson, Grygla.

Knutson, who was stopped for traffic facing north on Atlantic, failed to see Bjorkman, who was approaching from the right and pulled onto Third st. resulting in a collision.

Damage to Bjorkman's car was estimated at $30, to Knutson's, $60. No tags were issued.

The thefts reported include two tires from Russell Anderson, four hubcaps and dipsticks stolen from vehicles at Sande Auto and Implement Co., all within the past week.

Numerous reports of light bulbs being stolen from Christmas decorations have been made to the police department, also.

Inch of Snow Aids Santa's Sleighing

Snowfall Tuesday Night Is First Since Nov. 23

Santa Claus will find it much easier sledding in the Thief River Falls area with the inch of new snow which fell Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Light snow is also predicted for today which will further ease the task of the eight reindeer pulling the sleigh full of toys for Christmas.

The precipitation was the first measurable amount since November 23.

Cloudy skies have been predicted by the KTRF weather station for tonight and party cloudy skies tomorrow.

Winds today are expected to be from the northwest at 10 miles an hour. No important temperature change is expected.

Highs today should be in the low 20's and the lows tonight near 15.

Teen-age Dance in City Auditorium Saturday, Dec. 26

The Senior Girl Scout troops of Thief River Falls are sponsoring a teen-age dance in the municipal Auditorium Saturday evening, Dec. 26, from 8:30 to 11:30, with music by the Tornadoes orchestra, and with the popular vocalist Brian Shannon. It was announced that the proceeds of the party will be used to buy records for dances to recorded music, held regularly in the Auditorium.

Lincoln Athletic Coaches Address Rotarians Monday

Hartley Story, Prowler Basketball Coach, Looks for Successful Season

Members of the Lincoln high school athletic staff were speakers at the Dec. 21 regular noon meeting of the Rotary in the Elks clubrooms.

Ralph Skay, director of athletics, was introduced by Joe Iverson, director of secondary education. Skay introduced the members of his staff.

Hartley Story, basketball coach of the Prowlers, told Rotarians about the basketball program in the grade schools and its objectives. Turning to the varsity program, Story gave a resume of the team personnel and the progress the team and each member had made this year.

"We are looking forward to a good season," Story said, adding that the Prowlers have as good personnel as Bemidji and that "we can give them more than they expect."

Gene Sack, Prowler hockey coach, explained the year's program in the grade schools before turning to the varsity team's future prospects. "We lack depth and need maturity," he said. "But I am pleased with the progress and attitude of the boys. We are going to have a good hustling club."

Joe Mrkonich, Lincoln high school football coach, was also a guest.

Classification talks were given by Dr. Ralph Helm and Dr. S. E. Pollman.

U.S. Immigration Service Calls on Aliens to Register

Required to List Names with Attorney General During Month of January

W. T. Flagg, district director of the Imigration and Naturalization Service at St. Paul, announced today that aliens in the United States will shortly be required to report their addresses to the attorney general of the United States.

Under present law all aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1st each year must report their addresses by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) accredited diplomats; (2) persons accredited to certain international organizations; and (3) those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers.

Form I-53 on which to make this report may be obtained from any post office during the month of January.

Flagg emphasized that the statute provides severe penalties for failure to comply with this reporting requirement.

Sharp Drop in Price-support Grain Locally

Pennington County Follows National Trend, Report Shows

Most 1959-crop grains are continuing to move under price support in smaller quantities this year than last, according to a nationwide report on national totals received at the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Except for corn and rye, which show relatively small increases over a year earlier, most of the other grains show substantial decreases.

In Pennington County 1959-crop price-support totals as of October 15 included: Barley, 57,609 bu., compared with 153,354 bu.; flax, 973 bu., compared with 26,853 bu.; oats, 80,878 bu., compared with 478,072 bu.; rye, 1965 bu., compared with 16,788 bu.; wheat, 18,437 bu., compared with 49,237 a year ago.

Following are national totals of grains placed under support through October 31, 1959, compared with 1958-crop grains put under the program as of a year earlier: Barley, 26 million bu., compared with 60.8 million; corn, 2.8 million bu., compared with 1.2 million; flaxseed, 226,000 bu., compared with 6 million; oats, 6.6 million bu., compared with 47.7 million; rye, 727,000 bu., compared with 6.2 million; soybeans, 5.5 million bu., compared with 2.3 million; wheat, 262.6 million bu., compared with 453.8 million; dry edible beans, 1.2 million cwt., compared with 2.1 million; grain sorghum, 12.4 million cwt., compared with 38 million; rice, 2.9 million cwt., compared with 2.1 million.

Of the total 381.4 bushels of 1958-crop corn put under the support program on which loans matured July 31 of this year, 163 million bu. had been delivered to the Department of Agriculture as of October 31, loans on 114.3 million bu. had been repaid by producers, and 61.8 million bu. had been resealed for another year.

Name Appointive Masonic Officers

J. A. Narverud, Master Elect, Chooses Staff

Appointive officers who will serve the local Masonic lodge during the coming year were announced this week by J. A. Narverud, who will be installed as worshipful master January 7, along with other elective and appointive officers.

Those appointed include A. J. Borry, senior deacon; Charles R. Richards, junior deacon; Carl Sundstrom, senior steward; LeRoy Nabben, junior steward; Orvis Olen, marshal; James S. Steen, tiler; and Lucius Knight, chaplain.

O. L. Ihle, a past master of the lodge, will serve as installing officer January 7, and members of the Eastern Star chapter will serve lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Werner will leave today, Wednesday, for St. Paul to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives and friends.

Firemen Finish Renovating Toys for Yule Baskets

A large number of toys contributed by local residents and renovated by members of the fire department were delivered Monday to the Salvation Army for distribution with Christmas baskets given to needy families. Fire Chief Roy Langevin was in charge of the project.

ASC in Marshall County Has 145,952 Acres in Reserve

Whole Farms Account for 50,128 Acres in Conservation Reserve

About 145,952 acres of Marshall county cropland will be held out of production in 1960 under conservation reserve contracts, according to a year-end report on Soil Bank activity by Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Land in the conservation reserve is held out of production to help ease the farm surplus situation and is kept in conservation uses to meet future needs.

About 135,279 Marshall county acres are already out of production under this program, and approximately 10,673 more are expected to be added in 1960 as a result of the signup last fall, Mr. Johnson said.

Whole farms (farms on which all the cropland is out of production) account for about 50,128 acres of the total amount of cropland under contract in the county in 1959. A farmer who places all his cropland in the conservation reserve may continue to live on the farm, maintain a home garden, and use the permanent pasture and orchard land. "Whole-farm" contracts, Johnson pointed out, remove the entire production potential of the farm and leave no land for more intensive farming.

Good progress was made during 1959 in establishment of conservation uses on land under contract in Marshall county, Johnson said.

The conservation reserve is a program under which farmers voluntarily sign the contracts with the federal government to retire excess cropland from production. The government makes an annual rental payment for the land and pays part of the cost of establishing the conservation use. About 5 per cent of the nation's total cropland is now reserved under this program.

Local Youngsters Meet Santa Claus

A lot of local youngsters were thrilled to have an advance visit with jolly old Santa Claus when he made the rounds of Thief River Falls stores Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Those who weren't tongue-tied with awe reminded Santa of some of the things they hoped to get at Christmas time.

PLUMMER FU LOCAL TO MEET TUESDAY, DEC. 29

The Plummer Farmers Union will hold its Christmas party in the Plummer hall next Tuesday evening, Dec. 29, at 8 o'clock. Awards will be presented to junior members, and a potluck lunch will be served.

Water Rates Are Amended on 2d Reading

Reduce Increases for Minimum and Large Volume Users

Large-volume water consumers and those who pay the minimum cost will pay less under two changes in the water rate amendment which had its second reading at an adjourned meeting of the city council Tuesday night, Dec. 22.

The action was taken after Al Bacon, head of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke on behalf of the chamber in asking for rates which would "maintain Thief River Falls' competitive position for industry."

Bacon showed graphs of the present and future water rates in Thief River Falls in comparison to those of Bemidji and Crookston and made the recommendation that accounting for the water and sewage departments be combined.

Robert Kammerer, Chamber secretary, urged that the scale be adjusted to increase the cost of water to small users and reduce rates for large consumers.

In answer to Bob Carlson, council president, as to whether the Chamber's recommendation should be taken under advisement and the second reading of the amendment be delayed, Robert Wurst, city attorney, advised that any amendment must be made before the second reading but that if prompt action was not taken, the ordinance change would not be finished before the new council takes over. He advised a decision at the meeting.

Alderman Roy Leo suggested that a lower rate be added to the end of the schedule and, after some discussion, a minimum rate of $1.70 was set as well as two other changes. The first set a charge of 25c per 1,000 gallons for those who use between 150,000 and 300,000 gallons, and the second set a rate of 20c per 1,000 gallons for water used over 300,000 gallons. The second reading was then held and the third and final reading will take place Tuesday morning, Dec. 29, at 7:30 o'clock. The new rates will go into effect the first of the year.

The meeting, attended by all council members with the exception of Alderman A. J. Rau, was unusually brief and few items of business were handled. Attending the meeting was alderman-elect Art Christianson of the second ward.

The final reading of an ordinance increasing the number of volunteer firemen from 10 to 12 was heard, and also the second reading of an ordinance providing for the payment of fines, forfeitures and penalties assessed for the violation of city ordinances to the city treasurer.

On the recommendation of the recreation board, the council adopted a resolution putting the payment of the hockey coaches and maintenance personnel for the hockey program on a season al rather than an hourly basis.

A proposal from James Olson of the St. Paul bond firm of Juran & Moody for the purchase of revenue bonds for the liquor store and power plant was read but no action was necessary at the Tuesday meeting.

BASKETS for the needy of the Thief River Falls area were being prepared this week for delivery by Lt. and Mrs. Robert Burkhardt, left, of the Salvation Army and Mrs. Julius Alby and Stanley Lemke, right. From 55 to 60 baskets will be given away this year and will contain food, toys and clothing donated by fraternal organizations, business places and individuals.

Construction in TRF Rises Sharply in 1959

Building Permits Totaled $645,471, Nearly Double 1958

That the construction industry was active in Thief River Falls in 1959 is indicated in the report by Roy Langevin, building inspector, that permits issued this year called for a conservative stated outlay of $645,471, nearly double the totals of $348,200 for 1958 and $387,781 for 1947. All told, 72 permits were issued this year, compared to 80 in 1958 and 73 in 1957.

Largest project covered by the 72 permits issued in 1959 was construction of the huge new warehouse on Arnold av. by L. B. Hartz Store Inc. at a stated cost of $90,000.

Other major projects included remodeling the liquor dispensary building, $33,500; airplane mechanics school at the airport, $30,000; Noper's Motel addition, $30,000; Gamble store addition, $18,000; livestock pavilion and curling rink at the fair grounds, $17,000; Farmers Union Oil Co. addition, $16,000; Aaseby garage remodeling, $11,000; rest rooms in Riverside park, $7,300; Prichard Bros. building on West Second st., $7,000; Kiewel Products Co. addition, $3,500; and Home Lumber Co., $2,500.

Two church edifices also were built this year, including the First Baptist, on Horace av., $39,000; and the Lutheran Brethren, $29,000.

Home construction held up well this year, 20 new dwellings being built at a total cost of $265,000, or an average of $13,275 each. Also issued were 17 permits for remodeling or additions to dwellings for a total of $30,050, and 21 domestic garages costing $14,400.

District 4-H Leaders Training Institute to Be Held Here Jan. 6

Adult leaders from Pennington county's 15 4-H clubs will attend a district leaders' institute at the court house in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, Jan. 6, County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk said today.

Theme of the 1960 institute is "Understanding Older Members."

The program will center around new features designed to interest older club members. Following a presentation on how to understand this group, leaders will have the opportunity to plan youth programs. Further information will be presented on the role of older members in recreation.

Possible solutions to increase parent cooperation and participation in 4-H will also be presented at the institute.

Leaders will have the opportunity to learn about new features in 4-H such as the new treasurer's book published for the first time in 50 years and the revised secretary's book. Also to be included are the new home improvement-family living project and the new national 4-H objectives. The home project is a combination of the old home furnishing and home assistance projects.

Primary aim of the 4-H program, according to the new objectives, is to provide opportunities for mental, physical, social and spiritual growth.

Leaders' kits covering institute material will be distributed.

TRF Lions Collect Most Money for Salvation Army

Four Service Agencies Turn in Total of $308, Lt. Burkhardt Reports

Collections by the Lions club team for the Salvation Army again topped those of other organizations this year, according to Lt. Robert Burkhardt.

The Lions turned in $127.14, the Jaycees collected $86.95, the Rotary total was $69.75 and the Legion collections were $24.89. The total of $308.75 was above last year's donations by Christmas shoppers of $292.51.

Funds collected are used to provide Christmas cheer for those less fortunate.

Lt. Burkhardt also announced that 55 to 60 baskets of food, toys and clothing will be distributed this year to the needy in the Thief River Falls trade area. Articles in the baskets have been contributed by fraternal organizations, business places and individuals.

Kenneth Jones, student at Dartmouth college in Hanover, New Hampshire, is spending the holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Jones.

The cantata, which includes the entire Christmas story, will feature numbers by the chorus, choir, ladies chorus, men's chorus, ladies trio and solo arrangements.

Soloists will be Marilyn Nygaard, Caroline Swan, Elvida Sollom, Floyd Dalzell and Joseph Swan. Director of the choir is Orville Trontvet and accompanist is Mrs. Floyd Dalzell.

CHURCH AT RINGBO SETS YULE PROGRAM SUNDAY

The Immanuel Lutheran church of Ringbo, east of Holt, will hold its Christmas tree program next Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, at 2:30, it was announced today.

THE JOY of children as Christmas nears is reflected in the faces of these three unidentified youngsters as they talked with Stanta Claus during his special visit to Thief River Falls Monday through Wednesday this week. Hundreds of children had the opportunity to visit with the venerable gentleman on his second trip to the area this year through arrangements made by the Chamber of Commerce December promotion committee. One of the boys had to scratch his head as he thought of the things he wanted this year and the other showed that he was "this many" years old when questioned about his age.

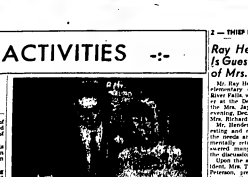
Geneva Swaleson Is Wed To Daniel Scufsa At Ely



Mrs. Geneva Swaleson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swaleson, became the bride of Daniel Scufsa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Scufsa, Sr., on November 28, in Ely.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Gerald LaFleur, uncle of the bridegroom, at 4 o'clock.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Swaleson chose a floor length dress of medium blue with matching accessories. Mrs. Scufsa's dress was fashioned of medium blue velvet with a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Cedarcrest Center cafeteria for relatives and friends. Mrs. Martin Rambadt of Hoyt Lakes cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Alvin Scufsa of Virginia served the punch, while Miss Sharon Swaleson, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a blue dress with white accessories. She is employed by the Ely Printing Company. They will make their home in Ely.

WED AT ELY Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Scufsa, nee Geneva Swaleson, formally of Chisholm, were united in marriage recently in Ely, Minn. They will be making their home in Ely, following their honeymoon.

Lillian Hruby, Delbert DeRaad Wed In Mpls.

Nuptial vows were exchanged recently in Minneapolis by Miss Lillian Hruby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruby of Hazelton, and Delbert Jean DeRaad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer DeRaad of Bloomington, Minn.

The ceremony took place at Our Savior's Lutheran church. Rev. Lawrence officiated in the double ring ceremony performed before Rev. F. Krueger of Bloomington.

Roy Person, friend of the bridegroom, played the organ, playing the nuptial music and accompanying the soloist, Mrs. Ivan Graybeal as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Day Love."

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white satin and taffeta, featuring a sabrina neckline, long sleeves with points over the hands and a chapel length train attached at the back. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a pearl crown and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Ronald Watts of Albert Lea, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, wearing a floor length dress of red velvet and taffeta and a headpiece of white carnations. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and red roses. Bridesmaid was Miss Sharon Wedul of Albert Lea, sister of the bridegroom as best man was Gerald Watts of Albert Lea, his brother-in-law, while Merle DeRaad of Bloomington, cousin of the groom, was groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hruby chose a dark aqua dress with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow and white carnations. Mrs. DeRaad wore a dress of dark green velvet crepe and a corsage of yellow and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 50 relatives and friends of the bridegroom. Miss Sharon Wedul cut the wedding cake while Mrs. Ronald Murphy, friend of the bride, served at the guest book with Mrs. Lester Johnson, cousin of the bridegroom and Mercedes Person, friend of the bride, at the punch table.

The bride is a graduate of Roseau high school and also took a business course at the Arts Vocational school in Thief River Falls. She is presently employed at the Thief River Falls Hospital.

Social Security Is Highly Esteemed by State Farm People

Retirement plans aren't getting the attention they deserve from Minnesota farm people, according to preliminary results of a survey.

University of Minnesota rural sociologists Gary Hansen and Marvin Taves are finding that less than a fourth of the farm families are making investments specifically intended for old age income.

Few people have pensions or medical insurance. And few have any definite plans for what they will do when they give up their present activity.

The survey does indicate, though, that farm people put a high value on social security—even though many give it little thought until they are nearing actual retirement.

Of persons now getting old age and survivors' insurance, nearly two-thirds said the payments allowed them to be self-supporting. About 40 per cent said social security made it possible to be more active in social, religious and other community affairs. A third said it allowed them to take part in more recreational activities and 28 per cent said it freed their children from financial support.

About 8 of 10 persons on social security income said it didn't help them buy things other than they would have bought anyway. However, the payments helped 13 per cent keep more land and 7 per cent to keep personal property that otherwise would have been sold.

Several persons interviewed had comments on the social security program itself. Some said payments should be higher—so that benefits would also go up. Some felt eligibility age for payments should be lowered to 60. Others thought present beneficiaries are getting disproportionately high payments. In general, the study indicated a lack of understanding of the basic philosophy behind the program.

The survey was made of about 1,150 persons in three counties. The preliminary summary is based on a small proportion of the overall sample. The study is now being summarized and a full report will be made later.

Willis E. Chapman Succumbs; Rites Set For Saturday

Willis E. Chapman, a resident of the community for the past 59 years, died Monday, Dec. 21, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 87.

Funeral services will be Saturday, Dec. 26, at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist church with Rev. Ronald Dalzell officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with Sinding funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Chapman was born at Bristow, Iowa, where he attended school and grew to manhood. The Chapman family then moved to Missouri, then to Kansas and returned to Iowa. April 15, 1896, he was united in marriage to Sarah Van Riper in Franklin county, Iowa, and in October they migrated to Thief River Falls by covered wagon. Mr. Chapman worked in the sawmill for several months and then homesteaded in Esplee township, Marshall county. From 1928 until 1937 they lived in Moylan township, and in Silverton township until 1942, when they moved to Thief River Falls. Their home here was located at 514 Red Lake Blvd.

Surviving are five daughters and six sons: Olive, Mrs. Willis Roese of Thief River Falls; Flossie, Mrs. Nellas Johnson of Thief River Falls; Florence, Mrs. Chester Eakles of Emerado, N. D.; Elva, Mrs. Melvin Hanson of Petersburg, N. D.; Hazel, Mrs. Lester Jesperson of Plummer; Harold and Lester of Thief River Falls; Earl of Emerado, N. D.; Ervin of St. Hilaire; Dallas of Park River, N. D.; Clarence of Newington, Conn.; one brother, Arthur, Hampton, Iowa; 30 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Rites Monday for Paul A. Helseth, Former Resident

Funeral rites were conducted Monday in Minneapolis for Paul A. Helseth, one-time Thief River Falls resident, who died late last week at the age of 56.

He lived here 35 years ago when his fathers, Isak Helseth, now of St. Paul, was manager of the Minneapolis Bridge Co. in this city. Born in Kennedy, he had lived in Minneapolis since 1926, and was graduated from the University of Minnesota college of engineering in 1929. He was employed by the university as a civil engineer.

In addition to his father, he is survived by his wife, two daughters, a brother and a sister.

Mary Severts Sucumbs; Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Severts were held Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 2 p.m. in the First Lutheran church at Middle River. Officiating at the rites was Rev. James Hanson with interment in the church cemetery. Collins funeral home of Middle River was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Severts died Sunday, Dec. 20, at Bethesda hospital in Crookston at the age of 84. She was born Jan. 9, 1875, at Bergen, Norway, and there attended school and grew to womanhood. At the age of 18 she came with her parents to the United States, settling at Clarkfield, Minn. She was united in marriage to Andrew Severts, March 21, 1896, at Clarkfield and they farmed there until 1900 when they moved to Marshall county. They farmed in Como township until 1910 when they moved to Middle River. Mr. Severts died in 1942 and Mrs. Severts continued to make her home in Middle River.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Lundin and one son, Selmer, both of Middle River. She was preceded in death by her husband and one son.

Osmund Ordahl Dies Tuesday

Osmund Ordahl, life time resident of this community, died Tuesday, Dec. 22, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 66.

Funeral arrangements are pending as of this writing for additional word from relatives. The Sinding-Gulbranson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

Barley Smut Testing

A program for testing barley seed for loose smut infection is being conducted by the University of Minnesota.

According to Herbert Johnson, University extension plant pathologist, seed samples will be tested for percentage of smut-infected embryos. In general, growers can expect yield loss from smut to be about the same, percentage-wise, as the seed infection.

Loose smut cost Minnesota barley growers an estimated $1.5 million loss in 1959—mostly in the Red River Valley. Infection was as high as 30 per cent in some fields.

Samples for testing are to be mailed to the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1. Cost is $5 per sample, and the check should be made out to the association—not the University.

The association will then turn the samples over to the university's department of plant pathology and botany for testing. Results will be returned within about a week after samples are received, through county agricultural agents.

Each sample should contain at least a pint of seed and be as representative of the total supply as possible. It should be made up of small amounts of grain selected with a probe from at least ten different places in the bin or granary. If taken carefully, one sample can represent up to 1,000 bushels. Probes for sampling are usually available from retail seed dealers.

Loose smut disease is seed-borne. Best way to avoid it is to get tested seed with a low percentage of infection—not more than 5 per cent, if possible. Treatment to kill smut in the embryos isn't practical on a large scale.

All barley varieties recommended in Minnesota are susceptible to the smut.

Farm Management

Twice as good a job of farm management can mean three times as much farm profit.

A dozen farms in northeastern Minnesota have proven it. In 1954, they averaged $1,619 return to capital and family labor — what most of us mean when we say "profit."

By 1958, the same farms averaged $4,473 return, or almost three times the 1954 average.

Better management was the key to this improvement. These farmers, through intensive fertilizer use, boosted their pasture, hay and silage yields that meant they could keep more cows. They also improved the quality of these feeds. This meant higher production per cow.

In the 4-year period of the study, the farms increased their cow numbers from 15, on the average, to 23, and butterfat production went from 279 up to 353 pounds. Yet, most of the farms were the same size at the end of the period as at the beginning.

The increase in earnings for individual farms was closely tied to the increase in total butterfat production. As butterfat output went up, so did the increase in return to capital and family labor. The two farms with the largest increase in butterfat output should have increased earnings of over $5,200 apiece.

These farmers have been cooperating with University extension workers in a special farm management demonstration project.

Farewell Party Given Milton Obergs Monday

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Milton Oberg, JoDell and Wade were honor guests at a Goodbye and Good Luck party at their home given by their close neighbors and friends. The Obergs will leave to make their home at Georgetown after the New Year. A social time was enjoyed. A lunch of Christmas goodies and ice cream was served. The Obergs received a purse of money as a remembrance with the wish "That Good Fortune Be With You Whatever You Do" from the group that included Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hagen and Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Johnson, Neil and Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hellquist and John, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Quam, Valarie and Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Kalbakdalen and Mrs. Raymond Pederson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rafteseth left Saturday, Dec. 12 for Moorhead to spend several days with their sons Lloyd and Walter and their families. On Saturday evening they were among the guests at the wedding of a nephew, Duane Rafteseth and his bride Maxine Yeager of Felton, Minn. at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church in Moorhead. Duane's father, H. B. Rafteseth of Thief River Falls was a former resident here. During their stay in Moorhead they together with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rafteseth, Linda and Pamela spent one day in Alexandria where they visited with the Art Gundersons and with Mr. and Mrs. Werline (Sophie Nelson) a relative of Mrs. Rafteseth. They returned home Thursday.

Our community was shocked Thursday by the tragic accident at the Railroad crossing by the Saugen farm where Mrs. Emil Englund of Grygla was fatally injured. Son, Jerry was critically injured and is now a patient at St. John's hospital in Fargo. Jerry has many friends here as he spent the summer employed on the Percy Hagen turkey farm. The Percy Hagen's attended funeral services Monday at the Carmel church near Grygla.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Kalbakdalen spent last Sunday at Crookston visiting at the Tom Brubakken home.

Gail Aaseby, a Lincoln high school senior, because of her interest in work with the airlines, had a personal interview Saturday with Mr. Don Beffener of Minneapolis, who represented the Central Technical Institute at Kansas City, Missouri.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Russel Nelson were coffee guests at the Raymond Nelson home in Thief River Falls following the Senior Christmas Tree program at the Zion Church. The Art Larson family of Thief River Falls were also guests with Bobby Larson especially remembered for his seventh birthday the following day.

The Ladies Chorus of the Rindal Church gave a short program at the Oakland Park Rest Home on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 15. Following the program they served the 60 patients an assortment of Christmas cookies and coffee.

John Hellquist together with other members of the hockey team enjoyed a plane ride to Grand Forks Saturday where they attended the hockey game that evening at the North Dakota Fieldhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cockrane of Bemidji came up Sunday afternoon for an overnight visit at the Hjalmer Aaseby home.

Agronomist Urges Caution in Buying Field Crop Seeds

Harley Otto, University Extension Service Man, Says "Know Your Dealer"

Buying seed that you aren't sure of is like gambling — with the deck stacked against you.

The way to put the odds in your favor is with certified seed of proven varieties, according to Harley Otto, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota. Look, he says for yielding ability, disease resistance, and high general quality.

Industries using crops insist on quality. Millers and bakers either heavily discount poor wheat or refuse to buy it. Same holds true with the malting industry and barley.

Know the dealer you buy seed from, Otto advises. And don't be misled by seed peddlers who claim great things for unknown varieties. You'll find out that usually, seed of an unknown variety sells for more than good seed of proven varieties. Also, seed sold under a brand name has no guarantee as to variety unless both the brand name and variety name are given.

University - recommended crop varieties for 1960 are:

Oats — Ajax, Andrew, Burnett, Gary, Minhafer, Minton, Rodney. Rye — Adams, Caribou, Elk Flax — Arny, B5128, Bolley, Redwood. Spring Wheat — Lee and Selkirk (bread); Langdon and Ramsey (durum).

Winter Wheat — Minter, Bayley — Kindred, Parkland, Traill. Field Peas — Chancellor. Alfalfa — Ranger, Vernal.

Medium Red Clover — Dollard, Lakeland. Biennial Sweet Clover — Evergreen, Madrid. Smooth Bromegrass—Achenbach, Fischer, Lincoln. Birdsfoot Trefoil — Empire. Sudangrass — Piper. Timothy — Itasca, Lorain. Kentucky Bluegrass — Park.

To all our neighbors and many friends we extend greetings and our prayer that this Yule season be filled with cheer, love and great happiness.

Union State Aids 4-H Foundation

Contributes to Support of National 4-H Agency

The Union State bank has joined with other Minnesota banks in national support of 4-H club work, according to J. J. Womack, president.

The contribution was made, Womack said, to the National 4-H Club Foundation near Washington, D.C., as part of a nation-wide fund-raising program.

The local bank has supported local 4-H programs for many years.

This local support to the national program has been acknowledged by a letter to Womack from Jesse W. Tapp, Los Angeles, Calif., chairman of the board of the Bank of America, who heads the bank campaign in behalf of the 4-H Foundation.

The National 4-H Club Foundation, a privately financed arm of the cooperative extension service, is currently responsible for three major programs: (1) the International Farm Youth Exchange in which over 200 rural young people are exchanged each year between this country and 40 countries of the free world so they may live and work with farm families and promote better understanding; (2) the National 4-H Club Center in the nation's capital; and (3) a broad program in human development-human relations for training youth leaders in how to work more effectively with young people.

THE RUSH was on at the postoffice this week as patrons mailed cards and packages delayed until the last minute. The postoffice will close at noon Thursday, Dec. 24, but the regular route delivery will be made and will open again Saturday morning. Only special handling and perishable packages will be delivered Christmas Day, according to R. J. Dryden, postmaster.

Charges Dropped Against Former Grygla Resident

Douglas Benson of Minneapolis, a former Grygla resident, was released by Thief River Falls police when they were notified by Minneapolis police that car theft charges against the man had been dropped.

Benson was arrested Friday evening following a highway patrol bulletin which listed a 1954 Cadillac convertible as stolen. The car was parked in front of a local drug store and was spotted by Donald Olson, city police officer.

Bejou Man Fined after Collision West of Fertile

A car driven by Mrs. Lucille Butts, Carrington, N.D., was involved in a side-swipe collision early Friday evening 3¼ miles west of Fertile with a car operated by Victor A. Helgeson, Bejou.

Mrs. Butts, traveling west, was accompanied by her husband, LeRoy Butts. Helgeson, driving east, was alone.

The Butts car was pulling a compressor, which rolled into the ditch following the impact.

No one was injured. Helgeson was cited for driving under the influence of liquor and appeared in justice court Saturday where he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $105.50.

Five Persons Are Penalized in Court

Traffic Law Violations Make up Monday's Grist

Five persons appeared in Monday's municipal court session and were given fines by Judge H. O. Chommie.

Brought in by the highway patrol on charges of being drunk on a public highway were Robert Murline Johnson and Roger W. Johnson, both of rt. 1, TRF. Both pleaded guilty but their cases were continued until Dec. 28.

Willis P. Gustafson, rt. 4, Anoka, forfeited $16.50 bond on a speeding charge.

Two persons were brought in by Sheriff Charles Richards. Benj. L. Gustafson, city, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $19.50 plus $5.50 costs. Douglas O. Benson, rt. 4, Grygla, pleaded guilty to driving without proper registration plates displayed and was fined $25 plus $5.50 costs.

Lawrence I. Sletten, city, forfeited $25 for careless driving.

City police had two cases, one of which also involved Douglas O. Benson, Grygla. He pleaded guilty to driving without a valid drivers license and was fined $25 plus $4 costs.

Clarence R. Kraft, Carey, Ohio, pleaded guilty to having an open bottle of intoxicants in a car and was fined $25.

Missouri Synod Pastors to Meet

Lutheran Missouri Synod ministers of the Thief River Falls and Crookston circuits will have their annual Christmas gathering at Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Crookston Tuesday, Dec. 29, beginning with a potluck meal at 5:30 p.m. The ministers and their families will participate in carol singing and in fellowship. The Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Sevling of Crookston will be hosts.

Mrs. E. D. Travers Monday spotted a pair of robins in the yard at her home, 319 Kneale av. N. And it was the shortest day of the year, too.

November Losses by Fire in Nation Put at $78 Million

Estimated fire losses in the United States during November amounted to $78,582,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported.

This loss represents an increase of 9.8 per cent over losses of $71,539,000 reported for November, 1958, and an increase of 10.4 per cent over losses of $71,160,000 for October, 1959.

Losses for the first 11 months of 1959 now total $950,629,000, a decrease of .5 per cent from the first 11 months of 1958, when they amounted to $955,743,000.

St. Paul Markets

South St. Paul Livestock Market Report - Monday

Steers and Heifers: While most of the steer and heifer offerings graded Good to low-Choice there were several loads of both classes in the middle of the Choice grade and even better. Broad shipper support for steers weighing above 1,200 lbs. and well in the Choice grade was a distinct reversal from last week when buyers for outside accounts operated on a basis much reduced from normal. Two loads high-Choice 1,157 and 1,225 lb. slaughter steers brought $25.75. About a dozen loads average to high-Choice went at $25.25-25.50 high-Choice 1,325 lbs. making $25.50 Some other sales within that price spread included 1,003, 1,157, 1,173, and 1,221 lb. weights at $25.50; 1,058, 1,125, and 1,175 lbs. at $25.25. Good and Choice steers bulked at $22.50-25.00, a consignment of high-Choice 1,510 lbs. selling at $25.00. Good and Choice 1,354 lb. weights brought $24.00, and high-Good 1,388 lbs brought $24.00, and high-Good 1,388 lbs. $23.50. Standard steers were taken at $19-21.00, and Utility $15-18.00. A load of high-Choice 1,030 lb. heifers realized $25.00, average-Choice 855, 960, and 1,015 lb weights going at $24.50. Good and Choice heifers cleared at $22-24.00. Standard $18-21.00, and Utility $15-17.00.

Cows and Bulls: Most Utility and Commercial cows ranged from $14.50-16.00 while Canners and Cutters bulked at $12-14.00 There were high yielding Cutters, some which were mixed with Utility grade, at $14.50 while shelly Canners went at $10-11.00 Cutter and Utility bulls made $18-21.50. Commercial and Good going at $19.50-21.00, while Canner bulls brought $14-17.00.

Vealers and Calves: Bulk sales Good and Choice vealers were made at $23-27.00, high-Choice and Prime $28-31.00 Standard grade brought $17-22.00, Cull and Utility $12-16.00. Some light Culls sold at $10-11.00. Good and Choice slaughter calves made $21-25.00. Utility and Standard $14-20.00, and Culls $12-13.00.

Stocker and Feeder Cattle and Calves: A load of Good to mostly Choice 811 lb. feeder steers sold at $25.00. There were Good and Choice 930 lb. weights at $23.50 and two loads scaling 878 lbs. at $23.00. Medium steer calves weighing a shade over 400 lbs. cashed at $24.00.

Prowlers Defeat Int. Falls Six 6-3

Getting three quick first period goals, coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers took command of their game with the International Falls Broncos played here Monday night, and went on to win the game by a 6 to 3 score.

The Prowlers play a return game against coach Bill Sullivan's Crookston Cathedral squad tonight, Wednesday, and Monday and Tuesday the locals participate in an invitational tournament at International Falls.

Eddie Holmes, getting a cross-rink pass from Arlan Hjelle, flipped a backhand shot past goalie Bill Roeder and into the north net after forty seconds of play had elapsed Monday night, giving the Prowlers a 1 to 0 lead over the Broncos. And the locals never looked back, adding a pair of goals to take a 3 to 0 first period lead.

Archie Schneider, who played a strong all-round game for the Prowlers, dented the net at the 4:56 mark, slapping in a shot from just inside the blue-line. And seconds later, Dale Wennberg slapped in a well-executed shot, beating the Falls' goalie at the 5:16 mark.

The Prowlers, in the opening minutes of the second period, moved into a 4 to 0 lead when Wennberg, on a face-off to the right of Broncos net, slapped a score past the surprised Roeder.

The Falls' broke into the scoring column at the 4:27 mark of the second period when Joe Bolsan, after carrying the puck around the Prowler net, slipped a pass out to Gerry Nyborg, who picked the far corner for the goal.

With the Falls skating a man short, having Pat Roche in the penalty box, Wes Halvorson, with Larry Poole and Jim Wegge assisting, rammed a shot into the south goal. After the Broncos' Dave Grandaw had tallied for coach Larry Ross' club at the 8:03 mark, the Prowlers chalked up their final goal, with Larry Poole banging in the rebound on Wes Halvorson's try from left wing, the score coming at the 8:48 mark.

State Gets Bids on $6.6 Million Jobs

Clearwater Co. Project on Highway 92 Included

Apparent low bids on slightly more than $6.6 million of highway work have been received on seven Interstate highway and seven regular trunk highway projects, State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman announced today. The work called for includes improvements on 54 miles of highways, the construction of seven bridges, and the removal of 176 buildings from highway right of way.

On the biggest project, the Barton Contracting Co. of Osseo submitted the apparent low bid of $1,867,370. This project calls for grading, crushed rock base, bituminous surfacing and concrete paving on 8.3 miles of T.H. 63 in Olmsted county.

McCree & Co. of St. Paul submitted the apparent low bid of $1,335,705 on the second biggest project. Work called for includes grading, base, bituminous shoulders and concrete paving on 13.3 miles and the construction of a bridge on T. H. 10 in Becker and Clay counties.

The apparent low bidders also include: Clearwater county, T. H. 92—Grading, gravel base and road mixed bituminous base on eight miles, located between the west line of Clearwater county and .4 mile west of Clearbrook: Harvey W. Nelson of Lake Park, $366,389; lowest of 12 bids. Work is to start May 16, 1960 and is to be completed in 90 working days.

The Silver Anniversary

The current issue of "Sports Illustrated" magazine announces its fourth annual awards for career achievement to college seniors of 1934 who won their letter in foobali and who, in the judgement of their colleges and a board of noteworthy citizens, have made a telling contribution in American professional, business and community life this past quarter century.

Included in this group is Francis (Pug) Lund, the hard-running halfback who gained All-American honors as a member of coach Bernie Bierman's national champion Minnesota Gophers of 1934. The magazine, in commenting on the 25 men who were honored, said "all played the game well, some played it superbly. Pug Lund starred at tailback for Minnesota's national champions and threw the pass that beat Pitt, 13 to 7, in possibly the finest college football game ever played."

Roy Oen, who captained the Gophers in 1933, played a couple of season's with Lund, and he has many vivid memories of Pug. According to Roy, he believes that Lund gained his nickname of "Pug" during his freshmen year at Minnesota. During those years, the Northwestern Wildcats were one of the Big Ten's football powers, and one of the starring players for the Wildcats was Pug Rentner, a halfback.

The Gopher freshman team, in their practice sessions against the varsity, would run the offensive formations that the Gophers would be liable to meet. And it was only natural for Lund to assume the offensive position in the Gopher frosh lineup that Pug Rentner filled for the Wildcats, and so he became Pug Lund.

And, too, in the picture accompanying the magazine article, it is noticeable that Lund is missing the little finger of his left hand. Roy stated that during Lund's sophomore and junior years Pug was handicapped by a badly shattered little finger on his left hand. So many times had the finger been broken that it was impossible for Lund to bend the digit. During the off-season, following the 1933 season, Lund had this finger amputated.

A Pleasant Surprise

That was an entertaining and enjoyable performance that the hockey Prowlers gave before the home fans on Monday night when they registered a well-deserved 6 to 3 win over a confident band of Broncos from International Falls.

While the win was the result of an all-out effort by the team, and reflected the coaching of Gene Sack, there was a couple of factors that were noteworthy, and which contributed greatly to the Prowlers' triumph.

First, we must mention the play of the Prowlers' second line of Larry Poole, Wes Halvorson and Jim Wegge. Coach Sack, last week, moved Halvorson and Wegge up to left and right wing, respectively, with sophomore Poole centering, and the maneuver has begun to pay dividends. Wes and Jim are solid boys, weighing up around the 175-lb. mark, and being seniors they have considerable experience and poise. This experience was in evidence on Monday night as the trio tossed the puck around the ice in fine fashion, setting up their plays real well. And on defense the boys were back-checking all night. It was an impressive line on Monday night.

And second, we must acknowledge the play of Archie Schneider on defense. Archie, who has all the qualifications and equipment of a top-flight blue liner, played one of the finest games on Monday night that he has turned in during his long career as a Prowler varsity man. Archie was clearing the ice in front of goalie Wayne Halvorson like a pro, and he was alert in flipping the puck out to the forwards, giving the Prowler wingmen that extra step or two that is necessary to put on a dangerous rush. There is not much doubt but that burly Archie is a potential for some college squad.

Another 1000-pin Game

The Hamm's Beer squad succeeded in breaking the 1000 pin barrier several weeks ago, and last Tuesday the Elks club five also came through with a 1000-pin plus game.

Playing a three-game match against the Viking Tavern, last season's Business league champions, the Elks turned in three games, 1048-837-921, that aggregated a fine 2806 total.

In their 1000 pin plus game, the Elks led off with a 213 by pilot Jim Disse; Dr. Ralph Helm followed with 199 tally; and John Jaranson scored a 214; and anchor Gordy Reierson chalked up a 202.

What made this score so satisfying for the Elks club team was that it was made against the "Black Knights," the Viking Tavern squad. The rivalry between the two squads has been red-hot for several years, for it's a case of youth vs. age. In this case, age proved superior.

'B' Prowler Quint Takes Roseau 34-18

Game Played Tuesday Night in Roseau Gym

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' squad defeated the Roseau 'B' squad, 34 to 18, in a preliminary game played at Roseau on Tuesday night. The Prowlers, with Gary Anderson dropping in four free throws and a field goal and Harvey Ebbighausen scoring a pair of field goals, gained a 14 to 4 first period lead.

In the third period, Elton Hornseth racked up three field goals and a pair of free throws to move the Prowlers into a 29 to 14 lead. In the final quarter, the locals outpointed the quick-moving Rams, 5 to 4, to win by a 34 to 18 score.

Prowlers Edge Roseau Qu ntet

With eleven seconds of play remaining in a rough and tugged basketball game played at Roseau on Tuesday night, Steve Embury dropped in a pair of free throws to give the Prowlers a 40 to 36 lead and put the game beyond the ever-trying Rams who came back with a field goal by Norm Flagstad with four seconds to play, giving the Prowlers a 40 to 38 win over coach Ambrose Kramer's district 32 Rams.

Roseau, with a sturdy squad of hard running players, jumped into an 11 to 5 first period. The Prowlers, in the second period, began to pare that lead. Darrell Nelson hit on a jump shot to open the period's scoring, and then Ron Hanson looped in ten successive points, getting a pair of free throws, a field goal, another pair of free throws, and two field goals, giving the Prowlers a 17 to 11 lead.

Roseau, on a pair of field goals by Denis Andol, and an outside shot by Flagstad and a corner shot by burly Bert Waag, came back to knot the game at 21 all at the intermission.

The Rams moved into a 28 to 26 lead midway in the third period, and then protected their lead by playing a ball-control style of game. Ron Hanson evened the game on hook shot, and Gary Anderson's gift shot gave the locals a 29 to 28 advantage. Don Ulferts notched a free throw and Nelson drove in for lay-up, to boost the Prowlers into a 32 to 28 lead entering the final period.

A pair of corner shots, with Waag and Rod Nelson hitting on the tries, knotted the game at 32 to 32. Darrell Nelson's free throw with 4:37 to play, again gave the Prowlers a one-point lead. Waag's free throw tied the game at 33-all, but not for long as Hanson scored on a rebound and Nelson racked up a lay-up shot. Roseau's Rod Nelson picked up a rebound and dropped in a field goal, and Flagstad added a point on free throw, and the game was in a 38 to 36 score with short time remaining. Embury then marked up two points by converting a free throw and the bonus.

Ron Hanson led the scoring with nine field goals and five free throws for twenty-three points. Bert Waag was the second high scorer, and Roseau's top man, with eleven points.

Highway Dept. Warns State Pedestrians

"Walk safely, your life depends upon it," was the warning issued today by Harry A. Sieben, Minnesota highway safety director. "One out of seven traffic deaths involves a pedestrian and eight out of ten of these result from pedestrian errors."

Sieben noted that the total of pedestrian deaths in Minnesota traffic was dangerously near the 1958 total of 107. Four pedestrians were killed in the first half of December and 101 were killed in the first eleven months of 1959.

He emphasized that while the pedestrian is no match for a two-ton vehicle, the pedestrian violated safety rules and traffic regulations in most every case. "The pedestrian literally walked to his death," he said.

"Crossing between the intersections, darting from between cars, crossing against the red light at controlled intersections are violations found which result in pedestrian accidents."

Sieben reminded "walkers" that they are required to observe traffic regulations the same as motorists. He listed the following safety rules:

Carry or wear white at night.

Cross only at crosswalks—with the green light.

Before crossing — look both ways.

Never dash out between parked cars.

Walk on the left side, facing traffic.

Bemidji College to Dedicate Its New Structures Jan. 4

Gov. Orville Freeman to Be Guest Speaker at Dedication Ceremonies

Dedication of the recent expansion of the Bemidji State college physical plant will be held Monday, January 4, with Governor Orville L. Freeman being among the principal speakers.

Buildings to be dedicated are the new million dollar physical education building, the food service building, wing C of Birch Hall and wing A of Pine Hall.

Festivities will start at 2 p.m. with a concert by the Bemidji State college band under the direction of Edgar B. Gangware. At 2:30 p.m. the Ely high school Wilderness Mermaids will present an exhibition of synchronized swimming in the new college pool and there will be physical education demonstrations in the new gymnasium.

From 4 to 5 p.m. there will be an open house and coffee hour in the Birch Hall Lounge and the public is invited to inspect all of the new facilities of the college between 4 and 6 p.m. Guides will be available for assistance.

At 6 p.m. a dedication dinner will be held at the Birch Hall food services building. The principal address will be given by S. J. Krzysko, Winona, president of the state college board. C. R. Sattgast, president of BSC, will introduce honored guests.

Gymnastics will be demonstrated at 7:30 p.m. by the University of North Dakota gym team and at 8 p.m. the physical education building will be dedicated with Gov. Freeman giving the dedication address.

At 8:45 the Bemidji State College Beaver basketball team will entertain the University of North Dakota Sioux in the first basketball game to be played in the new plant which will seat nearly 3,000 people.

November Traffic Count Below 1958

Statewide Count Shows Decline of 2.8 Per Cent

A state-wide traffic count for November shows a drop of 2.8 per cent under the same month in 1958, the Minnesota highway department reports.

The most significant decreases, according to figures obtained from the department's 27 automatic traffic counters located throughout the state, occurred in the southern part of the state because of snow and ice-covered highways.

The automatic counter on T.H. 14 west of Rochester showed a drop of 11.6 per cent, and the counter on T. H. 16 west of Albert Lea showed a drop of 17 per cent.

Traffic at a point west of Sacred Heart on T.H. 212 dropped below 1958 counts for the first time since June of this year, as travel picked up on T. H. 7 where construction has now been completed.

The only significant increases in the state were recorded on the Iron Range as work resumed in the mines. The count on T. H. 169 east of Grand Rapids was 10 per cent higher than the previous ratio between this year and 1958.

An analysis of month to month totals is consistent for this time of year, with November averages 13 per cent below those of October.

Announce Crop Loan Rates in Marshall Co.

The last date for obtaining price support on most 1959 crop grains and related crops will be February 1, Edward A. Johnson, Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee chairman, announced today.

The official closing date for price support on barley, flaxseed, oats, rye, soybeans and wheat is Jan 31. However, since that date falls on a Sunday, the deadline is automatically extended to Monday, Feb. 1.

The loan rates and eligibility standards for 1959-crop commodities in Marshall county are as follows:

Barley: 76 cents per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better (except mixed barley). Discounts for lower grades down to No. 5 or No. 5 garlicky.

Flaxseed: $2.35 per bushel for No 1 Premium for low moisture, discount for No 2

Oats: 30 cents per bushel for No 3; premium for higher quality;' discounts for No 4 on test weight only, for No. 4 because of "badly stained" or "materially weathered" and for garlicky.

Rye: 85 cents per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better or No. 3 on test weight only. Rye may not contain more than 1 per cent ergot.

Soybeans: $1.71 per bushel for No. 2 or better, green and yellow. Premium for low moisture; discounts for grade and quality factors below No. 2 through No. 4. Soybeans containing more than 14 per cent moisture ineligible.

Wheat: $1.90 per bushel for No. 1. Premiums for higher quality, discounts for lower grades down to No. 4, 5 or "sample" but having a test weight of not less than 40 pounds per bushel. Wheat must not be musty, sour, heating or hot. Discounts of 20 cents per bushel for specified undesirable varieties.

Hunting Out of Season

Someone with a sizeable bank balance or with an empty locker became trigger happy Sunday afternoon and shot a bull moose. The scene of the crime was detected by one of our local fliers who has had some enjoyment flying over the Nelson swamp area counting the moose population. The high count has been 19 moose. They noticed this particular moose lay in an awkward position for a live animal and on investigation found a medium sized bull, still warm. Game wardens were called and the moose was dressed and taken to the Newfolden locker plant for processing. The party who did the shooting did not appear to claim the meat during the night and to date no arrest has been made.

Editorials . . .

"Since reason condemns war and makes peace an absolute duty; and since peace cannot be effected or guaranteed without a compact among nations, they must form an alliance of a peculiar kind, which may be called a pacific alliance, different from a treaty of peace inasmuch as it would for ever terminate all wars, whereas the latter ends only one."
—Immanuel Kant

Victims of Their Own Folly

The St. Paul Pioneer Press wept bitterly in a recent editorial on the 'Plight of the Cities.' The tax burden was becoming intolerable and the state and federal governments would have to do something about it. Sales taxes and payroll taxes were suggested as possible solutions.

We are not unsympathetic to the plight of taxpayers anywhere, at any level, and we will go along with the idea that here in Minnesota we will have to find new revenue sources to relieve the burden on real estate, in the best interests of our own industrial development. Uniformity with other states is a desirable thing in any tax structure.

But we would be more sympathetic to the needs of our large cities if those large cities would be a little more concerned about their spending. In both St. Paul and Minneapolis, as in most other large cities, huge sums of money are being spent in slum clearance projects and for the rebuilding of so-called blighted areas.

Such redevelopment programs, we are sure, have much merit, and if the development is gradual the desired changes probably can be secured at costs that will not be an undue burden to the taxpayers. But from our observation it seems that the redevelopment programs that now are under way, or in the planning stage, in our lage cities are quite ambitious and perhaps a little extravagant. Considering our own problems, and we have taxes too, we have wondered how our distressed city cousins can afford to destroy millions of dollars worth of property that is still useful and usable, in order to speed up a redevelopment program that could be paid for by poor people only over a period of many years.

The reports explaining these fabulous redevelopments always assure the local property owners that very little of this cost is going to be charged up to them. We assume, therefore, that the planners have assurance that the bills will be paid by someone else. The federal government, always eager to pick up the check, may be one of the victims. Possibly the state, through such agencies as the University of Minnesota, may also make substantial contributions.

We are not as well informed on these matters as we should be, and possibly we are in error. We will seek more information. But based on what we do know, we are satisfied that the large cities, in most of these matters, are the victims of their own folly. We are not unsympathetic, but we do feel that it is unfortunate that those who are leaders in the large cities do not set a better example for the rest of us on how to manage our own affairs.

Pork Giveaway

Our Canadian neighbors are disposing of their surplus stock of pork that was acquired under a government price support program. The surplus will be given to charitable institutions and agencies within Canada and abroad, according to the Winnipeg Tribune, which explains that, "This means that the government will not try to recover the money paid for it originally. But there are reasons why it is probably wiser to give it away rather than hold it in storage in the hope of selling it later."

The Canadian government has stopped buying pork and now will try a new experiment in price supports in the form of deficiency payments. The new plan bears some resemblance to the Brannan plan that is advocated by some groups in our country. As the Tribune explains it:

"Instead of buying hogs when the price falls to a certain level, the government will let the price of pork find its own level and will make direct payments to farmers to make up the difference between the market price and the government-set support price."

The Tribune expresses concern as to whether the new plan will encourage overproduction. The answer to this question probably will be decided by the support price level that the government establishes. If the support price is higher than the market warrants, then, of course, overproduction will be encouraged. The law of supply and demand will still prevail.

And, of course, a lower market price for pork in Canada will have an adverse effect on the pork market in our country.

The Fear Of Peace

The Wall Street Journal does not agree with Senator Humphrey and others who fear that disarmament would be a serious blow to our economy. "Our whole history refutes the contention that prosperity depends on huge defense outlays," says the Journal.

In support of the view that prosperity and peace are not incompatible, it cites the fact that most of our prosperity and progress have come in the peaceful periods of our history.

The Journal quotes Mr. Cordiner, chairman of the board of General Electric, our country's third biggest defense contractor, as being confident that the economy would be strengthened if defense spending were reduced, observing that:

"A lower level of expenditures for defense would permit a corresponding reduction in Federal income taxes. The reduction of taxes, one of the most serious cost factors, would immediately improve the competitive position of United States manufacturers in domestic and overseas markets from the standpoint of both prices and capital formation."

The Journal concludes its editorial in defense of disarmament with these interesting observations:

"Naturally there are bound to be temporary economic dislocations in even a gradual disarmament; Mr. Cordiner says the temporary idling of workers is the only part of the prospect that does worry him. Also some smaller firms have unwisely sought to make their living almost entirely out of defense contracts, and they could reasonably expect to suffer.

"But even the dislocation, as a national problem, can be overemphasized. The convulsions after World War II were considerable, with millions thrown on the labor market and a huge cutback in military spending. Yet the dreaded depression did not ensue; quite the contrary, and quite naturally when these matters are viewed in the light of common sense.

"The U.S. does indeed have something to fear from any sweeping international disarmament agreement—the political traps set by the Soviets. The last thing it has to fear is that the economy will collapse.

"For the record is clear: It is peace, not war or war preparation, that has nurtured the posperity of the world's most prosperous nation."

NATO In Trouble

Our government's request that partner countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization pay a larger share of the costs of the international defense program has not been received enthusiastically. Only Canada and the United States have met their commitments in full. Several European countries, now prosperous, could afford to pay a larger share of the costs and have indicated their willingness to increase their contributions. France seems to be the main stumbling block to unity. DeGaulle's main objection being atomic weapons under foreign control.

Maybe the entire NATO program should be re-examined. In 1952 it was agreed that the NATO military forces should be increased to 65 divisions. The present strength is about 21 divisions, and that may be further reduced. But with the development of missiles and nuclear bombs and greater emphasis on faster-than-sound planes, possibly ground troops should be reduced. The lack of harmony is a more serious problem.

When NATO was organized Communism was a very real and imminent danger. That danger still exists but it is less threatening. The Western nations are now on speaking terms with their common enemy. Whether or not the hopeful atitude is justified, they now look upon that enemy with less fear, and defense measures have become less important.

We like the following observations on the developments by the Winnipeg Tribune:

"The U.S. generals who are singling out France for particular criticism are not being helpful, realistic or very fair. In the first place, only two countries — Canada and the U.S. — have met their commitments in full to NATO: It should also be borne in mind that France has fought two bitter wars in recent years, one in trying to contain Communism in Indo-China.

"What's more, De Gaulle's unwillingness to allow atomic weapons to be under foreign control on French soil is at least understandable. Many Canadians are uneasy at the prospect of nuclear weapons under control of U.S. officers in this country.

"Part of the reason for U.S. criticism of its partners not pulling their military weight in NATO is because of the adverse balance that has caused U.S. gold reserves to decrease in recent months. It would be more realistic if this were taken as an indication that the emphasis in NATO should shift from military to economic considerations.

"There is already a rift in Europe between the Outer Seven and the Common Market countries. The growth of trading blocs could be harmful not only to European unity but to Canadian and U.S. trade. Creating new bridges between the blocs and between Western Europe and North America must rate as one of NATO's most important jobs.

"The present rows between the Allies should give no one on this side of the Iron Curtain any joy. Khrushchev will be the only winner if the misunderstandings worsen."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

There's a very popular anecdote (among Russians) about little Ivan being asked by the teacher to describe America.

"America," said little Ivan, "is the country where the workers are being exploited by the capitalists and are starving to death."

"Excellent," said the teacher. "Now tell us the chief aims of the new Seven-Year Plan."

"To catch up with America," replied Ivan.

BE REALLY REFRESHED! The old gentleman's had a long trip, and from the North Pole to the South Seas, nothing is so refreshing as the cold crisp taste of Coca-Cola. It's as bright and bracing as a sleigh-ride in the stars. Keep a big supply in your refrigerator all through the holidays... please your Santa and all his helpers who will be calling at your house.

Wise Men travelled a desert to lay their gifts before a King.

But the King was a mere babe. His court was a cattle shed; His princely garb swaddling bands.

Could they be certain when they knelt by the manger that this was the end of the quest?

Their certainty came not of proof but of faith. They had marveled at the heavens . . . followed a gleaming star . . . listened to prophecy. For Wise Men this was enough!

And through the centuries others have sought the King. Eagerly, earnestly they have come into the reverent beauty of the Church. And there, as ageless Words cast their light in man's darkness, they have known the end of their quest.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

God's Gift

The star that still reminds us,
That years ago, one morn,
An infant in the manger,
Unto the world was born.
This gift unto all nations,
The gift of God's own Son,
Makes each returning Christmas
A glorious, precious one.

Will you put away all the things of Christmas?

The tree ornaments, the candles, the wooden manger and cardboard shepherds ... all these things will fit neatly into their paper boxes and be stored way back on closet shelves.

But the things of Christmas that make Christmas meaningful ... love, generosity, understanding ... will you put them away, too? After Christmas we seem to lock them up ... in some strongbox within ourselves ... and hoard them for 50 long weeks.

But these precious things that we tie specially to Christmas are for every season and they do not store well at all. Love, generosity, understanding ... all these must be practiced ... and they grow stronger and brighter the wider they are spread.

We cannot in wisdom put them away again, for it is in just these things where lie all our hopes ... for happiness, for peace ... and in this precarious age ... even for life itself.

merry CHRISTMAS GREETINGS to all

"Of all the old festivals — that of Christmas awakens the strongest and most heartfelt associations. There is a tone of solemn and sacred feeling that blends with our conviviality, and lifts the spirit to a state of hallowed and elevated enjoyment.

"The services of the church about this season are extremely tender and inspiring. They dwell on the beautiful story of the origin of our faith, and the pastoral scenes that accompanied its announcement. They gradually increase in fervor and pathos during the season of Advent, until they break forth in full jubilee on the morning that brought peace and good-will to men.

"I do not know a grander effect of music on the moral feelings than to hear the full choir and the pealing organ performing a Christmas anthem in a cathedral, and filling every part of the vast pile with triumphant harmony.

"It is a beautiful arrangement, also, that this festival, which commemorates the announcement of the religion of peace and love, has been made the season for gathering together of family connections, and drawing closer again those bands of kindred hearts, which the cares and pleasures and sorrows of the world are continually operating to cast loose; of calling back the children of a family, who have launched forth in life, and wandered widely asunder, once more to assemble about the paternal hearth, that rallying place of the affections, there to grow young and loving again among the endearing mementos of childhood."

Christmas Mail Rush Is Over; Parcels Off

While there were fewer parcels mailed at the postoffice during the week-end than in the mail rush from December 24, the Thief River Falls postoffice registered a sharp increase in number of pieces of mail handled, the time being accounted for by Christmas cards and letters for other postoffices in this area, Postmaster R. J. Dryden stated today.

Dryden also noted that the rush of Christmas mailing was spread over a longer period this year, leveling out the peaks and making it easier to handle the mail.

Cancellations at the local office during the 11-day period totalled 384,414 this year, compared to 349,829 in 1958. The peak day December 21, with 37,313 cancellations, followed by December 22 with 36,000.

Parcels out of this area were dispatched during the period this year, with 27,000 first class numbered 7,047. December 21 was the peak with 1,200 first class parcels, followed by December 14 with 795.

Sacks of mail dispatched during the 11-day period totalled 4,254, compared to 3,964 in 1958, while sacks received amounted to 3,370, compared to 3,120 in 1958.

Due in large measure to higher rates to offices this year, postage stamp sales during the period totalled $15,843.51, compared to $11,621.90 for 1958. December 14 with $2,123.04 was the peak day this year.

Rockefeller Gives up Campaign for GOP Nomination

New York Governor Says Decision Not to Make Race for Presidency is Final

Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday he would not seek the Republican nomination for presidential consideration in 1960.

"This decision is definite and final," the New York governor said.

Rockefeller also said he would not "entertain any thought of accepting the vice presidency even if the New York governorship were offered."

The unexpected decision was announced in a statement passed out by a spokesman for the aid of the state capitol in Albany. It said: "I have reached a decision that I made after much thought in the country to sound out its chances for nomination for the presidency. Dent Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination."

"These investigations, however, had made it clear to him that its maximum value potential delegates to the 1960 GOP convention were weeks of 200 yard contest for the nomination.

Salvation Army Thanks Public for Aid at Christmas

Through the free generosity of those who gave during the Salvation Army kettle drive, the Christmas story was brought to many homes, with brighter and happier Christmas as a result of 200 full stockings of clothing and 20 baskets of food distributed by the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Ole Froseth, Eighth street, Thief River Falls, was the recipient of one of the baskets of food, and Mrs. Froseth stated that the basket contained a turkey and all the trimmings.

Mrs. Froseth is confined to bed with a broken hip and arm.

Court Reopens Packing Plant at Albert Lea

Judges' Ruling Says Governor Freeman Exceeded Authority

Three federal judges ruled Wednesday that Gov. Orville L. Freeman exceeded his authority when he ordered the Wilson & Co. meat-packing plant at Albert Lea closed.

The governor asked contended that started his order would end a strike. The judges said the strike would remain in duty. The Governor was to reopen today.

The Judge Gov. Freeman had no absolute power to declare a state of emergency at Albert Lea.

Wilson was brought to Bethesda Hospital in Crookston, where she underwent surgery.

Mrs. Ole Froseth Hurt in Washing Machine Mishap

Local Woman Sustains Fractured Forearm and Injury to Ligaments

Mrs. Ole Froseth, Eighth st. Thief River Falls, is confined to Bethesda hospital in Crookston with a broken forearm and arm Wednesday, Dec. 23, when she was washing clothes.

According to a member of the family, Mrs. Froseth was washing a large rug and had taken it from the washer to the dryer. The load became unbalanced in the rug and pulled her right hand and arm into the washer. She managed to pull her arm free from the machine, but the force of the pull caused the injury mentioned beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Blood vessels and nerves were severed in her index and middle fingers and one of the bones in her forearm was fractured. Ligaments in her wrist were torn and her arm and hand are now put into a cast from the armpit down to the fingertips.

Hospital officials reported Monday morning that her condition was good.

Newfolden Phone Exchange Is Sold

Wilstrom Telephone Co. of Karlstad Now Owns Exchange

Wilstrom Telephone company, Inc., of Karlstad has purchased the Newfolden Telephone Exchange.

This acquisition gives the Wilstrom company an area that includes Newfolden, Viking, Gatzke, Strandquist, Stephen, Hallock and Kennedy and surrounding areas.

Dial systems for Newfolden and Holt are in the planning stage. The Holt system was taken over on July. Engineers have started work on the Newfolden system.

Last year Strandquist, Karlstad and Kennedy phone systems were converted to dial operation. The Karlstad system serves 370 and the Strandquist and Kennedy 300 subscribers.

"Our Northwest Bell Telephone Co. stockholders and employees alike will receive a big dividend in the form of improved telephone service," Wilstrom said.

Highway Mishaps Lacking in Area Despite Icy Roads

Motorists Exercised Caution over Holidays, Says Capt. W. Anderson

Captain Walter Anderson at Highway 59 and Highway 1 says he's here and no traffic mishaps have been reported in the area during the Christmas holiday. Thief River Falls area, despite extremely slippery roads, reported.

Anderson said the glare ice conditions on the highways in the area were responsible for the good driving conditions.

The local headquarters telephone was busy Sunday morning, but the calls were mostly routine in nature. Inquiries as to road conditions. Most of these visitors wanted to get early start home due to the unusual weather-and were informed of the conditions on the way.

Farm Account Books Available at County Agents

The Minnesota farm account books are now available at the county agent's office. Every year many farmers purchase these books to help keep their records in order. Records are a vital part of the farm business today, said County Agent Paul Steinbacchi. Good records save money at income tax time as well as providing an analysis of the farm business.

Yvonne Newland Becomes Bride of Milo K. Jaehn

Rev. Reuben A. Wangberg officiated at the double ring ceremony Saturday, Dec. 19, at Trinity Lutheran church which united Miss Yvonne Marie Newland and Milo Keith Jaehn, both of New York City in holy matrimony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Newland of this city and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Frank Jaehn of Rapid City, S. D.

Baskets of pink roses and white carnations and Christmas holly graced the altar of the church for the 8 p.m. ceremony. Mrs. Art Hamilton of this city was at the organ playing the nuptial music and accompanying James R. Newland of Grand Forks, cousin of the bride, as he sang "Sweet Love," "Holy Night" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white bridal satin. The tight fitting bodice was accented by a sabrina neckline and long sleeves which came to a point at the hand. The bouffant satin sheen skirt flowed into a chapel length train and her shoulder length veil fell from a pearl studded crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and white carnations and her earrings and necklace were a gift of the bridegroom. The traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out.

Mrs. John Newland of Rapid City, S. D., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of soft chiffon in a deep pink and a white feathered hat. Her flowers were pink roses and white carnations and her necklace was a gift of the bride.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Edward LaBelle of New York City, friend of the couple, with John Newland, brother of the bride, and Dale Gram of Thief River Falls serving as ushers. The men of the bridal party were attired in black tuxedos and white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Newland chose a two-piece gray suit with black accessories, while Mrs. Jaehn wore an aqua suit with black accessories. Their corsages were of pink roses and white carnations.

Approximately 100 relatives and friends attended the reception held following the ceremony in the church parlors. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, baked and decorated by Mrs. Earl Anderson of Middle River, centered the bridal table.

Mrs. Lloyd Anderson of Middle River served as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Frank Anderson and Mrs. Hilmer Anderson of Middle River cutting and serving the cake. Pouring was Mrs. Clifford Anderson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Andy Anderson of Middle River. Attending the guest book was Eleona Anderson of Middle River, cousin of the bride. Little Mark Anderson helped Mr. and Mrs. Jaehn as they opened their wedding gifts.

Waitresses were Susan and Judy Anderson of Middle River and Sandra Anderson of Thief River Falls. The groom's cake was served by Mark Anderson and Tanna Jean Anderson of Thief River Falls.

For going away the bride chose a winter white dress with black accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Jaehn plan to spend their honeymoon in the Black Hills and Christmas with relatives in Rapid City. They will be making their home in New York City after Dec. 29.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, class of 1953, and also attended the University of Minnesota. She is presently employed with Capital Airlines in New York City. Mr. Jaehn is a graduate of Rapid City high school, and served in the Navy for several years. He is also employed with Capitol Airlines in New York City.

Relatives and friends from Middle River, Grand Forks, Rapid City, S. D., New York City, N. Y., attended the wedding.

25th Anniversary Party Dec. 12 At Rand Humes Home

A silver wedding anniversary party was held Saturday evening, Dec. 12, at the Rand Humes home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wegge, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman LaPorte and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Saustad. All four couples celebrated 25 years of wedded life sometime during the past year.

The evening was spent socially after which a pot luck lunch was served. Each honored couple was presented with a gift appropriate to the occasion. Hostesses were the members of the ladies sewing club.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Rand Humes, Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeLap and Mrs. Cora Hendrickson.

Brian Jorgenson Is Baptized Sunday

Brian Scott Jorgenson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jorgenson, was baptized Sunday, Dec. 20, at the First Lutheran church.

Officiating at the rites was Rev. Marvin O. Carlson with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Nelson serving as the child's sponsors.

Following the services Mr. and Mrs. Jorgenson entertained at dinner at their home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Jorgenson and Mr. and Mrs. Ed VandeStreek and family.

Mark Halvorson Is Baptized at Trinity

Mark Alan was the name given the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Halvorson Sunday morning, Dec. 19, when he was baptized at Trinity Lutheran church.

Rev. Reuben Wangberg officiated at the ceremony with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Nelson standing as sponsors by proxy for Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Dahl of Cando, N. Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were entertained at the Halvorson home following the ceremony at dinner.

Hagen-Molskness Vows Exchanged December 12

Before an altar graced with lighted candelabra and wreaths of palm leaves and frosted evergreens, Miss Arlene JoAnne Hagen, daughter of Mrs. Esther Hagen of this city, became the bride of Raymond Clifford Molskness, son of Mrs. Sina Molskness, also of this city, Saturday, December 12.

The double ring ceremony took place at the Assemblies of God Tabernacle at 7:30 p.m. and was officiated by Rev. Robert Abbott of Alexandria, Minn., assisted by Rev. Waldo Trask of this city. Mrs. Robert Abbott was at the piano, playing the nuptial music and accompanying soloists Lucille Melby as she sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar and also the bride as she sang "God Gave Me You" before the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Redval Wold of Badger, was attired in a waltz length gown of white nylon and acetate lace with nylon net. It featured a scalloped square neckline with v-backline and long lace sleeves which came to a point at the hand. The skirt was an apron-effect in back with a bow at the waist and net cummerbund. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a jeweled crown of sequins and pearls and she carried a bouquet of deep red roses and white carnations with holly leaves.

Mrs. Lloyd Olson of this city, friend of the couple, was matron of honor, followed by Esther Molskness of Crookston, niece of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. They wore identically styled dresses of red nylon and acetate lace over ruffled net underskirt. Bands of rayon satin circled the waist and skirt, and they carried bouquets of white carnations and red garnet roses with holly leaves. Their pearl necklaces were gifts of the bride.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Clarence Molskness of this city, a brother, with John Russum of Grafton, a nephew of the bridegroom, as groomsman. Harlan Wold, cousin of the bride, and Lloyd Olson, friend of the couple, served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hagen chose a navy blue dress with navy blue accessories, while the bridegroom's mother wore a dark blue gray dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations and red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement with approximately 200 relatives and friends attending. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the bridal table. Mrs. Clarence Molskness, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Chalmer Irvin, sister of the bridegroom, baked, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Art Lee and Mrs. Sig Sinding poured and waitresses were Mrs. Harold Hjalmeland, Ruby Drotts, Marcelline Cieklenski and JoAnn Klopp, all friends of the couple. At the gift table were Pearl Klaven and Ardelle Cleven, friends of the couple, with Sandra Hagen, sister of the bride, at the guest book.

Following a short honeymoon trip to parts of southern Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Molskness will be making their home on the bridegroom's farm. For going away the bride chose a black sheath dress with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and has been employed at the Sinding funeral home. Mr. Molskness is presently employed at Shetler's Hatchery & Feed Mill in this city.

PARCEL POST deliveries were all completed by Christmas Eve in Thief River Falls. Postmaster R. J. Dryden looks over the small number of packages which remained early the afternoon of Dec. 24 and reported that the flow of both letters and packages was even during the whole mailing period. Patrons mailed Christmas cards and gifts earlier this year and the good weather also was a contributing factor.

CHRISTMAS was not all happiness for Kathy Myrom this year. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myrom, 121 Markley ave. S. Kathy was a patient at Northwestern hospital the day before Christmas when Santa Claus visited her in the pediatrics ward. Comforting her is Mrs. Ruth Lewis of Warroad, a student practical nurse.

Mack's CANDID COMMENT

BY V. M. DRAPER

Somehow or other, this Christmas seemed different.

In just what way it would be most difficult to say. It wasn't a year of much giving as far as we are concerned — we tried to remember everyone, modest though the gifts were. We received much more than we gave, certainly.

But that's not the part of Christmas I'm referring to. Amid all the traffic and commercialization (and I don't really think we overdo it) the true spirit of Christmas shone through stronger.

The wishes of "Peace on Earth, goodwill toward men," seemed to be more sincere. People seemed to be in more of a festive mood this year.

Perhaps it could be because there is more hope for peace at this time than there has been in many years past. Certainly the memory of 17 Christmases spent in war or amid rumors of war won't fade quickly. One can't blame people for being more hopeful and letting themselves go to a greater extent.

I do believe we in this country want peace and if Khrushchev could really talk with people here without all the fanfare that went with his visit here this fall, he too could see we really, truly want peace with everyone.

This is no time to let our guard down but let's keep hoping the peace that pervades this Yuletide lasts through 1960!

Many of us involved in flying often wonder why the youth of this country aren't more enthused about getting off the ground.

Personally, I think there's a simple explanation. That is, you can't show off in an airplane the way you can in a rackety old rattletrap of a car.

These young punks racing up and down the streets jazzing their engines and squealing their tires, get their biggest thrill from having people look at them. To me, it's that simple.

One can't see how they get any sense of accomplishment from uglying-up a factory-built car and roaring all over the countryside. The new factory jobs certainly are far more attractive and faster than most of the cast-off clunks one sees creating most of the disturbance.

As far as skill is concerned, any fool can drive a car — and many must be doing so if we are to judge by what we see. Unfortunately, not just anyone can do a good job of it. Just when a lot of people think they're doing a terrific job of driving a car is when they're actually at their very worst.

Most of us have probably gone through this darn-fool-kid stage at one time in our lives, while others never grow up. One can sympathize with the young fellows in a way— but making an impression with a two-ton juggernaut of steel certainly is a poor way to amuse one's self.

So, we who fly are probably fortunate not to count these young show-offs in our numbers (at least not many of them!). Despite the fact there are millions of square miles of open country for the reckless pilot to squash himself over, it doesn't usually work out that way.

As I said before, show-offs must have an audience — which means they would be killing themselves in places where they would also be endangering innocent people.

Nor are airplanes as tolerant of loose screws in the cockpit as automobiles, so it's just as well we keep 'les enfants terrible' in their noisy old buggies — on the ground!

Turning an eyesore into an eye-catching pond for ducks and other wildlife was no trick for William Malwitz, Red Lake Falls. Red Lake county agent Abel Anderson reports that Malwitz had a small slough among the willows on his farm. It made a mud hole and a hazard for livestock. Malwitz excavated the area, drained nearby low places, and came up with a haven for ducks, pheasants and other creatures. He planted trees in the area to complete the refuge.

Minnows will replace corn stalks and waving grain in a 5-acre field on the William W. Whiting farm near New London. With planning help from Red Sather, SCS technician at Willmar, Whiting this year dug a pit 12 feet deep, 150 feet wide, and 250 feet long. It will be filled with well water and will hold minnows over winter. Whiting also has three smaller minnow ponds.

A dry year can show the true value of conservation farming. William D. Enger, Mora, says corn on his contour strips did much better than corn in noncontoured fields. The field on the contour showed less damage from drouth. And Enger told SCS technician Jerry Sullivan there was more soil moisture in the contour strips, according to what he saw when cultivating.

Plant red clover in rows? Farmers raising red clover for seed may do just that some day —if there's equipment for the job. University of Minnesota agronomist Laddie Elling found that planting in rows 18 inches apart can produce red clover yields practically as high as broadcasting. Besides, row-seeding requires less seed at planting time and makes it possible to cultivate the crop. This can result in higher seed quality, through keeping out weeds and unwanted crops.

Icy Streets Cause of 5 Week-end Accidents

Despite glare ice on city streets caused by unseasonably warm weather and freezing rain, only five traffic mishaps were reported by city police today, covering a period since Christmas Eve to the present time.

The most serious of these occurred Dec. 24 at 9:13 a.m. when a car driven by Vernon M. Healy, Red Lake Falls, who was going south on Kendall av. was struck by another car driven east on Michael st. by Kermit A. Kemnitz, city.

After the collision the Healy car spun and continued on in a southeasterly direction and struck a corner of the John R. Carlson residence at 702 S Kendall.

Damage to the Healy car was estimated at $225, to Kemnitz' $200 and to the Carlson residence $200. No tags were issued.

Saturday a car driven by DuWayne A. Bakke, city, hit ice and skidded into a drain catch at the Third st.-Arnold av. intersection, about 9:28 p.m. Bakke was attempting a right turn onto Arnold from Third st. when the car skidded. Bakke's car damage was $95.

A similar mishap occurred at 2:12 a.m. Sunday when Douglas F. Peterson, rt. 1, Plummer, was making a right turn off Davis onto E. Fourth st. and hit a parked car, whose owner was not identified. Damage to Peterson's car was $45, to the other car, $65.

Sunday, at 2:05 a mishap was reported to police by the parties involved but was not investigated at the scene. According to the report Walter H. Kavanaugh, city, was proceeding north on Tindolph av., meeting Miss Catherine Sinding, city, who was going south, when the two cars slid into each other as they were passing in a narrow corridor formed by parked cars on either side of the street.

Damage to Kavanaugh's car was estimated at $40, to the Sinding car, $25.

Today, at 1:45 a.m. William G. Haugen, city, reported to police he was driving north on Duluth av. when his car slid into a parked car owned by Ed Delap at 1011 Duluth av. N. Damage to the Haugen car was estimated at $20, to Delap's, $40.

Robt. Rupprecht Succumbs; Rites Scheduled Today

Robert Rupprecht, a resident of Thief River Falls and community for the past 63 years, died Thursday, Dec. 24, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 72.

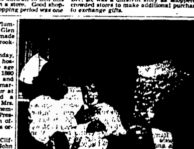
Funeral services were held today, Monday, Dec 28, at 2 p.m. in the Green Funeral Chapel with Rev. A. C. Seltz officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery with Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Rupprecht was born May 7, 1887 in Sibley county and at the age of nine came to Thief River Falls with his parents, and settled on a farm in Excel township, Marshall county. Here he attended school and grew to manhood.

On April 2, 1909 he was united in marriage to Anna Simonson at Thief River Falls, and following their marriage they farmed east of Goodridge for 18 years. Then they moved to Thief River Falls and again settled on a farm in Adger township, Marshall county, where they have since resided.

Surviving are his wife, one son, Arthur of Thief River Falls, and six daughters: Eleanor, Mrs. Willis Johnson; Adeline, Mrs. Art Langseth of Thief River Falls; Winifred, Mrs. Joe Stattalmar of Clinton, Minn.; Wilma, Mrs. Matt Kraemer of Enderlin, N. Dakota; Ardith, Mrs. Hilbert Swanson of Dickinson, N. Dakota; one sister, Mrs. Art Simonson and one brother, Bill, both of Thief River Falls, 16 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents and four brothers.

SHOPPING was at a bare minimum the day before Christmas in Thief River Falls and it was difficult to find this many customers together in a store. Good shopping weather during the shopping period was one of the contributing factors to the even flow of shoppers in downtown stores this year. Monday, Dec. 28, was a different story as shoppers again crowded stores to make additional purchases and to exchange gifts.



Rites For Mrs. Z. Christenson Are Held Thursday

Funeral services were held Thursday, Dec. 23, at 2 p.m. at the Brooks-Plummer Presbyterian church at Plummer for Mrs. Zillah Christenson of rural Plummer. Officiating was Rev. Glen Atchison with interment made at Oakdale cemetery at Crookston.

Mrs. Christenson died Monday, Dec. 21, at the University hospital in Minneapolis at the age of 79. She was born Dec. 7, 1880 at Green Ridge, Manitoba, and in 1904 she was united in marriage to Charles Christenson at Plummer. They homesteaded a farm in Gervais township. Mrs. Christenson was an active member of the Brooks-Plummer Presbyterian church and was an officer in the church's women's organizations.

Surviving are two sons Clifford of Red Lake Falls and John of Oklee; three foster children; Mrs. Edna, Gerald Storger of Crookston; Mrs. Vivian, Norman Olson of Sacramento, Calif.; Earl Wimpiri of Plummer and four grandchildren; two brothers, Mark Varey of Hallock and Jim Varey of Farmington.

She was preceded in death by her husband and nine brothers and sisters.

Final Rites For Osmund Ordahl Are Held Today

Funeral services for Osmund Ordahl were held today, Monday, Dec. 28, at 2 p.m. at the Oakridge Lutheran church with Rev. T. J. Weltzin officiating. Interment was made in the Oak Ridge cemetery and the Sinding Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Ordahl died Tuesday, Dec. 22, at Thief River Falls at the age of 65. He was born in Norden township, Pennington county, where he was baptized, confirmed and grew to manhood. He served in World War I in the army with the American Expeditionary Forces. Following the war he worked in Hibbing until 1921 when he became ill because of his military service. He was admitted to the Veterans hospital at St. Cloud. In 1951 he moved to Newfolden and made his home with his brothers and sisters.

Surviving are three sisters and three brothers; Mrs. John (Marie) Engen of Angus; Bertha Ordahl of Reedsburg, Wis.; Mrs. Albert (Jennie) Lokken of Newfolden; Andrew and Sigbal of Newfolden and Henry of rural Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by one brother.

Highway Mishaps Lacking in Area over the Weekend

Anderson said the patrol had advised anyone who was returning home over the weekend to get early starts if it was essential that they should travel under such conditions.

Anderson commended area drivers for their good driving so far, under the conditions prevailing, and hoped they would continue their careful ways.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"I suppose I should have saved some of those eggs you cracked in your boss's hat last night . . . ."

Leonard E. Lindquist, Minneapolis attorney and former Railroad and Warehouse commissioner, will head the upcoming Jan. 2-31 March of Dimes fund-raising campaign throughout Minnesota. Here he chats with Mary Kay Betz, 6, who was born with a spinal defect, and her mother, Mrs. Gerald A. Betz of Minneapolis. Mary Kay typifies the one child in every 16 born in the U. S. today with one or more significant malformations. The March of Dimes hopes to raise enough funds in January 1960, to expand its research, education and patient care programs to include certain birth defects and arthritis, as well as polio.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I recently became totally disabled as a result of an accident. I understand that as long as this happened before age sixty, I can apply for a waiver of payment of premiums on my GI insurance while disabled. What must I do to get this waiver?

A—Apply at your nearest VA office. The waiver of payment of GI insurance premiums may be granted after your disability has been in effect six months. Continue to pay premiums until VA informs you the waiver has been granted. All premiums paid for the period of the waiver will be refunded.

Q—I am a peacetime veteran and I was disabled in service. Would I be eligible for vocational rehabilitation?

A—Under the law, you would not. VA vocational rehabilitation is limited to disabled World War II and Korea veterans.

Q—I want to get a GI home loan. What kind of papers do I need to take with me when I go to a lender to ask for a the loan?

A—You need only the Certificate of Eligibility which shows you are entitled to apply for a loan. This Certificate of Eligibility may be obtained from any VA regional office.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran who lost a hand as a result of service. I was honorably discharged in January, 1958. Is it too late for me to apply for a VA grant toward the purchase of an automobile?

A—No. Since you were separated after October 20, 1951, you have five years from the date of your separation, or until January, 1953, to apply for a VA grant toward the purchase of a car.

Changes in State Tax

Farmers will be affected by a number of recent changes in Minnesota income tax regulations.

Here are some of the changes:

*Tax rates on income of individuals, estates and trusts will increase one-half percent for all incomes over $500. The new schedule of tax rates will be printed on the state income tax return.

*The 10 percent surtax will continue for tax years between Dec. 31, 1958, and Jan. 1, 1961.

*Tax credit is increased from $10 to $14 for each person other than husband or wife dependent upon and receiving chief support from the taxpayer.

*Net operating losses can now be carried back three years, instead of just two as allowed previously. They may also be carried forward as much as five years.

*Any single individual whose gross income is above $750 for the past year must file a return. Before, it was only for incomes over $1,000. This also applies to guardianships or trusts. Married couples must file if their combined gross is $1,500 or more, instead of $2,000 as in other years.

*An additional 20 percent of the cost of certain property — like new machinery—bought after Dec. 31, 1958, may be allowed as depreciation the first year after purchase. This provision is similar to the one put into effect for federal tax a year ago. You may also take the regular depreciation to which you are entitled for the year.

Pelleted barley may have a bright future in the hog feeding business.

In recent research at the University of Minnesota's Northwest Experiment station, Crookston, pigs on barley pellets gained as well as did pigs on ground yellow corn.

Diedrich Reimer, Crookston station livestock researcher made the studies in cooperation with R. E. Comstock, L. E. Hanson and R. J. Meade.

One group of pigs received ground yellow corn as the major ingredient, and three other groups received barley pellets instead, but with different amounts and sources of protein supplemnt.

Pigs on corn had 14.8 percent protein in their ration from start to 125 pounds and 10.8 percent from then to market. They gained from 1.55 to 1.61 pounds daily.

One group on barley pellets had 15.1 percent protein, later reduced to 13.2 percent and gained about as fast as those on corn. Another barley-fed group had 14.8 and 12 percent protein, and gained 1.7 pounds per day — best of all pigs in the study.

A third group on barley pellets had 13.3 percent protein throughout the feeding period. These pigs averaged 1.51-1.63 pounds per day, and ate 10 percent more feed per pound of gain than pigs on corn. But even these pigs had reasonably good feeding efficiency.

Except for the one group, all pigs in this trail required around 360 pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of gain.

Research at the Crookston station on barley rations in 1958 resulted in an average saving of 52 pounds of feed per hundred pounds of gain. North Dakota researchers have reported similar results.

Prowlers Again Down Cathedral

Coach Gene Sack's Prowlers handed their arch rivals, the Cathedral Crusaders, another setback last night when, in a rugged tilt played at Crookston Wednesday night, the Lads emerged on the long end, 6 to 0 win.

The Prowlers will travel to International Falls, they have already defeated the Cubs once this year, to play in a holiday tournament, meeting Duluth East at 7:30 p.m. tonight. On Tuesday night they will play the winner of the International Falls vs. Crookston game. That is, if the Prowlers can get by tonight's first round game against coach Glen Reiter's Duluth club.

On Wednesday night, the Prowlers will open their Region Eight conference schedule when they meet the Bemidji Beavers on the Bemidji floor.

Playing at Crookston on Wednesday night, the Prowlers had little trouble in battering down the stonewall goal-tending of the Blue Streaks, as they had the Crookston quintet bucked on 11 shots in the first period, eight in the second and seven in the third and the third stanza for a total of 26 goals.

After a scoreless first period, Prowler Jerry Povlo broke away for a dashing drive-in to the pivot, the locale dented the scoring column at the 2:22 mark of the second period. Larry Poole, who turned in another sparkling performance covering the second period, passed to Povlo from Halvorson's stint into the fourth goal.

The game, which was heavy with contact work, found tempers being tested on numerous occasions. Both Coach Sack and Mike Charron engaged in a fist fracas, with the two boys being given three minute major penalties.

The Prowlers moved into the Crookston zone for the only scoring effort they tallied throughout the game. Archie Schneider, from the Prowler home zone, flipped a pass up to Dale Wennberg, and the swift-skating Prowler center zipped past the lone defender, Bob Ness, to the Crookston goal floor and flicked a backhander into the north goal at the 8:30 mark. At the 10:00 mark of the Wennberg-Schneider combination goal, another goal was tallied, this time ramming home a rebound by Prowler Jerry Povlo, who had taken a pass-out from Wennberg behind the Crookston goal. Povlo's pass in front of the Crookston net, and Larry Ness' flipper from close-in.

The summary:

Prowlers (6)		Crookston (0)
Goal	Wayne Halvorson

GI Policy Holders Will Get Dividend

Participants in Soute to Receive $4,951,050

An estimated $4,729 Minnesota veterans who hold participating GI insurance policies will share in $4,951,050 in dividends next year, the dividends next year, the manager of the Veterans Administration Center at Fort Snelling announced.

John R. Murphy said this will be the fourth consecutive year that veterans participating in the National Service Life Insurance (GI) program have received dividends. He said, will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy in 1960.

Murphy also said an estimated 1,750 widows of World War II and Korean War veterans in Minnesota will become eligible after December 31 for death pensions under the Pension Act of 1959, which takes effect next July 1.

Under the bill these are the widows whose veterans died of causes not under the present law because their deaths did not occur of service-connected causes. Under the new law, eligibility requirements are the same as those for widows of veterans of the First World War.

The veteran must have had at least 90 days active service and must have been discharged under honorable conditions.

Wisconsin Votes Down Withholding

Legislature Rejects Income Tax Proposal

Rejection by the Wisconsin state legislature of the withholding plan for collecting state income taxes "smells like an attempt of Minnesota lawmakers," Rep. Harold Froehlich, Republican floor and statement, said here.

tweets Tax Reform Committee, said today.

"After a year's study Wisconsin legislators came to the conclusion that withholding was not the answer to their tax revenue problems, that it would impose an unfair doubling of tax payments on the people and on employers' administrative costs," Froehlich said. "Minnesota should learn from the state's experience."

"The outcome of the Wisconsin deliberations seems to have particular significance here in Minnesota, which faces similar problems," he said.

The withholding proposal was made by a study committee appointed by Governor Gaylord Nelson. Also recommended was the establishment of a state sales tax of three per cent in addition to taxes on the personal property tax burden and eliminate inheritance taxes.

But Wisconsin now adopts the replacement also tax, giving to local governments the revenue presently used in the state, we'll be hard-pressed in Minnesota to meet the competition," Brown said.

Fire Department Out This Morning

The fire department was summoned this morning at 4:40 to the Wm. Banta residence at 301 Horace st. N., where a blaze had developed in a water heater, no other damage resulting.

"Me worry?"

A Preview

In last season's state high school basketball tournament when the Roseau Rams made a successful defense of their title by defeating Minneapolis Washburn, 6 to 2. The two teams in the hockey futures book tonight at Roseau, with the Rams the overwhelming favorites again this season. The Twin City author-ities have established the Washburn squad, well-supplied with veterans, as the state's number one team.

Roseau would be a preview of the state tourney, as the Rams' key tournament game could develop at Roseau on Wednesday night when the Rams and Washburn clash in the closing game of the four-game holiday tournament.

Four teams — Grand Forks Central, Cotrane, Minneapolis Washburn and Roseau — are entered in the two-day tourney that starts at 7:30 P.M. on Tuesday, coach Segale Gambucci's Grand Forks Central club will open the tournament when they service all-star Celestine Greenway team meets Roseau's Rams at 7:30 P.M., Grand Forks will play Washburn at 9:00 p.m. and the Washburn club will engage Roseau at 10:30.

The field will be composed of all state tournament selections in action when the Rams meet Washburn, for coach Oscar Almquist's World War II veteran squad must have had at least 90 days active service and must have been discharged under honorable conditions.

State Wholesale Egg Dealers Fined

Willmer and Evansville Firms Fined $25 Each

Failure to comply with Minnesota egg law resulted in the assessment of two wholesale egg dealers, stated Byron G. Harrison, commissioner of agriculture.

Both firms were found guilty of violating eggs which were listed for sale as Grade "A" Large but which were found to be of a lower requirement for the grade. Appearing before Judge J. C. Thurman at Willmar on December 21, the Evansville Cooperative creamery which was found guilty of a similar offense. This firm was fined $25 and costs of $10.00. The Willmer firm appeared in the court of Judge J. C. Thurman at Benson on December 23.

One of the chief functions of the Department of Agriculture is to work closely with and assist the egg producers in the matter of egg production, grading, packing and labeling. It is only after repeated violations and failure to heed warnings that court actions are taken.

The deepest oil well drilled in Minnesota is about 8,000 feet, but the world's deepest well went down more than 20,000 feet about four miles.

Thieves Defeat Old-timers 9-7

"Hat tricker" now is about over at the Arena rink on Friday afternoon as the Thieves and the Old Timers engaged in an exhibition hockey game, which was won by the Thieves, 9 to 7.

The Thieves will play the 1954 Prowler state hockey championship team at the high school rink tonight, and all indications are that the game will be a real thriller.

Mike McMahon, an all state selection at defense on the 1954 Prowlers, and Glenn Carlson, an all state selection at center on the 1956 Prowler state championship squad, have made goals since joining the Thieves, and Coach Ken Yon of the high school club, nudged the puck into the net three times in the second period.

Members of Flying Club Asked to Make Their Views Known

President Robert Wurst Asks for Response to Recent Questionnaire

Robert Wurst, president of the Thief River Flying club, today urged members to return letters of inquiry not answered as yet, before the club meeting on the 1956 Prowler state championship, raised to three goals above par. Thieves, playing a man short for the last two periods, nudged the puck into the net three times in the second period.

Quick Action Needed in Removal of Stains

Stains on table linens and clothing are an abhorrence of fastidious housewives.

But knowledge of how to remove common stains, along with proper treatment before laundering, will prevent most permanent damage to the fabric.

Coffee with cream, Sponge stain with cool water. Soak in warm suds, using detergent that is free from chlorine bleach. If a grease stain remains after the fabric is dry, sponge with grease solvent.

Candle wax. Scrape off wax with a knife. Place glass between wax and iron while blotting with absorbent paper. Remove remaining stain with a grease solvent and launder as directed.

Stresses Need to Report Wages Paid to Farm Workers

Social Security Aspect Urges Workers to Be Sure Employers Report Wages

Some eligible farm workers already have reported wages paid them this year, and more reporting should be due during the next few months, according to Walter D. Kiefer, manager of the Grand Forks, North Dakota, social security office.

"These are farm employees who have received $150 or more in cash wages or $400 in wages in kind from one employer during the year. If they think their employers do not realize that such earnings should be reported as they for the first time last month of a better," Mr. Kiefer explained.

"The protection value of payper social security reports filed once yearly was emphasized recently by the death of an area farmer, stated Mr. Kiefer. "He had been paying social security taxes for himself and both small children were eligible for payments of at least $11,000 in benefits before their earnings reached age 18 and other additional payments for life to Mrs. Kiefer, if she survives.

"Often, although not in every case, could happen to almost anyone, don't let it happen to your family," concluded Mr. Kiefer. "Be sure your farm employer reports your wages; if in doubt contact your social security office."

Advise on Care of Christmas Plants

University Experts Offer Suggestions

With the right kind of care, your Christmas plants and cut flowers will keep fresh through the holidays.

Horticulturists at the University of Minnesota say you can keep your plants in bloom longer and avoid extreme temperature changes.

The poinsettia especially is sensitive to temperature changes. Temperatures less than 60 degrees below 60 degrees or above 70 degrees will cause the leaves to fall. It also shortens the life of the bracts. Sudden temperature drops of the foliage and breaks or bruises the stem. Keep the plant away from drafts, sudden temperature changes or irregular watering.

To make your Christmas cut flowers last, it will help some of the leaves are removed from the stem. Cut flowers will last twice as long if you keep them cool at night—at a temperature of about 50 degrees F.

But, the University horticulturists say, it is best not to set the flowers in the home refrigerator. The fruit in the refrigerator, they say, will give off ethylene gas which has the effect of causing cut flowers to sleep and shortens their life. Vegetables, fruits, flowers and evaporators are best stored separately, they say.
